REPUBLICAN CHIEFS DROP THEIR EFFORTS FOR INQUIRY SESSION

Knight and McGinnies Put the Responsibility on Roosevelt After Arcade Meeting.

GOVERNOR WELL RECEIVED

People in the Senator's Home Town Give the Executive a Hearty Greeting.

DRY LAW REPEAL URGED

State Democratic Leaders Adopt Plank—County Meeting Endorses Roosevelt, Lehman, Tremaine.

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

BUFFALO, July 22.—The last possibility of a special session of the Legislature to investigate the New York City Administration was killed today at an amicable conference between Governor Roosevelt, Joseph A. McGinnies, Speaker of the Assembly, and Senator John Knight, at the latter's home in Arcade.

With the Governor's letter before the Republican chiefs, stating the conditions under which he would call an extraordinary session, it took only ten minutes of discussion to bring the matter to an end. Even before the conference the legislative leaders had drafted a statement acknowledging that in the face of the Governor's position they could do "nothing more."

Indicating in the statement that they will make his attitude a campaign issue, they placed upon him "the responsibility of inaction" in a New York City situation "burdened with crimes."

They made the point that they had intended all along only to assist the Governor to make a "complete investigation," and they surprised him by adding that they had never actually asked him to call an extra session.

The Governor made no comment on this during his talk with the legislative leaders, but his attitude later, as interpreted by his associates, could be summed up in the words, "in that case, what's all the shootin' for?"

Democrats Adopt Wet Plank.

The conference was only one part of a day's program which ended with an unofficial Erie County Democratic convention addressed by the Governor and other prominent Democrats and attended by party leaders from all over the State.

John F. Curry, Tammany leader, and John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader, were among those present.

The gathering of party chieftains was said to be only a sociable get-together in advance of united action in the Fall campaign. Publicly it produced three important developments.

The convention adopted by enthusiastic acclamation a "wringing wet" plank pledging the Erie candidates for Congress and the Legislature to work for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and all dry laws. It also denounced unemployment conditions and pledged relief efforts. Both these planks are likely to be urged for the platform at the State convention in September.

The county organization also endorsed for renomination Governor Roosevelt, Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Controller Morris L. Tremaine.

The Governor's conference with the Republican legislative leaders was heralded by the most cordial reception in the home bailiwick of Senator Knight that the Governor has received anywhere on his trip. It began with "three cheers for the next President" led by an enthusiast in Attica just after the Governor's auto parade had crossed into Wyoming County, which is in the Senator's district, and finished with a 100 per cent outpouring of the citizens of Arcade.

Roosevelt Warmly Welcomed.

Not a house in the village lacked an American flag to celebrate the Governor's advent. A huge banner with the words, "Welcome to Governor Roosevelt," was stretched across the main street and a procession of Boy Scouts with a band acted as guide to Senator Knight's white-pillared house.

The Senator and Speaker McGinnies after greeting the Governor drove back with him to the village square, and there Senator Knight spoke for his "friends and neighbors." The presence of the Governor, he said, honored the town and the number of people at the gathering honored the Governor.

It was a demonstration, he said, arising out of a worthy instinct to pay honor to the highest State officer. The Senator added that he yielded to no one in his "respect for the Governor and his great ability."

Shamrock 175 Miles Off Coast; Rumors of Mishap Discredited

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 22 (AP).—Rumors were current here this afternoon that Shamrock V had met with a serious mishap at sea.

The report was discredited by Messrs. Camper and Nicholson, builders of the yacht, who pointed out that Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin, accompanying the Shamrock, is equipped with wireless and would have reported any trouble.

ABOARD THE STEAM YACHT ERIN, July 22 (AP).—Shamrock V was making an average speed of 8 knots in a calm sea today after a night of fresh northwest winds and a heavy northerly swell. At noon the position was Lat. 48.23, Long. 8.47.

This positon placed her about 175 miles southwest of Land's End, headed in the direction of the Azores, where she will put in to take on supplies before heading for the United States.

REPUBLICANS SCORE MAYOR, PLAN RETORT

To Ask Use of City Radio for Reply by Gen. Harbord to Administration Defense.

GOVERNOR ALSO CENSURED

Rival Leaders Irked at Refusal to Order Inquiry—Say Walker Repeats Old Evasions.

Mayor Walker's radio address in defense of his administration against recent attacks will not be unanswered if plans which were under consideration yesterday by the Republicans mature.

It was learned last night that a formal request may be made on Mayor Walker today by the Republicans for use of the broadcasting facilities of Station WNYC, the city's broadcasting centre, for a reply which now is being formulated.

It was ascertained also that, if the plans go through, General James G. Harbord, in his capacity as chairman of the Republican Advisory Committee of New York County, will deliver the radio address. General Harbord, through his connections with the Radio Corporation of America, would, it is expected, have at his command private radio facilities in the event that the administration should turn down a demand for use of the city's broadcasting plant.

If a reply is made it is certain that Governor Roosevelt will be coupled with Mayor Walker in the censure the proposed address would embody. In fact, Republican ire at this moment is directed less against the Mayor, who has ordered an investigation by his Commissioner of Accounts of some of the city departments under fire, than against the Governor's refusal to approve their demand for an investigation, either by himself under legislative authority or by the Legislature through an investigating committee.

Dilemma Expected Either Way.

The Republican demand for a New York City inquiry was designed by the promoters to put the Governor "in a hole," no matter what his decision was. They calculated that if he should acquiesce in the request he would incur the hostility of Tammany Hall, with a consequent defection in the vote for him as a candidate for re-election. They anticipated also that refusal would place him in a position where he could be criticized in campaign speeches up-State as the ally of Tammany, willing to condone evils in the New York City Administration in order to remain in Tammany's good graces.

Some Republican leaders reluc-

AMTORG CHIEFS' RIGHT TO ENTER COUNTRY CHALLENGED BY FISH

Tells Bogdanov at a Stormy Hearing Immigration Law Bars Red Business Men.

Agency Official Says He Does Not Know Who Gets Profits on American Projects.

ADMITS RULE BY MOSCOW

Denounces Whalen Papers and Objects to Questions Based on Challenged Documents.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., chairman of the Congressional committee investigating Communist activities, yesterday questioned the right of Peter A. Bogdanov, head of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the Soviet commercial agency in the United States, and of all Russian officials of the Amtorg to reside in this country.

The challenge came at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing of the committee, which was marked by repeated clashes between the inquisitors and witnesses for the Amtorg. These were Mr. Bogdanov and John Ohsol, vice chairman of the Amtorg, who came as Mr. Bogdanov's interpreter but was himself made to testify.

Cites Immigration Law.

Mr. Fish's challenge was based upon his interpretation of the immigration law, which, he said, forbids citizens of foreign nations, like Soviet Russia, having no commercial treaty with the United States, to reside here for trade purposes. Since all the members of the Amtorg's board of directors, with the exception of Mr. Ohsol, are Russian citizens, the acceptance of Mr. Fish's interpretation of the law by the authorities in Washington, it was pointed out, with the possible expulsion from the United States of Mr. Bogdanov and his colleagues, might mean the end here of Amtorg activity.

Mr. Bogdanov and Mr. Ohsol assured Chairman Fish that his interpretation of the law was erroneous. Earlier in the day Mr. Bogdanov suggested that the attacks on the Amtorg in connection with the committee's investigations were only a repetition of anti-Soviet campaigns in this and other countries.

Several times in the course of yesterday's session, which was the stormiest since the committee began its hearing in this city, Mr. Bogdanov and Mr. Ohsol were called to account by Mr. Fish and members of the committee for evasiveness and what he held was their refusal to answer questions frankly. At one point Representative John E. Nelson of Maine threatened to have Mr. Bogdanov cited for contempt for declining flatly to reply to questions concerning Communist aims and theories. In reply to Mr. Bogdanov's plea that as a commercial representative of his government here he was forbidden under Soviet regulations to discuss politics, Mr. Nelson informed him that he was now in the United States and not in Russia and that in this country he would have to abide by American laws and show proper respect for a committee clothed with the authority of the House of Representatives, Agrees to Answer Queries.

After consultation with attorneys for the Amtorg Mr. Bogdanov agreed to answer the committee's questions to the best of his ability.

The clash between Representative Nelson and Mr. Bogdanov came shortly before adjournment of the morning session. During the lunch-

Harkness Considering Gift of $10,000,000 For Social and Educational Work in Britain

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Edward S. Harkness, American oil magnate and philanthropist, is arranging, according to The Daily Herald, to make a gift of $10,000,000 for "endowment of social and educational work in Britain."

The money, says The Herald, is to be administered by a board of distinguished public men. Among those approached to serve in this connection are Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative Prime Minister; John Buchanan, M. P., Scottish scholar and author; Lord MacMillan, Sir Josiah Stamp and Sir James Irving.

It is understood this board will work on the lines of the Carnegie United Kingdom Trust, which was founded in 1913 with a capital of $10,000,000 and is dedicated to "the improvement of the well-being of the masses of Great Britain by such means as are comprehended within the meaning of the word charitable." This trust has established more than 100 libraries here, assisted in the publication of music and Elizabethan compositions, made grants to old-established theatres and two years ago set aside $1,000,000 for the establishment of national playing fields.

Mr. Harkness visited London last month on business.

Mr. Harkness has been the donor of many other notable gifts, including one of a fund which may reach $15,000,000 to Yale University to permit the completion of the quadrangle system of dormitories, and one of $12,000,000 to Harvard for its new unit housing system.

Among his other benefactions have been gifts of $1,000,000 to Yale to found its dramatic department and build a theatre, the gift with his mother of a site valued at $4,000,000 to the New York Medical Centre and a subsequent cash gift of $2,000,000, $1,000,000 to the Western Reserve Medical Centre, $1,000,000 to the Near East Relief as a memorial to the late Cleveland H. Dodge, $1,000,000 to the New York Public Library and $1,250,000 to Union Theological Seminary.

Detroit, by 30,956, Recalls Mayor Bowles; Radio Assailant of Vice Slain in Hotel Lobby

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, July 22.—Mayor Charles Bowles has been "recalled" by the voters of this city, the largest that ever undertook to rid itself of a chief executive by this method.

In a total vote of 210,770 a majority of 30,956 was cast in favor of the recall.

The vote of the 852 precincts of the city was: For recall, 120,863; against, 89,907.

Admission of the Mayor's defeat was made soon after 10 o'clock tonight, when the count of 550 precincts showed that the supporters of the recall had already rolled up a 22,000 vote lead with 300 more precincts to come.

A heavy vote was cast in all parts of the city and much of it in the early part of the day. The northwestern and western section, where Mayor Bowles rolled up a big lead in the election of last Fall, polled a large vote and gave encouragement to the Mayor's friends, but this soon faded when the actual figures of the polling came in.

Indications were seen that the women of the city did not vote as heavily as they did in the last election. In some precincts the percentage was only 20 per cent for the fair sex.

As a result of today's decision, another election for Mayor must be held within thirty days. It is expected that Mayor Bowles will again be a candidate for the place which he won in November by a majority of about 8,500 votes. This will be his third candidacy.

The twelve-day campaign against the Mayor has been bitter. His recall was asked on charges that he had tolerated lawlessness, dismissed faithful public servants and mismanaged the municipally owned street railway.

DETROIT, Wednesday, July 23 (AP).—Gerald ("Jerry") Buckley, radio announcer for radio station WMBC, was shot and killed by an unidentified assailant at 1:45 A. M. today in the lobby of the Lasalle Hotel. Buckley had delivered addresses on political subjects and described vice conditions in Detroit.

YOUNG GUARD PUTS LIMITS ON MOSES

He Takes East, Gives Steiwer West, After Effort to Oust Him as Campaign Head.

ASSAILED BY VANDENBERG

Michigan Senator Holds Him Disqualified by 'Wild Jackass' Talk and Fighting Treaty.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire today declined to resign from the chairmanship of the Republican National Senatorial Committee in the face of a sharp attack upon him by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, spokesman of the "Young Guard," who at a meeting of the committee asserted that the chairman had lost his usefulness because of his criticism of Western Senators and his recent attitude on the London naval treaty, in which he joined the opposition and fought the administration.

The meeting, which lasted for more than two hours, apparently broke up with the Young Guardsmen routed and Senator Moses in control, although with his authority greatly circumscribed. He will have no direction of the Senatorial campaigns in those sections whose representatives in the Senate he labeled "sons of the wild jackass" and he will not have complete control of the committee's finances.

Money collected for the Senatorial campaign will be distributed by Theodore Gary, treasurer, upon the recommendation of Senator Moses. All that Mr. Moses will be able to say as to expenditures will apply to expenses of his headquarters, for which $25,000 has already been apportioned.

Vandenberg Blasts Harmony.

The meeting was attended by Senators Steiwer of Oregon, Hatfield of West Virginia and Herbert of Rhode Island, in addition to Senators Vandenberg and Moses. Senators Patterson of Missouri and Thomas of Idaho, other members, were not present.

Senator Moses, in opening the meeting, explained briefly the political conditions confronting the Republican party in States where Senators are to be elected this year. He said that the Senatorial Campaign Committee had carefully canvassed the field and intended to make a determined fight to regain control of the Senate, which, he said, despite gloomy predictions, the Republicans would be able to hold.

The utmost harmony appeared to prevail until Senator Vandenberg presented the views of the "Young Guard," who are strong partisans of the Hoover Administration. Senator Vandenberg spoke bluntly. He told Senator Moses that his attitude in the past was such that he should resign from the committee's chairmanship and permit some one else to direct the campaign.

"Wild Jackass" Resurrected.

Senator Vandenberg said that three things made it impossible for Senator Moses to maintain the confidence of the Republican Party, especially in the Western Progressive section.

He declared, without mincing words, that Senator Moses had showed himself too prone to attack those within the party who disagreed with his point of view. According to the speaker, Senator Moses got out of step with Western Republicans when he denominated those opposing the tariff bill as "sons of the Wild Jackass."

From this Mr. Vandenberg traced the record of Senator Moses in Republican affairs and in the Senate. He charged that Senator Moses was indifferent to the party's success in his effort to have Otto H. Kahn of New York made treasurer of the Senatorial committee without advising with the members of the committee.

Then the Michigan Senator assailed Senator Moses for supporting Claudius H. Huston in his refusal to

40 DROWN IN COBLENZ AT LIBERATION FETE

It Is Feared Casualties May Mount to 100 in Bridge Collapse at Night.

HINDENBURG MAY END TRIP

Singing Children Welcomed the President to City—Voyage Down Rhine a Triumph.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COBLENZ, Germany, July 22.—More than forty persons drowned at Coblenz when a bridge across the Moselle River collapsed late tonight under the weight of a holiday crowd which was returning from a fireworks display in honor of President von Hindenburg at the Rhineland liberation celebration.

It is feared the number of casualties will reach 100. The work of rescue is difficult because of the darkness and confusion.

Among the recovered bodies were those of two children who were taking part in the extensive celebration of the evacuation of the Rhineland.

It is reported that President Hindenburg, who had taken part in today's liberation ceremonies here, canceled the rest of his Rhineland trip on hearing of the disaster.

The bridge was crowded because it was one of the best places to view the brilliantly lit castle above the Wilhelm I memorial. The police said use of the bridge had been forbidden but that regulations had been disregarded.

The search for bodies is proceeding by the light of oil flares. The watches on the dead had stopped at 11:15, timing the tragedy. Thirty-eight bodies have been recovered.

Hindenburg There Earlier.

The scene of the tragedy, the Deutsche Eck (German corner), the point of land between the rivers Rhine and Moselle, which is known as the heart of the Rhineland, was packed at noon today to receive President von Hindenburg, who arrived from Eltville to begin the second lap of his journey of celebration through the Rhineland.

The steps of the majestic equestrian statue of the Emperor Wilhelm I were covered with 4,000 children waiting to sing the "Free King Rhine," a song which was composed in 1814, when the French under Napoleon once before withdrew from Coblenz and left Germany's pride free. The grim but now disarmed fortress of Ehrenbreitstein frowned down upon the triangular point of land from the opposite cliff.

Flags fluttered, bands played, the people swarmed about and artillerymen fired a twenty-one-gun salute as the Presidential steamer swung round and alongside.

The old soldier, in a black frock coat, walked from the gangway to the parade-ground-like triangle of "the corner" between two rows of white-clad little girls 8 or 9 years old. Then he stood bareheaded, nodding in slow approval, while the children's choir poured forth the stirring melody of the "Free King Rhine."

Sun Breaks Through.

As if it had intentionally waited for this moment, the sun broke through and flooded the scene with a hard white light against which the differing shades of the blending rivers beyond were sharply set off. It was far and away the most impressive demonstration of the President's trip, the surging voices of tomorrow's Germans and the slowly nodding old man.

President von Hindenburg's progress down the Rhine from Eltville, where he had boarded the steamer with his host of the night before, Baron Langwerth von Simmern, the former German commissioner for the occupied areas, had been like a royal procession. A fleet of six river steamers, gayly decorated, churned along with the swift-flowing current

Heavy Shower in Evening Rush Sends Mercury From 80 to 72 in Two Hours.

MIST TEMPERS DAY'S HEAT

Follows Night of Discomfort in Which 500,000 Sleep in Parks and on Beaches.

WIDE DAMAGE FROM WINDS

Heavy Blow at New Brunswick Kills One and Injures Eight as House Is Wrecked.

Mist and haze formed a natural parasol for New York yesterday and made it cooler at midday than it had been at midnight of the record-breaking day before. Then toward evening thundershowers cleared the humid air and the Weather Bureau offered the opinion that the heat wave was over.

The forecast for today was for fair weather with moderate temperatures, and fair and slightly warmer for tomorrow, with moderate northwest winds.

Before it passed—with freakish gestures of farewell in some places—nineteen more deaths and several more cases of heat prostration had been reported in and around New York. At least a score of deaths were reported also by The Associated Press from other cities.

Temperature Fluctuates Here.

In this city the official temperature chart fluctuated most of the day in the lower eighties, jumping a degree or so whenever the sun dodged from behind the clouds and mist. The night had been one of the hottest and most uncomfortable in many years.

The official temperature at midnight was 88 degrees. It fell to 77 at 6 A. M., but immediately it began to climb until at 9 A. M., when it had reached 80, it dropped one point as a hint, perhaps, that a break was coming. It was the first time in three days that the mercury had fallen after sunrise. The highest temperature of the day was at 3 P. M., when the mercury stood at 85, fourteen degrees below Monday's high.

At 5 o'clock, before the storm broke, in the midst of the evening rush hour, the temperature was 80 degrees. Two hours later it was 72 and falling. The humidity, which throughout the day made the atmosphere muggy, dropped out with the rain.

Although the order of Mayor Walker opening the parks and beaches for the use of those who found sleep impossible at home had not been rescinded, officials doubted that space on the lawns and the sands would be much in demand. Monday night at least 500,000 slept beneath the stars, 200,000 in the parks, according to Deputy Park Commissioner John Hart.

Hourly Record of Heat.

1 A. M.	87	2 P. M.	84
2 A. M.	85	3 P. M.	85
3 A. M.	82	4 P. M.	84

*Unofficial at Times Square.

The storm which broke the heat wave did considerable damage. In New Brunswick, N. J., winds of hurricane intensity swept through the city, whirling a house on its foundations, tearing away roofs and causing one death and injuries to eight persons.

Spain and New Zealand Increase Tariff Rates; New Duties Affect Products of United States

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, July 22.—A royal decree was approved by the Council of Ministers tonight which will raise duties on all articles of luxury, notably automobiles.

This is one of the principal measures Spain is taking to strengthen the peseta by bettering the heavy adverse trade balance. It will seriously affect the United States and France. The former sells Spain 80 per cent of the 30,000 automobiles imported yearly and most of the rest come from France.

Despite various measures to bolster the peseta, it has dropped a little lower this week, closing today at 8.76 to the dollar.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 22.—More preference for British goods and a corresponding tariff against American is given in a new schedule with which the government surprised the country tonight.

The principal tariff increases are: Cigarettes, $2 a thousand; cigars, 75 cents a pound; foreign automobiles, 5 per cent; British and foreign automobile bodies, ¼ per cent, and foreign watches, 25 per cent.

Duties in a long list of foreign goods have been increased by 5 per cent ad valorem, including chemicals, shoes (except children's), leather manufactures, automobile tires, clocks, toys, gramophones and records, photographic goods, metal manufactures, hardware, electrical, weighing and other industrial machinery, artificers' tools, motorcycles, woodenware and typewriters.

The gasoline tax is increased from 8 to 14 cents a gallon but the proceeds will be applied to highways revenue.

Prime Minister Forbes said tonight the new duties were expected to yield the equivalent of $4,000,000, but even then the total customs and excise revenue would be $1,850,000 below that of last year.

"Imports of British goods," he said, "have fallen in recent years and the added preference which will be applied to 158 items out of 225 now subject to empire preferential from empire sources,

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Immediately after President Hoover signed the naval treaty today, Secretary Stimson cabled instructions to the American embassies in Rome, Paris, Tokyo and London directing that they inform the respective Foreign Offices of the signature. They also were instructed to place before the Foreign Ministers a copy of the reservation attached by the Senate to the treaty.

The ratification instrument signed by the President will be taken to London by J. Theodore Marriner, Chief of the Western European Division of the State Department, and the ranking diplomatic adviser at the London conference. The ratification will be deposited at the American Embassy in London until the ceremony of the formal deposit of the other signatory powers at the British Foreign Office.

Ten Are Killed by Falling of Houses at Barile—Two Die in Palace Collapse.

PROPERTY DAMAGE GREAT

Several Sharp Shocks Are Felt—Seismograph Indicates Other Tremors in South America.

By The Associated Press.

NAPLES, Italy, Wednesday, July 23.—Sharp earth shocks in this region this morning caused deaths estimated at nineteen, injured scores of others and caused much damage to property.

The deaths resulted from the crumbling of houses, three being killed at Naples, ten at Barile, two at Atella and four in country houses near Atella.

Two were killed and five injured in the collapse of an old palace. A baby was killed and five persons badly hurt when the fifth floor of a house crumbled under the shocks.

A strong earth shock, lasting fourteen seconds, was felt here and at Potenza and other villages in the region.

Heavy Damage to Property.

In the village of Barile a good deal of damage was done in addition to the loss of life.

Naples felt the shock, which was undulating in character, at 1:06 A. M. Potenza, Matera and other towns felt the shock at 1:12 A. M.

ALCAMO, Sicily, July 22 (AP).—Two earthquake shocks, one of four seconds' duration and one of two, terrified the population here yesterday, but no damage was done. It was the second series of shocks in the vicinity this month.

Shocks Recorded at Fordham.

Two distinct earthquake shocks yesterday, the first at 3:38 P. M. and the second at 3:48 P. M., emanating from a tremor 9,600 miles from New York, were recorded by the seismograph at Fordham University, according to an announcement by Father Joseph Lynch, director of the university's seismic station.

Father Lynch said the earthquake might have occurred in the region of Chile in South America or in the Kuril Islands in the northern Pacific Ocean, which extend from Kamchatka to Japan.

Executive Declares Country Backs Step Toward Peace, Assuring Our Good-Will.

Four Are Present With Curtis and Senate Chiefs—Shouse Acclaims Democrats' Part.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—President Hoover signed the London Naval Treaty at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It was the simplest kind of a ceremony, the kind the President prefers, and it required only five minutes. There was no crowd about him when he penned his name to the treaty, there was no handclapping, no speechmaking.

Nearest the President when he signed were the four American delegates to the London conference now in Washington, Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State; Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, and Senator David A. Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania.

The only others present were Vice President Curtis, Senator James E. Watson, the Republican leader in the Senate; Senator William E. Borah, the chairman, and Senator Claude A. Swanson, the ranking Democratic member of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

President Voices Nation's Hope.

There was no doubting the great satisfaction of the President when he signed the treaty. In his opinion its ratification by the signatory powers will "renew again the faith of the world in the moral forces of good-will" and will dismiss from the mind of the world "any notion that the United States entertains ideas of aggression, imperial power or exploitation of foreign nations."

Incidentally, the President did what he could to take the treaty out of politics. So far as he is concerned what the Senate did yesterday was the culmination of a splendid non-partisan effort in which the honors go equally to the two great political parties.

Scene in Historic East Room.

The signing of the treaty was in the historic East Room of the White House. There was a single table on which Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, placed three copies of the treaty. On either side of the table were the full length portraits of George and Martha Washington.

The President, in white flannels, entered the room with Vice President Curtis. Then followed Secretaries Stimson and Adams, Senators Robinson, Reed, Borah, Swanson and Watson. Moving pictures and still cameramen were in places of vantage facing the table. Four giant lights, with glares that were almost blinding, were focused on the group.

The President used a gold pen, the same that was used by the American delegates when they signed at London. The President signed three copies—one for the State Department, one for Great Britain and the other for Japan. The pen used becomes a relic of the State Department.

Hoover Stresses Unity on Treaty.

After Secretary Stimson had attested the signature of the President the President turned to the four delegates to thank them for the part they had played in the negotiation of the pact.

"I have had great satisfaction in signing the naval treaty," he said. "I wish to congratulate you, the delegates to the London conference, upon the completion of your work. It is also a matter of satisfaction that this great accomplishment in international relations has received the united support of both political parties and all the States."

To the other three delegates of this country at the naval conference, Ambassadors Charles G. Dawes, Dwight W. Morrow and Hugh S. Gibson, the congratulations of the President were transmitted.

Previously the President had talked at more length with the newspaper correspondents.

"I shall have the gratification of signing the naval treaty this after-

PROXIES UNDER FIRE AT STEEL HEARING

Plaintiffs Challenge Legality of Vote by Which the Merger Was Ratified.

MORE BONUSES ARE LISTED

Six Vice Presidents of Bethlehem Received Total of $1,422,032 in 1929 Distributions.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 22 (AP).—Stock proxies—how they were voted and by whom—became the chief concern today of attorneys in the suit of the Cyrus S. Eaton interests to halt the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

The attack of the Eaton attorneys on the proxies that were voted to ratify the merger, began toward the close of the day with Miss Dora Hill, deputy clerk in the Probate Court of Lake County, Ohio, on the stand. Two trunks of documentary evidence, waiting outside the court room, indicated that the inquisition into the legality of the proxies may last several days.

Miss Hill was ordered to bring into court records of the estate of Harry Coulby, former director of the Youngstown company. Stock belonging to the estate, 4,200 shares, was voted for the merger by H. G. Dalton, one of the executors of the Coulby will and a director of Sheet and Tube.

Three Witnesses on Stand.

The Eaton attorneys had three other witnesses on the stand during the day. They were George May, senior partner of Price, Waterhouse & Co., auditors, who prepared the report upon which a merger contract was drawn; R. E. McMath, financial vice president and secretary of the Bethlehem Corporation, and F. P. Shepard, vice president of the Guaranty Company of New York.

Mr. May's testimony was cut short because he did not have with him the material from which the report of his firm was prepared. He left the stand promising to bring the material into court later.

Counsel for the Eaton interests completed their inquiry into bonuses paid to Bethlehem executives. Following the promise of President Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem the corporation defense attorneys furnished figures on the bonuses paid to six vice presidents during 1929 and the first half of 1930. They totaled $1,422,032 for 1929 and $517,775 for six months of this year.

Mr. Grace testified yesterday that his own bonus in 1929 was $1,623,753, and for the first half of 1930, $701,968. The bonuses paid to vice presidents for the same periods were:

Vice President.	1929.	First Half 1930.
Q. Brent	$378,664	$63,701
C. A. Buck	378,664	163,701
J. M. Gross	110,077	47,588
H. E. Lewis	375,784	61,146
R. E. McMath	134,538	58,162
J. H. Ward	54,305	23,477

Mr. Lewis retired Feb. 28. Other officers who shared in the Bethlehem bonus plan received a total of $370,548 for 1929.

Denies Attempt to Form Pool.

Mr. McMath was questioned about stock transactions and about $800,000 which the Bethlehem Corporation lent to Pickands, Mather & Co., Cleveland ore firm, without security. He acknowledged that he knew by inference the money was to be used for the purchase of Youngstown Company stock, but denied that he or President Grace ever attempted to form a pool to purchase stock.

Mr. McMath was questioned about a dinner at the Links Club in New York on March 13, this year, which was attended by himself, Mr. Grace, Elton Hoyt 2d, partner in Pickands, Mather & Co., and Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York stock broker. Messrs. Grace, Hoyt and Murphy have testified that the purchase of Sheet and Tube stock was discussed at the meeting. Mr. McMath substantiated this.

The witness said he did not remember any order being given to Mr. Murphy to buy stock and he regretted, he stated, that Bethlehem could not buy any of the stock, since it was selling at that time at around $135 a share.

"Didn't you know that Colonel Murphy left the group with the distinct understanding he had an order to buy stock?" asked Harry J. Crawford, of Eaton counsel.

"He so testified," said Mr. McMath.

"What was said that justified Murphy in thinking he had an order to buy?"

"Nothing I said authorized him to buy stock for Grace or me. I think Hoyt used language that warranted Murphy in going ahead."

Mr. Murphy, in a deposition, has testified that for a few days he did not know for whom he was buying Sheet and Tube stock.

"Wasn't it a joint enterprise for you four men to buy stock?" Mr. Crawford asked.

"Absolutely not," was the reply.

"And didn't you later abandon the idea because of the Federal Trade Commission?"

"Absolutely not a word of truth in that," said the witness.

As for the $800,000 loan to Pickands, Mather & Co., Mr. McMath said he saw nothing wrong in it, although Mr. Grace called it back in a few days for fear it would be misunderstood by the Federal Government. Mr. Hoyt had asked for the money, the witness said.

"What did he tell you he needed the money for?" Mr. Crawford asked.

"He left me to infer for what purpose he needed the funds," was the reply.

"Did he tell you he needed it to buy Sheet and Tube stock?"

"No," was the answer. "But I think he knew that I knew what he thought and for what purpose he needed the money. I, of course, knew he was buying stock, keeping in touch with the situation."

Brings in Jersey Law on Loans.

After drawing from Mr. McMath the statement that he knew H. G. Dalton, a director of Bethlehem, was a partner in Pickands, Mather & Co., Mr. Crawford asked:

"Did you know there is a law in New Jersey prohibiting the loaning of money to a director?" (Bethlehem is a New Jersey corporation).

"No," Mr. McMath answered.

"Did you know it is a penal offense?"

"No." Mr. McMath said that $85,000,000 received by Bethlehem last year from the sale of its own stock was put on time and call loans, and that before and after the market crash, the money was converted to government securities. He promised to bring into court the amounts of Bethlehem stock purchases and the prices paid from last September to the present date.

Mr. Shepard's testimony was technical. He explained the working of a syndicate formed to dispose of 800,000 shares of Bethlehem stock which had been underwritten by his firm, a subsidiary of the Guaranty Trust Company. It was previously testified that Cyrus S. Eaton had asked to buy a large block of this issue.

Mr. Shepard said about eighty banks and financial firms participated in the syndicate, and that the syndicate manager, the Guaranty Company, bought stock on its own responsibility to support the market. Later, the original underwriters were forced to step in and support the market, he testified.

The Guaranty Company, he said, bought 80,000 shares and later prorated it. The syndicate was extended to Jan. 21, and dissolved with but 287,000 shares subscribed. Of this, he stated, 40 per cent was taken by the syndicate members and the remainder reverted to the original underwriters.

"The original underwriters were compelled to take 318,588 shares in addition to those purchased to support the market," Mr. Shepard explained.

He added that operations of the syndicate to support the market ended on Dec. 3.

HINES IS INDUCTED IN VETERANS' POST

New Administrator Names Gen. Wood, Col. Ijams and E. W. Morgan to Aid Him.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, who guided more than 2,000,000 American soldiers to and from World War battlefields, today officially assumed control of the new veterans' administration, with an $800,000,000 annual expenditure for its almost 5,000,000 charges.

At the same time three other men, long experienced in their respective fields, settled into key positions in direct charge of the mammoth work of administering Federal aid to veterans of all wars.

Hines's first act under the new régime was to designate Colonel George E. Ijams, acting director of the Veterans' Bureau, Edward W. Morgan, acting commissioner of pensions, and General George H. Wood, president of the board of managers of the national homes for disabled veterans.

Under Colonel Ijams will function the 2,700 employes of the Veterans' Bureau in central headquarters, the fifty-four regional offices, forty-seven hospitals and the research division. It will carry through a hospitalization expansion program and administer World War compensation and the new disability pensions.

Similarly, Mr. Morgan will retain supervision of the approximately 700 employes of the Pension Bureau, which last fiscal year expended more than $229,000,000, in addition to more than $18,000,000 in retirement funds. General Wood will retain supervision of the ten National Soldiers' Homes, in addition to several State homes.

ENGINE BLAST KILLS 2 ON LACKAWANNA FLIER

Engineer and Fireman Perish as "Helper" Locomotive Explodes at Lehigh Summit.

Special to The New York Times.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 22.—Two railway employes lost their lives and two others were injured when a "helper" engine on the Lackawanna Limited of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, bound for New York, exploded late today at Lehigh Summit, about twenty miles from here.

The dead were John Lynch of Scranton, engineer, and Ray Whitman of Scranton, fireman of the "helper" engine.

John Demead of Hoboken, fireman, and Lewis Harle of Hoboken, engineer, the crew on the other locomotive, were injured and were brought to a local hospital.

The eleven coaches of the train did not leave the track, although the second engine piled into the wreckage of the first one. No passengers were injured, railroad officials reported.

About 200 feet of track was torn up by the engine.

SEEK HOTEL MANAGER.

Police Also Wish to Recover Missing Payroll of $2,560.

When employes of the Colonial Hotel at 21 West Eighty-first Street appeared as usual to get their pay envelopes at the office of Henry H. Gerard, the manager, yesterday, they were unable to find him. After they had waited some time an assistant manager went to Gerard's room. The manager was not there nor were his belongings. The assistant manager telephoned the owner, Charles Tannenbaum, who hurried over to the hotel.

Mr. Tannenbaum and Gerard had obtained the payroll from a neighborhood bank last Monday and had locked it up in the safe. Gerard had the only key to the inside door of the safe. Mr. Tannenbaum was unable to open it. He called in a locksmith, who fitted a key. But when the safe was opened the $2,560 payroll was gone. So was $400, representing collections from guests. All that remained was a note from Gerard to Mr. Tannenbaum.

According to the police the note read: "I'm sorry I had to do this. You promised me a job until October and fired me Aug. 1. Please do not persecute my family. I will pay you everything I owe you. It's terrible. I don't know what I'm doing."

Mr. Tannenbaum offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of Gerard. Detectives are looking for him. He has a family, they say, living on Long Island.

CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

Breaks Through Kanawha (W. Va.) Bridge—Mother, 2 Children Killed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 22 (AP).—An automobile broke through the railing on the Kanawha City bridge today and carried a mother and two small children to their death in the Kanawha River, 80 feet below. The dead are Mrs. Eva Hupp 28 years of age, of Coal Fork; Alice, 8 years of age, and James, 6 years of age.

Witnesses of the accident said the wet condition of the bridge floor, following a rainstorm, caused the car to skid. It swept up on the sidewalk at one side of the bridge and through the steel railing.

It was necessary to drag the car up to the shore with ropes before the bodies of the woman and boy could be extricated. The girl's body was recovered by divers.

RAIN WASHES DOWN MANY TREE SITTERS

But Those Near Records Stay Up, and Two Accidents to Boys Are Reported.

THREAT IN MASSACHUSETTS

Prosecution of Parents Proposed by Children's Society—Hackensack Bicyclists Continue.

Rain washed 100 trees clean of sitters and cleared the streets of many towns of non-stop bicyclists late yesterday afternoon, but those close to records stayed true to their stubborn search for fame.

Jimmy Dooley and his three comrades in Hackensack continued their monotonous wheeling, worn now by seventeen days. Vincent Morrisey and Anthony Scott in Camden, seeing a new record for tree-sitting glistening through the rain, remained on their perches in Stockton Park. Also in Camden Mrs. Edna May Knight, who claims the distinction of being the world's only married woman living in a tree, ended her first twenty-four hours while under a tent shelter watching the rain come down.

While in New Jersey the true spirit of endurance contests flamed bright despite the heat and rain, a threat that may prove the death of it came out of Massachusetts. All parents who countenance the "senseless fad" of juvenile tree-sitting were threatened with arrest and prosecution by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the society was backed up by a vitriolic statement from the State Commissioner of Public Health.

All these together combined to ground Katherine McAlear, 14 years old, who climbed into a backyard willow at her Roxbury home two days ago with the announcement that she hoped to win the female tree-sitting championship of the country and recoup the family fortunes. The S. P. C. C. acted swiftly and the child climbed down again.

Brands Practice a "Menace."

Massachusetts State Commissioner of Public Health George H. Bigelow branded the practice as indicative of "the menace to our young of the hideous American institution—publicity," and as though in proof that he might be right three boys in Pine Hill, N. J., abandoned their bicycle record-seeking because of "lack of publicity and public support."

Commissioner Bigelow described tree-sitting as comparable to "eating soup with a blotter, or other activities notable only for the fact that to date no sensible person has tried to indulge in them."

The first casualty resulting from tree-sitting was reported by The Associated Press from Niagara Falls yesterday when John Auchu, 4 years old, was hit on the face by a milk bottle which fell from a sitter's perch. The bottle broke and cut off the tip of the Auchu's boy's nose and bruised him on the face and shoulders.

A second injury was reported from Biloxi, Miss., where Bill Moss, 11-year-old tree sitter, fell from a hickory limb thirty-five feet from the ground and fractured his shoulder. He had been in the tree for two days.

In Philadelphia the police are still campaigning to clear the trees of all championship contenders, but fifty residents of one district there signed a petition asking them to permit James Donaghy, 13 years old, to stay aloft at least until 7:30 o'clock last night, when he would have completed five days of sitting. The appeal sent the police back to headquarters for further instructions. There the petition was granted.

Sitters Collecting Fees.

In New Jersey many of the tree sitters have gone definitely professional. Some are selling autographed newspapers at twenty-five cents each and are charging newspaper reporters ten cents for each interview. Merchants, too, are paying for permission to placard the trees in which the boys sit.

Most popular are Mrs. Knight, who has drawn crowds of 300 persons, and the Morrissey and Scott team at 19 Federal Street, Camden, who are nearest to the world's record. These boys have already collected $300 and are to broadcast over a local radio hook-up if they remain in the tree until 7:30 tonight. At that time they will have equaled the record of Billy Kearny of Kansas City, who sat in a tree for 216¼ hours before being hauled down by the police.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 22.—Police detectives here assigned to investigate the disappearance of a small bag containing $1,200 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Harris M. Crist, wife of the managing editor of The Brooklyn Eagle, which was taken from the after saloon deck of the steamer Naushon on Monday night, reported today they had not yet found any tangible clues.

Mrs. Crist, who summers in a cottage at Vineyard Haven, and a daughter were passengers on the steamer, which arrived from the Vineyard at 6:45 P. M. To avoid the crush Mrs. Crist waited with her daughter on the upper deck. When she got off the boat she forgot the bag and did not miss it until she had gone some distance along the wharf. Then she returned to where she had left the bag but found it had gone.

A search was conducted about the decks and rooms but no trace of the missing gems was found.

The ticket collector said he recalled seeing the bag on the deck when he made his final rounds. A few minutes later, he said, Mrs. Crist informed him that the bag, gray in color, was her property and had been taken.

Mrs. Crist had only a short time to spare after discovering her loss, since she had reservations on the steamer from here to New York. She gave the police her home address as 135 Stratford Road, Brooklyn, N. Y., but said she expected to sail for Europe shortly.

She described the lost jewelry as consisting of a topaz ring, valued at $50; a sapphire ring set with diamonds, valued at $400; an aquamarine ring, valued at $50; a string of pearls with a diamond clasp, valued at $350, and a diamond and pearl bracelet, valued at $350.

ASSAILS WAR RECORD OF MACKENZIE KING

Ontario Premier Retorts to What He Calls Reflections on Loyalty to the Empire.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 22 (Canadian Press).—Ontario's Premier, G. Howard Ferguson, retorted here tonight to statements by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King which he said reflected on the loyalty of himself and R. B. Bennett to the British Empire.

"It ill becomes a man who spent the years of the war working in the United States to cast aspersions on the loyalty of men who never worked for any one outside of Canada," said Mr. Ferguson.

The increased British preference provided by the King government was described by Mr. Ferguson as "humbug intended to deceive the people," adding that in his "panic" Premier King had given up following the Stars and Stripes and was going to get into the procession and follow the Union Jack.

"When our fellows were over there in France and Flanders taking all the risk fighting for John Bull, this fellow King was working for Rockefeller," he continued. "When our fellows were getting $1.10 a day in mud and in blood and in suffering, he was getting almost $1.10 a minute writing a book in somebody's back parlor.

"I do not want to cast any reflections on any one," Premier Ferguson stated, "but I resent it when a man like Mackenzie King casts reflections on my loyalty or my fidelity to the empire."

Mr. Ferguson spoke in support of the local Conservative candidates in Hamilton and Wentworth County, Charles Bell, K. C., Colonel G. S. Rennie and W. C. Wilson, all of whom had seats in the last Parliament.

"I look forward to one of the greatest sweeps we ever experienced in Canada for many a long day," Mr. Ferguson said, speaking of election prospects. "The people of Canada are tired of being told to tighten up their belts."

PISTOL SENT TO EXPERT IN BAKER MURDER

Ballistic Test Is Sought for the Weapon Linked to Campbell in Arlington (Va.) Case.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—The tangled stories of Herbert M. Campbell still held the attention of police tonight as they continued to question the Virginia real estate man, the last person to come under arrest on a charge of killing Mary Baker.

Commonwealth Attorney William C. Gloth of Arlington County, Va., announced tonight that Campbell's revolver, with which Bureau of Standards experts say the young Navy Department clerk was slain in April, will be taken under guard to Chicago for re-examination by Major Calvin Goddard, the ballistic expert.

Campbell was subjected to another questioning this afternoon behind closed doors. At one time he was suddenly confronted with a pair of men's gloves, found with parts of Miss Baker's bloodstained clothing in a sewer near where her body was discovered. The police said that Campbell had at first admitted and then denied the gloves were his.

Campbell's story was further broken down today, Mr. Gloth said, when he admitted that he did not return to his home until between 9 and 10 o'clock on the night of the crime, although previously testifying he returned just after 8. He accounted for this difference, Mr. Gloth said, by describing a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith in Washington, who, he says, are now somewhere in Arkansas.

Meanwhile Campbell's wife and his brother, Frank Campbell, came to his defense. They employed Charles Henry Smith of Alexandria, Va., as counsel. All three, with Campbell, maintained his innocence.

TELLS OF WIDE GAINS BY CATHOLICS IN INDIA

Mgr. E. A. Mooney, Here on the France, Says Church Makes 35,000 Converts Yearly.

Mgr. Edward A. Mooney, apostolic delegate to India, arrived on the French liner France yesterday to spend several weeks in New York and his former home in Youngstown, Ohio. He was accompanid by his secretary, the Rev. J. C. Hurley, and will visit Rome on his way back to India.

Mgr. Mooney declined to discuss the political turbulence of India but told of the spread of Catholicism throughout the country, estimating the Church's members there today at 3,000,000, the majority being located in the southern part of India. The rate of increase is more than 35,000 a year he estimated.

He expects to spend several days in New York as the guest of Mgr. Carroll at the parish of St. John the Evangelist, First Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street.

Also on the France was J. E. Miller, Spanish representative of the General Motors Company, returning here on business and for a short vacation. Mr. Miller said that the automobile business was excellent in Spain and that foreign manufacturers were doing well this year. He could not speculate on the possible effect of the high tariff in Spain but foresaw no retaliative action there similar to that taken by Italy.

MAKES LONGEVITY RECORD.

Brooklyn Major Is the Oldest Retired Army Officer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Major John V. Lauderdale, retired army surgeon, of 241 Eighty-fourth Street, Brooklyn, was 97 years, 8 months and 9 days of age today, and thereby, according to the War Department, broke the record for longevity of retired army officers as compiled in the office of the Adjutant General since 1882. Prior to that year no record of longevity was kept. The oldest retired officer previously was Major Gen. Daniel H. Rucker, who died here in 1910 at the age of 97 years, 8 months and 8 days.

Major Lauderdale was appointed an assistant surgeon in 1867, was promoted to surgeon in 1888, and was retired in 1896.

BANDITS GET $100,000 AT WISCONSIN BANK

HERD CUSTOMERS TO WALL

Robbers Paid No Attention to a Ringing "Burglar Alarm," Which Proved to Be Only a Telephone.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Wis., July 22.—Police throughout the State were guarding all important traffic arteries tonight in a search for bandits who today robbed the First National Bank of Hartford of nearly $100,000 in cash and securities.

Authorities of the Wisconsin Bankers' Association were checking descriptions of the bandits and their methods of carrying out the hold-up to learn if they corresponded with those responsible for three other Wisconsin bank raids within a week.

The bandits obtained about $10,000 in cash and between $80,000 and $90,000 in securities, most of them negotiable. They overlooked $7,000 in cash.

R. W. Bailey, the cashier, and Elmo Place, a customer, were slugged with a blackjack. H. L. Radke, assistant cashier, was threatened with a revolver as he missed the combination when first attempting to open the safe. The bandit covering him shifted the gun from the assistant cashier's back to his head with the warning, "don't miss it the next time."

When the bandits entered the bank about 11 A. M., there were five employes and three customers there. Mr. Bailey was at the desk of O. P. Kissel, president. Mr. Kissel was out of the city. Without addressing the cashier, one bandit slugged him and the others herded the customers behind the cages with clerks and forced Mr. Radke to open the vault.

All of the bandits displayed guns and carried blackjacks. One guarded the lobby while the others covered the customers and employes and placed the cash and securities in a small black bag. While they were in the bank a telephone bell rang.

One bandit shouted, "There it goes!" evidently referring to the burglar alarm. Even with the prospect of the burglar alarm summoning aid, the bandits were not hurried. However, the continued ringing of the bell proved to be that of a telephone. The trio argued whether to answer it, and decided not to.

The bandits used two cars in escaping, picking up a fourth member of the gang waiting outside.

SENATORS URGE KEIM AS FORT'S SUCCESSOR

Kean and Baird See Hoover With Jerseyite Proposed for Republican Secretary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—George Keim of Edgewater Park, N. J., was suggested to President Hoover today to be secretary of the Republican National Committee, when Senators Kean and Baird of New Jersey called upon the President with Mr. Keim. They were closeted with the President for some time.

It is understood that Senator Kean some time ago took the initiative in suggesting Mr. Keim as successor to Representative Franklin Fort, who resigned as secretary of the committee, and that Senator Baird and Daniel E. Pomeroy, Republican National Committee man from New Jersey, were also giving Mr. Keim hearty support for the position.

About the time that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, met the committee leaders here and, it was said, promised his resignation at an early date, Mr. Keim and Mr. Pomeroy held several conferences over the secretaryship, and it is understood that a great deal of quiet work has been done in the meantime on behalf of the New Jersey man.

Mr. Keim, who is a retired Philadelphia business man and banker, has never presented himself as a candidate for public office but is said to be anxious to serve the Republican party in its national organization.

He was a delegate to the Kansas City convention which nominated Mr. Hoover, and is said to have played an influential part in raising finances for the campaigns of Dwight W. Morrow and Morgan Larson, Republican Senatorial and Gubernatorial nominees in New Jersey.

Mr. Keim is 45 years old and is a member of the Port of New York Authority. So far as known here he is the first candidate in the field to succeed Mr. Fort.

WOULD DIVORCE ACTRESS.

Chicago Man Asks Decree Against Mildred Goodman Here.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Charging his wife with pulling out his hair and beating him with her fists, Gerard E. Goodman, 37 years old, today filed a suit for divorce in Superior Court against Mildred Goodman, 22-year-old musical comedy star, now appearing in New York.

In his bill, Mr. Goodman, heir to a $250,000 estate which he and his mother share at present, alleges that the beatings and acts of cruelty occurred on April 2, 4, 10 and 11, while the Goodmans were on their honeymoon. At the time of their separation on April 11, his wife is alleged to have said:

"I can't live with a man who is unable to provide me with the luxuries I crave. If you can't provide for me the way I want I'll get some one else."

Pleading with her on several occasions to come back to him, Mr. Goodman went to New York last month to the apartment at 105 West Forty-eighth Street, where Mrs. Goodman lived before their marriage. There he found her embracing a former sweetheart, Goodman alleges.

Fined Under Old Sunday Law.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—For violating the Sunday law of 1794, twenty operators of miniature golf courses and one manager of a swimming pool, were fined here today. Each paid a $4 fine and $2.50 costs. Many paid the fine for the fifth or sixth time.

IOWA DEMOCRATS ASK HOME RULE ON LIQUOR

Calling for State Regulation, They Also Urge Defining of Intoxicating Beverages.

DES MOINES, July 22 (AP).—State regulation of the sale of liquor with a new definition of intoxicating beverages was recommended by Iowa Democrats in State convention today as a remedy for what their platform termed "the nation-wide scandal of prohibition enforcement."

Voting down a motion to omit all reference to prohibition in their platform, the delegates adopted a plank asking "prompt legislative action to ascertain the will of the voters for retaining the Eighteenth Amendment; repealing it or revising it as the voters shall decide."

The plank was regarded as a compromise in view of the action by the Second District caucus asking repeal of the Volstead act and that of the Eighth District opposing modification or repeal.

The platform also assailed the Hawley-Smoot tariff, opposed the State primary election law and a proposed State income tax, and criticized Republican farm relief measures.

The delegates filled out the party's State ticket with the nomination of E. T. Gilman of Rock Rapids for Superintendent of Public Instruction, F. J. Underwood of Oskaloosa for Secretary of Agriculture and M. J. Kennelly of Davenport for Railroad Commissioner.

The prohibition plank, approved despite scattering dissent, charged that "the Republican party had failed to devise and put into operation any plan of effective enforcement." It set forth a list of alleged evils growing out of this and asked a law "defining intoxicating beverages according to a reasonable non-intoxicating standard of alcoholic content based upon opinions of physicians and scientists."

It also asked the enactment of a law giving States the right "to forbid or restrict the sale or consumption of beverages" not prohibited by the proposed new definition of intoxicants.

Senator Daniel F. Steck, who delivered the keynote address, attacked the Hawley-Smoot tariff law as unfair to agriculture. He called conditions resulting from enforcement of prohibition laws "a national disgrace" and suggested a referendum of the question of repealing the Volstead act and the Eighteenth Amendment.

ENJOINS SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Court Acts on Plea of South Orange Man Who Sold Field to Town.

A temporary restraining order was issued by Vice Chancellor Alonzo Church in Newark Monday forbidding the use of Cameron Field, South Orange, N. J., for baseball games to which admission is charged. The order also called upon the village authorities to show cause next Tuesday why a permanent injunction should not be issued.

The order was obtained by Arthur Roche Jr., counsel for William Torrey Baird of 212 Scotland Road, South Orange, who in March, 1924, deeded to the village thirty-seven acres of land, of which the baseball field is a part.

The village trustees had transferred Cameron Field to the Recreation Commissioners, and have refused to interfere with the action of the latter body in allowing Sunday baseball games to which admission is charged.

The bill of complaint sets up that the land was deeded to the village to be used by the public as a recreation ground without admission fee. Mr. Roche explained that his client did not object to Sunday baseball, but to the charging of a fee for admission.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., July 22 (AP).—Sunday baseball received the sanction of the village board of trustees last night following the receipt of petitions bearing 700 names of residents who urged the body to permit a "wholesome, clean and beneficial recreation."

FINDS POLLUTION IN SOUND.

Engineers' Report Shows Bathing Near New Rochelle Endangered.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., July 22.—The waters of Long Island Sound in the vicinity of this city are dangerously polluted in places, according to a report received today by Acting Mayor Stanley W. Church from Stillman & Van Siclen, chemical engineers of New York, who recently made a survey of the bacteriological content of near-by waters of the Sound.

The report showed, according to Mr. Church, that the waters in the near vicinity of Glen Island Beach were sufficiently polluted to make bathing there dangerous. The tests were taken on July 14 at Hudson Park bathing beach, foot of Drake Avenue; Neptune Creek, between Travers and Neptune Islands; New Rochelle Creek, between Davenport Neck and Glen Island Narrows, and near the bell buoy entrance to Echo Bay. The bacteria content between Travers and Neptune Islands, the worst point tested, was approximately 2,420 per cubic centimeter, the report showed, while in other places the count per unit fell as low as 92.

DRYS DEFER ACTION IN STATE CAMPAIGN

Wadsworth and Fearon Alone Are Banned as Avowed Wets as Republican Aspirants.

TUTTLE STRENGTH DOUBTED

Leaders Say He Must Have Solid Backing Here to Be Considered—Hoover Aloof, Maier Asserts.

Dry disapproval, according to reports from up-State, so far has been placed only upon former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr. and State Senator George R. Fearon of Onondaga, both of whom have come out bluntly for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but not upon half a dozen other Republicans mentioned in connection with party nomination for Governor who are either regarded as moderately liberal in their views on prohibition or who have not so far taken their stand on that question, considered by the drys as the central issue of the coming State campaign.

Among the number not as yet singled out for dry disapproval are United States Attorney Tuttle, State Attorney General Hamilton Ward and Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies of the Assembly, all of whom have a following up-State. It was said to have been clearly indicated by reports received from up-State by a Republican leader of prominence in this city that Mr. Tuttle in order to be seriously considered for the nomination must go into the Republican State Convention with virtually solid backing from the five Republican organizations in this city.

Up-State Republican leaders, it was said, had marveled at the lack of any insistent demand on the part of New York City Republicans for the nomination of Mr. Tuttle, who, with "Tammany corruption" in the New York City Government being framed as an outstanding issue for the coming campaign, appears to many of the party leaders as the logical candidate because of his close relation to the revelations that alone have made it possible to bring this issue forward.

Tuttle Lacks Official Backing.

Mr. Tuttle so far has said nothing to indicate that he is a candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination, and yet there is a general impression among Republicans that he is, and it is admitted by many that he has done much to earn the honor. Aside from a "boom" for George U. Harvey, the Republican Borough President of Queens, which so far has made little headway, no one has appeared in the field with a claim on New York City support. Yet, not even the Republican organization of New York County, where Mr. Tuttle is a resident, has taken official cognizance so far of Mr. Tuttle as a Gubernatorial prospect.

William J. Maier, chairman of the Republican State Committee, returning to his desk at Republican State headquarters yesterday after several days' absence, took occasion to deny reports that he had sought to influence the selection of drys in up-State counties as delegates to the Republican State Convention.

"The Republican voters in their respective counties will select the delegates," Mr. Maier said. "It is their function, not mine."

Says Hoover Is Aloof.

In reply to a question Mr. Maier said that persistent reports, current for weeks, that word has gone out from Washington to Republicans in this State to hold aloof from any except passing mention of prohibition in their State platform, were unfounded.

"President Hoover," he said, "has not sent word; if he had I think I would know it. The President is not mixing in New York State politics."

"What is your own reaction to the proposal to give prohibition the 'absent treatment' when it comes to making the Republican State platform?" Mr. Maier was asked.

"That is not for me to say; that is up to the convention," was his reply.

Mr. Maier said that the special committee created by the Republican State Committee to select a temporary chairman and keynote orator for the Republican State Convention would begin work about the middle of next month. The committee is composed of Chairman Maier, Vice Chairman Sarah Schuyler Butler and Charles D. Hilles and Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, representatives from this State on the Republican National Committee.

Chairman Maier only shook his head when asked for comment on the report that the drys up-State were apt to prove more tractable this year than has been the case in other years. The wets are in a different frame of mind, but for the present are concentrating on getting a repeal plank in the platforms of both the major parties, rather than on the selection of wet candidates.

resign as chairman of the Republican National Committee and for opposing the naval treaty.

These things, he said, showed that the chairman of the Senatorial committee disregarded the views of the majority of the Republican party and were sufficient to lead the spokesman for the young guard Senators to suggest to Senator Moses that he should retire from direction of the Senatorial campaign committee for the good of the party.

Moses Indifferent to Attack.

According to those attending the meeting, which was held behind closed doors, Senator Moses seemed indifferent to the criticisms and did not appear to feel that he had done anything that impaired his strength as head of the Senatorial committee.

Senator Vandenberg, after Senator Moses had briefly replied to his suggestions, said that, of course, the committee was powerless to force Senator Moses to resign. The chairman of the Senatorial Campaign Committee is appointed by the chairman of the Republican caucus, Senator Watson of Indiana.

After this turn of affairs, the opposition did not attempt to force a vote and bring the issue to a head.

Steiwer to Have Charge in West.

Senator Moses is reported then to have outlined his plans, which were to apportion the country west of the Mississippi River to Senator Steiwer, vice chairman of the committee, with headquarters in Denver, while he, Senator Moses, would take charge of the section east of the Mississippi, including Illinois and Kentucky, where it is expected the Senatorial battles will be hard fought.

There appeared to be some doubt as to who would have charge in Minnesota. After the meeting Senator Moses said to newspaper men in the presence of Senator Steiwer that this would be decided later. Members of the Young Guard element, however, were authority for the statement that Senator Steiwer would conduct the campaign west of the Mississippi including Minnesota.

Moses Insists on Western Visit.

Senator Moses announced, in the presence of Senator Steiwer, that he would visit the Western States with the latter to size up the political situation in each.

Some Young Guardsmen asserted that Senator Moses would not enter Western territory or be invited to do so by Republican candidates for the Senate. On the other hand, Senator Moses said that Senator Capper of Kansas and Senator McMaster of South Dakota had personally invited him to come into their States.

Though the Young Guard failed to gain a victory today in their first determined assault upon the intrenchments of the Old Guard, the leaders of the young group were not discouraged. It is understood that their next effort will be an attempt to depose Claudius Huston as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Mr. Huston will return to Washington late this week and is expected to announce in the next two weeks when he will retire. Whether he will voluntarily resign or await a demand from President Hoover to do so is an unanswered question.

An Emergency Appeal

The ten Fresh Air Camps of the A. I. C. P. are filled to overflowing and thousands of mothers, children and feeble old people, victims of the unusually long period of unemployment, are still waiting to go. New York's record-breaking hot spell has increased the general distress and many are in extreme need of a brief release from the sweltering tenements. A few weeks spent at an A. I. C. P. camp with good food, considerate care, fresh air and sunshine will relax tension, rebuild health and renew hope. Never before in our 86 years of service has the need been so urgent.

The donations received to date for this Fresh Air relief work are not sufficient to meet its cost. Every dollar contributed will be used to buy wholesome food, transportation and nursing care. We urge you to do whatever your situation makes possible. It is our hope that the "heart of New York" will not let this plea go unanswered.

NATION'S POPULATION CLOSE TO 123,000,000

TOTALS ROSE 16.33 PER CENT

Rate of Increase for the Country Was 14.9 Per Cent in the Preceding Decade.

CENSUS MACHINE IN ACCORD

Bureau Device Which Ticks Gains Said 122,597,000 Were in the Country on April 1.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—A total of about 122,957,000 probably will be shown as the population of the United States for 1930 when the final count is announced here by W. M. Steuart, Director of the Census Bureau.

The population in 1920 was 105,710,620. Should final figures bear out the calculation the country would show a growth of about 17,246,000 persons in ten years.

The figure was calculated by The Associated Press on the basis of actual preliminary returns from forty-one States and the District of Columbia. In these States census supervisors have reported a total of 101,229,364 people, as against 87,089,499 ten years ago, an increase of 14,277,344, or 16.33 per cent. For the decade of 1910-20 the rate of growth was 14.9 per cent.

The growth of the forty-one States, comprising about 81 per cent of the population ten years ago, forms a close approximation of the rate of growth of the nation. On that rate the entire country's population would be 122,957,307.

Seven States Have Not Reported.

Census Bureau officials have made their own estimate of the country's population as of April 1, but refuse to divulge their figures. The population-estimating machine, which ticks the increase in the number of persons as calculated by experts from immigration statistics, births and deaths, placed the number of people in the United States on April 1 at midnight at 122,597,000.

Reports still are to be received from seven States, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Oregon, Louisiana, Mississippi and Idaho. The estimated population of the seven, as of Jan. 1, aggregates 21,310,456, which, added to that of the forty-one other States, brings a total of about 122,452,000 for the country.

Cities of 100,000 or more population were increased to ninety-four with a revised announcement by the Bureau of the population of Gary, Ind., as 100,749, an increase of 81.9 per cent, as compared with 55,378, ten years ago. The first announcement by the district supervisor placed Gary's population for 1930 at 97,420. Gary now ranks as the ninety-third city.

The list of cities of the 100,000-class numbered sixty-eight in 1920. With the addition of Gary, persons now living in cities of that class number 36,493,970, an increase of 32.76 per cent as compared with 1920.

PRESIDENT HOOVER SIGNS THE NAVAL TREATY.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE NAVAL TREATY

noon at 3 o'clock," he told them. "It is a matter of satisfaction that this great accomplishment in international relations has at all steps been given united support of both our political parties.

"With the ratification by the other governments the treaty will translate an emotion deep in the hearts of millions of men and women into a political fact of government and international relations. It will renew again the faith of the world in the moral forces of good-will and patient negotiation as against the blind forces of suspicion and competitive armament.

"It will secure the full defense of the United States. It will mark a further long step toward lifting the burden of militarism from the backs of mankind and to speed the march forward of world peace. It will lay the foundatioons upon which further constructive reduction in world arms may be accomplished in the future.

"We should, by this act of willingness to join with others in limiting armament, have dismissed from the mind of the world any notion that the United States entertains ideas of aggression, imperial power or exploitation of foreign nations."

Shouse Gives Credit to Robinson.

The only comment today, outside of the President's statement, was from the Democratic National Committee, with Chairman Jouett Shouse of the executive committee speaking in its behalf.

"We have had, and doubtless will have more, statements claiming the ratification of the disarmament conference treaty as a great achievement of the Republican party," Mr. Shouse said tonight.

"Recently there was issued by the Republican National Committee Press Bureau a release, to which was attached the name of Congressman Temple of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, hailing this treaty as the leading accomplishment of the Hoover Administration, with the plain purpose of employing this triumph as ammunition in the coming Congressional campaign.

"The ratification of the treaty during the special session just closed was due principally to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader in the Senate, whose defense of the London covenant, in the negotiations of which he participated, was not only the best argument in favor of the treaty but one that produced the most definite effect.

Democracy's Stand for Treaty.

"A not inconsiderable number of Democratic Senators were inclined to urge that consideration of the treaty be put off until after the November election, but deferred to the view of their leader and by their attendance kept a quorum present and thereby defeated the machinations of those who sought, under Republican leadership, to compass postponement and ultimate rejection of the treaty.

"During the whole treaty fight there has not issued from the Democratic National Executive Committee one word of opposition or one statement that might have tended to destroy the work of the London conference.

"There was, of course, the political temptation to give President Hoover a dose of the same medicine that the Republicans measured out to President Wilson when he negotiated a treaty, to defeat this one and thereby demonstrate the absolute inability of the Hoover Administration to function constructively.

"However, those directing Democratic affairs took the position that foreign relations were not legitimate questions in domestic politics, and only two Democrats voted against ratification of the treaty, as against seven Republicans—all of them regular standpatters.

Looking to Congress Campaign.

"It is a favorite contention of the administration spokesmen, in their efforts to deprecate the charges of administration inefficiency, to accuse the Democrats of being actuated merely by a desire to embarrass the President and to cause delay. This was notably so during the long period when the tariff was under consideration.

"It might be pertinent when these charges are repeated, as they will be when the Congressmen fighting for re-election are trying to defend the administration and to show that its barrenness of helpful legislation was due to Democratic obstructionists, to recall the history of the treaty just ratified.

"The fate of the treaty at all times was in the hands of the Democrats. They could have made the special session abortive, have added to the pact reservations that would have insured its rejection by the other signatory powers, or, finally, have brought about its rejection.

"Instead, they refused to make a party matter of it even though their support gives the Hoover Administration the one achievement it can claim without provoking derisive laughter from the people of the United States."

May Spend Billion in Six Years.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Consideration of a detailed six-year program under which nearly a billion dollars may be spent on the United States Navy under the London treaty ratified yesterday was begun today by the Navy General Board.

The board estimates that $989,460,000 must be spent from 1931 to 1936 to give the United States the maximum allowed strength.

The navy now has in operation and under construction ten cruisers of the 6-inch gun type and thirteen 8-inch gun. The building of two more of the latter has been delayed by the President until ratification of the treaty, while one other of the same class may be completed in each of the years 1936, 1937 and 1938, bringing the total strength to eighteen.

Since no destroyers have been completed since 1922, and their maximum effective age is sixteen years, the largest single item would be for this type of naval vessel.

Only three existing destroyers would be effective until 1938, twenty-nine until 1937 and seventy-three until 1936, the year the treaty expires. To restore the destroyer strength to the allotted 150,000 tons would cost $418,500,000.

The board estimates the cost of other types of vessels as: Eight-inch cruisers, $212,500,000; six-inch cruisers, $143,206,000; submarines, $120,241,000, and aircraft carriers, $95,013,000. These figures do not include about $30,000,000 Congress has been asked to appropriate for the modernization of three battleships.

LAIDLAW CONTRADICTS GLEASON ON CENSUS

Denies Federal Enumeration Is Inadequate for Reapportionment of Legislature.

Dr. Walter Laidlaw of the Cities Census Committee, Inc., took issue yesterday with the recent assertion of Colonel Lafayette B. Gleason, secretary of the Republican State Committee and chief enumeration supervisor of the 1925 State census, that the 1930 Federal census provides insufficient data to meet the requirements of the State Constitution for reapportionment of the Legislature.

In an open letter to Colonel Gleason Dr. Laidlaw asserted that his statements are "so inaccurate and so injurious to the public interest that they should be corrected." He said that he had been informed that block enumeration was applied by the Federal census takers. It was the alleged failure to apply block enumeration which led Colonel Gleason to assert the present census could not be used for reapportionment.

"Reapportionment on the basis of the State census of 1925, which was the alternative suggested by Colonel Gleason, would not, in my judgment, survive a court review," Dr. Laidlaw declared. He asserted that documentary evidence showed that the 1925 State census did not apply the block enumeration method in the case of one whole borough, Richmond; in the case of the dividing line between the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens and in the case of individual blocks in at least three boroughs.

Declaring that the only alternative to use of the 1930 Federal census for reapportionment was to await a State census in 1935, Dr. Laidlaw said that in his opinion a way could be found to reapportion the State Senatorial districts on the basis of the census of 1930. He added that he agreed with Commissioner Randall J. Le Bouef Jr., who investigated the taking of the 1925 State census under the Moreland act, that "a State census for reapportionment only, in these days, is a waste of public money."

LONDON SEES TREATY AS NOW IN EFFECT

Parliament Will Debate It Today and Ratification in Week Is Thought Certain.

M'DONALD PLAINLY ELATED

Press Sees Senate's Action as Victory for Hoover and as Passing of Greatest Obstacle.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—The prospects of the naval treaty in Great Britain have been immensely enhanced by the ratification in Washington. The unexpectedly decisive vote in the Senate is regarded here as having lifted the treaty over its highest hurdie and as having brought into operation already the limits it imposes on naval building.

Premier MacDonald told the House of Commons today it would be best to pass the treaty bill before next week's recess, especially now that the treaty has been ratified by the Senate. The bill is scheduled for discussion tomorrow and quick action is expected in view of the long debates already held on the subject in the Houses of Commons and and Lords.

The Premier was plainly elated at the Senate vote when he addressed the closing session of the Interparliamentary Union later in the day.

"We must all be gratified," he said, "that the United States Senate has ratified the naval treaty. If we are going to have disarmament it can only be effective by national agreements carrying disarmament stage by stage until the job is finished; and very often, of course, there will be disappointments. By going along steadily, maintaining that equilibrium in forces which mean relatively national security, coming lower and lower as the moral and political instruments of security are strengthened, we can at last present the happy spectacle of unarmed nations secure in peace because they are not armed."

Victory For Hoover Seen.

The newspapers consider the ratification a victory for President Hoover, but point out that it could not have been accomplished if public opinion in the United States had not been almost solidly behind him. The London Times, for example, remarks:

"The final vote shows how completely the little group of dissentient Senators was out of touch with public opinion, to the pressure of which the Senate, with an election close at hand, is peculiarly sensitive.

"The overwhelming majority, so much greater than expected, is a triumph for the President, who initiated the negotiations, gave his firm support all through to the American representatives and, in spite of obstinate obstruction, insisted that the treaty should be accepted before the Senate dispersed."

The London Times does not believe the opposition big-navy elements in Japan can wreck the treaty and considers it as good as ratified in England.

"Opposed in each of the three countries by a considerable body of naval officers and critics, it has been in each approved by the great bulk of public opinion which, since the first step taken in Washington in 1922, has seen no reason to regret the policy of progressive disarmament by mutual agreement."

Comment on Building Program.

The only cause for dissatisfaction in Britain, in continues, is that the building program has been announced for one year only but it hopes a five-year program will be agreed upon at the coming Imperial Conference, "which will not let the navy fall short of the strength, by no means excessive, permitted by the treaty.

"The less ground for uneasiness during the tenure of the present agreement, the easier it will be when the next naval conference meets—in 1935 if the international situation should then justify it—to make another step toward disarmament in cooperation with the other powers."

The Liberal Evening Star hails the ratification as a "great victory for disarmament.

"No body of men anywhere in the world has proved itself more suspicious or more critical of foreign treaties than the Senate, which killed the chances of America's participation in the League of Nations, and we can take its approval of the naval treaty as a very solid testimonial. The fact that of all the reservations proposed only one remains might of itself dispose us to look upon it kindly, but apart from its faint flavor of insolence there can be no grave objection to the declaration that the treaty is signed subject to the condition that there are no secret understandings concerning it. If there are, we think we should dislike them as much as any American Senator could."

Peace Seen as World Aim.

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—The belief that peace is the greatest cause before the world today was expressed by Premier MacDonald at the concluding sessions of the Interparliamentary Union conference in the gallery of the House of Lords.

"Until we come into personal contact, until we have looked each other in the eyes, until we have sat down side by side at a common meal, until we have discussed our national literature, science and arts, we will never be the type of citizen who understands others and has no suspicion in his heart about them," said the Prime Minister, pleading for effective international disarmament.

The Prime Minister voiced the sympathy of the conference for the chairman, the Duke of Sutherland, whose sister, Lady Ednam, was one of the victims of yesterday's Kent air crash in which six persons were killed.

TOKYO NAVY REPORT HOSTILE TO TREATY

Admirals Declare It Defective for Nation's Defense, Dealing Blow to Cabinet.

LONG STRUGGLE IS IN VIEW

But Ultimate Ratification by Privy Council Is Forecast — New Defense Bills Pledged.

By WILFRID FLEISHER.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKYO, July 22.—The naval leaders here dealt the hardest blow to the London naval treaty which they have directed against it since the pact was signed when the naval members of the Supreme Military Council, at their second informal meeting today, agreed upon a report finding the treaty "defective" in so far as the national defense is concerned.

The wording suggested by Admiral Togo was agreed upon in face of the opposition of Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy, who sought to have the council adopt milder language which would avoid giving the impression that the naval leaders desired to repudiate the treaty. The outcome was a distinct victory for the opposition forces, led by Admiral Togo and Admiral Kanji Kato, former Chief of the Naval General Staff.

The wording of the report, although it has not been officially given out, is said to be as follows:

"The strength allotted to Japan by the London treaty is defective in so far as the national defense is concerned. The treaty being only for the short term of five years, we are not without measures to make up the defect, but only in an imperfect way."

Special Cabinet Meeting Today.

Following today's informal meeting, Admiral Taniguchi, the new Chief of the Naval General Staff, went to Hayama to announce the result to the Emperor and to request him to convene a formal meeting of the Supreme Military Council, which has now been fixed for tomorrow morning at the imperial palace. The Emperor will come to Tokyo from the Summer palace at Hayama to preside over the meeting.

At tomorrow's formal meeting it is expected the council will ratify the decision reached today. The Emperor will formally ask the advice of the naval men and they will hand to him their prepared answer as agreed upon today. The council meeting will probably last only a short time, to be followed by a luncheon to which the Emperor will invite the members.

A special Cabinet meeting has been scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and it is believed the governments will immediately place the treaty in the hands of the Emperor, who will refer it to the Privy Council for ratification.

It was also agreed at the naval meeting today that the Japanese delegation should insist at the next naval conference upon Japan's three principles—a 70 per cent ratio in all auxiliaries, a 70 per cent ratio in large cruisers, and parity in submarines.

The fact that the treaty is to be officially described as "defective" by the highest naval men in the nation is regarded as placing the government which negotiated the pact in an extremely embarrassing position.

American Action Welcomed.

It is understood Admiral Togo desired to adopt even stronger language and wanted the report to set forth that the "defect" in the treaty would in no way be made up, instead of saying that it could be made up but would leave the national defense imperfect. He consented to a modification when Premier Hamaguchi declared, through Admiral Takarabe, that the government was prepared to expend a large amount to make up the deficit in the national defense.

By this slender shade in the wording of the report the fate of the Cabinet hung in the balance today, as the adoption of the former wording would have compelled its resignation. The Cabinet's position is now regarded as having been considerably weakened.

At a Cabinet meeting today which followed the meeting of the naval leaders, Admiral Takarabe reported the results of the naval meeting and said he had done everything possible to bring the naval leaders around to his view, but that he had failed.

The outcome, he said, was inevitable and he had been forced to fall in line with Admiral Togo.

The treaty may now be expected to encounter considerable difficulties in the Privy Council, although it seems certain the council will ultimately approve the pact.

The ratification of the treaty by the American Senate by an overwhelming vote was welcomed in official quarters today, although no official would allow himself to be quoted as expressing an opinion, in view of the difficult situation prevailing here and the likelihood that the opposition would make capital out of any statement.

The American ratification is certain to have the effect of speeding up the course of the treaty here. It cannot be said the government has delayed, pending action by the United States. Premier Hamaguchi has his own troubles, but the favorable action of America will go a long way toward checking the dilatory tactics of the opponents of the naval treaty.

Jersey Girl, 14, Missing Since Sunday, Returns—Police Doubt Story.

WEST COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., July 22.—Ruth Kuhnell, 14 years old, whose disappearance Sunday night resulted in a wide search through this district, returned to her home today and told of having been kidnapped by three men in an automobile, blindfolded, taken to a cabin and kept prisoner until she escaped by jumping out a window.

The girl appeared this morning at the home of a friend, Elizabeth Zisweiss, the last person known to have seen her before she was reported missing. She was semi-hysterical and a physician was called in to attend her. The police declared they were not informed until three hours after her return.

This afternoon detectives toured this area with the girl in an effort to locate the cabin in which she said she had been detained. Lawrence T. Doran, chief of Camden County detectives, declared after a fruitless search that he did not believe the girl's story.

The Kuhnell girl disappeared, it was reported, after she had taken an automobile ride Sunday night with Miss Zisweiss, Paul Somers, 19 years old, of Oaklyn, and Clifford Hemingway, 20, of Merchantville.

FRENCH SEE BARGAIN FOR US IN NAVY PACT

FINDS AMERICA GAINS MOST

Newspaper Says World Opinion Would Have Found Rejection Hard to Understand.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—That the United States made a good bargain in the London naval agreement is the opinion expressed in all French comment on its ratification by the Senate. The long debate was followed here with interest, those Frenchmen who are students of American affairs seeing in its many phases an excellent illustration for their future guidance in regard to the Senate's attitude toward foreign relations.

While congratulating President Hoover on the success of the measure, Le Temps tonight says, "It is always the same anxiety not to be drawn into a position of solidarity with Europe which dictates the attitude of the Americans, and the discussion has been somewhat passionate on whether or not in the diplomatic documents which President Hoover refused for perfectly good reasons to communicate there was any commitment other than those contained in the treaty. The Senate finally covered itself before public opinion by the act of ratification, in which the reservation was expressly laid down that no secret document could in any way modify the meaning or interpretation which Congress gave to the accord. Precaution against possible surprises could not be pushed further.

"From the accord the United States undoubtedly is the principal beneficiary and world opinion would have found it difficult to understand any reason for rejection. There are, of course, precedents which prove that Congress does not hesitate, when it considers a purely American interest at stake, to refuse to ratify treaties in which the Washington Government even has taken a preponderant part; but in the present case rejection would have been very curious, for the London treaty assures to the United States naval equality with Great Britain and guarantees her against any menace which might result from development of naval armaments by Japan.

"The Americans have in reality obtained complete satisfaction for their amour propre and all guarantees which they judged necessary for their security without themselves having contracted any obligations of any sort to guarantee the better security of others."

FRANCO-ITALIAN SPUR SEEN IN RATIFICATION

Roman Press Ignores Senate's Action, but Officials Win Encouragement From It.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, July 22.—The Italian press gives little prominence to the Senate's ratification of the London naval treaty, limiting itself to printing the bare announcement of the fact without entering into particulars or commenting in any way.

The Giornale d'Italia tonight dedicates only eleven lines to the event; Tribuna, twenty-one, and other newspapers even less, although the Senate debate was followed closely.

The lack of interest on the part of the newspapers is not matched by equal indifference in official circles. They learned of the ratification with the keenest satisfaction. It is felt that ratification not only prevented all the efforts at London being wasted but represents a step forward toward disarmament.

It is believed that the American ratification of the London treaty will have a favorable influence on the solution of the Franco-Italian naval differences, which naturally interest Italy most.

If the Senate had rejected the treaty it would have lost any practical value, it is felt here. As things are now it is thought that France and Italy must soon fall into line with the other nations and this, the Italians believe, will have the effect of speeding up Franco-Italian negotiations and increasing the probability of their success.

ENDURANCE FLIERS GET FUEL AS TANKS GO DRY

Plane Arrives With Gasoline Just as Engine Sputters—48-Hour Mark Passed.

Special to The New York Times.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., July 22.—At 8:34 o'clock tonight Louis Reichers and Robert Black, pilots of the red-winged Stinson monoplane aloft in an attempt to break the 553-hour refueling endurance record, passed the forty-eight-hour mark on what they hope to make a month-long flight. The flight had nearly ended earlier in the day when the plane ran out of fuel just as the early morning contact with the refueling plane was made.

At dawn the two pilots found the fuel supply almost depleted. Through the radio carried on the plane they sent a hurry call to John Donaldson and Philip Watson, pilots of the refueling ship. The refuelers responded immediately and just as Donaldson passed the hose to the endurance plane the motor coughed, indicating that the last few drops of gasoline were being used.

Letting a few gallons of his load of fifty pass through the hose into the tanks of the lower plane, Watson then pulled away to give the endurance fliers opportunity to pump the fuel through the lines of their plane. Satisfied that the motor was again functioning properly contact was resumed and the rest of the fuel passed.

At 7:30 A. M. the refueling plane again went aloft with oil, grease, water, newspapers and breakfast for the two men cooped in the cabin of the red-winged plane. Three more contacts were made later in the day with gasoline and food, and shortly after 5 P. M. the fliers sent another hurry call as indications of a storm appeared in the west. Fifty gallons more were transferred and at 7:30 some seventy more, to carry the plane through until the next contact at dawn tomorrow.

Meanwhile the sister ship of the red-winged plane, one with green wings, which descended yesterday when its pilot, Tex Anding, became ill, stood in the hangar. Its other pilot, Jack Charleson, was seeking a new partner for another attempt, it was reported.

THOMAS DEMANDS INQUIRY IN QUEENS

Charges in Letter to Harvey That Klein Illegally Had Seven Streets Improved.

FINDS MOTIVE "DOUBTFUL"

Maintenance Funds Were Used to Pay for Unauthorized Contracts, He Asserts.

12 HIGGINS AIDES BUSY

Begin Examination of Pier Leases and Appeals Board Records—Kurtz Subpoena Held Up.

While a total of twelve investigators visited the Dock Department and the Board of Standards and Appeals yesterday at the order of James A. Higgins, Commissioner of Accounts, Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for Mayor, in a letter to Borough President Harvey of Queens, made charges that may lead to an investigation into the paving of streets in that borough.

Mr. Thomas charged that Irving Klein, Queens Superintendent of Highways, had been "obligingly responsible" for the paving of seven blocks in Queens without formal authorization from the Board of Estimate and questioned his motives in allowing the work to proceed. The streets Mr. Thomas referred to are Swan Place between Beach Sixty-eighth and Sixty-ninth Streets, and Beach Seventy-ninth, Eightieth, Eighty-first, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Streets between Rockaway Boulevard and the Ocean Promenade.

Letter Demands Inquiry.

"Streets have been paved in Arverne, but there is no record our investigator could find to show that they were paved by special assessment or through private contract, despite the fact that such is the procedure when streets are first paved," Mr. Thomas said in his letter. "It is charged that the Queens Bureau of Highways has been obligingly responsible for paving these streets and that resources ordinarily used to maintain highways have been utilized for this purpose. There are also reports as to the reason Mr. Klein paved them. These rumors are of such serious character as to require investigation.

"What provision have you to prevent some of your departments from doing favors to friends?" Mr. Thomas asked. "If the provisions in the case of these streets were entirely regular, why are the records missing? All the questions are summed up in this: Who pays for street paving in Queens when the jobs are not on the record books? Who collects, and who receives?"

Borough President Harvey is in camp at Plattsburg, N. Y. Acting Borough President John J. Halleran, informed of the charges last night, said he preferred to wait until he saw the letter before making any statement. He promised Mr. Thomas a full explanation when he obtained detailed information concerning his inquiry. Mr. Halleran failed to reach Mr. Klein last night.

Pier Leases Under Scrutiny.

Three investigators were sent to the Dock Department offices at Pier A, North River, yesterday by Commissioner Higgins to check the rentals of piers leased by the city to private individuals. The piers extend from the Battery up the North River to Dyckman Street, and from the Battery up the East River to the Harlem River, through the Harlem to Dyckman Street. In addition the Dock Department supervises piers on the Brooklyn waterfront, in the Bronx, in Richmond and in Queens.

Before John H. Delaney, now chairman of the Board of Transportation, became Dock Commissioner, most of the pier leases were renewed at increases of 10 per cent over the old rental. Mr. Delaney evolved the so-called "Delaney formula," designed to give the city a maximum return upon its investment. The Delaney formula has been described in shipping circles as the hardest bargain the city could drive with steamship companies and is now in general use.

All records of the Dock Department were thrown open to the investigators, who did not disclose what leases they were particularly interested in. They said they might find discrepancies in the rent roll which may lead them to investigate isolated cases, but so far as could be learned yesterday they had not narrowed their inquiry to any particular transactions.

Five investigators and accountants were detailed to the Board of Standards and Appeals. Mr. Higgins announced that he had a working force of twelve men in the field. The Appeals Board investigators began examining records extending back to 1925 when the building zone resolution was passed. Many of the board's decisions are made under this resolution. Here too the investigation was not directed at any particular acts of the board, and will probably not be narrowed down until Commissioner Higgins holds several private hearings in his office to map out the work.

All four members of the board reiterated yesterday that they welcomed the investigation. Henry L. Connell, acting chairman, said the board would "give all possible cooperation to Commissioner Higgins and his investigators." He declared his statement held for every one in the office from the temporary chairman down to the lowest-paid clerk.

"Most assuredly the board will aid in the investigation in every way it can. Why shouldn't we? We have nothing to conceal," said John Guilfoyle, another member.

"Of course we are glad that a real investigation is to be made at last," said J. P. Holland. "Had it been made thorough-going heretofore, many of the aspersions cast on the board, I feel certain, would never have been heard of."

Richard J. McElligott, the Fire Department's representative on the board, also welcomed the inquiry.

"Personally I am glad the board will be investigated. It will clear the air, and I feel that other members of the board feel the same way about it," he said.

Commissioner Higgins failed to see Mayor Walker yesterday, and said he would not decide whether to subpoena Irwin Kurtz before he consulted Mayor Walker. Mr. Kurtz's charges of irregularity in the Department of Taxes and Assessments were strongly resented by George Henry Payne, a Republican Tax Commissioner, who asked that Mr. Kurtz, a Republican leader, be required to substantiate his allegations. The Mayor was at City Hall yesterday afternoon for about half an hour and then left.

Forest Fires in Blue Ridge Wipe Out "Moonshine" Stills

Special to The New York Times.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 22.—Scores of "moonshine" stills in the Blue Ridge ranges of Maryland and Virginia have been destroyed and the operators routed by forest fires during the last three days, according to firefighters who have detected in the smoke the strong ordor of burning alcohol.

For nearly a week a fire above Mount Briar and Harpers Ferry has burned, wiping out many moonshine camps, it is reported, in a section notorious for illicit distilling.

In the intense heat of the past few days firefighters have been unable to resort to "backfiring" and flames have spread in several areas.

HARVEY REPLIES TO THOMAS.

Scoffs at Attempt to Raise Issue Over Paving.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 22.—Borough President Harvey said tonight that although he knew of no definite paving work being done, the highway department is doing much repaving, using its own material and workmen instead of giving out private contracts and assessments. Referring to charges of illegal work made by Norman Thomas, he said:

"Every charge such as the one Thomas made is personally investigated. And Thomas or any one else is free to investigate for themselves."

Mr. Harvey said the record of such paving work would be found in the Highway Department and nowhere else. He scoffed at Mr. Thomas's attempt to raise an issue on this charge and said that the practice of using the department's own equipment has been going on since he has been in office.

GREENE JOLTS POLITICIAN.

Colonel Rebuffs Request to "Put Some of Our Boys" on Prison Job.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 22.—Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, State Superintendent of Public Works, whose scalp has often been demanded by importunate politicians, disappointed another one of them during the visit of Governor Roosevelt's party to the new Attica prison now under construction.

"Colonel, we want your help in getting the contractor to put some of our boys to work on the job," a local Democratic politician said.

"Listen," Colonel Greene replied, "I've had this job twelve years and I've never asked a contractor to put a man to work and I'd cut my tongue out before I'd do it."

"In all my experience," he said later, "I've never yet put a man at work in my department on a political endorsement who proved to be more than 20 per cent efficient."

Work on the prison is now six months ahead of schedule.

OLIVE OIL USED IN MOTOR.

Spanish Experimenter Says It Functions Perfectly.

MADRID, July 22 (AP).—Manuel Pinol, a member of the Seville municipal council, motored today from that city to Madrid using olive oil as the only lubricant of his car.

The experimenter said he consumed one litre (about a quart) of the oil with excellent results.

Olive producers have asked the government to support experiments which they hope will result in extensive use of olive oil for lubrication now accomplished by mineral oils as a measure toward solving the problem of olive over-production.

FOUR DIE IN CHAIR AT TRENTON PRISON

McBrien and Companions Pay Penalty for Killing Garage Cashier in Newark Hold-Up.

REPRIEVE ATTEMPT FAILS

One Who Aided In Conviction of the Others Is First to Be Executed.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., July 22.—Frank McBrien, alias John Murray, and known as the "Jersey Kid," and three other men were put to death in the electric chair tonight in the New Jersey State Prison for the murder of George B. Lee, garage cashier shot in a $3,600 holdup in Newark on Oct. 15, 1928. A fifth member of the gang was shot down trying to escape a Chicago policeman two months after the crime.

The men executed with McBrien were:

Victor Giampietro, 24 years old; Joseph Malanga, 32 years old, and Joseph Rado, 27 years old.

Shortly before 8 o'clock Warden Edward B. Stone changed the order of the executions. McBrien was to have been the first to die. The change, made because Giampietro seemed on the verge of collapse, incidentally fulfilled one of the last wishes of the other three men.

William J. Egan, Director of Public Safety of Newark, had asked that Giampietro be reprieved. None was forthcoming, however, from Governor Larson. Giampietro had aided the authorities in the arrest and conviction of the other three, and by this earned the hatred of the condemned men, all of whom expressed a desire to see him die first. It was reported last January that Malanga stabbed Giampietro while they were confined in the Essex County jail.

The executions were performed by Robert G. Elliott. In accordance with the law, a group of thirty persons witnessed the deaths.

Radio declared his innocence before the straps were buckled about him.

"I want you gate-crashers and spectators to know," he said, "that I am innocent, despite what McBrien testified. Tell the whole world that."

All of the men were dressed in khaki and wore slippers, except Malanga, who was barefoot. They were accompanied to the death chamber either by the Rev. Louis Guzzardi or the Rev. John Goorluy, prison chaplains. When Giampietro was led away, the other three men remained silent, afterward wishing each other farewell. This was the second time in the history of the State that as many as four executions at one time had taken place at the prison. After the four men had been formally pronounced dead the bodies were removed to Kemp's morgue, where relatives of all save Rado had claimed them for burial.

RED MOVE SURPRISES REICH

Press Lauds Soviet Envoy on Promotion.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 22.—The appointment of Nicolai Krestinski, the Soviet Ambassador in Berlin, as Assistant Commissar for Foreign Affairs, is reported by the Berlin press with surprise and some regret. It is pointed out that M. Krestinski, who is a great admirer of German culture, has, through his hospitality, made many friends here, which undoubtedly will assist him in his future work.

The Catholic Germania, taking another angle, says M. Krestinski's appointment confirms the general assumption that Moscow regards Berlin as its most important foreign post, and that M. Krestinski seemingly has worked in Berlin to the greatest satisfaction of Moscow officials. The newspaper hints that the present organization and attitude of German communism are due to the efforts and actions of Berlin's Soviet Embassy.

Among possible successors to the Berlin post are mentioned Alexander Rykoff, former president of the Union Council of People's Commissars, and M. Suriz, the present Soviet Ambassador at Angora.

tantly admit that Governor Roosevelt made out a good case for himself in his recent open letter to Senate Leader John Knight and Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies of the Assembly, original proponents of the inquiry. But others held that the Governor through his refusal had put himself exactly in the position where they want him.

In one quarter it was suggested that through his demand for "more evidence" the Governor had committed a political blunder which might render necessary a reversal of his present attitude in the event that new disclosures, not held improbable in Republican quarters, should be made to reflect further on the Walker administration. In that event it is expected the demand for an inquiry would be pressed with renewed vigor by the original spokesman.

Mayor Walker's radio address, in the meantime, was made a target for attack from many sources, while from the Mayor's office copies of a sheaf of telegrams were handed out, praising the address and upholding the Mayor. There was a total absence of notables, however, in the signatories of the batch made public.

"Old Story," Says Koenig.

Samuel S. Koenig, president of the New York County Republican Committee, said the Mayor's speech had differed in no essential from what he had expected it to be.

"It is the old, old story, told every time Tammany is squirming under attack and forced to come to the defense of its representatives in public life whose conduct has come in for censure," Mr. Koenig said. "The people will not be deceived by anything the Mayor said."

William J. Maier, chairman of the Republican State Committee, who returned to his headquarters here after several days' absence, said there was nothing in the Mayor's speech to supply ground for Governor Roosevelt's failure to grant the demand for an extraordinary session of the Legislature, although undoubtedly it was intended for that purpose.

"The Governor," Chairman Maier said, "reminds me of the president of a corporation in whose auditing department some wrong-doing had been uncovered offering to have another audit made by his own bookkeeper."

Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel for the Citizens Union, in a letter sent to the Mayor and made public by that organization, declared that the investigation ordered by Mr. Walker would not satisfy the disinterested citizen that evils will be sought out and the guilty brought to merited punishment.

Sees Effective Course Evaded.

"I submit," Mr. Wallstein wrote, "that the misapplication of home rule theories will not serve adequately to meet the existing situation. Nor will your own eloquent though belated expressions of a desire for honesty in your official subordinates be any more effective. The intelligent citizen, nauseated by recent revelations, believes that concealment, not correction, must be the result of such methods.

"The grafter and the racketeer in the public service must be immensely relieved and must be encouraged by such methods to continue as before, for they see that the only really effective method, under existing circumstances, of terminating their activities is the only method that is avoided."

Mr. Wallstein wrote that the numerous exposures in the recent past of official misconduct would have remained still unknown, "so far as the activity of any local authority has been involved," if it had not been for the activity of United States Attorney Tuttle.

"In such a condition the conviction is inescapable that the facts disclosed by chance are merely symptomatic of a widespread demoralization in the local public service and that the local authorities, who have shown no initiative in disclosing the facts, are not the persons to be entrusted with the conduct of such comprehensive investigation as is imperatively needed," the letter continued. "Furthermore, you must realize that no investigation the extent, scope and vigor of which are solely under local control can under the circumstances convince the disinterested citizen that all the existing evils will be searched out, all the guilty punished and constructive remedies applied."

Baldwin Cites Omissions.

Mr. Wallstein also replied to a statement made by Mayor Walker who said in the course of his address that payroll padding in the Street Cleaning Department had originated during the Mitchel Administration when Mr. Wallstein was Commissioner of Accounts. Mr. Wallstein said in his letter that if the Mayor's statement implied that payroll padding at that time had gone unpunished, he was in error. He appended extracts from his 1916 report as Commissioner of Accounts to show that several offenders had been prosecuted and some had gone to jail.

Joseph Clark Baldwin 3d, Republican leader in the Aldermanic Board, said over the long distance telephone from the training camp at Plattsburg that Mayor Walker's address was remarkable for the number of things the Mayor "conveniently forgot." The Queens sewer frauds and disclosures made in connection with garage permits granted by the Board of Standards and Appeals were instanced.

"It is so obvious that the Mayor's chief interest is to forestall an impartial investigation that it is scarcely necessary to mention," Mr. Baldwin said.

Dr. William H. Allen, director of the Institute for Public Service, in a statement, branded the Mayor's speech as "a disappointing repetition of earlier warnings" to city employes to be honest and attend to their work. In his last official warning, Dr. Allen said, the Mayor had served notice that any commissioner who failed to rid his department of idlers, wasters, grafters and incompetents must get out.

"Last night he warned only against dishonesty and then only among department heads," Dr. Allen said. "Then he talked of service; last night he talked of getting caught red-handed."

Irwin Kurtz, another Republican leader, made public a letter he had sent to George Henry Payne, Republican member of the Municipal Tax Board, who had taken him to task for charging practices in that department reflecting on the integrity of the board.

Would Study Tax Practices.

"THE TIMES correctly quoted me as saying 'there are rumors of improprieties in the Tax Department, with favored Tammany lawyers working to get special tax assessments for the elect,' " Mr. Kurtz said in his letter. He added that this belief had existed for years, called attention to disclosures made by Major F. H. La Guardia as Republican candidate for Mayor last year and to a statement made by Mayor Walker in a public address to the effect that "the complaints I hear are clearly indicative that there might very easily be an improvement in our system."

"It seems to me that under the circumstances the Tax Department should be very anxious to have all these rumors run down by a non-partisan investigating board, the facts determined once and for all and the citizens of New York satisfied as to the true situation," Mr. Kurtz wrote.

Mayor Walker made public eighteen complimentary telegrams occasioned by his speech. Included was one from Peter P. McElligott, a Tammany lawyer who served with Mayor Walker in the Assembly some years ago; one from J. W. Denahy of the Eighth Avenue Association, and one jointly signed by Joseph P. Ryan and James C. Quinn as president and secretary of the Central Labor Council of Greater New York and Vicinity.

Governor Avoids Prohibition.

The Governor described his visit as a small boy to Grover Cleveland in the White House.

"I hope, my little man, that one day you will be President of the United States," the Governor quoted Cleveland as saying. Interrupting the audience's applause, the Governor added, "but Cleveland also said this, 'I want to wish you the best thing I can. I hope you will never be President.' I'm inclined to think Cleveland was right."

The Governor did not mention prohibition but he demanded a return of State home rule by a general campaign of education and added:

"If you will apply these principles to any one given subject of political discussion today you will find the safest, sanest solution of the matter."

Closing with an obvious reference to the Fall campaign, he said, "I take it that I shall be having another little vacation in October and come back here to speak for the Democratic candidates."

REPUBLICANS DROP INQUIRY SESSION

tor Knight's progress in recovery from the effects of his auto accident. The spirit of mutual courtesy prevailed at the conference in the Senator's home.

In less than an hour the three conferees had agreed upon the personnel of the Commissions on Taxation, Administration of Justice and Prison Policy. The names will be announced later.

Have No New Evidence.

Then Senator Knight brought up the question of a New York City Administration inquiry and the Governor, following the formula prescribed in his letter to the legislators, asked if they had any additional evidence of official misconduct or of failure of the local authorities to prosecute. He was told that they had nothing more than what had been disclosed.

The Governor laughingly asked for the trunkful of newspaper clippings on New York conditions to which Senator Knight in a recent statement had referred. The Senator was ready to produce them but the Governor did not insist.

During the brief discussion, it was learned, Speaker McGinnies showed that he was not displeased that there would be no legislative investigation of New York City. He had opposed the plan at the regular legislative session and was never enthusiastic about it.

After the Governor's position as taken in his letter had been reaffirmed, Senator Knight read to the Governor a statement that he and Speaker McGinnies had drawn up. Then the conference broke up and copies of the statement were handed out. It read as follows:

"The conference today was originally called to make appointments to various statutory commissions by the joint action of the Governor and the legislative leaders. Subsequently, a suggestion was made by the Governor that he would discuss with us at this time the question of calling a special session to adopt measures leading to an investigation by the State of various departments of the city of New York.

Recall Queens Sewer Scandal.

"His letter of yesterday clearly indicated definite opposition to a special session. He is and has been as familiar as are we with the long trail of crimes commencing with the Queens Borough scandals of several years ago and leading on down to the present day.

"In view of these facts, it has seemed unnecessary now to discuss the whole situation in detail. The Governor adheres to his prior determination. He seeks to justify his position on the plea of 'home rule' and existing law.

"It would seem that the deplorable conditions already shown extend far beyond the interest of a single municipality. The Governor's predecessor, Mr. Smith, in the Queens sewer case did not invoke its application. As to existing law, the jurisdiction of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court extends only to the inferior courts. In the matter of superseding the district attorneys of the boroughs, the Governor has failed to exercise his authority despite the delay and their apparent hesitancy.

"We have been, and now are, willing to assist in doing anything necessary to bring about a thorough and complete investigation. Bear in mind, we have never asked the Governor to call an extra session. We have indicated our willingness to assist him to enact any legislation or adopt any procedure which the conditions demand. There is nothing more that we could or can do. The responsibility for inaction now rests with the Governor.

"We have conferred with the Governor upon the personnel of the several statutory commissions. These include a temporary State commission to recommend a revision of the tax laws, to be composed of nine members; a commission to investigate and collect facts relating to the present administration of justice, to be composed of ten members, and a commission to make an intensive study and investigation of prison administration and formulate a plan of prison construction and financing, and the development and expansion of prison industries.

"The personnel of these commissions as agreed upon will be announced by the Governor."

Assert Republicans Backed Down.

The sentence in the statement that the leaders of the Legislature had "never asked the Governor to call an extra session," caused some of the Executive's associates to declare later that the Republicans had "backed down." They cited the July 3 letter of Senator Knight and Speaker McGinnies to Governor Roosevelt in which they said:

"We write to say to you that if you still question your power to interfere in this situation, it is entirely agreeable to us that a special session of the Legislature be called to give you any power necessary in this connection."

"We pledge that the majority of the Legislature will act to that end, that you may be clothed with full authority as the Chief Executive of this State to rid the city of New York of dishonest and disloyal public officials. Such a session need only be very brief."

Interpret Offer Differently.

The Republican interpretation of these words, however, was that the legislative leaders had simply assumed the stand that it was the duty of the Chief State Executive to act and that the Legislature was ready to aid him in every possible way.

Governor Roosevelt made no comment on the matter, but at a dinner of the Democratic leaders here tonight he was understood to be referring to the variety of Republican positions as to a New York City investigation when he said, "A little bird tells me that there is not harmony in the ranks of the opposing party."

John F. Curry, leader of Tammany, also said that the demand for a city inquiry had been satisfactorily answered by Governor Roosevelt and Mayor Walker.

"The stand of these two men has the support of New York City Democrats," he said.

Before his conference with the legislative leaders Governor Roosevelt, traveling by automobile from Rochester, viewed the construction work at the new Attica prison and found that the institution was likely to be ready for use by Jan. 1, six months ahead of schedule.

His car stopped once before a camp of eighty-four model prisoners from Auburn who are working on railroad switches at the new prison site.

They waved to him and he waved back.

"Have you got a good cook here?" the Governor asked.

"Yes, fine," the answer came back. On the door of their camp was the sign, "No help hired here."

State Leaders Aid Buffalo Harmony.

The Erie convention brought to Buffalo not only the Governor and the New York City Democratic leaders but also State Chairman M. William Bray, Harlan W. Rippey, Rochester leader, and William H. Kelley, Syracuse leader. John Henry, Buffalo leader; Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, Democratic national committeeman, and Controller Tremaine escorted the Governor here from Arcade.

The out-of-town leaders were invited to join in the convention to give support to the unity movement among Buffalo Democrats, who have hitherto been disturbed by factional fights. The new solidarity of Erie County democracy was emphasized during the gathering.

A Western New York leaders' conference was held in the afternoon, but only local matters were discussed. Clear indication was given that these leaders of the Eighth Judicial District would support Mr. Bray for nomination as Attorney General.

Mr. Curry would not discuss the State ticket at all, but Mr. McCooey, who was supposed to have desired the post of Attorney General for Brooklyn, voiced no such sentiments when he talked to inquirers. Observers believed that he would be satisfied with the appointment of a Brooklyn man to the vacant post of State Superintendent of Insurance.

Mead Attacks Dry Law.

The anti-prohibition plank was adopted at the night session of the convention in the Buffalo Auditorium just before Governor Roosevelt arrived there. The Executive came in time, however, to hear a vehement attack upon the Eighteenth Amendment by Representative James M. Mead of Erie.

In his speech, which in conjunction with the party platform made prohibition the foremost local issue, the Representative gloried in the fact that the Democratic party was "not only wet in 1930 but wet in the dark days of 1919 and 1920."

"The bone dry law," he said, amid applause, "makes us the laughing stock of the world. Our appeal to Canada to help us enforce our law not only makes us ridiculous but emphasizes the utter impossibility of enforcing this law."

The repeal plank, tumultuously acclaimed, reads:

"Realizing that the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and its enforcement laws, known as the Volstead and Jones acts, have produced widespread discontent among our citizens, threntening the moral fiber of the nation, and have developed a growing disregard for law observance; and conscious that the rights and powers of State governments and the personal liberties of the people have been invaded by the drastic and un-American limitations and requirements thereof, we pledge our candidates for Congress and the Legislature of our State to exert their individual and collective influence to the repeal of the prohibition amendment and the laws passed pursuant thereto."

In addition to the attack on prohibition, attacks on President Hoover, the tariff, business depression and the condition of agriculture gave to the convention, with its flags, delegations and cheering galleries, all the aspects of a national convention.

"There are so many unemployed they walk the streets in three shifts," said Charles J. Kennedy, Buffalo attorney, in one of the condemnations of the Hoover régime.

Governor Roosevelt, greeted by a four-minute demonstration, confined himself largely to non-partisan discussion of State affairs.

PROSECUTOR'S TRIAL ON IN OCEAN COUNTY

Supreme Court Jury Chosen to Hear Testimony on Charge of Truck Seizure Plot.

MOVE TO DISMISS FAILS

J. M. Davis Refused Grand Jury Offer to Appear During Investigation.

Special to The New York Times.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., July 22.—A jury was chosen before Supreme Court Justice Peter F. Daly here today to try James Mercer Davis, prosecutor of Ocean County, and two attachés of his office for alleged conspiracy to defraud the county through the release on improper bonds of motor trucks which had been seized while allegedly transporting liquor.

Former Sheriff John A. G. Grant and Alexander J. Miller, both of whom are now detectives on Mr. Davis's staff, went on trial with the prosecutor. Corporal Francis J. Ruggiero of the State police, who also was named in the indictment, escaped trial when Robert H. McCarter, special prosecutor, moved to nolle prosse the charge against him.

Mr. McCarter is being assisted in the prosecution by his son, George. Former Circuit Judge Thomas G. Haight of Jersey City and Wilfred H. Jayne of Lakewood, former prosecutor, appeared for Mr. Davis, while Harry E. Newman of Lakewood is counsel for Miller and Howard Ewart of Toms River for Grant.

Mr. Haight moved to dismiss the indictment on the ground that its allegations were too vague and indefinite and that the grand jury which returned it had merely stated its conclusions instead of the facts on which they were based. After a lengthy argument Justice Daly denied the motion.

William Fischer, foreman of the grand jury which voted the indictment, was the principal witness this afternoon. He said that the grand jury had informed Davis it would permit him to appear before it and tell his side of the case if he would reveal the source by which he had kept informed of what went on in the grand jury room. Davis refused the offer, Mr. Fischer said.

DISCUSSES BANK FAILURES.

Head of Supervisors' Group Sees Solution in Site Selection.

BOSTON, July 22 (AP).—M. E. Bristow of Virginia, president of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, said today that the solution of banking failure problems was not to be found in the branch or chain system, but rather in better selection of place and in greater cooperation.

He was addressing more than 100 State bank supervisors from all parts of the country who are attending the twenty-eighth annual conference of the association here.

"Most of the failures have been small and in under-capitalized country banks," Mr. Bristow said.

WIND UP TESTIMONY IN VAUSE CASE TODAY

Defense Counsel Agree and the Jury Is Likely to Begin Its Deliberations Friday.

SCHUCHMAN UNDER FIRE

Admits False Statements Before Grand Jury—Vause and Brother Will Not Take Stand.

Taking of testimony in the trial of former Judge W. Bernard Vause and six others for using the mails to defraud will end in the Federal court today, defense counsel promised yesterday. The summing up will start either this afternoon or tomorrow morning, and the case is expected to be in the hands of the jurors not later than Friday.

The promise of a speedy conclusion came from the counsel when one of the jurors, who have been hearing evidence for almost six weeks, suggested longer hearings. This suggestion was overruled by his colleagues, but Nathan D. Perlman, attorney for Mr. Vause, then advanced his assurance of the end of testimony today, and other defense counsel concurred.

Mr. Perlman reiterated that Mr. Vause would not take the stand in his own defense, due to his physical condition, and said he intended to call only a few witnesses. The former jurist's brother, Louis, also a defendant, probably will not take the stand either, Emil K. Ellis, his attorney, said. Harry Cruso is the sole remaining defendant who has not testified.

The declaration that the end of the trial was in sight was made after Samuel Schuchman, another defendant, had spent almost all day in the witness chair under the cross-questioning of United States Attorney Tuttle, who forced Schuchman to admit that he had told falsehoods in grand jury and bankruptcy hearing testimony and that he had perjured himself in a supplementary proceeding involving a $4,000 judgment against him.

Schuchman, characterized by the government as the "master mind" in the Columbia Finance Corporation, whose failure for more than $400,000 brought about the mail fraud indictments, mopped his face nervously under the questioning, and Mrs. Schuchman, seated in the first row of spectators' benches, occasionally sobbed.

Mr. Tuttle brought out that while Schuchman had professed ignorance of the declaration of dividends by the Columbia and that the board of directors had taken no action on them, an executive committee really had handled the corporation's affairs and that Vause frequently conferred with its members.

Examining the witness on his direct testimony that he knew nothing of the Columbia's activities after June, 1928, Mr. Tuttle read Schuchman's grand jury testimony that he was active in its affairs until October of that year and that until June, 1929, he continued to visit the corporation's offices in the evenings to check up on creditors. Mr. Tuttle compelled him to say that his grand jury testimony was untrue.

The United States Attorney also pressed Schuchman about $50,000 which the Columbia put into the State Capitol Corporation, founded by Schuchman, which failed later. Schuchman said the sum originally was a loan, but later was converted into a Columbia investment in the State Capitol. He admitted he did not know whether the directors passed on this action. When confronted with his grand jury testimony that the $50,000 was a loan, he said it was "a slip of the tongue."

When Schuchman insisted that it was Solomon Cruso who first interested Vause in the Columbia, Mr. Tuttle presented further grand jury minutes in which Schuchman was quoted as saying it was he who first saw the former jurist. He said he "couldn't remember" telling District Attorney Crain that Vause had not invested any actual cash in the Columbia and no stock had been issued to him.

Frontier Comes to Life Again For Celebration at Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 22 (AP).—Wyoming's capital was once more the capital of America's range land today. The monotonous boom of the tom-tom had called together Indians from the Rosebud Agency of South Dakota and the Burnt Thigh tribe of the Sioux. Over 12,000 persons were here to watch bronco busters attempt to ride wild horses, among them "Midnight," pitch-black king of all buckers.

For the annual frontier-days celebration, old Cheyenne, with its saloons, dance halls, variety theatres and gambling tables, has been reproduced.

ASSAILS LIFE GUARDS.

Hospitals Department Criticizes Policy Following Coney Island Death.

The policy of life guards at Coney Island in attempting to resuscitate submersion victims by the Schaefer method before sending a call for an ambulance surgeon, which last Saturday was followed by the death of Hyman Getzkim of 600 East 169th Street, the Bronx, was severely criticized in a letter sent yesterday to Borough President Hesterberg of Brooklyn by Deputy Commissioner of Hospitals Thomas W. Cox, acting under orders from the commissioner, Dr. J. G. William Greeff.

Deputy Commissioner Cox asked Borough President Hesterberg to order the life guards to abandon this procedure and to permit the ambulance sugeon to take full charge of the situation.

In addition to the investigation made by the Department of Hospitals, it was learned yesterday that relatives of Getzkim were planning a separate investigation of their own. At the same time it was learned that the two life guards concerned in the case, Herman Hirschhorn of 1,729 Sixtieth Street, Brooklyn, and Samuel Rosenbloom of 1,575 Townsend Avenue, the Bronx, would appear before Borough President Hesterberg today. Although the interne who was alleged to have been prevented from trying to revive the dying man by inhalation, Dr. Irving Plain, attached to Coney Island Hospital, is not expected to appear today before the Borough President, it is believed that Mr. Hesterberg will question him later.

CAUSEWAY PLANNED FOR CAPTREE ISLAND

COST IS PUT AT $4,700,000

Park Commission, on Inspection Tour, Also Announces an Ambitious Waterways Program.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BEACH, L. I., July 22.—Plans for construction of a $4,700,000 causeway from a point east of Babylon to Captree Island, to connect Ocean Parkway and the Southern State Parkway, were announced today by Robert H. Moses, head of the Long Island State Park Commission, during the tour of the ports and waterways committee of the Long Island Chamber of Commerce. He said the project would give Long Island one of the greatest roadways in the world and should be completed between 1932-1933.

Representative Robert L. Bacon of Nassau County told the guests on the tour that he expects work will be started within the next few months on the development of East Rockaway Inlet. President Hoover on July 3 signed a bill calling for a Federal appropriation of $610,000 for the project. The measure provides for an appropriation of $100,000 from Nassau County in addition. A resolution adopted today assures the county appropriation. Mr. Bacon said the work may be finished by 1932.

The yacht Natalie, flagship of the tour, was aground for a short time today on one of the shoals near Point Lookout. Thomas A. McWhinney, chairman of the Hempstead Development Commission, announced that money is to be appropriated soon to dredge at all points in the channel between the East Rockaway Inlet and Jones Beach State Park, where the depth is less than twelve feet.

Mr. Moses outlined the work that has been done by his commission to give Long Island better waterways. He told of the work already done from Jones Beach to Gilgo Beach, explained about the dredging at present being completed between Gilgo Beach and Oak Beach and said that the next stretch will be between Oak Beach and Fire Island Inlet. Eventually, Mr. Moses declared, the inland waterway will stretch from East Rockaway Inlet through the Shinnecock Canal to Peconic Bay, over a distance of 100 miles.

The sixty-five guests were taken from Long Beach, through Reynold Channel, to Jones Beach to East Rockaway Inlet and then to Atlantic Beach.

Captain Robert A. Schreiber, a director of the Long Island Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the tour. Among the guests were representatives of the United States Army Engineering Department, J. Sheldon Fosdick of the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, Albert Hager of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, Representative William F. Brunner of the Rockaways, Lieutenant Harold Cotton of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, Meade Dobson, executive director of the Long Island Chamber of Commerce.

CITY'S GUARD UNITS WIN PRAISE AT BIG GUNS

Col. Mundy Reports Artillery Units Showed Proficiency on Camp Target Ranges.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 22.—As Adjt. Gen. Franklin Ward of the New York National Guard visited Camp Smith, Peekskill, today Colonel Joseph A. S. Mundy, Division Staff Adjutant of Brooklyn, returned here from Pine Camp, where, he reported, the 105th Field Artillery of Brooklyn and Manhattan, now in training, made an excellent showing at target practice. The 105th, under Colonel Clarence Higginson, is using 75-millimeter guns.

The artillerymen fire at targets placed at ranges of from 2,000 to 5,000 yards, both with regular projectile and shrapnel shells. They were so distributed today in making an attack that, in practical service, they could support infantry.

The members of the regiment all took a motor-bus ride to Alexandria Bay for a holiday. Colonel Mundy also saw the 244th Coast Artillery of Manhattan, under Colonel Lewis M. Thiery, using 155-millimeter guns at Fort Ontario, with Captain Lawrence Bower and Lieutenant Dennis Mulligan of the Twenty-seventh Aviation Corps, New York National Guard, observing hits from an airplane and signaling to the gunners by radiophones.

Adjt. Gen. Ward was the guest of Major Gen. William N. Haskell, commanding General of the National Guard, and visited Peekskill to see the Eighty-seventh Brigade of Infantry, under Brig. Gen. George R. Dyer, in training. This brigade includes the Seventy-first Infantry of Manhattan under Colonel Walter Delamater and the 174th Regiment of Buffalo under Colonel William R. Pooley.

The Seventy-first was taking practice in firing small arms today and the 174th was going through field manoeuvres.

AGED TURK ABHORS WAR.

Fought in Many, but Zaro Says He Likes America's Love of Peace.

Zaro, the aged Turk, talked yesterday of a warlike past, in which his birth certificate credits him with 156 Moslem years and adds officially to his name the title of Aga, the Turkish equivalent of Esquire.

He cannot read, but he can remember. He remembered that his mother told him it was very cold in Kurdestan in the Moslem year 1191 (or Christian 1779), when he was born; and also that she told him he was twelve years old when the Sultan Hamid I died.

Assim Redvan, who varied his small importing business by bringing Zaro to America, acted as interpreter, assisted by Ahmet Moussa, a lightweight Turkish prizefighter who is Zaro's grandson and understands the Kurdish variations of the language.

For more than seventy years, according to Zaro, he rode and fought in every war of Turkey. He still rides a horse. When he was asked, however, if he liked war, he made no answer but looked disgusted. Later, after the long interval required for the working of his mind, he said: "I like America because it does not like war."

HAMER LEADS DERBY IN CINCINNATI HOP

Chicago Pilot Covers Third Lap From Roosevelt Field in Non-Stop Five-Hour Hop.

CRASH NARROWLY AVERTED

Hosler of Detroit Almost Strikes Hangars in Take-Off From Here.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, July 22.—Herman Hamer of Chicago won the third lap of the All-American Air Derby when he landed here this afternoon 5 hours 1 minute 46 seconds after leaving Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

He said he had encountered strong west winds and rainstorms.

Fourteen of the seventeen fliers in the derby landed this afternoon at Lunken Airport. H. W. Holliday, B. B. Smith and Cecil Cochran, the three missing fliers, have not been heard from since their forced landings in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The wide difference in the landing times here indicated the troubles that the derby racers encountered.

Homer was sighted over the airport at 3:25 o'clock. He had averaged more than 130 miles per hour.

Lee Gehlback, who won the Detroit-Buffalo lap at 196 miles per hour at the start of the derby Monday, landed second here with 8 hours 26 minutes and 58 seconds elapsed time. His average was 128 miles per hour.

Lowell Bales, flying a Grandville Brothers monoplane, was third, with 9 hours and 17 minutes of elapsed time, and an average of 116 miles per hour. Fourth to arrive was S. T. Stanton in his Cessna monoplane. J. R. Wedell was fifth and John Quinzy sixth in his special built Monocoupe. Wedell and Quinzy both averaged 111 miles per hour.

Charles Myers, in a Great Lakes speedster, was seventh.

William A. Brock, round-the-world flier, arrived in Cincinnati in time to greet the derby fliers.

The planes will leave tomorrow for Little Rock.

Coffrin Down in Pennsylvania.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 22 (AP).—Carl Coffrin came down near here this afternoon in a rainstorm and planned to continue west tomorrow. He was forced down in the yard of a country church, and after waiting for the weather to clear flew to Johnstown.

Coffrin said that a leak in his gas tank, in addition to poor visibility, made him forego an attempt to cross the mountains west of here

Roosevelt Field Crash Averted.

Special to The New York Times.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., July 22.—Lee Gehlbach, who, flying a Commandaire monoplane, led the contestants in the All-American Air Derby by 23 minutes into Roosevelt Field yesterday from Detroit, was the first of fifteen fliers to take off this morning for Cincinnati, the next control stop in the 7,000-mile race.

The Detroit flier took off at 10:23, Eastern Daylight Time, and was followed by thirteen others at one-minute intervals. H. H. Todd, who missed the field here entirely yesterday in the low hanging haze over Pennsylvania, flew here this morning from Norwich, Conn., where he landed last night just before dark. Todd, flying an Eaglerock, got into the air at 1:05 P. M., more than an hour behind any of the others.

H. H. Holladay of Chicago, in a Great Lakes Trainer, bent his propeller in taking off and was forced to return to the field. Holladay and John Kruttschmidt, in a Moth biplane, were the only fliers who arrived last night that failed to go on today. Kruttschmidt had motor trouble. Both he and Hollady may take off tomorrow and try to catch up with the others.

Russell Hosler of Detroit, flying a special racing plane, furnished the thrill of the day when he barely cleared the hangars on the north side of the field after the take-off. He was carrying a heavy load of fuel and had his wings rigged for speed rather than lift.

KILLED IN OHIO CRASH, FLIER SAVED ALL MAIL

W. F. Martin Dumped Gasoline Before Plane Was Wrecked in Fog and Rain.

HURON, Ohio, July 22 (AP).—Fog, rain and darkness were blamed tonight by air mail pilots for the death of William Frederick Martin, 26 years old, who crashed on a farm near here today while flying the air mail from Cleveland to Bay City, Mich.

Martin's death was the first fatal accident on that route; which has been in operation two years. He was employed by the Thompson Aeronautical Corporation.

George Beatty, on whose farm the accident occurred, said he heard the crash about 4:30 A. M., but did not realize what it was until he found the wreckage an hour later. The plane's nose was buried two and a half feet in the ground. The wings were twisted and wrapped over the top of the cockpit so tightly that it was necessary to use automobiles to pull them apart to release Martin's body.

Martin died of a broken neck, probably instantly. He had dumped the gasoline supply to keep the plane from catching fire. His act saved the mail from destruction.

Martin's wife and daughter are in Fresno, Cal. His home was in Pontiac, Mich.

NEW YORKER DISAPPEARS.

Foul Play Feared as W. B. John, 63, Vanishes in Reaching Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 22 (AP).—Joseph Hood today asked the police to search for his uncle, William B. John, 63 years old, said to be a wealthy retired real estate dealer of New York.

Mr. Hood said that Mr. John arrived here July 5 on the steamship Virginia from New York, unloaded an expensive automobile from the ship, intending to drive it to his home here, and diappeared.

Mr. Hood added that he feared foul play because his uncle carried about $3,000 in cash and wore a diamond ring valued at $3,500.

SHONGOOD'S CLERK ADMITS FALSE BILLS

But She Says Discrepancy From Receipts Was Due to Using Buyer's Resale Price.

A MATTER OF 'CONVENIENCE'

Cashier's Bank Account, Presented at Trial, Shows $50,000 Deposits in Three Years.

Ruth Cooper, a clerk in the office of Charles Shongood, former United State auctioneer, who is on trial with Charles Shongood Jr. and Miss Kathryn McGough, the auctioneer's cashier, for alleged embezzlement and falsification of records, admitted yesterday before Federal Judge Patterson and a jury that she had made out bills which apparently did not coincide with receipts recorded in Shongood's auction sales schedules.

The witness, questioned by Robert P. Levis, attorney for the elder Shongood, attempted to explain the seeming discrepancy by asserting that the amount of the bills had been determined, as a matter of convenience, by prices demanded by successful bidders in sales of the same merchandise to other individuals.

"In other words," said Mr. Levis, indicating his plan of defense in the case, "A would buy something at auction, say for 5 cents. B would offer 6 cents to A. Then as a matter of convenience the goods would be billed direct at B's price by you?"

"Yes. That's just it," said Miss Cooper.

Miss Cooper denied that Miss McGough, as cashier, had received more than the amounts indicated on the schedules.

"You turned in only the amount which you received, of course," Mr. Levis continued, "the price paid by A?"

"Yes, sir," Miss Cooper said.

Thomas T. Cooke, Assistant United States Attorney, then asked Miss Cooper how often she had given "false bills."

"I don't remember," she said.

"Numerous times?"

"Yes, sir."

"What buyers did you do that for?"

"I can't remember," she said.

In spite of protest on the part of defense counsel Mr. Cooke was allowed to present as evidence a record of Miss Gough's account with the Corn Exchange Bank, brought in under subpoena by T. Edgar Gardner of that bank. The account showed that in 1926, 1927 and 1928 Miss McGough deposited almost $50,000 in bills.

Joseph Levy, Department of Justice agent, told the jury that Miss McGough had explained to him that this sum represented her lawful earnings.

SENATORS REBUFFED BY LEGGE ON WHEAT

Chairman Rejects Plea That 100,000,000 Bushels Be Bought to Stabilize the Price.

CAPPER HEADS DELEGATION

While Republicans Criticize Board, Caraway, Democrat, Says It Serves Industry Only.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Five Senators, representing grain States, called on Chairman Alexander Legge of the Federal Farm Board today to urge the purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat by the board and were rebuffed.

Senators Capper and Allen of Kansas, McMaster of South Dakota, Pine of Oklahoma and Howell of Nebraska presented to Mr. Legge a new plight of the farmer as a man who has seen wheat prices reduced below cost of production, while prices of his other products have declined in sympathy and urged that further stabilization operations should be carried out through purchase of wheat by the board under the terms of the Federal marketing act. They also suggested selling wheat to China and India.

Coincidentally, Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, Democratic member of the Committee on Agriculture, took up Chairman Legge's challenge of yesterday, that criticism of the board's policies was "political bunk." The Arkansas Senator charged that the board is pursuing a policy designed to reduce farm commodity exports so that there will be a clear field for exports of industrial products abroad.

While the Farm Board was made the centre of attacks by Republicans and Democrats, it became known that President Hoover is adhering to his policy of non-interference in the affairs of the board.

Says Stocks Depress Market.

The delegation of five Senators found Chairman Legge adamant in his opposition to buying more wheat. He argued that the existence of the 60,000,000 bushels of more now in the possession of the board was part of the visible supply, and acted, in fact, as a depressing influence on the market price. The Senators pointed to limited food supplies in India as well as China, and said they could see no reason why arrangements could not be made to sell to those countries on long-time credits.

Mr. Legge's response was that the board has no funds with which to give away wheat, and furthermore, it will pursue a policy intended primarily to encourage cooperation and decrease wheat acreage. These policies have been characterized as the "gospel of despair" by Governor Clyde Reed of Kansas.

"When millions of people are suffering from famine," Senator Allen said, "it is not correct to say that America's abundant production—wheat—is intrinsically an evil."

Fears have been expressed on the part of Senators from the Spring wheat areas that if purchases of Winter wheat were made now there would be no storage facilities left for Spring wheat which is soon to come on the market. It was argued that if wheat were sold abroad, either in China, India or elsewhere, this danger would be averted, as well as that of the depressing influence of the surplus stocks still in the hands of the Farm Board. Suggestions have been made that the National Red Cross use some of its funds to take up surplus wheat.

McMaster Assails the Board.

"The present policy of the board," Senator McMaster commented, "is to do nothing to meet the present wheat crisis. Mr. Legge's idea is that the farmers will reduce production and wheat will become so cheap it can be used for feed and the surplus will rapidly disappear.

"Of course, he is correct. At the present scale of prices many farmers will be driven out of production. But to let prices remain low, to do nothing and let the situation right itself, if possible, is not offering agriculture any assistance from the Farm Board."

Senator Pine said the board was doing all it could "but, under the law, there is nothing much they can accomplish."

"I have been surprised that they have gone so far as they have gone," Senator Pine added. "The agricultural marketing act was put out as farm relief, to satisfy the farmer and postpone the demand for effective legislation. But I doubt if a dozen members of Congress considered it would accomplish its ostensible purpose."

Caraway Hits at Farm Policy.

While the Republican Senators were bombarding the Farm Board, Senator Caraway's statement was looked upon as the Democratic response to the charge made yesterday by Chairman Legge that critics of the board were disseminating "political bunk."

"The Federal Farm Board has two objectives," the Senator said, "and both of them are designed primarily for the benefit, not of the farmer, but of business interests.

"The board is seeking to persuade farmers to reduce production. The real purpose of this is to relieve the world market of the burden of America's surpluses of farm products, so that exports of industrial commodities will have a clear field abroad. The board also is endeavoring to reduce costs of farm marketing and production. The idea of this is to provide cheaper food for the consuming centres.

"The whole thing conforms closely with the big city man's idea of farm relief. It is clear to Mr. Legge, as it is and was to Herbert Hoover when he made his first pronouncement on the subject. But, if wholly justifiable from the industrialist point of view, it is a perfectly heartless program from the standpoint of agriculture, because the farmer is entirely incidental in the whole scheme."

Governor Reed Replies to Legge.

TOPEKA, July 22 (AP).—Replying to Chairman Legge's characterization of opposition to the Federal Farm Board's wheat acreage reduction campaign as being "wholly political," Governor Reed of Kansas said today that "the Farm Board fiddles while the wheat farmer faces destruction."

The Governor's reply was in answer to an accusation made in Washington yesterday by Chairman Legge, who characterized opposition to the board's wheat policy as "political bunk," saying likewise that criticism of the board's refusal to buy and store large amounts of the 1930 crop was political.

"If challenging a policy," Governor Reed said in a statement, "which I consider to be unsound economically and impossible of carrying out in the section of the country which raises the best wheat in the world, at the lowest production cost, and can raise nothing else so well, and if defending what I conceive to be the best interests of my State is 'playing politics,' then I plead guilty."

Governor Reed has urged the board to buy and store 25,000,000 or more bushels of the 1930 crop.

CROPS STILL FAR FROM RUIN.

While They Are Damaged by Drought, Danger Still Lies Ahead.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Farm crops were described today by Department of Agriculture economists as far from being ruined, although they have been damaged by the drought spreading from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

The chief danger of drought now, they said, lay in the possibility of its continuing into the critical growing stage of the three great staples—Spring wheat, corn and cotton.

Spring wheat was believed to have been saved from serious deterioration by an inch of rain that fell in Canada and the American Northwest at a time when the grain was beginning to head short and the kernels shrivel. The damage has not been entirely alleviated, and more rain is needed.

Corn, probably facing the heaviest loss of all, is estimated by a semi-official source to have had 50,000,000 bushels lopped off the prospective yield. Heat and drought have been severe in the Corn Belt proper, the Ohio Valley and the South Atlantic States.

Farmers in the Corn Belt have been driven from their fields by the heat and fatalities have been heavy among work animals. Only in the Summer of 1901 was the heat exceeded in Missouri, but it was not so disastrous to crops. The drought in Indiana has been the worst in twenty-nine years.

South of Springfield, Ill., corn is estimated to have been reduced twenty bushels an acre in yield.

In all small-grain areas the crops have been damaged, particularly oats in the Middle West and grain sorghums in the Southwest.

The heat, however, has brought benefits to offset in part the damages. In some parts corn has grown well.

Except in Southern Texas, where some cotton is shedding, dry weather evils have been counterbalanced by benefits to the South's great cash crop. In many sections cotton is fruiting and needs dry weather, and farmers generally have been able to decimate the boll weevil with dust that rainfall often makes ineffective.

M'DONALD HEARING SET FOR TUESDAY

California Governor Leaves to Court Action on Recanting of Testimony Against Billings.

MOONEY CASE POSTPONED

Young Declines to Hear Witness's Retraction of Statements Against Him Immediately.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 22.—John McDonald, recanting witness in the Mooney-Billings cases, will be given a hearing before the Justices of the State Supreme Court on Tuesday in connection with the new application for a pardon by Warren K. Billings.

Meanwhile, Governor Young will not enter personally upon an examination of McDonald, but will rely upon "the assurance of the Supreme Court that the hearing held by them would be open, complete and fair to all parties concerned in this very important investigation."

The decision that McDonald would be heard by the Justices of the Supreme Court was made today, following a visit to the Governor and to Chief Justice Waste, by McDonald and his attorneys, Charles Ruzicka and Hilary W. Gans of Baltimore, and Frank P. Walsh of New York, attorney for Thomas J. Mooney.

Governor Young and Chief Justice Waste conferred prior to the visit of McDonald to the two officials.

Governor Young's decision that he would not hear McDonald tell his story of alleged perjury in the Billings-Mooney 1916 Preparedness Day bombing trials was announced shortly after a wordy session behind closed doors, participated in by Attorneys Ruzicka, Gans and Walsh and Governor Young, while McDonald sat mutely by.

Speaking for the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Waste issued the following statement after his conferences with Governor Young and the various attorneys:

"In accordance with the statement issued today concerning the petition for a rehearing filed by Billings's attorney, the justices of the Supreme Court have decided to grant McDonald an opportunity to tell his story, with those connected with the opposition in these cases and the defense present.

Consultation Days Intervene.

"Owing to two consultation days and Sunday, the date has been set for Tuesday, July 29."

The "reopening" of the Mooney-Billings cases, as the Supreme Court hearing next Tuesday is viewed by the attorneys concerned, will be held in the chambers of the State Supreme Court with representatives of the press present.

Attorney General Webb of California will represent the State and will cross-question McDonald and others.

Members of the Supreme Court indicated today that their hearing would be concerned only with the Billings case, since that is before them by reason of the application for a pardon. The Mooney case is entirely in the hands of Governor Young.

Demands were made upon Governor Young by Mr. Walsh, representing Mooney and the Mooney Defense League, that McDonald be heard by the Governor immediately in connection with the Mooney pardon application and with no reference to the Billings case. This the Governor declined to do.

Attorneys for McDonald also demanded that the Governor immediately give their client a chance to discuss his alleged perjured testimony.

Following the conference with the several attorneys, Governor Young gave out this statement:

"There came to my office this morning John McDonald, a former witness in the cases of Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, accompanied by Hilary W. Gans and Charles Ruzicka, attorneys for Mr. McDonald, and Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Thomas J. Mooney.

"Mr. Ruzicka presented the affidavit made on July 12 by John McDonald, together with supplementary affidavits setting forth the circumstances under which Mr. McDonold's affidavit was made. Mr. Walsh at some length presented his view of the case with relation to his client, Thomas J. Mooney.

"I stated that I had been in conference with members of the Supreme Court, and that following the petition for a reopening of the Billings case, which petition they had granted, they were prepared to go fully into the testimony of Mr. McDonald as well as other matters appertaining thereto.

"I requested of them that they set this hearing for as early a date as possible in view of such work as may now be before them on their regular calendar and they readily consented to do so.

"I stated these facts to the gentlemen who accompanied Mr. McDonald and requested them to get in touch with the court at their earliest opportunity in order that a date for a hearing may be fixed.

"In view of this early hearing I felt it inexpedient to personally enter upon an examination of Mr. McDonald at this time, relying upon the assurance of the court that the hearing held by them would be open, complete and fair to all parties concerned in this very important investigation."

During the interview between the Governor and MacDonald and the attorneys, Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of Thomas J. Mooney, waited in the corridor. She fainted when she encountered MacDonald.

Mr. Walsh declared that he would continue to try to secure an early hearing for MacDonald before Governor Young on behalf of Mooney.

Today was the fourteenth anniversary of the bombing outrage for participation in which Mooney and Billings are serving life sentences in San Quentin and Folsom prisons. Ten persons were killed and forty injured in the bombing.

40 HOSPITAL AIDES POISONED BY FOOD

ALL TO BE ON DUTY TODAY

Greeff Finds Refrigeration Was Perfect, but That Meat Was Kept Too Long in Kitchen.

The hot weather was blamed for the illness of thirty-six nurses and four dining room attendants of the Willard Parker Hospital who were stricken with ptomaine poisoning following a luncheon of veal salad in the nurses' dining room on Monday. Eleven of the nurses, weakened also by treatment and by the continued hot weather, were still ill yesterday but were expected to return to duty this morning.

Veal was on the menu of the hospital's Sunday dinner, but no ill effects were reported from those who ate the meat. On Monday the meat that was left over was used in a salad for the nurses. While there was no lack of refrigeration, according to the hospital officials, the heat of the kitchen during the preparation of the salad was believed to have spoiled the food.

Dr. James D. Smith, director of communicable disease of the Department of Hospitals, who makes his headquarters at the Willard Parker, Sixteenth Street and the East River, said yesterday that nurses who had eaten the salad complained of illness about 4:30 P. M. Monday. Dr. Dora M. Tolle, acting medical superintendent of the hospital, ordered treatment for ptomaine poisoning.

Eleven were ordered to bed, while others recovered more quickly and remained on duty. Dr. Tolle said there was not sufficient poison present in the salad to cause any violent illness, and Dr. Smith reported late yesterday afternoon that all of the nurses would be able to resume their work this morning.

Dr. J. G. William Greef, Commissioner of the Department of Hospitals, received a report of the case yesterday morning while on an inspection tour of hospitals on Staten Island. When James E. Donahoe, deputy commissioner of hospitals, first reported to the Commissioner by telephone, Dr. Greeff said he would return immediately to take personal charge of the situation, but later decided not to return when he was told that conditions were not serious.

After conferring with Dr. Smith late yesterday afternoon, Dr. Greeff reported that there was proper refrigeration but that the preparation of the salad required too much time in the heated kitchen, where conditions were intensified by torrid weather outside.

Despite the illness of the nurses the hospital was not greatly handicapped, Dr. Smith said. There are eighty-seven nurses on the staff, and while a few are on vacation there are only 110 patients, most of whom are children suffering from contagious diseases.

Enrico Fimento, 30 years old, of 295 Nineteenth Street, and Vincent Spronzo, 26, of 2,867 Fifteenth Street, both of Brooklyn, became ill yesterday after eating fish. The men, who were employed on a building under construction in Lowery Street, near Queens Boulevard, Long Island City, Queens, were removed to St. John's Hospital. The police began an investigation.

The Food and Drugs Bureau of the Health Department is conducting an investigation into the poisoning of nine persons after eating cake bought at a Brooklyn bakery, at a party held at Rockaway Beach last Sunday, Dr. John H. Barry, assistant sanitary superintendent of the Queens offices of the Health Department announced yesterday. The inquiry, Dr. Barry said, would be conducted entirely by the Food and Drug Bureau. The nine persons were able to go home after being attended by an ambulance surgeon.

Westchester Jail Inmates Showed 5% Increase for Year

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Crime in Westchester County during the year ended June 30, as measured by the number of persons committed to the county jail, increased 5 per cent over the previous year, according to a report filed today with the State Department of Correction by Sheriff Louis N. Ellrodt.

The highest number of persons in the jail at any one time was 71 and the lowest 17. The average daily occupancy was 43 men and 6 women. The report said there were 169 male and 15 female minors in the jail during the year and 916 male and 96 female adults. It cost an average of $2.51 a week to feed the inmates, the report declared.

NEW WITNESS FOUND IN EWALD AUTO CASE

Evidence Against Ex-Magistrate Will Be Presented to Grand Jury Monday.

Evidence gathered recently by Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings in the action of former Magistrate George F. Ewald, in November, 1928, in dismissing a third-offense automobile speeding charge against William F. Badger, a broker, will be presented to the General Sessions grand jury next Monday, it was announced yesterday.

It is alleged that the charge was dismissed by Magistrate Ewald in his chambers in the traffic court, after Badger had been introduced to Ewald by Abe April, a furrier, who had just purchased from the magistrate $1,000 in stock of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc. Ewald now is under indictment in the Federal Court on a charge of using the mails to defraud in the operation of the mining corporation.

The announcement of the grand jury proceeding followed a conference between Mr. Hastings and Acting District Attorney James E. McDonald, who revealed later that a new and important witness in the case had been found by Mr. Hastings. The identity of the new witness was withheld.

It was reported, however, that the witness told Mr. Hastings that on the day April agreed to purchase the stock from the magistrate, Ewald sent him to April's office, where he received the $1,000 check in payment. Later the witness said, he accompanied Ewald to the office of the Cotter Butte Mines corporation, where Ewald handed over the check and received $250 in commission on the sale of the stock. Neither of the prosecutors would discuss this reported statement by the new witness.

Sing Sing Convict Back From Bronx Jail After Futile Questioning.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., July 22.—As Stephen Burgio, a prisoner with a sentence of forty years to life for second-degree murder in Manhattan, was returned to Sing Sing prison today after a thirty-five days' stay in the Bronx County Jail in the Bronx, it was disclosed that he was repeatedly questioned about the disappearance of Dr. Brancati, a wealthy physician, but remained reticent.

He declined, according to prison attendants, to discuss Dr. Brancati or his disappearance. He was taken to the Bronx on a court order issued by Judge Harry Stackel on June 17 and remained there until now. Burgio, 47 years old, was committed to Sing Sing on Dec. 6 last by Judge Otto Rosalsky. He gave his occupation as "bank solicitor."

LEOPOLD RELEASED ON BAIL ONCE MORE

QUERIED ON LAWYER'S CALL

Judge Rosalsky Orders Inquiry Into Visit of Attorney Who Offered "Influence" to Prisoner.

Archduke Leopold of Austria again was released in $7,500 bail in General Sessions yesterday after a self-imposed twelve-day stay in the Tombs, pending trial on an indictment charging him and two others with the alleged theft of the $400,000 Napoleon diamond necklace owned by Leopold's aunt, Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria.

The nobleman's release on the urging of friends was accompanied by an order from Judge Rosalsky to Assistant District Attorney William R. Maloney to begin an investigation of a recent visit of a lawyer to the Archduke while he was in the Tombs. The identity of the lawyer, who was not retained by the Archduke, was withheld when Judge Rosalsky, before signing the bail bond furnished by a surety company, called Leopold to the bench and said:

"I have received information that, while you were in the Tombs, a certain attorney called on you after he had received permission from me to do so. Did he make any intimations to you?"

"He told me he had influence with District Attorney Crain and his staff, could get me released in a week and have my case disposed of. He made this statement in the presence of my friend, Mrs. Alicia Coburn of 350 East Fifty-seventh Street."

The court immediately ordered Mr. Maloney to begin an investigation, and the prosecutor led the Archduke, accompanied by the latter's attorney of record, Jacob Gilman, to his room, where he took a sworn statement from Leopold.

Later Mr. Maloney reported the matter to Acting District Attorney James E. McDonald, and was told to summon Mrs. Coburn and the accused lawyer to his office today for questioning. Mr. McDonald said the lawyer had not the slightest "influence" in the District Attorney's office.

Mr. Gilman and Mrs. Coburn had called on District Attorney Crain the day before in an effort to have the Archduke brought to trial without further delay.

Mr. Gilman said that eleven days before Leopold had surrendered the $7,500 bail bond he furnished at the time he pleaded not guilty to the indictment last April, so that he could be sent to the Tombs and thus bring about, he hoped, a more speedy trial. His purpose in this, he said, was to get back to Austria as soon as possible to settle pressing matters there.

Mr. Crain told them it would not be possible to call the Archduke for trial before October because two of the State's important witnesses were in Europe.

RAILROAD IS WARNED OF PERIL AT ELIZABETH

Prosecutor Tells Pennsylvania Tracks Are Dangerous at Scene of Recent Wreck.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 22.—County Prosecutor Abe J. David of Union County disclosed today that he sent a warning to the Pennsylvania Railroad of the dangerous condition of its tracks at the south end of the South Elizabeth station where an automobile accidentally driven onto the tracks on Saturday night caused a wreck in which one passenger was killed and 100 injured.

In his letter to the Pennsylvania Railroad, Prosecutor David said, he had pointed out that the railroad tracks were exposed at the dead end of De Hart Place where there was neither fence nor warning signs.

George L. Kelley of 964 De Hart Place, after having helped rescue another motorist who inadvertently had driven his car onto the tracks last Easter Sunday night, wrote, he said, to the railroad complaining of the danger spot.

Prosecutor David went ahead yesterday with plans to present to the October grand jury the case against Arthur Allcroft, local building contractor, whose automobile was on the tracks Saturday night.

The prosecutor has directed his assistant, Walter C. Kenney, to prepare the case for presentation to the grand jury. He is having maps and photographs made of the railroad tracks, the station platform, the unguarded dead end of De Hart Place and the scene of the wreck in general.

Of the sixty-eight injured who were taken to local hospitals, forty-one remained for further treatment today. None is expected to die.

The New Jersey State Board of Public Utility Commissioners which examined fifteen witnesses yesterday in connection with the wreck, will resume its inquiry at the bedside of Conductor Robert Howland, in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, when the patient's condition permits, according to James Maybury, chairman of the board. Mr. Maybury informed The Associated Press that he would not make public his report until all witnesses had been questioned and the report had been approved by the other members of the board.

HIGH WIND IN JERSEY KILLS ONE, INJURES 8

DEBRIS CARRIED 500 FEET

Heavy Damage Reported Also in Glens Falls, N. Y., Baltimore and in Pennsylvania.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 22.—A screaming wind hit New Brunswick at 5:30 o'clock tonight and raged for a half hour, blowing off rooftops and uprooting trees. It blew down Caesar Sacco's two-story frame house in Brookline Avenue, causing the death of one person and injury to eight others. All through the storm lightning played and rain fell in torrents. The police were checking up tonight on the damage.

The Dead.

VENNISACA, Mrs. MARIANNA, 40 years old, who lived on the first floor of the Sacco home, at 409 Brookline Avenue, crushed to death by chimney.

The Injured.

SACCO, Mrs. CAESAR, cut and bruised by debris.

SACCO, PETER, herson, badly cut and bruised.

SACCO, PETER, her son, badly cut and bruised.

GUZZI, ANNA, 4 years old, cut and bruised.

GUZZI, JOSEPH, 2 years old, cut and bruised.

SOLOACCO, CONCETTA, 5 years old, cut by flying glass on the porch of her home, at 388 Brookline Avenue, one block from the Sacco home.

Mrs. Guzzi and her children are in the Middlesex General Hospital. The others were attended near the collapsed home and found shelter with neighbors.

It had been clear in New Brunswick most of the afternoon and fairly warm, but at 5:10 the clouds billowed up out of the west with amazing swiftness, and twenty minutes later the town lay under a black pall. At the same time the wind increased and thunder muttered in the sullen cloud banks.

At 5:30 P. M. the wind arose to a shriek and hit the southern section of the city with a whirling violence, snapping huge branches from trees, ripping away awnings, slamming doors, rattling windows and driving the rain before it in sheets.

Felt Building Move.

Ralph Guzzi was on the porch at the time, watching the progress of the storm. His wife was in the kitchen with their son, Joe, and Anna, their daughter was in the kitchen downstairs with Mrs. Vennisaca. On the lower floor with Mrs. Vennisaca were Peter Sacco, his wife and his mother. The father was not at home.

"When the wind hit the house," Guzzi related later, "I felt the building move as if it had been lifted off the foundation. It went sideways for a few yards and then spun around. And then it fell apart."

The house was twelve years old and of comparatively sturdy construction, yet the force of the wind was so great that not a beam was left standing.

Guzzi, bleeding and cut by the débris, but less injured than the others because he was on the outside porch, dug his way out of the wreck and reached his wife and son. Mrs. Guzzi was painfully scalded and hysterical with fright, but still conscious. Her husband tore away the débris and reached her and his son.

Woman Crushed Under Chimney.

On the lower floor the Saccos were more fortunate. They were hit by flying plaster and timbers, but the heavier parts of the ceiling missed them. They managed to dig their way out. But in the first floor kitchen Mrs. Vennisaca lay dead beneath a heap of chimney bricks. Her head and body were crushed, yet in her arms, virtually unhurt was Anna Guzzi, whimpering and frightened.

The wind picked up the loose timbers and panes of glass and carried them all over the neighborhood, in some instances as far distant as 500 to 600 feet. Concetta Soloacco, a block away, ran for the door of her home as a shower of glass, plaster and dust rained down on the porch before the gale, but not quickly enough. She was cut by the glass before she got indoors.

About a mile away, in the eastern district of New Brunswick, the wind got under the eaves of Dominick Mupo's two-story concrete dwelling and lifted the roof, in one piece, hurling it across the street against a telegraph pole. It was broken by the impact but no one was beneath it at the time. The Mupo building, housing three families, is at 153-155 Remsen Avenue. The rain poured into the roofless building in great volume, damaging furniture and soaking through to the floor below.

Concrete Church Damaged.

Continuing its rush of destruction the wind swept down Remsen Avenue, Throop Avenue, Comstock Street and Delevan Street, leaving behind it broken trees, branches, damaged porches, loosened roofs and unhinged doors. Many chimneys toppled before it, and on Comstock Street the upper half of the one-story concrete building that houses the Negro congregation of the Church of God and Christ was torn off and dropped in a neighboring lot.

The rain fell in such volume that the sewers were unable to carry it off, and automobiles were stalled in places where the water had backed up. At 6 o'clock, however, the roar of the wind died down and the rain abated. The skies began to clear as the clouds rolled away and at 6:15 everything was normal again. It was estimated that the total rainfall during the storm was 2.08 inches.

Cellars all over the city were flooded and considerable damage was reported in the business district. Telephone service was crippled by broken wires.

Metuchen, South River, Bound Brook and Sayreville were hit by the storm, but with far less force than New Brunswick. In most of the adjoining towns the damage was limited to fallen trees. Two large trees fell in the Lincoln Highway near Metuchen, causing a half hour delay to motor traffic.

Hard Wind Hits Trenton.

TRENTON, N. J., July 22 (AP).—Two persons were injured and much property damage was caused by a heavy storm which struck this city tonight. A sixty-mile gale which blew for five minutes unroofed two homes, overturned a number of garages, and played havoc with trees. Thirty-three trees were uprooted or broken off in Greenwood Cemetery, and many gravestones were blown over.

BOLT SETS OFF DYNAMITE.

Easton Man Killed—Three Others Hurt in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Caught in the vortex of two terrific storms which swept in from the southwest and the north, barely skirting Philadelphia, sections of Eastern Pennsylvania late today suffered heavy property damage. One man was killed and two others were injured near Easton and a woman was critically injured near Pottstown.

Barns were blown down, unroofed and cut in half, silos were destroyed, chickens were drowned or crushed in buildings in which they had taken shelter and telephone and telegraph lines were put out of commission. Orchards were uprooted, crops riddled by hail and roads made impassable.

The townships of East and South Coventry in Chester County and Limerick and Lower Providence in Montgomery County bore the brunt of the storm.

Damage was heavy also in the Easton area, where George Sam, 35 years old, of Bath, dynamiter at the Keystone Portland Cement Company's plant, had just finished setting a blast of ten tons of dynamite when the storm broke.

Lightning struck the charge and set it off, killing Sam and loosening 75,000 tons of rock.

John M. Smith, 50, of Bush-Kill Park sustained a skull fracture when a barn door, blown off by the high wind, struck him.

Theodore Roseberry, 29, of Easton received scalp wounds when a tree, uprooted by the storm, crushed his automobile.

Near Pottstown Mrs. Mary McCann, 75, a widow, was seriously injured when the automobile in which her chauffeur was racing to reach shelter before the storm broke struck a trolley switch and was overturned.

KILLED AS BOLT HITS TREE.

Baltimore Man Sought Refuge During Electrical Storm.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, July 22.—Electrical storms that broke the heat wave in this city did some damage and caused one death. An unidentified man who took refuge under a tree was killed. A bolt split the tree in two.

The man had been sitting under the tree whittling a stick, which was clutched in his hand. Lightning ripped off the roofs of several houses.

A bolt struck a house in a Negro settlement and nearly caused a panic. Another bolt hit the Temple Court Apartments, in the Guilford section, and ripped a large hole in the roof, showering slate chips in all directions.

The apartments directly beneath the spot were not occupied. A slight fire followed.

WIND PICKS UP HAY WAGON.

Farmers Near Glens Falls, N. Y., Suffer Heavy Damage.

Special to The New York Times.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 22.—A windstorm caused considerable damage last night over a three-mile area in the rural district of Buskirk in Washington County. Five barns were unroofed, three silos were torn from their moorings and several valuable orchards suffered. Telephone wires and power lines were snapped.

Aurly Hall, a farmer, and two of his hired men were in a hayfield loading a wagon when the storm broke. The wind lifted the wagon and the hay rack into the air and dropped it thirty feet away. The two horses standing in the shafts were dragged along, but were not injured.

HOOVER WOULD TRADE HEAT

Suggests It When Envoy Tells Him on Phone of Winter in Chile.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Exchange of some of the capital's heat for the coolness of Chile would be considered a fair trade by President Hoover.

He was called on long-distance telephone today by William S. Culdertson, Ambassador to Chile, to exchange greetings with President Ibanez. When the Ambassador remarked that it was very cold down there, with the Winter months upon them, Mr. Hoover replied that he should like to make a trade.

Later he talked with President Ibanez.

FIRE IN WHITE PLAINS SHOPS

Blaze in 6 Stores on Main St. Brings Out City's Entire Apparatus.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Fire of undetermined origin which started in a rear room of the George T. Long Building, 143-45 Main Street, today spread to six stores, causing several thousand dollars loss. The city's entire fire-fighting force was out to check the blaze. The Grayson Dress Shop, 147 Main Street, where the blaze originated, and a tailor shop on the second floor were gutted and four surrounding stores were damaged by smoke and water.

Traffic was blocked for more than an hour in both Main and Grove Streets. All occupants of the building escaped without injury.

Albert Haten, manager of Grayson's, and three employes smelled smoke and hurrying to the rear room found it in flames. Before firemen could respond to his alarm the entire rear of the two-story frame structure was ablaze.

SEEKS MRS. POST'S RINGS.

Former Adele Ritchie's Executor on Coast Charges Concealment.

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 22 (AP).—An action charging W. R. Coy, former Laguna Beach banker, with concealing a portion of the estate of Adele Ritchie Post, two decades ago, "the Dresden china doll" of the stage, was filed yesterday by Moresby White, executor.

Mr. White said Mr. Coy had declined to answer his letters inquiring if he possessed valuable rings which belonged to the actress. White asked the Superior Court to summon Mr. Coy for an explanation.

TORRID WAVE ENDED BY THUNDERSTORM

during the storm. One bolt ripped several bricks from the steeple of Grace Episcopal Church in Jamaica Avenue, near 159th, and started a fire, which was extinguished before it had caused much damage. Another bolt struck a tree at 154th Street and 155th Avenue. A horse in a nearby stable bolted with fright and ran for several blocks before it fell into a swamp at 154th Street and 160th Avenue, from which it was rescued by a police emergency squad.

Most of the deaths reported during the day occurred before noon. They were caused in most cases, it was believed, by the stifling night, which had made sleep nearly impossible. Not all the deaths resulted from prostration or sunstroke, but all were believed to have resulted from the oppressive temperatures of the past few days.

STEINWOOD, GEORGE, of Hillsboro Township, N. J., died while working in a field.

Business Houses Close Early.

Despite the lower temperatures—which Weather Bureau officials pointed out were little above normal Summer heat—many business houses closed early to allow their fagged-out employes to escape the 5 o'clock rush. The offices of the Brooklyn Park Department, at Litchfield Mansion, Prospect Park, were closed at 2 P. M. by order of Bernard Rothberg, superintendent of parks, in that borough.

Magistrates Earl A. Smith and Abraham Rosenbluth, holding two sessions in Traffic Court where 298 cases were on the calendar, found the heat so oppressive that they ordered a battery of additional electric fans installed in the stuffy court room. Permission was granted to spectators, offenders, clerks and attendants to remove their coats, and the magistrates presided in their shirt sleeves.

Humidity High in Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Following the hottest night in the history of the Capital and a morning which again threatened to set a new record for the city, thunder showers this afternoon broke the heat wave which has kept the thermometer above the hundred mark for three consecutive days. The continuity record, superseded today, was established in August, 1918, when for two successive days the thermometer rose above the hundred mark.

The high point today was reached at 12:30 P. M., when the Weather Bureau thermometer registered 100. At 1 o'clock it had dropped to 91 and at 2 to 90 degrees, where it remained until a thunder shower shortly before 3 o'clock sent it rapidly downward, the lowest point for the day being reached at 3:45, when the official reading was 74 degrees.

High humidity during the day added greatly to the general discomfort, largely offsetting the drop in temperature. Only during the period of the showers was the weather perceptibly cooler than yesterday.

Six Die in Philadelphia Area.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Cooling thunderstorms struck the Philadelphia area late this afternoon, bringing some relief from the record heat of the last few days, but not before six more persons had died from effects of the high temperature.

Today's highest mark was 93 degrees at 3 o'clock this afternoon. During the downpour about 5:30 the mercury dropped to 74 but an hour later it had gained six points. Rain was reported from several parts of Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey.

The deaths listed in the metropolitan area today, bringing the total for the last two days to seventeen, were:

ELIZABETH ERB, 59 years old, of 2,703 West Silver Street, Philadelphia.

WILLIAM J. WALDROP, 62, of Ashland, Va., a tourist, died in the office of a Downington physician.

JULIA LEWINSKI, 7 months old, of 720 North Front Street.

JONATHAN DILKS, 61, of 21 North Twenty-second Street, Camden, died in Cooper Hospital.

At Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Sophia Niglio, 36, the mother of three children, died from the heat, and three other persons were prostrated. Two deaths were reported in Reading, Pa.

Rain Falls in Southwest.

KANSAS CITY, July 22 (AP).—An end to forty days of blazing sun, scorching winds and heat-cracked earth had come today in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. Rain to the extent of 1.35 inches fell at Winfield, Kan., and to the extent of .72 inch at Missouri points and farmers prepared to work soil which had been hard and untillable. Scattered showers were recorded yesterday also.

Heat Persists in Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., July 23 (AP).—Virginia tonight hopefully awaited relief from abnormally hot weather that in the last four days has taken a toll of at least seven lives and sent many persons to hospitals suffering from heat prostration. The United States Weather Bureau in Richmond forecast rain and somewhat cooler weather tomorrow.

Brief rains fell in several sections of the State late today, but for the most part, Virginia continued in the throes of torrid temperatures that have mounted past the 100 mark for three consecutive days.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS FAIL DURING RAINSTORM

Red and Green Flash at Same Time in Several Avenues as "Stagger" Test Is Made.

MIDTOWN AREA AFFECTED

Trouble Also in Harlem, but Little Confusion Results—Grounded Circuit Blamed.

For the second time since experiments were begun with the "stagger" system for Manhattan's traffic-control system, the red and green stop and go signs failed to function properly yesterday. From 5:30 to 6:05 P. M., during the height of the rainstorm that broke over the city, the red and green lights showed simultaneously on several avenues, affecting the midtown area and the Harlem section most seriously. The third test of the new system was under way when the trouble began.

The pranks of the electric control system were attributed to a grounded circuit, and with the new system being tried out by which it is hoped to speed the movement of traffic through Manhattan's crosstown streets, from one side of the island to the other.

Trouble on Lexington Avenue.

Trouble was first reported on Lexington Avenue at Forty-fifth Street. Then word was flashed to Traffic F, in the East 167th Street police station, that the lights were playing pranks through a wide section of Harlem. Looking north and south from Seventh Avenue and 145th Street, lights showed red and green at once, it was reported to the station.

The same situation prevailed, according to the reports, on Lexington Avenue, in a sector from Fifty-third to Sixty-eighth Street, on Lenox Avenue and 125th Street, on 125th Street, an important artery east and west, and on Park Avenue at various spots. Later reports placed consistent trouble on Lexington Avenue from 116th Street to Twenty-third Street.

The confusion that prevailed when the lights first started playing tricks on July 10 was not reported last evening. One reason for this, it was said, was that the storm drove much traffic from the strees, motorists stopping their cars to wait until the downpour had slowed up. In addition, at the hour of the trouble policemen are stationed at the traffic intersections on the more important arteries as a matter of routine. Their presence was useful yesterday.

Patrolmen Direct Traffic.

In addition, patrolmen on beats in the Harlem section were ordered to take up the task of directing traffic whenever congestion became too great at any spot in their district.

The failure of the lights came while Commissioner Mulrooney was conducting the third of his experiments with the stagger control system. This is designed to operate so that the lights on the various avenues will be timed differently. A car crossing one main avenue, when it reaches the next, at a pace of about twenty-two miles an hour, will, under the new system, find that the light on the avenue it is reaching changes from red to green as the car approaches. It is a variation of the system used successfully on Ocean and Coney Island Avenues, Brooklyn.

The difference between the Brooklyn lights and the Manhattan ones, it was explained, is that in Brooklyn each light is self-controlled and timed, while in Manhattan, under the old system, all lights in the borough change at the same time, under a connected cable arrangement.

Find Cause of Trouble.

Soon after the difficulty yesterday was reported to the central traffic control station, at 138 West Thirtieth Street, electric signal experts and a crew of repairmen were sent out to search for the trouble. They reported about 6 o'clock that it was due to a grounded circuit, but that they had not been able to locate or repair it.

Later, at 7:30 P. M., Traffic F received reports that practically all the uptown lights were again functioning regularly except those on Lexington Avenue, which was also the centre of trouble downtown.

Commissioner Mulrooney said yesterday that the "stagger" system tests on crosstown lights were being continued with great success, and that on Friday he would apply the system experimentally to the north and south bound traffic.

HOT SPELL IS FATAL TO RAIL VETERAN, 101

Thomas Gallagher, the oldest railroad pensioner in the country and a former stable foreman for the Long Island Railroad, who would have been 102 years old on Aug. 17, died Monday evening at his home, 26 149th Street, Murray Hill, Flushing, following a heart attack superinduced by the heat, it was learned yesterday. Funeral services for Mr. Gallagher, who was the oldest resident of Flushing, will be held tomorrow.

Born in Kings County, Ireland, in 1828, Mr. Gallagher came to this country at the age of 12, arriving here on July 4, after a voyage on a sailing vessel lasting six weeks. He started to work for the Long Island Railroad in 1860 and later was placed in charge of the company's stables at Fifteenth Street and Union Square, Manhattan. At that time the company used three horse-drawn wagons for hauling express. Also, he drove a wagon carrying thousands of dollars to and from the company's banking house at Broadway and John Street. He retired on a pension at the age of 79.

Mr. Gallagher knew former Governor Smith's father and could remember the former Governor as a boy. He celebrated his 101st birthday last year by taking an airplane flight. He had been seriously ill only once in his life, when he contracted a fever while working on a canal construction near Cohoes, N. Y. His advice to the young was to "work hard, live honest and keep away from rum."

He is survived by two sons, Joseph Gallagher of 80 Forty-first Road, Flushing, and John Gallagher and a daughter Catherine, with whom he lived.

THREE BATHERS DROWN.

Police Fail to Recover Body of Brooklyn Lad in Sands Bay.

Three drownings occurred in and near the city yesterday. Thomas Hoffer, 15 years old, of 897 Grand Street, Brooklyn, disappeared while swimming in Sands Bay, off Canarsie. Police of the marine division grappled unsuccessfully for his body.

Max Killmeire, 27, an employe of the Clearview Yacht Club, Willetts Point Boulevard, Bayside, Queens, was drowned last night while swimming near the yacht club in Little Bay. The body was recovered about an hour later.

Walter Ludwig of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., was drowned at White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., while his brother, George, was sleeping on the bank near by.

Basketball Injury Proves Fatal.

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—Arthur Gorski, high school student, who suffered a brain concussion in a practice basket ball game July 3, died last night.

BRUENING SCOUTS DICTATORIAL AIMS

Says He Used Article 48 as Last Resort, Backed by Friends of Parliamentary System.

3 SHOT IN BERLIN FIGHT

Fascists Tear Down Communists' Posters, Precipitating Clash—Slogans Painted on Churches.

By GUIDO ENDERIS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 22.—No dictatorial aspirations are to be read into the government's application of Article 48 of the Federal Constitution for the promulgation of its financial bills now that the Reichstag has been dissolved, and the government's procedure in taking recourse in the existing situation to this emergency law has the complete sanction of the adherents of the Parliamentary system in Germany, Dr. Heinrich Bruening, the Chancellor, assured your correspondent today in reviewing the events which had led up to the recent Parliamentary impasse.

The Chancellor took pains to emphasize that the present use of the much-discussed statute had not the slightest relation to theories of a dictatorship. The break-down of inter-party negotiations, he explained, had forced the government to explore every available constitutional expedient which would accomplish balancing the budget and the only recourse left to it was to take refuge in Article 48.

"The continued strained financial situation of the Reich, which has been the primary cause of the Parliamentary battles of the past few months is the direct repercussion of the world economic crisis," Dr. Bruening declared.

The Chancellor related how Federal revenues had fallen below estimates, while expenditures, chiefly because of the heavy unemployment doles, continued to increase. The government, he said, thereupon immediately attempted to re-establish the threatened equilibrium in the budget through a search for new revenues and the enforcement of economies in administration, as it was determined to bring about the early correction of the finances of the Reich, the federated States and the communes in addition to reducing the national floating debt within prescribed limits."

Continuing, the Chancellor said:

"This policy constitutes a fateful question for Germany. In principle the government succeeded in convincing Parliament of the imperative necessity of providing new revenues and effecting needed economies. But in view of the multiplicity of the German party system it is not always an easy matter to reconcile the conflicting currents, as each party makes its consent contingent on concessions by the government, which are then again promptly rejected by the other parties. Such was the case in the recent Reichstag situation."

The Chancellor believes there is considerable misapprehension abroad with respect to the purpose of Article 48 of the Constitution. Its present application, he said, suggested no departure, inasmuch as the late President Ebert had frequently proclaimed it in the presence of the Reichstag.

"Every nation has its emergency laws, and Article 48 represents such a constitutional device for Germany," Dr. Bruening said. "This article has absolutely nothing in common with the theories of the champions of a dictatorship and its application has the unconditional approval of the advocates of Parliamentary government in Germany."

The Chancellor declared Prussia and the other federated States had similar statutes at their disposal and made free use of them for promulgating taxation legislation.

Referring to the immediate program of his Cabinet, Dr. Bruening said:

"In keeping with constitutional procedure the government promptly submitted its emergency financial bills to the Reichstag, revoking those which were rejected by a Parliamentary majority. Mindful of the principles of a democratic State, the government has now appealed to the nation for its verdict at the ballot box.

"In order to secure the finances of the Reich in the meantime the government will now propose to the President of the Reich emergency ordinances which will then be submitted to the constitutionally elected new Reichstag for its definite approval."

Three Shot in Berlin Clash.

BERLIN, July 22 (AP).—A campaign of violence started in the southern part of Berlin today when Fascists (National Socialists) began tearing down posters put up by Communists. As fast as the bill posters pasted up the placards their opponents obliterated them.

When this had happened a few times the Communists expressed their resentment. In the resulting conflict one Communist and two bystanders were wounded by flying bullets.

Red Plot Reported in Munich.

MUNICH, July 22 (AP).—A plan to overthrow the government and disintegrate the army of defense was reported today as having been found by the police of this city in the course of a search of the South Bavarian heardquarters of the Communist party.

The police also confiscated the card index files containing the addresses of all members of the party throughout the district. The search was extended to include the home of the Communist member of the Reichstag, Herr Kuchmann.

QUERY SABOTAGE WITNESS.

Washington Agents Examine Wozniak on Wartime Explosions.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Theodore Wozniak, key witness in Germany's case against American sabotage claims of about $40,000,000 for damages suffered during the war in the Kingsland (N. J.) and Black Tom terminal explosions and fires, was questioned by American agents here today for the first time since the disasters occurred.

Wozniak was brought to Washington by German Government representatives before the German-American Mixed Claims Commission in response to a formal demand for the missing witness presented when he was found recently at Tupper Lake, N. Y., in company of an attorney for the Germans.

The examination is to be continued here tomorrow. Results of today's questioning were not divulged.

At the hospital it was reported tonight that Mr. Garrett was much improved and might be discharged in three days.

past the Lorelei, famous towns, castles, vineyards and monasteries.

Crowds lined the shores at every landing stage. Salutes of guns boomed continuously. Handkerchiefs fluttered ceaselessly. Church bells pealed frantically. Banners reading "God guard our beloved Hindenburg" were displayed proudly and ships bound upstream dipped their colors to the President's standard, a black eagle on a golden field, which streamed from the masthead of the shiny new steamer Mainz.

French Ships Missing.

And although the Rhine is an international river, there was not a single French flag to be see ntoday, though the Tricolor is usually by no means uncommon steaming to and from Strasbourg. It was a gay cavalcade which drew up at the stone bulkwarks of "Deutsche Eck."

After the reception there President von Hindenburg proceeded between cheering lines to the City Hall, where there were speeches. Two dealt with the hardships of the occupation period and one with the Prussian political situation, and the President spoke as he had spoken at Speyer and Mainz, of the faithfulness to Germany the Rhinelanders had shown and the gratitude the Reich felt.

"Surrounded by poetry and history the Rhine has become for us a stream of fate and a national symbol," President von Hindenburg said. "Hard years of suffering which today lie behind us have given the symbol new meaning. The Rhine is more than ever an emblem of German unity and the will to self-rule."

Late this afternoon the President visited Ehrenbreitstein across the river and stood for a long time gazing down upon the most beautiful panorama of the Rhineland, perhaps of all Germany, the junction of the two streams and the rolling country beyond. The old field marshal spent some time before the war attached to the garrison which once dwelt atop the cliff.

Veterans Stand By.

The ground at the edge of which he stood sunk in thought was filled with bearded old veterans of former wars proudly supporting their tattered battle flags as well as their stooped figures permitted.

This evening after dinner in the City Hall the President and his entourage again embarked on the steamer and floated to midstream, where they watched one of the most impressive illuminations it would be possible to imagine. Above the massive black cliff the gray wall of Ehrenbreitstein was bathed in white light which streamed above and beyond, touching the clouds to silver. From the Moselle side the whole formed a background for the silhouetted statue of the proud imperial horseman, Wilhelm I, waving his sword defiantly over "Deutsche Eck." Then the accident occurred.

Toward midnight, before the tragedy, the President boarded his private sleeping car and proceeded to Trier, where he was scheduled to participate in the festivities tomorrow morning before going to Aix-la-Chapelle for the afternoon and taking a train to Berlin in the evening.

Coblenz, it will be remembered, was the headquarters of the American Army of Occupation from the end of the war to January, 1923. Then the French took over their stock and stayed until last November.

The population is very decided in its views of the relative "merits" of the two armies. As it was phrased in the Mayor's speech at tonight's banquet. "How could we have borne the roughness of the Americans and the persistent political oppression of the French in those years of comfortless hardship if the sparkling Rhine and Moselle wines had not helped us bear our sad fate?"

The Americans, in the opinion of leading citizens of Coblenz, did not interest themselves in local politics, did not indulge in petty chicanery, sought to be fair and because of kinship made many friends, but they were hard on the furniture and rough and ready in handling the population. The French, according to the populace, appear to have been about the opposite.

GERMAN AIR RACER KILLED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Tragedy intervened at the Heston Airdrome, near here, today in the around-Europe air race. Wolff Dietrich von Reders, a 24-year-old passenger in a machine piloted by H. MADRID, July 22.—The first airplane from England in the around-Europe contest to enter Spain arrived today piloted by an Englishman, A. S. Butler. It arrived at the Getafe Airdrome, near Madrid, nearly an hour ahead of the nearest competitor, M. Finat of France, who was followed quickly by a compatriot, M. Arrachart. M. Arrachart lost time by landing at an adjoining military airdrome.

Two of the competitors made forced landings between Saragossa and here.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 22.—The following cable has been received from the Wegener Greenland expedition:

"Kamarujuk, July 15 (via Godhavn Radio).—Drs. Georgi, Loewe and Weiken, with nine Greenlanders, twelve sleighs and ninety-four dogs, started today with the first dog-team transport to the centre where the Winter house for the three men will be installed at an altitude of 10,000 feet. The starting point is fifteen miles east of Nunatak-Scheidegg, at an altitude of 5,000 feet.

"It is planned that Dr. Loewe, with six Greenlanders, will return after reaching 125 miles, while Dr. Georgi, Dr. Weiken and three Greenlanders will proceed as far as 187 or a maximum of 250 miles, where Dr. Georgi will remain during the Winter for observations. A motor sleigh was brought through the most difficult spot up to 1,600 feet with the aid of a windlass. The sleigh probably will be ready to start within three weeks.

"WEGENER."

Dr. Alfred Wegener is leading an expedition of German scientists to Greenland's ice fields to make observations with a view to the establishment of a transarctic airplane route.

175 Go to Children's Camps Today.

About an equal number will return from the society's camps, and the new contingent will occupy them for three weeks. The camps are at New Hamburg, N. Y. Steamboat excursions are being provided by the society for mothers and small children who are unable to go to the camps.

GOURAUD WELCOMES GOLD STAR NEGROES

CROWD CHEERS DELEGATION

Women Will Visit Louvre Museum and Take Boat Ride on Seine to Suresnes Today.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—General Henry Gouraud, on behalf of the French Government and as Military Governor of Paris, today received the Negro mothers and widows on the American Gold Star pilgrimage when they placed a wreath at the Arc de Triomphe on the tomb of the French Unknown Soldier.

Mrs. Laura Newton of Benettsville, S. C., was the one elected by her fifty-three companions to the honor of depositing the wreath. Other members of the group stood under the arch where the ceremony was conducted.

Every access to the arch, which was guarded by a police cordon, was lined with a large crowd which came to witness the ceremony. There were several hundred American Negro residents of Paris among the spectators, who stood bareheaded and waved hats and handkerchiefs when the Gold Star delegation left the Place de L'Etoile in large auto cars.

The wreath, which was of white lilies and greenery, was marked, like those of the other pilgrimage groups, with a white ribbon and a gold inscription from the American mothers and widows.

Colonel Richard T. Ellis, director of the pilgrimage, and members of his staff accompanied the women and conducted them after the ceremony to a restaurant in the Champs-Elysée, where tea was served. Ambassador and Mrs. Edge attended.

Tomorrow the delegation will be taken to visit the Louvre Museum and in the afternoon on a boat ride down the Seine as far as Suresnes and return, and on Thursday the women will depart to the cemeteries where their sons and husbands are buried, either St. Mihiel or the Meuse-Argonne.

Two other groups of Gold Star mothers at present in France, Party K, which attended the dedication of a battle monument near Soissons, Sunday, and which now is at Rheims, and Party J, which returned to Paris today, are to make an excursion to Versailles.

PARIS, July 22 (AP).—Mrs. Edwin Lange of Oshkosh, Wis., who has been in the American Hospital since her arrival in June, will start for home on Friday, it was announced today.

5 GERMAN FIREBOATS FIGHT BLAZE ON ELBE

Eight Fire Brigades Help Prevent Spread of Flames From River Shipyard.

HAMBURG, Germany, July 22 (AP).—Eight fire brigades and five fireboats tonight checked a great fire that broke out in the Vulcan Shipyards and destroyed a big storehouse.

The first fire brigade to arrive sent out an alarm for reinforcements. Ferry service across the Elbe River was suspended while fireboats drew up and turned the hose on the blazing storehouse.

Within a short time thirty-four fire hose were deluging the flames, but before the fire could be smothered a large mass of valuable finished steel and iron parts used in shipbuilding had been destroyed.

After an hour and a half the roof of the storehouse collapsed and the fire was localized and brought under control.

As the blaze started after the shipyards had closed for the night there were no lives lost and no serious injuries. The extent of the damage and the cause have not yet been determined.

COSTE MAKES TWO TESTS.

French Flier Is Still Delayed by the Weather in Atlantic Flight.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—While waiting for an improvement in weather which will favor the start of his non-stop flight from Paris to New York, Captain Dieudonné Coste today made two more test flights in his famous red biplane, the Question Mark.

The first time he went up with Maurice Bellonte he climbed to an altitude of nearly 20,000 feet with a load of more than three tons to try out the motor lubrication. In the second flight he took a load of more than four tons but he did not rise higher than 3,000 feet.

PARIS, July 22 (AP).—Captain Coste and M. Bellonte have agreed to fly on from New York to Dallas, Texas, if they succeed in their proposed jump across the Atlantic, Colonel W. E. Easterwood Jr. of Dallas announced today. If they carry out their promise, they will receive the $25,000 prize which Mr. Easterwood has offered for a Paris-New York-Dallas flight.

COLD SPELL IN BRITAIN.

Ground Temperature at Night Within Six Degrees of Freezing.

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—While the United States is panting from a pronounced heat wave, Great Britain is experiencing one of the most unusual Summer cold spells in years.

It was colder here last night than on ordinary nights in November, the thermometer on Hampstead Heath dropping to 45 degrees while the ground temperature was within 6 degrees of freezing.

At 10 o'clock this morning the temperature in central London was only 55, and in general it is running 10 degrees below the seasonal average.

Torrential rains have fallen in eastern England.

$1,250,000 REFUSED FOR NORFOLK HOUSE

Auction Canceled as Bids Fail to Equal Private Offers for Birthplace of George III.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Norfolk House, the historic London home of the Duke of Norfolk in St. James' Square, was offered for sale at an auction today but was withdrawn after a bid of $1,250,000 was made. It was then announced the property would be sold by private negotiations. It was stated the Duke privately had received offers considerably in excess of the highest bid at the auction.

The announcement of the auction of the stately mansion, the birthplace of George III, which has remained in the possession of eight successive Dukes of Norfolk, drew a large gathering. In describing the property, the auctioneer said every one who admired that relic of the past would like to see it in existence for many years to come and expressed the hope that he might sell it as a private residence or the residence of a foreign Ambassador or a representative of a colonial government.

Built 200 years ago, Norfolk House is regarded as one of the finest examples in London of the Georgian period. It was offered for sale free of restrictive covenants, and it was stated the purchaser would be entitled to demolish the property and to rebuild on its site.

DOCTOR SAYS GOITER IS CAUSED BY BACTERIA

Dr. Houba of Tacoma Tells Paris Congress Iodine Theory Is Upset.

PARIS, July 22 (AP).—Dr. E. O. Houba of Tacoma, Wash., has told the International Congress for the Study of Microbes in a paper that goiter is caused by bacteria and not by a deficiency in iodine, the generally accepted theory.

Dr. Houba said he had isolated and cultivated goiter bacteria.

Later the physician told the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune that he believed in the iodine theory until ten years ago, but after five years of study and experiment had become convinced of the bacterial origin.

Dr. Houba also said he had developed a method by which germs could be cultivated from every goiter tissue.

One hundred American physicians and laboratory experts are attending the congress, which opened yesterday at the Pasteur Institute and will last five days.

PLEADS FOR FACTS ON INDIA.

Briton Asks American Churches to Correst Press "Misrepresentation."

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—An appeal to American churches to present the true facts in the Indian situation was made tonight by Sir Henry Lunn, speaking at a world peace demonstration at Leeds in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist conference there. Sir Henry deplored what he called "the tragic misrepresentation" of the attitude of the majority of Englishmen toward India's future and toward the present struggle.

"There is no doubt Mr. Gandhi's high character has misled the American people, and especially the religious section of the American nation, on this issue. Mr. Gandhi has plunged India into strife which is anything but non-violent, and it is the weight of his personal character and his plea for passive resistance which have led to all the unfortunate disturbances which have been so grossly exaggerated in a section of the American press. I hope it will be possible for the Federal Council of Churches of Christ officially to take action to investigate the facts from both sides and to show the American press the truth of the situation."

WIDEN HUNT FOR HOOK.

Searchers Find No Trace of Airman Where Companion Left Him.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

RANGOON, India, July 22.—Despite the most careful search through the jungles, no trace has been found of Eric Hook, young English airman, whose machine crashed in the wilderness 250 miles from Prome on July 3.

Incessant rains rendered the mountain streams impassable. Communication is difficult and camping without cover is impossible, according to an official statement tonight. Supplies were difficult to obtain because the villagers had hardly enough for themselves. There was no sign of Hook's clothes, which James Matthews, his companion, said he hung up to mark the spot where Hook asked to be left to die, nor any trace of a branch having been broken at the place where Hook was last seen.

The searching party is now convinced he is no longer on the banks of the Bali River. The search is being continued, especially along the banks of streams flowing into the Irawady River, in case Hook's body has been entangled in the undergrowth.

PARTY TO STUDY BUSHMEN.

Will Leave for Central Australia Next Month, Aided by Rockefeller.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ADELAIDE, Australia, July 22.—A scientific expedition will leave for Central Australia next month to make an anthropological and ethnological study of the native blacks in the MacDonnell Range area, 160 miles northeast of Alice Springs. The cost is being defrayed from a Rockefeller Foundation grant administered by the Australian National Research Council.

Research will be conducted on modern anthropological lines regarding the physical characteristics, standard of intelligence and psychology of the blacks. The expedition will make gramophone records of the native songs and film native ceremonies, dances and domestic routine.

SCARLET FEVER FAR FROM CONQUERED

Scientists at Paris Meeting Report Bacillus Has Not Been Isolated.

USE OF SERUMS DISCUSSED

Prince Cantacuzene Discounts the Optimism of Two Americans on Developing Anti-Toxin.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—"Though the world is not aware of it, the microbiological congress may be more important to humanity than The Hague Conference and its results immensely more far-reaching than those of the Young Plan." This remark by one of the delegates reflected today the earnest attitude of several hundred scientists, investigators and students from twenty-eight countries who are at the Pasteur Institute this week exchanging data for common aid in their search for knowledge of microbe life and to equip themselves for conflict against the world's disease sources.

Today's discussions centred on the efforts of science to detect the scarlet fever bacillus, and reports from twelve countries, including two addresses by Americans, indicated the progress that has been made in this work. The scarlet fever bacillus has not been isolated, but experts are agreed that it is conveyed in some manner by a hemolytic streptococcus.

Reports by Dr. A. R. Dochez and Dr. Augustus B. Wadsworth of the United States indicated confidence that an effective anti-toxin serum for scarlet fever soon would be found, while a celebrated Rumanian scientist, Prince Cantacuzene, was more reserved in his declarations.

Solution Not in Sight.

"The problem is far from solved," said Prince Cantacuzene in relating the results of extensive and minute experiments carried on in Rumania, where scarlet fever is widely prevalent and where the most exhaustive study of the disease has been made. "Many scientists have believed they have isolated the scarlet fever bacillus and I myself have made the mistake, but after more than twenty years of experiments I believe none of them is decisive."

Prince Cantacuzene described his studies of the streptococcus and came to the conclusion that scarlet fever was not a manifestation of the action of this bacillus, but that more probably it served as a vehicle for the real scarlet fever bacillus which has not yet been found. Concerning serums, he said, that taken from the cultures of convalescents had better results than a serum prepared from horse cultures.

Dr. Dochez admitted the possibility of Prince Cantacuzene's theories, but added that he believed science was at the point where a final investigation could be made.

"There is no doubt that the streptococcus plays an important rôle, and there is need now to study the streptococcus not as a unit but from the point of view of each component part of the cell to learn how a single bacillus can produce such a variety of results," he said.

Progress Hampered.

Dr. Wadsworth of New York, discussing studies on an anti-streptococcus serum, declared that progress in the study of scarlet fever had been hampered by a false premise that the disease was specific, and indicated that it should rather be considered as one manifestation of a streptococcus infection whose character should be attributed rather to the conditions of susceptibility than to any particular streptococcus.

Another section of the microbiological congress today discussed the culture of tissues and tumors, and still another took up veterinarian bacteriology. Tomorrow the session will open with an important communication by Dr. Albert Calmette of the Pasteur Institute concerning anti-tubercular vaccination, which has been brought into controversy through its supposed unscientific or careless application in the innoculation of children at a hospital at Lubeck, Germany, fifty-seven of whom died from tubercular infection. Dr. Calmette will answer criticisms of the Calmette-Guérin serum that have been made since this incident.

The delegates will visit a laboratory for demonstrations and will witness moving pictures of microbe life as part of tomorrow's program.

PLAN AGRICULTURAL UNION.

Hungarian, Rumanian and Yugoslav Delegates Convene in Bucharest.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, July 22.—A conference of representatives of the Rumanian, Yugoslav and Hungarian Governments began here today with the object of establishing a central marketing agency and joint control of agricultural production in these three countries. Hungary is represented by its Minister Extraordinary, Alfred Nickl, and not merely by representatives of its agricultural industry, as it was first reported.

The conference will seek to organize a nucleus of a European agrarian bloc in which may be included countries which are only partly agricultural, such as Czechoslovokia.

An official statement issued by the Yugoslav Government today envisaged the formation of a customs union between Yugoslavia and Rumania and looked forward to close collaboration in other agrarian countries, though not to their inclusion in the proposed customs union.

The Yugoslav Government stated that it recognized that, under the most-favored-nation clauses in present commercial treaties, it would be difficult to fight overseas competition, but it adds that it would be possible to enter into arrangements with European industrial states, such as Germany and Austria, for the exchange of manufactured goods for agricultural products.

Refuses to Free Macedonians.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 22 (AP).—Premier Liaptcheff today told a delegation of Macedonian Deputies protesting against recent arrests of Macedonian agitators that he not only would not release the disturbers but intended to make more arrests.

Studies Banana Disease in Jamaica.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VATICAN JURISDICTION UP IN ITALIAN COURT

Cardinal Vannuteli's Heirs Say Papal Judge Exceeded Power in Ordering Trunk Withheld.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, July 22.—The first case of a conflict in jurisdiction arising out of the Lateran Treaties has just come before the Italian courts, which have been asked to decide what powers, if any, the Vatican tribunal has regarding Italian subjects living outside the territory of Vatican City.

When Cardinal Vannutelli died the Vatican placed seals on his apartment in the Artaria Palace where he lived, which is territory belonging to Vatican City. Previously, however, the Cardinal's heirs had obtained leave to remove his personal papers, which they placed in a trunk, entrusting it for safekeeping to an Italian subject living outside the territory of Vatican City but who is in the employ of the Vatican. Shortly afterward the judge of the Vatican tribunal called on this Italian subject, placed seals on the trunk and ordered him not to return it to Cardinal Vannutelli's heirs unless they first obtained the Vatican's consent.

The Cardinal's heirs when they returned for the trunk were told they could not have it unless the Vatican gave permission. They thereupon sued the person to whom they had entrusted the trunk in the Italian courts for its immediate restitution and the case will be tried by a civil court within a few days. The heirs plead that the Vatican judge exceeded his powers, maintaining Vatican City has no jurisdiction over an Italian subject residing in Italian territory, who recognizes no authority but the Italian courts and Italian officials.

Several interesting points have arisen from this action, which is being watched with the greatest interest by the Italian legal profession. First, can a Vatican judge issue orders to an Italian subject living outside Vatican City, even if, as in the present case, the latter is an employe of the Vatican? Second, must an Italian subject under such circumstances obey the order of a Vatican judge in refusing to return an object entrusted to him? Third, can an Italian court order the restitution of an object, overriding the veto of a judge of the Vatican tribunal? If so, what can the Vatican tribunal do about it?

The opinion of Italian jurists is that the judge of the Vatican tribunal undoubtedly exceeded his powers, as he has no jurisdiction over Italian subjects, and an Italian court can override the Vatican's veto.

CUBANHURRICANEFORECAST.

Two Weather Observers Expect Big One Early in Fall.

HAVANA, July 22 (AP).—Two widely known meteorological experts today said that Cuba might suffer this Fall a recurrence of the disastrous hurricane that in October, 1926, caused the loss of more than 100 lives and millions of dollars of property damage.

Father Gutierrez Lanza, director of the Belen College Observatory, and Dr. Carlos Millas, director of the National Observatory, agreed that a hurricane probably would sweep Cuba late in September or early in October.

LILLE METAL MEN STRIKE.

Almost Half Workers Out in Protest Against Insurance Act.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—Nearly half the workers in the metal industry in the Lille district went on strike this morning as a result of the refusal of their demand for an increase in wages corresponding to their expenditures under the workmen's insurance act which came into force this month.

This is the first case of an organized protest by the workers against the new act.

MACHADO SAYS CUBA PLANS NO REPRISALS

Our Tariff Won't Hurt Friendship, He Asserts—Hopes Sugar Growers Will Cooperate.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, July 22.—Cuba, one of the countries most seriously affected by the new United States tariff, does not plan any reprisal measures, according to President Gerardo Machado. In an interview today with Carl Byoir, publisher of The Havana Post, the president asserted that the tariff legislation had in no way affected the spirit of traditional friendship that underlies the diplomatic and commercial relations between Cuba and the United States.

"While there may be disappointment and even irritation in some quarters," said President Machado, "our friendship is based on too solid a foundation to be destroyed by any single act of domestic legislation. Personally I welcome the closing of this chapter. The tariff agitation has made it seem to many in both countries that the interests of Cuban and American sugar growers are necessarily antagonistic.

"This is not true. I am sure that with the tariff question out of the way we shall see the birth of a new spirit of cooperation between these interests working together. The sugar industries of the United States and Cuba could quite conceivably restore world equilibrium in this business, thus bringing prosperity to both American and Cuban growers, and at the same time re-establish the enormous export market which our country has represented for American products.

"It ought now to be apparent to all concerned that there is only one solution to the problem of the sugar industry; namely, the reduction of world production to a point that at least approximates world consumption."

MISSIONARIES FREE IN RELIEF OF POCHOW

COMMUNIST PERIL SPREADS

Hankow Is Disturbed by Presence of Reds There Secretly and Prevalence of Plots.

NEW BATTLE NEAR IN NORTH

Both Sides Mass Large Forces for Action Along Tientsin-Pukow Railway in Shantung.

By HALLETT ABEND.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, July 22.—With the withdrawal of the rebel General Sun Tien-ying from Pochow in Anhui Province, it is believed that the Nationalist siege of that city has been lifted and that the six American missionaries marooned there for sixty days have been able to leave. No word has been received from them, however.

Before his flight, General Sun is said to have negotiated with President Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist commander, for a payment of $100,000 for the rebels' surrender. General Sun is said to have received the payment in cash and then fled with his army, rejoining the forces of General Feng Yu-hsiang.

The spread of the Communist menace has resulted in the closing of the Custom House at Chenglinchi under orders from Hankow. Three members of the customs staff, captured by Reds, were ransomed for $20,000.

Hankow is seriously disturbed by the appearance of anti-Nanking posters and the discovery of plots to incite riots and insurrection among the garrison.

Forty Missionaries Rescued.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Forty British and American missionaries who have been stranded in the North China war area have been rescued by the British and American Consuls at Foochow, it is announced here. John J. Muccio, the American Consul, with his British colleague, A. J. Martin, left Foochow last Friday in a launch flying the American and British flags. They found the missionaries after traveling 100 miles up the Min River.

At the same time it was announced that Miss Eleanor J. Harrison and Miss Edith Nettleton, two English women missionaries, had been rescued from Chinese bandits. They were captured nearly a month ago at Chungan in the Province of Fukien. Ransom of $37,500 was demanded, and the bandits threatened to shoot them unless the money was forthcoming within a fortnight. The time limit expired Aug. 1. It is not yet known here how their rescue was effected.

Decisive Battle Looms.

SHANGHAI, July 22 (AP).—Manoeuvres foreshadowing a decisive battle between the Nationalist and Northern rebel armies in Shantung were reported today in dispatches from both factions. The belligerents apparently were destined to clash along the Tientsin-Pukow railway near Taian, Shantung, and the outcome may determine the fate of the Nationalist attempt to blast the rebels out of that Province.

The Nationalists yesterday indicated they planned to put 100,000 more men on the Shantung and Honan fronts in addition to the 250,000 government troops already there. The Northerners today said they were massing 90,000 men near Taian in addition to their heavy forces near Yenchow to the southward. Nationalist troops in that area were believed to number about 75,000, which would make the opposing armies somewhere near equal in size.

Nanking military authorities said Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist Generalissimo, had issued general orders for an advance on Tsinan, the capital of Shantung now held by rebels. Northern reports stated Yen Hsi-shan is at Tsinan, where he will take the command against the Nationalist drive.

Other Northern reports said the Kuominchun (people's army) had been hammering at Nationalist positions along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway. The rebels also asserted Liu Chen-nien, Chefoo war lord, had sent 16,000 troops to their aid.

Although detailed advices were lacking, suffering among the opposing forces was believed intense because of the extreme heat which has gripped Central China. The temperature has been varying from 100 to 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Nationalists tonight asserted they had won a sharp artillery duel against the Northerners at Lanfeng, Eastern Honan, forcing the rebels to retreat after killing 5,000, capturing 3,000 and taking 38 field guns, 13 machine guns and 6,000 rifles.

Pirates Loot Steamer.

HONGKONG, July 22 (AP).—The Chinese steamer Helikon, which left Hongkong for Saigon Saturday night with 400 passengers, was seized by pirates, but was released after being looted. The passengers were robbed, but all were unharmed when the vessel returned here today from Bias Bay.

The buccaneers were mild. They carried out their looting without firing a shot. They had boarded the Helikon as passengers. At a given signal they cut through the grills separating the forward deck from the main portion of the ship when the vessel was one day out of Hongkong and took possession of the craft.

The ship's officers were treated courteously by the temporary masters of the situation, who, nevertheless, looted her thoroughly from bow to stern in Bias Bay before finally getting away in the ship's boats with fourteen Chinese passengers, who are being held for ransom.

SEES CRISIS IN AUSTRALIA.

Opposition Leader Declares 18.5 Per Cent Are Unemployed.

CANBERRA, Australia, July 22 (Canadian Press)—The position of Australian industry is now so serious that 18.5 per cent of the erstwhile working population of the country is out of employment, declared J. G. Latham, leader of the Nationalist opposition, in the House of Representatives today. The Federal budget, with its imposition of an extraordinary tariff and taxes, was the subject of debate.

Mr. Latham pointed to the slump of stock issues and pointed out that the taxable income obtained from wheat and wool last year was only £55,000,000 (about $270,000,000) compared with £87,000,000 (about $425,000,000) the year before.

The opposition leader insisted Federal expenditure must be reduced and that the salaries of ministers and members of Parliament should be cut as a beginning and an example. Increased taxation, h maintained, would greatly impair the recuperative powers of the Australian people.

TALKIE PACT SIGNED WITH REICH FIRMS

Americans at Paris Agree to Exchange Patent Rights and Divide World for Apparatus.

FILMS TO BE INTERCHANGED

Britain, France, Italy and Spain to Be Open to Appliances Made Here or in Germany.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—Representatives of the German and American film and electrical industries today signed a memorandum providing for the exchange of patent rights and the division of world territory for manufacturing sound and talking picture apparatus. The accord thus reached will be made the final solution of the conflict which has prevented the showing of American sound films in Germany and will provide the possibility of supplying theatres the world over with apparatus incorporating the best appliances now available.

This announcement was made today by Will H. Hays, who has been presiding over the conference here which opened on June 19 and after a brief interruption was resumed last week. After the successful conclusion of his mission here Mr. Hays will return to the United States on the Olympic tomorrow.

The Companies Involved.

The companies involved in the negotiations include, for Germany, the A. E. G. group, the Siemens-Halske Company and the Tobis Klangfilm Company. The American concerns are the Electrical Research Products Company, the RCA Photophone and numerous picture-producing companies, including Universal, United Artists, Metro-Goldwyn, Pathé Exchange, Paramount, Columbia, Tiffany-Stahl and Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

Under the memorandum signed by the motion picture producers all countries will be enabled to obtain licenses to produce pictures under both German and American patents, and the memorandum also provides for the interchangeability of motion pictures in all countries and upon all makes of licensed apparatus of the signatory parties. Thus American producers will have the right to enter the German market and German producers the American market.

For the manufacture and sale of sound and talking picture apparatus the memorandum divides world territory into three sections, for one of which apparatus will be exclusively manufactured by the United States and another where it will be exclusively made in Germany. The third division, including all countries in the world unspecified in the two preceding groups, will be open to products manufactured either in Germany or the United States on the basis of equal competition.

Countries Reserved to Us.

The countries which will be supplied solely by American manufacturers are the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Australia, New Zealand, the Straits Settlements, India and Russia. Those which have been reserved for German-manufactured apparatus are Germany, the Free City of Danzig, the Saar Basin, Memel, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Holland, the Dutch East Indies, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

The countries not on either of these lists, open to products from either Germany or the United States, include several European nations, among which are France, Britain, Spain and Italy.

The purpose of this territorial division, it was explained in a statement issued after the conference, is "to provide for the full use of the manufacturing facilities of both German and American interests and to insure that the motion picture industry will be best equipped and that the greatest possible distribution will be made for motion picture producers in the shortest possible time."

Although this arrangement has been made between American and German interests, it is emphasized that the producers of all other countries will receive the advantage of the use of the patent rights and technical information controlled by German and American interests.

Besides Mr. Hays as chairman, the representatives included J. E. Otterson, C. J. Ross and J. C. Graham for the American firms and Dr. Emil Mayer, Dr. Fritz Luschen and Milton Diamond for the German companies.

BRITISH BILL AIMED AT OUR FILM MEN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—A bill stated to have the support of all the political parties was introduced in the House of Commonons tonight by G. L. M. Mander, Liberal, for the purpose of overcoming what he described as "the American stranglehold on the British film industry." Leave to introduce the bill was granted and it was read for the first time.

Mr. Mander said the distribution of films in Britain was very largely in the hands of the American interests which owned and controlled them and which used their power with the deliberate object of squashing the development of the British film industry.

"They are using their powers to cause to be produced films of a low quality so that British films have got the reputation of being 'British and bad'," he asserted.

The policy of the bill, Mr. Mander explained, was to raise the compulsory quota of the British films shown in movie houses here by stages up to 50 per cent in 1934.

The original act which this bill proposes to amend," he added, "required that 75 per cent of salaries be spent on British personnel. If that had been in force in the United States it would have ruined the American film industry. In order that in Britain we may have the opportunity of seeing and hearing distinguished foreign artists the bill proposes that not less than 75 per cent of a film must be wholly produced in Britain."

The bill also provides that not less than $60,000 must be spent on the production of one film.

"American interests here have been deliberately producing films at a cost of only $15,000 or $20,000 of very low quality in order to stamp them as bad," Mr. Mander said. "This provision will do a great deal to raise the standard."

Mr. Mander declared there now existed in Britain a unique opportunity to build on a permanent basis a multilingual film industry, and his proposals were greeted with considerable enthusiasm.

TWO HURT IN FREAK MISHAP

Auto Hits Rope, Rope Hits Fence, Splinter Hits Peekskill Women.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 22.—A. R. Close of Yorktown, Westchester County, received a summons today to appear before Judge Samuel Pines in Peekskill tomorrow as the result of a peculiar automobile accident in which his automobile broke a rope which snapped off a picket of a fence and hit Minnie Hickey, a young girl, with such force it drove a splinter through her arm.

Then, as the piece of picket rebounded, it struck Mrs. Evelyn Lent and cut her neck. The accident happened on Park Street, Peekskill, where children were playing under a temporary fountain provided by Fire Chief Wiley Travis. The roadway was roped off, with warning signals attached to the rope. This rope the automobile struck and broke.

EXPERTS MYSTIFIED BY BRITISH CRASH

GERMAN WILL AID INQUIRY

Junkers Engineer Will Try to Find Why Practically New Machine Fell Apart in Air.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Experts who are attempting to ascertain the cause of yesterday's airplane disaster, in which six persons flying from Le Touquet, France, to England lost their lives, agree that it is one of the most mysterious crashes in the history of flying.

"Why should a practically new machine suddenly collapse and fall to pieces in midair?" is the question still baffling experts of the British Air Ministry, who worked throughout the night and many hours today examining the wreckage strewn for miles in the vicinity of Meopham, Kent.

One important fact learned today was that before beginning the flight which ended so tragically, Lieut. Col. G. L. P. Henderson, the pilot, who was killed, thought something was wrong. After making a short flight before leaving for Le Touquet Colonel Henderson returned to Croydon, where a mechanic found an exhaust pipe washer had worked loose. The mechanic fixed this, remarking that he thought it caused the little noise which attracted the pilot's attention.

"Well, that's all right," Colonel Henderson replied. "Just as long as I know what it is I am not worrying."

No Evidence of Explosion.

One theory is that the airplane, after being buffeted by the gale and rain over the Channel, struck a particularly deep air pocket which caused it to drop perhaps 200 feet and the single wing proved unequal to the strain, snapping off. There was no evidence of an explosion. The fuel tanks were found intact and the crumpled fuselage and wings bore no trace of fire. The noise which witnesses described as an "explosion" before the machine fell to pieces is believed to have been caused by the wings tearing away.

The condition of the engine, which was almost intact, and the propeller, which was detached in the crash, ruled out the suggestion that the plane might have collided with a bird. Today the wreckage remained where it fell, guarded by policemen, with the fuselage roped down to prevent the wind from moving it. The bodies of the dead lay in a farm shed awaiting the inquest, which will open at Meopham tomorrow.

An expert from the Junkers company left Berlin today by air to assist the British Air Ministry officials in their examination. It was revealed today that the machine was made at the Junkers works in Germany seven months ago. After being kept at the factory for a time it was delivered in England on May 29. It had done seven weeks of flying or only 100 hours.

Many London society affairs are being canceled because of the death of Viscountess Ednam and Mrs. Henrick Loeffler, two popular members of society. In Worcester, Lady Ednam's family home, flags are flying at half staff in token of the town's grief. Flags are at half staff in Belfast, Ireland, in mourning for the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava. On the village green of Meopham also the flag is at half staff.

It was learned today that just before Lord Dufferin left Ulster on his last visit to England he remarked to a friend: "I don't like flying." That he returned from Le Touquet in an airplane surprised all his friends in Northern Ireland.

No British Bookings Canceled.

While thirty-six bookings for planes leaving Le Touquet for Croydon today were reported canceled the Imperial Airways said they had not received a single cancellation for any of their machines.

"We don't all walk to work after a railway smash, do we?" was the comment by an Imperial Airways official when asked if the air disaster had affected their bookings.

The nature of the British regulations for the safety of civil flying were explained in the House of Commons today by Frederick Montague, Under Secretary for Air. He said all aircraft must be inspected by a properly certificated ground engineer within twenty-four hours of a flight, who must give a written guarantee that the machine was airworthy. The person in charge of the machine is required to satisfy himself before the flight that all safety regulations have been carried out and to compile a "load sheet" showing that the weight carried was properly distributed.

Mr. Montague said he was satisfied that all these regulations generally were strictly complied with, although in anticipation of an inquiry he could not say anything definite regarding yesterday's accident. He pointed out, however, that the British regulations could not be enforced on aircraft leaving foreign airports.

Urge Reports on Accidents.

Two notable airmen, Captain Frederick Guest and Lieut. Commander Glen Kidston, who is the sole survivor of the disaster to the German Lufthansa airliner in Surrey last November, will appeal in The London Times tomorrow for the publication of official reports of the probable causes of air accidents.

"Plainly, there are lessons to be learned from these distressing accidents," writes Commander Kidston, "and the public has a right to know what is the cause and to be safeguarded against repetition."

Commander Kidston recalls that the accident to the machine in which he was traveling occurred in bad flying weather similar to yesterday's and asks whether action was taken as a result of the coroner's jury's declaration then that control should be exercised over flying in such weather.

Captain Guest writes:

"What I have in mind is that as soon as possible after every accident, even after an accident the cause of which is uncertain, some authority whose opinion will carry weight should place before the public in the form of an official report the probable cause of the disaster. For example, if the probability is that the accident was due either to the human factor or mechanical failure the fact should be boldly stated. In the former case no appreciable extra amount of distress will be caused to the relatives of the victims and in the second case it is no part of anybody's business to protect the manufacturers or ground engineers from the consequences of imperfections or carelessness."

In military accidents the Air Ministry holds a secret inquiry, but in civilian accidents the inquiry is in the hands of a coroner, who, as Captain Guest says, unless by chance he is an airplane expert, cannot express an opinion upon the causes of accidents with sufficient detail or sufficient authority.

The Prince of Wales, it is announced, will fly tomorrow to Carnarvon to open the agricultural show and will return to London by air.

D'Abernon Seeks a Substitute For Alcohol as a Beverage

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 22.—Viscount d'Abernon, chairman of the wartime Liquor Control Board, today told the Royal Commission on Licensing that the world greatly needs a substitute for alcohol as a beverage.

The Viscount told the commission, which is investigating the liquor question in Great Britain, that "in view of the fact that alcohol does badly what it sets out to do, that it is not a true stimulant and that the result it brings is not exempt from disagreeable and injurious reaction, I continue to believe in the eventual concoction of some preferable substitute.

"A vast fortune," the witness asserted, "would reward the discoverer, upon whom also would descend the gratitude of humanity."

The beverage would have to be something attractive to the palate and would have to appeal to the drinkers more than liquor does at present, Lord d'Abernon added.

FILIPINOS ARE ELATED BY ROOSEVELT DELAY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANILA, July 22.—Postponement by the United States Senate of its action on the nomination of Nicholas Roosevelt as Vice Governor of the Philippines until next December is regarded by Filipino political leaders to have been a triumph for the Philippine Legislature. Manuel Quezon, President of the Senate; Senator Sergio Osmena and Acting Speaker Delas Alas of the House of Representatives said they were confident that protests against Mr. Roosevelt because of his stand against Philippine independence had moved the Senate to delay action.

The Philippine House debated three hours last night before approving the joint resolution which was sent to President Hoover and the United States Congress. Representative Opus said he favored the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt because his attitude was well known, while other Americans who posed as friends of the Philippines later proved to be bitter enemies.

Representative Concepcion held that the Legislature's protest was virtually a defiance of Washington and would result in a policy of non-cooperation.

Señor Alas said the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt was not aroused by his political views but because of "obvious racial prejudice." He asserted the Vice Governor in his capacity as Secretary of Public Instruction would interfere with the recently promulgated nationalization policy.

"Few Americans are as objectionable to us as Roosevelt," Señor Alas said. "Despite the opposition of our mission to the United States Roosevelt has been named Vice Governor, and it is well to know that our voice no longer carries weight in the matter of the appointments of those sent to govern us."

Governor Davis declined to comment on any feature of the situation.

Senator Rodriguez, who objected to the protest resolution in yesterday's session of the Philippine Senate, left the chamber when the vote was taken to permit it to be approved unanimously.

Members of the Filipino business community and legislators believe Mr. Roosevelt will meet a campaign of non-cooperation if he becomes Vice Governor.

ANGELESCU OUT OF DANGER

Rumanian Police Believe Minister's Assailant Headed Anti-Semites.

BUCHAREST, July 22 (AP).—Surgeons today announced that Dr. Constantin Angelescu, an attempt on whose life was made yesterday by a youthful student, was out of danger. The doctors stated that all bullets had been extracted and that the patient apparently had escaped the danger of infection.

George Beza, the young Macedonian student who attempted to assassinate Dr. Angelescu, Acting Minister of the Interior, was again cross-examined today, and his lodgings were searched. From the documents found the police believe it can be established that he was the ringleader of the anti-Semitic movement in Rumania.

The police also raided the offices of the Iron Guard, an organization of young people engaged in anti-Semitic activities.

Zelea Codreanu, a Fascist leader and anti-Semitic agitator, who early in the day made known his intention to march through Bucharest with a company of his followers in protest against the prohibition of the march of the Iron Guard through Besarabia, continued to hurl threats against the government.

CANNON PLANS A LONG VISIT.

Will Remain in Brazil Until December After Stop in Madeira.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP ARLANZA, July 22 (AP).—Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who was married in London July 15 to his secretary, Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum, plans to remain in South America on church work until next December.

The Bishop, who will leave the Arlanza with his bride on their arrival at Madeira, told The Associated Press that, after inspecting church work there, he will go to Brazil to hold official conferences from August until November.

With regard to his marriage, the Bishop simply referred to his message to The Christian Advocate, a Methodist periodical.

FUAD REJECTS PLEA TO OPEN PARLIAMENT

Egyptian Government Holds That Petition of Nationalists Was Unconstitutional.

NEW RIOT AT PORT SAID

One of Mob Is Killed in Attempt to Burn Municipal Stables—1,000 Seized in Cairo.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, July 22.—King Fuad has refused the Wafdist petition for an extraordinary session of Parliament which was supported by a two-thirds majority of both Houses.

It is understood that Premier Sidky's non-partisan Cabinet decided that the petition was unconstitutional and advised the King not to grant it. If, however, the petition had been submitted in accordance with the Constitution the King would have been obliged to grant it.

Thus Saturday looms as a new danger spot on the Egyptian calendar and the government has ordered enforcement of the same precautionary measures as yesterday.

Agitators chose the municipal stables at Port Said as their centre of operations today and a disturbance in which an attempt was made to burn buildings cost one man his life. Several others were injured by a police volley into the crowd, which cut loose the municipality's horses and mules and destroyed dust carts.

Another of the demonstrators injured in the disturbances at Port Said yesterday died today, making a total of three killed.

The Cabinet is believed to be gaining ground as a result of Premier Sidky's reply to the British Government and the way in which the government dealt with the disturbances here yesterday, which seem to have been engineered by payments to small boys who, it need hardly be said, have little knowledge of the meaning of the Constitution.

Seven Expected to Die.

CAIRO, July 22 (AP).—Three large Egyptian cities, including the capital, today surveyed ruefully the consequences of yesterday's political rioting. Troops and police were on the alert to guard against possible outbreaks, but all was quiet.

Six persons were killed yesterday, and of 237 wounded 7 were expected to die. The arrests in Cairo alone ran above 1,000.

In fighting here between the police and Nationalists, who were venting their rage over cancellation of an announced protest session of Parliament, 4 persons were killed and 100 wounded. Forty-one of the injured were treated for bullet wounds.

At Port Said 2 were killed and 28 wounded in the ranks of the Nationalists. Forty-seven policemen were injured.

At Suez the casualties were equal on both sides, 21 demonstrators and the same number of police being hurt. It was officially denied that the city had been seized by the rioters.

British Cruiser at Haifa.

JERUSALEM, July 21 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The British cruiser Royal Sovereign has arrived in the Haifa Harbor. Although no official statement has been made as to the reason for its arrival, it is probably to be stationed there pending developments in Egypt.

Unofficial rumors are being circulated to the effect that all leaves for Palestine Government officials have been canceled due to the unsettled affairs in Egypt.

Situation Declared Under Control.

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson informed the House of Commons today that official information from Egypt showed that the situation was well in hand.

He stated the Egyptian Government had indicated there was no need for special protective measures for foreigners.

HAS 1,200 FEET OF SEA TUBE

Prof. Claude Will Try Ocean-Energy Plan Again on Sept. 1.

HAVANA, July 22 (AP).—Approximately 1,200 feet of the third tube to be constructed by Professor Georges Claude in his effort to make the deep waters of the gulf stream produce electrical energy has been completed, it was announced today.

A delay in the arrival of steel from the United States will necessitate a postponement of the launching of the tube until Sept. 1. Previous plans, formulated after the French scientist's second tube had been lost at sea, were to launch on Aug. 8 the huge tube, nearly a mile long, in its entirety.

Professor Claude now is on his way to France to report on his gigantic experiment to the French Academy of Science. Soldiers have been posted around his laboratories here to prevent repetition of attempts at sabotage, which Professor Claude had previously reported. A big force is at work on the construction of the new tube.

DUKE OF YORK OPENS WORLD FOWL SESSION

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—The most prodigious cackling in London's history was heard at the Crystal Palace today when the World Poultry Congress was opened in the presence of the Duke of York and poultry experts from sixty-one nations.

The assembled thousands of fowl showed they had little respect for royalty and kept up an incessant clucking and screeching throughout the Duke of York's speech. All the 8,000 hens presumably clucked in the same language, but the delegates had more difficulty, four interpreters being needed to assist in their discussions of the breeding, incubation, rearing and nutrition of prize poultry.

The many delegates from the United States and Canada were especially interested in new mechanical devices for poultry farms. Among the exhibits was an incubator which will hatch three tons of eggs at once. There also was a mechanical breeder that cares for chickens until they are 6 months old.

The aristocrats of the fowl world drew themselves up proudly as the Duke of York inspected them. He saw a 27-year-old grandmother of English hens strutting around her cage with the dignity of the older generation, and also red jungle fowl from India which are believed to be direct descendants of the ancestors of all modern domestic fowl. Turkeys, guinea fowl, pigeons and rabbits are among the thousands of exhibits. Some of the guinea fowl were so beautiful, with their black bodies and blue and red faces, that an artist stood in front of their cages today painting their portraits.

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—The honorary chairman of the poultry congress which opened today is Dr. Morley Jull of the United States. Two American exhibits have attracted much attention. A production display portrays a mechanical hen showing digestive processes and the rôle played by various foods in the formation of eggs. A marketing exhibit tells the scope of the American poultry industry with a large clock, which marks the production of 1,000 eggs in the United States with every swing of the pendulum. Another exhibit is a large-scale model of the Prince of Wales's ranch in Alberta.

TRI-POWER PARLEY ON KURDS FORESEEN

Turkish Foreign Minister and Russian and Persian Envoys Are Now in Istanbul.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ISTANBUL, July 22.—The presence here of the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Persian Chargé d'Affaires and the Russian Ambassador is regarded as significant and it is rumored that a conference regarding the Ararat front is pending.

Meanwhile the Turks have sent more military airplanes from the Eskichehir air base against the Kurdish rebels and instructions from Angora are awaited for a more systematic campaign of extermination. Several Turk planes have been brought down and it is also reported that a Turkish lieutenant was taken prisoner and tortured by the Kurds.

An Angora dispatch alleges that Persia lessened rather than increased her frontier forces and another rumor says that a Persian officer captured by Russians was insulted and beaten.

The fleeing Kurds abandoned 1,700 empty sacks intended to be filled with plunder. These are said to have come from foreign sources, which are also said to have provided camel trains to take the loot into Iraq and Persia.

TOURISTS PAY SOVIET.

450 Americans, Sailing for Sweden, Spent Almost $250,000.

The Americans, most of whom were wealthy New Englanders, proved a source of considerable revenue to the Soviet Government, spending a total of nearly $250,000.

It was estimated they spent upward of $50,000 alone in the purchasing of old imperial art objects, silverware and paintings. It is understood that each passenger paid $100 a day to the Soviet tourist bureau for four days of travel and sightseeing in Leningrad and Moscow.

One American from Boston paid $12,000 for a silver tea set belonging to the late Czar. The government built a special wooden landing place and reception hall for the visitors at the mouth of the Neva River, where the products of old and new Russia, including property confiscated from the former aristocracy, were placed for sale.

ARGENTINE EXPORTS SHOW HEAVY DROP

Total of $289,947,484 for First Five Months This Year Marks 34 Per Cent Fall on 1929.

4,556,000 TONS SHIPPED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, July 22.—Argentina's exports for the first five months of this year suffered a heavy decline compared with the same period of last year, according to a report from the statistical bureau of the Ministry of Finance, which shows the exports for the period this year amounted to 300,526,000 gold pesos ($289,947,484 at par), as compared with 455,192,000 gold pesos ($439,169,241) for the first five months of last year. This is a decline of 154,666,000 gold pesos ($149,221,756) for the year, or 34 per cent.

While shipments during the first five months of 1929 reached 7,685,000 tons, the total for the present year was only 4,556,000 tons, a decrease of 3,129,000 tons, or 40 per cent.

Referring to grain and flaxseed, the report says the figures show a decrease of 3,067 tons, or 46.5 per cent, the exports for the first five months of this year reaching 3,530 tons, against 6,597 tons for last year.

Less Grain Exported.

Owing to the smaller shipments this year the value of the cereal exports decreased from 281,331,000 gold pesos ($271,428,148) for the first five months of 1929 to 154,043,000 gold pesos ($148,619,686) for the same period this year, showing a decrease of 127,288,000 gold pesos ($122,807,462), or 45.2 per cent.

Wheat exports fell from 3,358,000 tons for the first five months of 1929 to 1,390,000 tons this year. Flaxseed exports dropped from 1,025,000 tons in the 1929 period to 630,000 tons this year. Barley exports dropped from 155,000 tons in 1929 to 57,000 tons this year and the exports of oats fell from 307,000 tons to 177,000 tons. Rye exports dropped from 123,000 tons to 1,739 tons, and maize exports from 1,622,000 tons to 1,269,000 tons. Canary seed was the only grain showing an increase this year, exports for the first five months totaling 2,869 tons compared with 2,673 tons for the same period last year.

The report says the exports of cattle products, despite the better prices obtained for meat exports, declined the first five months of this year, the total value reaching 58,470,000 gold poses ($56,411,856), compared with 58,594,000 gold pesos ($56,531,491) for the same period last year.

The tonnages of meat exports for the same periods were 305,000 in 1929 and 288,000 in 1930, or a decrease of 17,000, or 5.7 per cent.

Exports of cattle hides reached 47,000 tons for the first five months of 1929 and 53,000 tons for the same period in 1930. But the report says that owing to the decline in prices the value of hide shipments decreased from 16,421,000 gold pesos ($15,842,980) for the 1929 period to 15,463,000 gold pesos ($14,918,702) for 1930.

Shipments of sheep hides increased from 8,283 tons for the 1929 period to 8,498 tons for the present year, but their value declined by 871,000 gold pesos ($840,340).

Exports of unwashed wools decreased from 84,000 tons in the 1929 period to 74,000 tons this year. These exports reached a value of 24,944,000 gold pesos ($24,065,971) for the first five months of this year compared with 47,812,000 gold pesos ($45,028,017) for the same period last year.

AVERTS IRISH RAIL STRIKE.

McGilligan Successful at Parley Lasting All Day.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, July 22.—The Irish rail strike has been averted. A settlement was reached tonight at a roundtable conference held in the Government Building summoned by the Ministry of Industry and Commerce.

Full work on the railways is being resumed at once, all the dismissed men being reinstated to their former positions.

The conference, presided over by Patrick McGilligan, Minister of Industry and Commerce, opened early this morning and lasted until 8 o'clock tonight. A feeling of widespread relief follows the announcement of the Minister's success in averting the strike, as the situation was the most grave in Free State industry for years.

BASIS FOR APPEAL TO GANDHI FORECAST

PLEA FOR TRUCE PREDICTED

Paper Says End of Civil Disobedience Will Be Urged in Return for Release of Prisoners.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, July 22.—The newspapers of Mahatma Gandhi's Congress party in Bombay have for the most part ignored the impending unofficial negotiations with their imprisoned chief, or, following the lead of Vallabahi Patel, the acting President of the Congress, have declared that the time for a peace move has not arrived.

The Free Press Journal says the Congress does not desire peace because it has no faith in the government declarations and pledges, and it argues that the negotiations should be conducted by Mr. Patel.

The proposals likely to be made to Mr. Gandhi by the unofficial negotiators, Sir Tej Badahur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar, The Journal states, are that the Viceroy's recent speech should be regarded as binding the MacDonald government to adopt as proposals of the home government any decisions reached at the round table conference and that, pending the conclusion of the London conference, civil disobedience should be called off, political prisoners released and repressive measures withdrawn by the government.

Commenting on this, The Journal says, "These terms are considered by Congress members as out of date. The predominant opinion in political circles is that the government has forfeited all claim for regard and consideration by the depths to which it had descended in the name of law and order and that, whatever degree of suffering be in store, the non-violent war must be fought to a finish.

Whether or not this is a correct interpretation of the Congress attitude, it undoubtedly reflects a hardening of heart which is observable in other Congress newspapers and in Mr. Patel's recent speeches.

There is increased picketing in Bombay. The picketing of schools and colleges appears to be going out of favor, but twice today your correspondent met groups of juveniles of the Congress party on the march. They have contrived a musical accompaniment to encourage the public to participate in the boycott, achieving a surprising simulation of a crowd shouting "Boycott" with successive notes on a drum and bugle.

UPHOLDS DROPPING OF SUMMER PUPILS

MORE THAN 500 LET OUT

Superintendent Says They Retard Progress of Classes in Vacation Period High School.

Following complaints from parents whose children were dropped from the Summer schools last week for poor work, Dr. William J. O'Shea, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday that no pupils were eliminated because of overcrowding and that only repeated failure of backward children to grasp the first two weeks' study had brought about their expulsion.

Official figures for the elimination tests were lacking yesterday but it appeared from representative school reports that between 500 and 600 pupils had been dropped from the city's ten Summer high schools.

The complaining parents declared that the Summer schools were intended for backward children and that officials had unfairly pitted these pupils against brighter boys and girls who were taking advanced work in the same classes.

"That is not true," Dr. O'Shea asserted. "Pupils who have been dropped have been given every opportunity to come up to a passing level and have failed. They have not been forced to work against the advanced children. Their work thus far has shown that it is a waste of the city's money and a retarding of the rest of the class to keep them in school.

"If pupils make a grade of only 40 or 50 per cent in their studies, that means that with every sort of help from sympathetic teachers they have been unable to get even a minimum passing grade in studies which they are taking for the second or third time.

"The classes are divided into two sections, one for pupils who have failed and another for pupils who are taking advanced work. These divisions are distinct and the teachers do not try to confuse them. While the bright students are doing one task, their teacher is working with the backward students on another.

"Thus a pupil who has been dropped must have failed to profit from repeated instruction in the same things which he was unable to master last term."

Dr. Harold G. Campbell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, took the same view of the situation. It would, he said, be unfair to the masses of earnest students to waste time on unsympathetic pupils, many of whom only registered for Summer courses at the behest of their parents.

"DEAD" SON COMES HOME.

Returns on Day Mother Buried Body She Thought Was His.

Sorrow over the loss of her son Charles was suddenly turned into overwhelming joy last night for Mrs. Agnes Miller of 1,028 Simpson Street, the Bronx, when the youth she thought she had buried earlier in the day walked into her home alive and well.

Charles, who lives at 169 West Ninety-fourth Street and is 20 years old, had not communicated with his widowed mother since last January and in June she had requested the police of the Missing Persons Bureau to look for him.

On July 15 the body of a young man was found floating in the Harlem Ship Canal and taken to the Morgue. It seemed to answer the description of young Miller and was identified by the mother as that of her son from a scar on one hand.

Miller revealed that he had met some friends of the family by chance who told him of his supposed death and he hastened to relieve his mother of her anxiety. Although she was too happy to talk much last night, she said that the body she had bruied would otherwise have gone to Potter's Field and that she was glad she had given it decent burial.

SALARY RISES ASSURED.

White Plains Council Acts to Devise Schedule for City Employes.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Assurance that all city employes, including policemen and firemen, will receive salary increases on a fixed rate schedule was seen in the appointment today by Mayor McLaughlin of a common council committee to prepare such schedules in accordance with the plans adopted by other cities in Westchester and surrounding counties.

The action was taken on the motion of Councilman George Hill, who suggested that three members of the council be named to devise the salary rate schedules. The Mayor appointed Councilmen Hill, William T. Graff and Thomas H. Callahan. The motion included an amendment that the rate schedules be included in the 1931 municipal budget and, if approved, will go into effect on Jan. 1.

Councilman Hill said that the proposed plan provided a graduated scale for every class of city employe, giving every one a fixed salary increase each year until he reached the top of the classification.

Baltimore Tanker Officer Slays Wife.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, July 22.—William H. Dix, mate on an American Oil Company tanker, has confessed to police that he killed his wife, Mrs. Leah Dix, aged 38, cabaret entertainer, early today when he found her with another man in their apartment. He left the building and returned to his ship. After police had been summoned to the house by neighbors who heard the shots, Dix telephoned and asked for his wife. He was told she was "very ill," and was asked to come home at once. When he arrived he was arrested.

Killed as 6 Gasoline Tanks Explode.

ROCK RAPIDS, Iowa, July 22 (AP).—One man was killed and another slightly burned in an explosion of six gasoline storage tanks at an oil company's yards last night. Fred Yappen, son of the owner of the company, was killed. The explosions, which continued at intervals of several minutes as the flaming liquid spread from one tank to another, shook the entire town. Pieces of the tanks were blown 300 feet. Four dwellings were destroyed.

HOOVER ASKS RULING ON APPOINTIVE RIGHT

Asks Mitchell if He Can Name Power Commission Members During the Recess.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The opinion of Attorney General Mitchell concerning Presidential authority to appoint members of the Federal Power Commission during a recess of Congress has been sought by President Hoover, it was announced at the White House today.

The President sent the nomination of three commissioners to the Senate for confirmation and they were approved by the Interstate Commerce Committee, but when presented in the Senate were held up by Senator Walsh of Montana and therefore failed of confirmation.

Students of the law authorizing reorganization of the Power Commission argue that its language is mandatory in stating that the commission cannot function without a quorum of three, who must be confirmed by the Senate. But as this interpretation is open to question the President has asked for the ruling.

If the President lacks the power to make recess appointments the present commission composed of the Secretaries of War, Agriculture and Interior will carry on until December, when the commission of five independent members will be named.

KILLS GEORGIA WOMAN.

Son-in-Law Confesses He Was to Get Money and Job for Crime.

MILLEN, Ga., July 22 (AP).—Mrs. Calmira Johnson is dead of gunshot wounds and her son-in-law, Early Warren, is in prison here today after confessing that he killed her in the hope of obtaining her property. Beverly Kent, owner of a near-by plantation, for whom Warren worked, was arrested as an accomplice.

Last night the Johnson family was grouped around the supper table. A gun was fired outside the house and the shot tore through a window, killing Mrs. Johnson and wounding her son, Grover Johnson.

Grover Johnson recognized Kent and Warren as the shutters were opened. Bloodhounds trailed the two men at the Kent plantation, where they were arrested.

Warren told the authorities Kent promised him a lifetime job and a sum of money for the slaying.

Reject Gibson Site for School.

Special to The New York Times.

VALLEY STREAM, L. I., July 22.—The voters of School District 24, at a special election held tonight in the Brooklyn Avenue school, rejected a proposal to buy a five-acre site at Rockaway Avenue and Gibson Boulevard, Gibson, for a plot for another school building at a cost of $136,320. The district has two school buildings, but still insufficient class room. The voters were persuaded by opposition arguments that additions to present buildings might be constructed more cheaply than a new school.

Ambassador Bliss at Buenos Aires.

BUENOS AIRES, July 22 (AP).—Ambassador and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss arrived from Europe tonight aboard the liner Alcantara. They were greeted by representatives of the diplomatic corps and the Argentine Government, and prominent members of the American and British communities.

FISH QUERIES RIGHTS OF AMTORG CHIEFS

[Sessi]on recess the committee held an executive meeting at which the citing of Mr. Bogdanov for contempt was discussed. Any such action was rendered superfluous, however, when upon the opening of the afternoon session Mr. Bogdanov, through Louis Connick, his attorney, announced his readiness to comply with the committee's wishes.

Previous to this clash Mr. Bogdanov ran afoul of the committee when he declined to take the oath, asserting that he was not a believer and preferred to affirm. Fully a half hour was spent in a dispute between Mr. Bogdanov and Representatives Nelson and Bachman. It ended only when Mr. Bogdanov insisted that "the mention of God in the formula of the oath would mean no added compulsion to tell the truth."

Repeatedly Mr. Connick, a member of the law firm of Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett of 120 Broadway, had to intercede for Mr. Bogdanov and Mr. Ohsol as the committee grew increasingly impatient with what members characterized as their deliberate evasiveness.

Both Amtorg witnesses were unable to answer what the committee regarded as simple questions dealing with the personnel and methods of the Amtorg or with matters concerning Soviet Russia and the Communist party. Mr. Ohsol said he did not know who Stalin was, saying all he knew about him was hearsay.

Attacks Bogdanov Visa.

Mr. Fish expressed astonishment at the fact that the State Department had permitted Mr. Bogdanov to enter this country in view of his connection with the Communist party since 1917 and with Bolshevik activities since 1905. Mr. Bogdanov's reply was that the State Department was fully aware of his career, which he did not attempt to deny, when he received a visa to come to this country to join the Amtorg organization. He told the committee that like all Soviet representatives coming to the United States for business purposes he resigned from the Communist party before applying for a visa. Those submitting such resignations, he explained, are permitted to rejoin the party on their return to Moscow. The explanation provoked smiles from the committee.

Mr. Fish brought out the fact that with one exception all the heads of the Amtorg since its organization in 1924 were prominent Communists, holding high positions in the party or in the Politbureau, the supreme body of Russian communism which rules both the Soviet Government and the Communist International.

So far as the Amtorg is concerned, prolonged and frequently circuitous interrogation of Mr. Bogdanov and Mr. Ohsol brought out the fact that the Amtorg, although organized as a private corporation under American laws, is owned and controlled in Moscow and accepts the authority of the Soviet Government.

Mr. Bogdanov made several efforts to explain that while in the final analysis the Amtorg is owned in Moscow, with himself merely the trustee of its stock in this country, its business was entirely with economic agencies and departments of the Soviet Government and that it was a purely commercial organization. Like Mr. Ohsol he denied that any of the officials or employes of the Amtorg engaged in political propaganda in this country. A prepared statement which he had come to read into the record was held in abeyance by the committee until today, because of the insistence of Mr. Fish and members of the committee on examining him in their own way.

Calls Whalen Papers Forgeries.

In the portion of the statement which Mr. Bogdanov managed to reveal he charged that the documents made public by former Police Commissioner Whalen purporting to show that the Amtorg was a link between Moscow and American Communists were "evident forgeries." Mr. Bogdanov said he was prepared to offer copious evidence to prove his contention and to show that the documents were filled with inaccuracies and falsehood. Mr. Nelson objected to certain portions of Mr. Bogdanov's statements, particularly the charge that the "Whalen documents" were concocted by Russian monarchists residing in this country.

Asserting that the authenticity of the documents was not the main subject before the committee but that Mr. Bogdanov would have an opportunity to prove his case, members of the committee pursued an independent line of questioning which at many points converged on features of the Whalen papers. This was particularly true when in questions to Mr. Bogdanov and Mr. Ohsol they demanded to know who certain persons mentioned in the documents were.

Seeks to Trace Amtorg Funds.

More than an hour was devoted by Mr. Nelson and Representative Bachman to an effort to elicit information from Mr. Ohsol as to the purposes to which certain incomes of the Amtorg were diverted. The committee's implication clearly was that the purposes were not of a commercial nature.

Mr. Ohsol admitted that the Amtorg made a profit of $50,000 on its Commercial Year Book, that it made money on a certain technical magazine published by it, that until recently it ran a book store in Liberty Street and that there was a health insurance scheme for employes operated by the Amtorg, the cost of which was assessed on the employes at the rate of 1½ per cent of their salaries. The premiums, he said, are paid in lump sum by the Amtorg and then deducted from the pay envelopes. Mr. Ohsol could not explain to the satisfaction of the committee any of these projects. He was particularly ignorant, to the manifest exasperation of Mr. Nelson and other members of the committee, as to who controls the insurance funds, through whose hands the money passes and to whom it is paid.

Speaking for the committee, Mr. Nelson said it was determined to run down these sources of income and to trace their control and the ultimate destination of their profits.

Denies Knowledge of Ogpu.

In this connection many questions were addressed to Mr. Ohsol by Mr. Fish, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Bachman concerning one Gordon, mentioned as chief of the Ogpu in America, Grafpen, manager of a department in the Amtorg, and "Comrade Liza," the lady in the "Whalen documents" who is supposed to handle propaganda moneys alleged to be supplied by the Amtorg to American Communists. Mr. Ohsol, while admitting he knew Grafpen as an employe of the Amtorg, pleaded complete ignorance of Gordon. Furthermore, he said he did not know what the Ogpu was, admitting some knowledge of it, however, when his attention was called to the fact that having made several admitted visits to Soviet Russia in recent years it was remarkable that he had no knowledge of the Ogpu and its functions.

Traces History of Amtorg.

In explaining the history of the Amtorg, of which he was one of the founders, Mr. Ohsol revealed that it was preceded by Arcos-America, which, he said, was owned by Arcos, Ltd., London.

"Were not the officers of Arcos, Ltd., raided by the British police, who found many incriminating documents, and did not the raid lead to a break of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia by England?" demanded Representative Nelson.

Mr. Ohsol made no effort to deny this fact.

At this point members of the committee wanted to know the extent of commercial credits received by the Amtorg in the United States since its foundation. Mr. Bogdanov estimated the amount at $80,000,000.

Addressing himself to Mr. Ohsol, Mr. Nelson asked:

"Do you know any other customers who have been extended credit and who believe in abolition by force of the capitalist system?"

"The Amtorg Trading Corporation has not suggested the overthrow of any government or the use of force," Mr. Ohsol replied, supporting a previous statement by Mr. Bogdanov, who asserted the faith of Communists in "the eventual supplanting of capitalism by Socialism."

"Yes," continued Mr. Nelson. "The Amtorg does not urge force, but the government that owns the Amtorg does."

The examination then turned to characters mentioned in the Whalen documents.

Claiming ignorance of Fedorov, the man who in the Whalen papers figured as the Communist official in Moscow issuing orders to Grafpen, for Communist propaganda in the United States, Mr. Ohsol likewise disclaimed any knowledge of the "Comrade Liza." The committee was particularly interested in this woman. The entire line of questioning here suggested the old game "cherchez la femme."

"Who was or who is Comrade Liza? Was there such a person?" asked Mr. Nelson.

"I don't know," replied Mr. Ohsol laconically.

"Isn't Comrade Liza here in New York now?" Mr. Nelson demanded.

"I don't know," Mr. Ohsol repeated.

"Do the directors of your corporation have anything to do except take orders. Do you have any responsibilities whatever?" Mr. Nelson pressed.

"Oh, yes," Mr. Ohsol declared.

"How is it then that you as a vice president and board member of the Amtorg know nothing of your book store and of your catalogue? Is not this monumental ignorance?" Mr. Nelson continued.

"Yes, we made some money on the catalogue, about $50,000," Mr. Ohsol finally admitted.

Mr. Nelson wanted to know next about a man named Garin, connected with the Amtorg. The witness admitted there was such an employe. The next question was about an employe named Vasilliev. Mr. Ohsol said there were two or three employes of that name.

"Don't you know," thundered Mr. Nelson, "that a man named Vasilliev was accredited and sent to you some time ago?"

"Well, you assume these (Whalen) documents are genuine?"

"I am not talking about these documents," snapped Mr. Nelson.

"Yes, one Vasilliev arrived last February or March," Mr. Ohsol admitted, admitting also the arrival of a man named Petrov, in whom the committee seemed to have a special interest.

"Don't you personally know these men?" Mr. Nelson asked.

"I know only those with whom I came in contact," Mr. Ohsol pleaded. "Petrov did not report to me personally."

Mr. Ohsol appeared to know nothing about a man named Sharkov, the next name mentioned by Mr. Nelson. Mr. Connick jumped into the breach and admitted such a man arrived on the Bremen on Jan. 23. He offered to supply the committee with a full list of Amtorg arrivals for the years 1929-30, numbering nearly 1,000 names.

Returning to the mysterious "Comrade Liza," Chairman Fish wanted to know if Mr. Ohsol knew Liza Weiman.

"I don't know her," Mr. Ohsol insisted.

"Do you know Liza Weinstein?"

"I don't know her," said Mr. Ohsol. "I don't know all the employes of the Amtorg. I never heard of her."

Mr. Ohsol, who while now an American citizen, is a veteran of the Bolshevist movement, pleaded also he knew nothing of Bessedowsky, the former Soviet Chargé d'Affaires in Paris, who recently broke with the Soviet Government and exposed, among other things, the alleged participation of the Amtorg in Communist activity in this country.

"I only know Bessedowsky from what I have read of him in the papers," Ohsol claimed.

"Do you know Stalin?" asked Mr. Fish.

"Yes, I have read of him in the newspapers, but that's all."

"Do you think there might be such a person as Bessedowsky?"

"Yes, there might be."

"You're willing to admit such a person exists?"

"Yes."

After the name of Skvirsky had been mentioned by Mr. Fish and identified by the witness as that of the head of the Soviet Information Bureau in Washington, implicated in the Whalen documents, the interrogation turned to Gordon, alleged by Bessedowsky to be the head of the Soviet "Cheka" in the United States. Mr. Ohsol pleaded complete ignorance. He denied he knew anything of Gordon or that he ever represented the Ogpu in this country.

"There isn't a man in this room who does not know that Mr. Gordon went away from the United States when this investigation was started," shouted Mr. Fish.

Mr. Bogdanov explained that while Gordon did leave six weeks ago, he is to return to the United States shortly. He characterized Gordon as head of the Amtorg art department.

His memory refreshed by Mr. Bogdanov's admission, Mr. Ohsol finally recalled that there was a Gordon in the Amtorg but pleaded he did not tell him he was going away.

Silent on Insurance Scheme.

Taking up the question of the Amtorg insurance scheme, Mr. Nelson asked Mr. Ohsol who handled the insurance funds. Again Mr. Ohsol pleaded ignorance.

"And you, a trustee of your corporation, say you don't know who gets this money, which must be quite large?" Mr. Nelson queried.

"At the present time I cannot say who the man is or who the committee may be to whom the money is being paid," Ohsol declared.

"And you never saw Liza Weinstein?" Mr. Nelson asked.

"I have never seen her."

At the conclusion of the testimony Mr. Bogdanov, through counsel, agreed to produce today several other Amtorg witnesses desired by the committee. These include Mr. Zavkin, the manager; Grafpen, Delgass, at one time closely associated with Djersinsky, late head of the Cheka in Russia, and a man named Makadz, who, Mr. Bogdanov said, handles the Amtorg insurance fund.

FISH ON RADIO SCORES REDS.

Representative Promises Federal Curb on "Vicious Propaganda Here."

The Communist party in the United States "is merely a section of the Third International, with headquarters at Moscow, where all important orders are formulated and issued and are instantly and implicitly obeyed and put into effect by the Communists in the United States," according to Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., chairman of the special committee to investigate Communist propaganda in this country.

In an address over Station WABC at 6:30 o'clock last night, Representative Fish said in part:

"The United States has, very properly, not recognized Soviet Russia, nor will it do so as long as the Third International, the creatureof Lenin, with its headquarters in Moscow, continues to incite sabotage, class hatred and revolutionary activities in the United States.

"There can be no possible basis of compromise between our republican form of government and communism. There is an irrepressible conflict between Americanism and communism. No Communist can be a loyal American citizen. He cannot give allegiance to the Red flag and to the American flag at the same time. Communism seeks to destroy American democracy and all forms of private property.

"There is no room in the United States for any Communist, or for any person affiliated with the Third International. If they do not like our form of government, let them depart or return to Russia where they can enjoy the fruits of communism and the low-wage scale and deplorable living conditions, and learn to appreciate the difference between the blessings of a government based on justice and humanity and such a one as Soviet Russia, based on terror and the most brutal despotism ever instituted among men."

Representative Fish said that when the committee began its hearings he was under the impression that only half of the Communists in this country were aliens, but that he is now convinced 80 per cent of them are aliens, most of whom come from Russia. He estimated that 15 per cent are naturalized citizens and that less than 5 per cent are native born Americans, including Negroes. He said a large proportion of the Negro Communists come from the West Indies. He added that the Federal Government will not tolerate the Communists' "vicious propaganda."

ASSAILS CITY REPUBLICANS.

Stalker Says Their Wet Plank Will Alienate Party Up-State.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—If the Republican Party in New York State commits political suicide by adopting a wet plank at its convention in Albany in September it will be the fault of New York City delegates, the Chemung County Republican Women's organization here was told today by Representative Gale H. Stalker of Elmira, co-author of the five-and-ten prohibition law.

The mission of these New York City delegates, he said, was to write the wet plank.

"Unfortunately, they are sufficiently numerous to do it," he added. "But these same people are unable to deliver any Republican votes at election time. The wet plank will alienate up-State Republicans, without whose hearty cooperation the Republican ticket is lost before the campaign starts

"If the Republican ticket is elected, it will be due to the efforts and votes of up-State Republicans. Therefore, they should write the platform. As matters now stand, the delegates from New York City are a liability and excess baggage."

BANK SUED FOR $3,000,000.

National City Asked to Make Good Stock Seized by Soviet.

Papers in a suit for more than $3,000,000 against the National City Bank were filed in the Supreme Court yesterday when the bank applied for a commission to take testimony in Pasadena, Cal., of Roble R. Stevens, former manager of its branch at Petrograd, in defense of the action by Joseph Marie Jean de Bary on an assigned claim of Gregoire Lessine. The plaintiff alleges that in July, 1917, Lessine got a loan for $250,000 from the bank and deposited stocks worth $3,500,000 in its Petrograd branch as security. The Soviet Government seized the security before the loan was paid and the bank then became liable, it is alleged.

The bank contends that it is not liable for securities alleged to be worth fourteen times the amount of the loan, and that the action is also barred by the statute of limitations. Mr. Stevens is compelled to remain in California because of ill health, is now slowly recovering from an operation, and unless the testimony is taken now the bank may be unable to obtain it, the petition alleged.

DAILY ROUGHAGE IS AN ESSENTIAL IN ANY DIET

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation. Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied. Be sure to include it in reducing diets as a preventive for both constipation and anemia.

There are so many ways you can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and enjoy it. In any form, it is appetizing. It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals and soups and notice the added flavor. Many people soak it in fruit juices. Excellent in cooked foods. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. It is served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Ask for it! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MISS DIANA DODGE.

Niece of Lady Isabella Howard to Wed Italian Veteran, Butler in British Embassy

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The engagement of Miss Gytha Stourton, niece of Lady Isabella Howard, wife of the former Ambassador to the United States, to Fiorabanti del Agnese, technically known as the butler of the British Embassy, was learned tonight.

Miss Stourton accompanied her aunt to the United States and served as social secretary at the Embassy during Sir Esme Howard's occupancy, while at the same time occupying the position of a member of the family.

The prospective bridegroom is said to speak several languages, and to have had a notable war record in the Italian army.

He became acquainted with Sir Esme and Lady Isabella while the former was Ambassador to Italy, and because his circumstances were reduced by the war, came here in the technical capacity of butler, a post he still holds under Sir Donald Lindsay.

The engagement has been discussed for a long time by friends of the Howard family, it was said tonight. Apparently no objection to the romance was made by Miss Stourton's family.

Lady Isabella Howard is herself of Italian blood. She was Lady Isabella Giustiniana-Bandini, daughter of Prince Giustiniani-Bandini, who holds the Scottish title of Earl of Newburgh.

MISS MARIE BRENNIG OPENS BRIDE'S SHOP

Many Well-Wishers Attend the Official Opening of 'The Wedding Embassy.'

Miss Marie Coudert Brennig, the latest of the younger members of society to venture into the business world, yesterday afternoon officially opened "The Wedding Embassy," at 32 East Fifty-seventh Street, a new service for the assistance of prospective brides. Miss Brennig, in managing her own business, will rely on the experience she gained for several years as "bridal secretary" for two Fifth Avenue stores.

The service will assist future brides in all details pertinent to a wedding. The Embassy, situated on the tenth floor of the building, occupies an attractive suite of rooms, which yesterday were thronged with members of Miss Brennig's family, friends and well-wishers. The walls of the foyer are hung with photographs of brides whose gowns received the attention of Miss Brennig in her former position, while the salon, furnished in harmonious shades of silver-gray, maroon and dark green, will be used as a reception room.

The young manager of the service expects to have the assistance of several members of the Junior League during the Autumn and Winter. They will aid Miss Brennig in such matters as the issuance of wedding invitations, arranging for the church and its decorations, advising brides-to-be as to proper types of gowns for herself and the wedding attendants, and data on wedding trip itineraries.

Ex-Minister of Education for Prussia Plans Visit in Fall.

Dr. Carl Becker, Prussian Minister of Education from 1921 until recently, will visit the United States for a lecture tour this Fall, it was announced yesterday by the Institute of International Education. At the same time Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of that organization, praised Dr. Becker for his educational reforms in Germany.

"His success is absolute refutation of the often expressed opinion that educational reform is impossible because of political interference," he said. "Of great interest to American educators was his bringing professors and students closer together in the universities. The free and easy contact that exists between our professors and students that has led to so much intellectual stimulus was unknown."

Thurston Scatters Three Hits to Win, 1-0—Brooklyn Tops Cubs by 4 Points.

HALLAHAN BEATEN IN DUEL

Bressler Drives Home Only Run in the Third—Error by Frisch Proves Costly.

TWO SAFETIES FOR HAFEY

Watkins Reaches Thurston for Other St. Louis Hit—Wright Makes Day's Feature Play.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Hollis Thurston, the slow-motion right-hander from the Pacific Coast, came very near joining the band of Flatbush immortals at Ebbets Field yesterday when he held the clouting Cardinals to three scattered hits, shut them out, 1 to 0, and, aided by the Giants' victory over the Cubs in the second game, put the Robins back in first place by that familiar margin of 4 points.

Thurston's pitching performance must take rank alongside of Dazzy Vance's three-hit shut-out of the Braves on July 9 and immediately behind Watson Clark's one-hit masterpiece against the Pirates on July 15. The former Coast hurler, who has enjoyed much of Uncle Wilbert Robinson's confidence as a pinch hitter but scarcely any of the Brooklyn pilot's trust as a pitcher, rather happily surprised his manager all around yesterday.

As a hitter Thurston was a complete failure, going down three times on strike-outs before the speedy curves of Lefty Bill Hallahan, whose work was scarcely less admirable than that of the victorious pitcher. But Thurston's work on the hill was above reproach.

Run Traceable to Error.

The one run scored off Hallahan was directly traceable to an error charged to the brilliant Frankie Frisch on a hard chance in the third inning. Frisch let Frederick's smash get away from him long enough for the Robin centre gardener to reach first safely. Then Wally Gilbert, whose first-inning double had gone to waste, slashed a clean single to right to put Robins on first and second with one out.

Herman forced Gilbert and then made a clever theft of second. Rube Bressler scored Frederick with a rather scratchy single to right. For once Frisch's habit of playing far back on the grass, from where he has robbed Brooklyn batsmen of hits several times, was a handicap. Frisch couldn't come in fast enough to get Bressler's bounder, and the lone tally proved sufficient for victory.

Thereafter the Robins had only one scoring opportunity, which Hallahan's good pitching nullified. In the fourth Glenn Wright opened with a lucky double, a long fly that hit just inside the foul line against the right-field wall. Hallahan disposed of Eddie Moore, playing in place of Finn; walked Lopez and fanned Thurston. Frederick then came through with an infield single to Orsatti and Wright reached third, but perished there when Gilbert broke his hitting streak by lining to Hafey.

Watkins Singles in Ninth.

No more than four men faced Thurston in any inning, and in five of them only three batsmen had a turn. Hafey accounted for two of the hits, one a double in the second and the other a well-placed bunt in the fourth, and Watkins got the third safety when he singled in the ninth after two were out. Frisch then completed his hitless day with a high pop to Wright to end the game.

Disaster threatened slightly at the opening of the eighth, when Bissonette booted Orsatti's grounder, but here Wright came to Thurston's rescue with the most brilliant play of the game. Mancuso lashed the ball just to the left of second and Wright rushed over to gather up the ball, kick the bag in full flight, and line the ball to Bissonette to complete the double play.

The weather, more fitting for higher scoring than the previous sweltering afternoon, and also more inviting for the spectators, was a failure in both cases. Not more than 4,000 were present, and the crowd would have looked pretty slim had it not been for the presence of nearly 3,000 Boy Scouts in the open seats in left field.

Heimach Likely to Pitch.

Freddy Heimach, rotund southpaw, just acquired from Toledo, who sat on the bench yesterday in a Robin uniform, probably will go right to work in the final game against the Cards this afternoon.

Jim Bottomley, whose response as a pinch hitter against Clark Monday was to drive the first pitch over the right-field wall, stood yesterday and watched Thurston send a slow curve across for a called third strike.

COLLINS OF PHILS SUBDUES PIRATES

Drives Two Home Runs and Shines on Mound—Pittsburgh Is Beaten by 11 to 5.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP).—Phil Collins pitched and batted the Phils to a 11-to-5 triumph over the Pirates today.

The ace of Shotton's hurling staff hit successive home runs in the fourth and fifth innings. The first came with one man on and the second with the bases empty. The twirler also had a single and accounted for four of his team's runs. The Pirates could do nothing with his delivery until the closing innings, when he had the victory well in hand.

Pinky Whitney hit a home run inside the park in the sixth frame, the first time the trick has been turned in some years. Four pitchers performed for the Pirates. French, who started, was pounded heavily and was forced to retire in the fourth inning.

LEAFS AND ROYALS DIVIDE.

Montreal Wins First, 7-4, but Loses Second, 6-4.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The Toronto Leafs and Montreal Royals divided a double-header today to open their four-game engagement. The Royals batted Prudhomme and Graham lustily to take the opener, 7 to 4, while a single by Sheedy, Richardson's sacrifice, Rabbitt's safety and Joe Harris's sacrifice fly gave the Leafs two runs in the seventh and they won the nightcap, 6 to 4.

Johnny Prudhomme tore a cartilage in his knee in the first game when he collided with Ripple on the first base line in the fifth inning and will be out of the game for some days.

20,000 SEE GIANTS DIVIDE WITH CUBS

Chicago's Ninth-Inning Rally Off Donohue Accounts for 5-4 Triumph in First.

ALLEN'S HOMER MARKS 2D

Blow With 3 on Helps in McGrawmen's 6-1 Victory—Deluge Halts Contest in Seventh.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

The fortunes of war frowned and then smiled on the Giants yesterday. To the annoyance of some 20,000 onlookers, the Chicagoans wrenched the first game of the double-header away from the New Yorkers, 5 to 4, accomplishing the feat by rushing Master Peter Donohue for two runs in the ninth, which nullified completely the effects of a solitary home run which Frank Hogan walloped in the last half of the same round.

This done, the Giants then turned about, hammered Bud Teachout for five runs in the third inning of the second game, and further experienced the good fortune of seeing an impending rainstorm withhold its wrath until the affair had gone a sufficient length of time to be recorded in the records as a 6-to-1 victory.

Deluge Ends the Contest.

The second engagement terminated in the seventh after the three arbiters, Messrs. Scott, Moran and Reardon, unable to determine whether it was too dark to continue playing, had the matter settled for them by a deluge that enveloped all three at the plate and sent everybody else scurrying to cover.

As for the game itself, most of the interest had passed out with the third, when the Giants, feeling somewhat nettled at the manner in which the left-handed Teachout had rushed to the mound in the ninth inning of the previous game to stem a futile McGraw rally, retaliated with considerable fury. Four singles drove in one run and filled the bases, and Ethan Allen emptied them with a homer into the left-field stand.

That five-run margin made it a comparatively simple matter for Willie Walker to hold the Cubs in check until the arbiters, forcibly prompted by the elements, declared an armistice until today.

Game Starts as Pitching Duel.

The opener unfolded as something of a blistering pitching duel between Charlie Root and Pete Donohue, in which both hurlers went down in the ninth, though Pete just a shade harder than his adversary. With the score tied at 3-all Donohue had retired the first two Cubs in the ninth and seemed to have the deadlock well in hand when Cuyler, Wilson, Danny Taylor and Grimm lashed him for four successive singles that accounted for two tallies.

The Giants in their half of the ninth strove desperately to repair the damage. The opening shot was a homer by Hogan against the upper right tier. Then, after Pinch Hitters O'Farrell and Allen had been retired, Pinch Hitter Reese singled and so did Critz. But here Teachout replaced Root and swiftly expunged Leach himself.

DETROIT, July 22 (AP).—George Uhle came to the plate as a pinch batter in the eighth inning today and delivered a single which scored two men and enabled the Detroit Tigers to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5.

Lefty Grove, who relieved Bill Shores in the seventh, was charged with the defeat, his first at the hands of the Tigers out of five games this season. It also was his fourth defeat of the year. Sorrell, Hogsett and Hoyt did mound duty for the Tigers. Hogsett was the winning pitcher.

The game was featured by heavy hitting, with ten two-baggers recorded. Hayworth and McManus each got two.

EXPLAINS ALEXANDER CASE.

Dallas Manager Says Club Won't Give Veteran Another Chance.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 22 (AP).—When Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran of many major league campaigns, and more recently cast off by Dallas after repeated infractions of training rules, failed to appear today, Bob Tarleton, manager, declared the Dallas club was definitely through with Old Pete.

Alexander, following his outright release in Dallas yesterday, was quoted as saying he would follow Tarleton to Houston for another conference.

"Alexander was handed his release and his salary check by an official of the Dallas Club," said Tarleton. "I gave him another chance after he promised to mend his ways, but he was not in shape last Sunday when he was scheduled to pitch. He threw seven balls, not one of which was even close to the plate."

COFFMAN, BROWNS, UPSETS SENATORS

Hurls Brilliantly as St. Louis Gains 3-1 Decision for 3d Victory of Series.

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns, only team in the American League to have won more games than it has lost from the Senators this season, today handed the second place Washington club its third straight defeat of the series, 3 to 1.

It was the second consecutive day the Browns managed to shove across a victory, although they were outhit, the Senators making nine safeties to seven for St. Louis. Coffman, opposed by Jones and Burke, hurled brilliantly throughout.

By winning today the Browns advanced to sixth place, exchanging places with the White Sox.

TIMELY HITS BRING THE RED SOX VICTORY

Three Safeties and an Error Enable Boston to Conquer White Sox by 4 to 3.

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—Three timely hits and an error by Bill Cissell with a double play in sight cost the White Sox a ball game today, the Boston Red Sox triumphing by 4 to 3.

Dutch Henry almost scored his third victory of the season when the little roller came to Cissell and went through his legs. A double play would have sent Boston to the field again with the score tied.

In the semi-final, which is also scheduled for ten rounds, Lew Paluso will meet Joe Trabon, appearing in place of Sammy Dorfman. A six-rounder, two five-round battles and a four-round bout complete the program.

INDIANS TAKE TWO FROM THE YANKEES

Triumph in Opener by 6 to 5, Sending Two Runs Across in the Ninth Inning.

AVERILL'S HOMER DECIDES

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.—The Yankees lost the first game of their double-header with the Indians in the ninth inning by 6 to 5 today, after holding the upper hand from the second inning up until the very brink of victory. Then they struggled uphill in the late innings of the second game, finally tying the score, 8 to 8, in their half of the eighth inning.

But that game went the same way as No. 1. Earl Averill's homer with a man on base in Cleveland's half of the eighth smashed the tie before it had time to solidify. The final score was thereby 10 to 8, and the Yanks, instead of gaining on Philadelphia and Washington, lost ground even though both the Mackmen and Senators were beaten.

Among the 18,000 present there were some 500 pilgrims from Brookville, Pa., the home town of Manager Bob Shawkey. They presented a floral horseshoe to their former local boy at the start of the program. For the Brookville delegation the afternoon's depths were reached in the second game's seventh inning, when Shawkey was ordered off the field by Umpire Campbell for sustaining a protest made by Coach O'Leary on a strike called on Lazzeri by Umpire McGowan. McGowan put O'Leary out.

Pitching Better Than Fielding.

There was little to choose between the grade of pitching and fielding of the two teams. The pitching for both sides was better than the fielding. The Indians earned their double victory by mixing more hard hits into the melange of misplays. The Yanks suffered at several points by having their line drives captured by Cleveland fielders.

Averill's two homers, the only home runs of the afternoon, were the deciding factors in the second game. His drive over the screen in the fifth was the finishing touch to Charlie Ruffing's term of office on the pitching mound. After the Yanks had tied the score in the eighth on a double steal, with Chapman sliding spectacularly across the plate on the catcher's throw to second, the same Chapman made a two-base wild throw on the first play in Cleveland's half of the inning.

Then Averill, for the second time in the game, sent the ball sailing across the right-field screen, and that ended the run-making for the day.

The Yanks could not hit Willis Hudlin at all in the first game, but the Indians bunched four errors in the first four innings, and the Yanks, without any tremendous efforts on their own part, held a 5-0 lead in the fourth.

Walks Three in Row.

Henry Johnson, after retiring the Tribe in order in the first three innings, walked the first three Indians at bat in the fourth. He then fanned Hodapp, but singles by Averill and Sewell sent home the three Indians who got on the bases on passes. Pipgras replaced Johnson, and a muff by Lazzeri allowed the fourth Indian run to score.

Then Pipgras matched Hudlin in a scoreless pitching duel all the way to the ninth, the 5-4 lead of the Yanks holding good until Myatt doubled off the right-field fence, took third on Chapman's wild throw and scored on Seeds's single. Jamieson won the game by tapping a pop fly back of third which Chapman could not reach.

Argentina Beats Chile, 3-1, In World's Title Soccer Play

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 22 (AP).—Argentina defeated Chile, 3 to 1, in a match in the international championship soccer football tournament today.

The United States team, because of its splendid showing in the tourney, is favored to carry off the world's championship.

POLO STARS PLAY TEST MATCH TODAY

The second test match in the formal series designed to select the American polo four, which will defend against Great Britain in the International Cup matches, will be played on the field of the Piping Rock Club, Locust Valley, L. I., starting at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

According to the line-ups announced by the defense committee of the United States Polo Association, five of the players who rode through the first official test match at Sands Point last Sunday will see action in today's match.

Those who will make their first appearance in the official test series are Thomas Hitchcock Jr., leader of the American defense forces, who expects to get into action today; George H. (Pete) Bostwick and J. C. Rathborne.

Sanford Is Replaced.

The trio will replace Stephen Sanford, H. E. Talbott Jr. and E. W. Hopping, all of whom participated in last Sunday's match in which the Whites, composed of Sanford, Elmer Boeseke Jr., Eric Pedley and E. A. S. Hopping, defeated the Reds, 13 to 9.

Winston Guest, who played at back for the Reds on Sunday, will be in the same position on Hitchcock's Whites today. At No. 1 will be Bostwick, at No. 2 will be E. A. S. Hopping, who played back with the Whites on Sunday, and at No. 3 will be Hitchcock.

Incidentally, Hitchcock and Guest will be playing together on the same team in important competition for the first time since the two were on the American team that defeated the Argentines in 1928.

Pedley to Play at No. 1.

Eric Pedley, the Californian who played well at No. 3 for the Whites on Sunday, will be seen at No. 1 on the Red team today. Boeseke will be at No. 2, Stewart Iglehart at No. 3 and Rathborne at back. Iglehart is the only player who will be a member of the same team and fill the same position as he did in the first test match.

If Hitchcock participates in today's match, the White team will total 32 goals as compared to the Reds' 29. However, if the American captain decides to rest another day rather than take a chance on aggravating the injury to his side, there will be further rearrangement of the line-ups.

The probable line-up:

Whites.	Reds.
1—G. H. (Pete) Bostwick	1—Eric Pedley
2—E. A. S. Hopping	2—Elmer Boeseke Jr.
3—Thos. Hitchcock Jr.	3—Stewart Iglehart
Back—Winston Guest	Back—J. C. Rathborne

CARNERA STATUS EXPLAINED

Immigration Officials Say Reconsideration of Ban Is Possible.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Labor Department officials looked over the record in the case of Primo Carnera today and said they saw no more reason for giving the gigantic prizefighter any more time in this country. The six months allowed the boxer has expired.

Officials said, however, that if Carnera or his manager, Leon See, cared to introduce further evidence a reconsideration might be given to him. If this is asked by Carnera's representatives it might serve at least to delay his departure and would, if successful, give him six months more to continue his prize-ring appearances.

RAIN ENDS CONTEST WITH ARMY IN LEAD

CAPT. WILKINSON IS STAR

Sends Ball Through Uprights Five Times at Rumson—Expect to Complete Game Friday.

By VERNON VAN NESS.

Special to The New York Times.

RUMSON, N. J., July 22.—A terrific windstorm, vividly punctuated by flashes of lightning and followed by a deluge of rain, brought to an end the semi-final match between the Army four and the Greentree riders in the national junior polo championship on the field of the Rumson Country Club today.

The halt was called as the fifth period ended and Army held a margin of 9 goals to 5. In the last five minutes of the fifth period the players fought it out in a downpour of rain and in semi-darkness. The three remaining periods will be played probably on Friday and the winner will go into the final with the Whippany River team on Saturday.

While the match lasted it was the most exciting and best played of the tournament. Army rode wildly, led by Lieutenant McDonald Jones and Captain C. A. Wilkinson. Wilkinson proved most troublesome to the Greentree combination and five times he drove the ball between the uprights. Jones did most of the feeding up, playing perfectly to get the ball within range for Wilkinson to make his accurate drives. On the defense Lieutenant H. W. Kiefer broke up play after play and was a big help in organizing combination operations with Jones and Wilkinson.

Against this fast-riding trio, swiftly mounted and out to fight its way into the final, Greentree marshaled a nineteen-goal team, with the veteran Jimmy Cooley leading the forces brilliantly. Cooley broke up at least half a dozen offensive movements by the Army, thrice turning the Army flank near the latter's goal, and on the Greentree offensive opening each attack that led to a goal. Stewart Iglehart, playing at No. 3, having been called into the match because of the absence of Pete Bostwick, scored four of the Greentree goals and rode hard on the ball in passing combinations initiated by Cooley and Jock Whitney.

The first round of the Herbert Memorial Cup tournament is scheduled to begin tomorrow with the Old Oaks meeting the Elkwoods. Barring more rain, which seems likely, the field may be in condition for play. In case play is not possible a revision of the draw for this series will be made tomorrow.

The line-up:

U. S. Army (9).	Greentree (5).
1—Lieut. McD. Jones.	1—J. H. Whitney.
2—Capt. C. Wilkinson	2—J. C. Cooley.

MISS WILLIAMS ADVANCES

Eastern Champion Beats Mrs. Martelle—Mrs. Federman and Miss Parker Also Score.

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., July 22.—Those who still cling to the belief that a medalist never fares well in match play once more seemed justified after the results of the opening round of the women's Westchester Country Club invitation golf tourney today, for Mrs. Thomas Hucknall of Woodway, who led the qualifiers yesterday, lost in a match that went twenty holes.

The Connecticut champion lost in the first round's chief reversal to Mrs. V. N. Bieg of Merion, Mrs. Ronald Barlow's daughter, after being 2 up at the fourteenth. The Philadelphia player waged an uphill fight most of the way, for at the very outset Mrs. Hucknall captured the first three holes in succession.

With a number of shots off line, however, Mrs. Hucknall found considerable trouble in the rough and traps over the next four holes of the west course, where the championship was played today, and lost all four. She was still 1 down at the turn.

A rally that carried her almost to victory accounted for the tenth and eleventh, which squared the match, and then Mrs. Hucknall also added the thirteenth and fourteenth after failing to get a half at the twelfth by being stymied. Mrs. Hucknall was trapped on her drive at the fifteenth, which cost her that hole since Mrs. Bieg holed a par 3, and a 5 at the sixteenth due to another pushed drive resulted in the Connecticut champion's loss of the lead.

Mrs. Bieg Escapes Defeat.

All even after the eighteenth, Mrs. Bieg saved herself from defeat at the nineteenth by an excellent iron shot from the rough which enabled her to get a 4. At the twentieth Mrs. Hucknall's 200-yard drive landed in a bunker and her ball fell back into the hazard again, as her second shot failed to clear the overhanging grass. This cost her the match, as Mrs. Bieg was on the green in 3 for a winning 5.

Mrs. Barlow, former Philadelphia champion, also was among the winners, scoring by 6 and 4 against Mrs. Madeline Chandler of Salisbury.

The match that produced the best golf, however, was the one between Miss Frances Williams, the Eastern champion, and Mrs. H. A. Martelle of Hartford. Miss Williams triumphed, 2 and 1, after they were even at the thirteenth, and she had an approximate 83 to Mrs. Martelle's 84, considered excellent golf over this course. Two hooked shots that hit trees were damaging to Mrs. Martelle's chances, for she dropped two holes thereby, the thirteenth and sixteenth, giving Miss Williams the winning margin.

Mrs. Dodge Is Defeated.

Miss Martha Parker, metropolitan titleholder, also advanced, defeating Mrs. H. C. Dodge of Westchester, 4 and 3, while Mrs. John Lapham of Woodway eliminated Miss Jane Broadwell of the home club, 5 and 4. Mrs. Leo Federman, Long Island champion, was among the other victors, disposing of Mrs. Lowell Palmer of Pomonok, 6 and 4.

Plays 170 Holes in 15 Hours At Sound Beach on Hottest Day

Special to The New York Times.

SOUND BEACH, Conn., July 22.—T. Ward Ritchie, ranger at the Sound Beach Golf and Country Club, established an endurance golf record yesterday that should stand for a considerable time. He shot 170 holes in 15 hours on the hottest day of the year.

Ritchie, who is 26 years old, began his performance at 4:30 A. M. He continued to make the rounds of the eighteen-hole course without stopping for rest or food. He lost ten pounds in weight during his performance.

Available information places the best previous continuous golf record at 162 holes.

JONES'S GOLF SHOTS SNAPPED BY CAMERA

Superspeed Device, Taking 3,200 Pictures a Second, Records Wizardry of Champion.

PLAN IS TO HELP TEACHING

P. G. A. Will Distribute the Photos—Vardon and Miss Wethered to Be Taken Also.

B The Associated Press.

ATLANTA, July 22.—A photographic study of the golfing wizardry of Bobby Jones, which one golf expert described as the "greatest forward step in golf teaching" ever made, has been completed with a superspeed camera taking 3,200 pictures a second.

Details of the study, made yesterday for the Professional Golfers Association of America at the East Lake Country Club, Bobby's home course, were revealed today. C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, inventor of television and broadcasting of motion pictures; George Sargent, former president of the P. G. A., and John W. Ogle, a cemera man, were in charge of the work.

The world's greatest golfer executed his strokes in actual shots while the camera, one of four of its kind in the world, roared wildly as its high speed mechanism recorded the strokes for posterity.

Demonstrates Practice Shots.

After the tests Jones demonstrated a few practice strokes on the fairway and ended the afternoon by dropping one 180-yard iron shot into the hole.

Sargent said there has been "too much guess work and tradition in the teaching of golf" and that this machine "is the only thing we have found that will show what actually takes place in a golfing stroke, in every detail. It is the purpose of the P. G. A. to make a complete set of shots by Bobby Jones, the greatest of the modern golfers; of Harry Vardon, greatest of the old masters of golf, and of Miss Joyce Wethered, greatest of women players." Sargent and Ogle will sail Aug. 5 for England to make pictures of Miss Wethered and Vardon.

"When these three sets are completed, carefully selected strokes will be printed for distribution among the members of the P. G. A. for their own study and guidance in the teaching of golf," Sargent added. "It is my firm conviction that these pictures will clear up for the first time, and for all time to come, the many disputed and misunderstood details and phases of the golfing stroke."

Noise Fails to Bother Jones.

The superspeed camera is operated by an automobile starter with two batteries attached, giving it eight horsepower. O. B. Keeler, golf writer, describing the tests, said, "the 200 feet of film shot through it in one second with a noise like the ripping up of 40,000 linen sheets. I told Bobby he never need do any flinching because of gallery noises, any more. He didn't seem to mind the fiendish racket at all."

Bobby, himself a graduate in mechanical engineering at the Georgia School of Technology, evinced intense interest.

EVANS, LEHMAN TIE IN WESTERN GOLF

Veteran in Great Comeback Has Total of 147 to Deadlock Fellow Chicagoan.

CLICKS OFF BRILLIANT 72

Tolley and Perkins Among Qualifiers in Amateur Play—Moller and Dunlap Fail.

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—Charles (Chick) Evans Jr., the Bobby Jones of yesteryear, came back for more golfing renown today by wedging into a tie with another Chicagoan, Johnny Lehman, in the fight for the Western amateur championship medal.

His clubs, on a strike almost regularly since 1923, when he won his twelfth and last golf crown of any reputation, clicked so brilliantly today that he carded a pretty 72, one over par, on the championship Beverly course, and pulled up from behind to tie Lehman with a total of 147 strokes.

But for a hooked shot into a trap on the final green, where he took one over par, he would have stood out in front alone tonight with the medal.

Evans's score was a celebrating gesture for his fortieth birthday anniversary, and, in his own words, it "made me feel like I was back in my game once again after a long lay-off."

Beverly, regarded as one of the hardest courses ever to see a championship, tamed contenders for the crown now worn by the youthful Don Moe of Portland, Ore., so thoroughly again today that an unusually high total of 158 strokes, sixteen over perfect figures, was good enough to qualify without a play-off.

Most of the Favorites Survive.

Ten more tied at 159, and even that was low enough for those with enough vitality left to win the three places left via the play-off route. Most of the favorites came through handily, however, including the two Britons, Cyril Tolley and T. Philip Perkins, who qualified with 152 and 154 totals, respectively.

Evans and Lehman won their medal tie by four strokes over Don Armstrong of Aurora, Ill., and Ira Couch, one of the best players in the Chicago district. Five strokes away, with 152 totals, came Tolley and a pair of Chicago stars, George Dawson and Ruddy Knepper, who, like Evans, is attempting a come-back.

Three others were deadlocked with 153s—Bob McCrary, the trans-Mississippi champion from Des Moines, Iowa; R. A. Conliff of Oklahoma City and Don Anderson of St. Louis, who staged a remarkable come-back today with a 73 to land among the leaders.

Perkins, like Tolley a former British amateur champion now residing in America, slumped to take a 79 today, which, added to his 75 of yesterday, gave him a 154 score. Keefe Carter of Oklahoma City, former champion, just barely got in with a 158, while Lloyd Nordstrom, the dark horse from Davenport, Iowa, who topped the field yesterday with a 72, took a bad 84 today for a 156.

College Stars Are Eliminated.

The only resemblances to an upset all day were the failure of two college stars, Larry Moller of Quincy, Ill., and Gibson Dunlap of Los Angeles, to qualify. Both had comfortable scores yesterday but took up their cards today.

Lehman, whose chief bid to golfing fame heretofore has been the Big Ten championship he captured three years ago while at Purdue, shot the steadier game today. He was one over par on four greens but made up slightly by bagging a pair of birdies. He was out in 37 and back by the same score, and his total was only one stroke higher than his 73 of yesterday.

ARMOUR SCORES 70 IN PRACTICE ROUND

Plays With Barnes, Who Shoots 71, as They Limber Up for Canadian Open.

LANCASTER, Ont., July 22 (Canadian Press).—A blazing sun failed to daunt the leaders of the golfing world who went around the links to limber up for the Canadian open championship, which starts on Thursday.

Tommy Armour, Jim Barnes and Johnny Farrell were among those who arrived today. Armour, among his other triumphs, won the Canadian open in 1927, and Barnes tied Karl Keefer of Ottawa and Bobby Jones for second place on this same course when it was the scene of the Canadian open of 1919.

Armour, who has been a consistent entry for the greatest Canadian golfing event for the last few years, and Jim Barnes went around the course together this afternoon. Armour did the eighteen holes in 70 and Barnes was one stroke behind.

Horton Smith did the first nine in 33 when he arrived earlier in the week and stepped on the course for the first time. Macdonald Smith also has been playing a strong game in his practice rounds. Leo Diegel, titleholder and four-time winner of the Canadian open since 1924, also got in a little practice today.

Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen had not put in an appearance today, but are expected tomorrow.

The best thirty-two scores will qualify for the championship division in the medal round. Two rounds of match competition will be played Friday and Saturday and the thirty-six-hole final is scheduled for Sunday.

MRS. LAKE WITH 80 LEADS IN GOLF PLAY

Equals Par at North Hempstead in Brilliant Round Which Includes Five Birdies.

Special to The New York Times.

PORT WASHINGTON, L. I., July 22.—Equaling women's par for the course with an 80, Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, holder of the women's Southern open title for two years and now a member of the Old Country Club of Flushing, led a field of sixty-four players in a one-day tournament for members of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association today at the North Hempstead Country Club.

Mrs. Lake, who held the Pan-American and Gulf States open championship titles in 1929, shot brilliant golf, scoring five birdies, on her round.

After getting as far as the ninth hole two under par, she hooked her mashie shot on the short 170-yard ninth, the ball lodging in a sandpit, from which she took two shots to get out. She took a five on this hole, having a par 40 at the turn.

WRIGHT'S 71 WINS CHERRY VALLEY GOLF

217 ENTRANTS IN THE FIELD

Number Sets Record for Met. District—Simmons Low Net After Matching Cards.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., July 22.—It seemed as if every one in possession of a metropolitan handicap turned out at Cherry Valley today to play in the one-day tournament of the M. G. A., 217 golfers taking part in the event to establish a new record for one-day tournaments in this district.

Hamilton Wright, member of the club that acted as host to the host of golfers, had the low round. Wright, a member of the Yale freshman golf team, scored a 71, one under par. No one else came within three strokes of doing what he did in spite of the fact that the Cherry Valley turf, like that of all other courses hereabout, is baked hard and the ball was running like a scared rabbit.

Many Net Scores Under 70.

There was a mild scramble for low net prizes, more than thirty turning in scores of less than 70, which means, of course, that more work confronts the handicappers. The lowest card was that of W. N. Schwab of Brentwood, who, working on a twenty-three-stroke handicap, produced an 86 for a net of 63.

The M. G. A. has provided, however, that all cards below 70 shall be considered as ties and, under that system and matching cards to decide the winner, the first low net prize went to C. F. Simmons of Rockville, who had a card of 83—16—67, while the second net went to M. Alexander Jr. of Woodmere, whose card was 79—9—70.

Winner Plays Superb Golf.

Wright, winner of the low gross prize, played superb golf throughout. He was hitting a low ball that ran on and on after landing, and his work on the greens was almost flawless. Altogether he was over par only twice on the entire round, once on the thirteenth, where he was short of the green on his second shot, and again on the fourteenth, where he was bunkered.

MRS. BURT SCORES IN STATE NET PLAY

Beats Miss Travers, 6-0, 6-4, in Clay Court Title Event at Jackson Heights.

MRS. PRITCHARD ADVANCES

Conquers Mrs. Bannerman, 6-3, 6-1—Rain Causes Postponement of Other Matches.

Only two matches were played yesterday in the women's New York State clay court tennis championships at the Jackson Heights Tennis Club. Rain forced the postponement of all other matches until this morning, when the brackets in the quarter-final round will be filled.

Mrs. William H. Pritchard of the New York Tennis Club led the field into the third round with a 6—3, 6—1 victory over Mrs. Perry Bannerman of Hempstead. In the other match Mrs. Gwendolen J. Burt of Belleville, N. J., conquered Miss Joan Travers, 6—0, 6—4.

Both victors played steady baseline games to win their matches. Mrs. Pritchard showed exceptional skill in shooting her forehand drives to the corners of Mrs. Bannerman's court for numerous placements and also played well on the defensive.

Mrs. Burt met strong opposition in the second set of her match with Miss Travers. Games went with service until the score stood at 4—all before Mrs. Burt could break through for the two games which gave her the set and match.

This morning's schedule pits Mrs. Bernard F. Stenz, No. 1 seeded star, against Mrs. Rose Taubele; Miss Norma Taubele, second on the seeded list, against Miss Dorothy Rand; Miss Caroline Roberts, third seeded star, against Miss Mary Bingham, and Miss Grace Surber, seeded No. 4, against Miss Claire Stenz.

Third Ranking U. S. Player Is Upset in Essex C. C. Tennis Tourney, 7-5, 6-3.

MISS SARAH PALFREY WINS

Conquers Mrs. Nash, 6-0, 6-2, and Miss Bailey, 6-1, 6-3, to Reach the Fourth Round.

Special to The New York Times.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 22.—A sensational upset featured today's play in the woman's tennis tournament at Essex Country Club, Miss Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia, fourteenth in the national ranking, defeating Miss Edith Cross, third on the national list, 7–5, 6–3. Miss Cross, last year's winner of the tournament, was seeded first.

Miss Sarah Palfrey also gained the fourth round, defeating Mrs. E. K. Nash of Boston by 6–0, 6–2, and then vanquishing Miss Ruth Baily of St. Louis by 6–1, 6–3.

Miss Hilleary is showing fine form this year. She began the season well by defeating Miss Josephine Cruickshank, who holds tenth place among the women, at Longwood last week.

Miss Cross, who arrived Sunday on the Laconia from England, was not as accurate as usual today. However, Miss Hilleary deserves great credit for her brilliant, almost errorless, game.

Miss Cross Loses First Two.

Miss Cross dropped her serve in the first game of the match and failed to take Miss Hilleary's serve to even the score. She soon found her stride, however, and took the next four games. But again Miss Hilleary broke through the Californian's strong serve, only to lose her own, making the score 5–3. The next four games were hard fought, Miss Hilleary taking the swift, well-placed drives of her opponent and returning them with equal pace and amazing accuracy to pull out the first set at 7–5.

In the early stages of the set Miss Cross attempted to advance to the net, but the Philadelphian forced her back by sending low drives past her down the line. From then on the rallies were staged mostly in the back court.

Miss Cross began the second set by winning her own service, but Miss Hilleary took the next game. During the next service when the Californian was trailing at 30-love, she changed her tactics and began lobbing to the base line, but her opponent played steadily and waited for an error, winning the game at love.

Returns to Driving Game.

Realizing lobbing tactics could not defeat her determined adversary, the first seeded player started once more her powerful driving and she lost only one point in the next two games. It seemed then that she would take the set but Miss Hilleary kept her nerve and won the following four games for the set and match.

The few matches that were started in the afternoon were postponed because of rain. Miss Josephine Cruickshank, who won the college girls' tournament at Longwood this Spring, had pushed Mrs. L. A. Harper to 6–6 when they were forced to stop.

Miss Mianne Palfrey was leading, 5–2, in the first set against Miss Mary Greef of Kansas City, Mo., when rain intervened. Miss Greef was a substitute on the Wightman Cup team and also runner-up to Miss Cross last year in this tournament.

THE SUMMARIES.

Second Round—Miss Sarah Palfrey defeated Mrs. E. K. Nash, 6–0, 6–2; Miss Ruth Bailey defeated Miss Polly Palfrey, 6–2, 6–2; Miss Virginia Rice defeated Miss Alice Thorndike, 6–1, 6–2; Miss Josephine Cruickshank defeated Mrs. Ary Lamme, 6–1, 3–6, 6–3; Miss Edith Cross defeated Miss Fannie Curtis, 6–0, 6–2; Miss Dorothy Weissel defeated Miss Margaret Blake, 2–6, 6–1, 7–5; Miss Mary Greef defeated Miss Rosamond Newton 6–1, 6–1; Miss Mianne Palfrey defeated Miss Louise McFarland, 5–7, 6–4, 9–7; Miss Marjorie Morrill defeated Miss Joanne Palfrey, 6–1, 6–0.

Davis, Donor of Tennis Cup, Advocates New Zone of Play for Nations of Far East

The creation of a new zone in the play for the Davis Cup, to be known as the Far Eastern zone, is advocated by Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis of the Philippines and donor of the international trophy for which France and the United States will meet in Paris this week.

In a letter from Baguio to Beals C. Wright, former national champion and Davis Cup player, Mr. Davis comments on the strides that lawn tennis has been making in the countries of the Far East and expresses the belief that a new zone should be formed as a means of stirring greater interest in the game and fostering play between the countries.

At present the play for the international trophy, which Mr. Davis offered in 1900 and helped to defend against England, is divided into two areas, the American and European zones.

Mr. Davis says in part in his letter, which Mr. Wright has given permission to THE NEW YORK TIMES to quote:

"I have been playing quite a little tennis since I have been in the Philippines and have enjoyed it immensely. It is a life-saver, as exercise is very important in the tropics and I have a fairly good court in the palace grounds at Manila, so I can get busy five minutes after I leave my desk.

"There are some fairly good players here, although they do not improve as much as they should, owing to lack of competition with outsiders. However, they have some young players coming along and if they had the opportunity of playing with other people they would develop fairly well.

"I found when I passed through Japan that there is a tremendous lot of interest in the game. Gordon Lum tells me that there is also a lot of interest in China. In my visits to the provinces here I find that they are putting in tennis courts every place.

"I really believe that some day they should form a Far Eastern zone of the Davis Cup, as this would stir up a lot of interest throughout these countries, and they need some sort of inducement to develop playing between the different countries, as otherwise the tendency is toward stagnation.

"The Australians seem to be doing well so far and I understand there is quite a revival of interest there. On the whole it seems that there is a lot of enthusiasm about the game throughout the Far East, but it is not organized and there is not enough competition between the countries."

GLEDHILL DEFEATED IN MET. TENNIS PLAY

SHIELDS TRIUMPHS TWICE

Conquers Holden and Lewis in Straight Set Matches—Vines Eliminates Martin.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Of even greater moment than the arrival of Frank Shields was the victory of Edward W. Burns of the home club over Keith Gledhill, national junior titleholder, yesterday in the metropolitan turf court championship at the Crescent A. C., in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn.

In defeating the youthful Californian at 6–4, 6–4, Burns put forth the same sparkling tennis that was the undoing of Herbert L. Bowman in the metropolitan clay court championship in June, and thereby fortified the convictions of those who have painted a bright future for him.

A stunning backhand that stood up under any amount of pressure was the main instrument of the tall, dark-haired Brooklynite's victory. His swift service was another asset and the mobility of his defense, which repeatedly turned back apparent winners, added to the discomfiture of his opponent.

Gledhill Makes Brief Rally.

Only for a brief period in the second set did Burns falter. Leading at 5–1 and 40-30, one point short of victory, his control suddenly deserted him as the strain began to tell and Gledhill pulled up to 4-5.

The Californian was gaining in confidence, and with his own service to follow the match seemed far from lost. Burns, however, collected his forces again, scored twice on beautiful passing shots and broke through to win the match.

This match was one of only five that were finished before rain caused an interruption of the day's program. Shields, who came all the way from the clay courts of Kansas City, won two of the others, defeating Henry Holden and Richard Lewis at 6–1, 6–2 and 6–2, 6–1, respectively.

The change from clay to grass was not calculated to bring forth the former junior champion's best tennis, but if his forehand was below par at times his service was more than adequate to hold the situation in hand.

Martin's Lead Overcome.

Ellsworth Vines, junior doubles champion with Gledhill, evened the score between California and the Crescent A. C. when he defeated E. Ralph Martin of the Home Club at 6–4, 8–6. Martin gave an excellent account of himself to lead at 4–2 in the first set and 4–1 in the second, but on each occasion he could not maintain his pace.

William Einsmann was the other winner of the day with an unexpected victory over Edgar Dawson, while David Jones of Columbia and Phil Neer of San Francisco were in the third set when the elements drove them from the court with Jones leading at two games to one and deuce on Neer's service. This was one of the prettiest matches of the tournament even though both players had their lapses.

Neer at Crest of Game.

On both sides, service was a big factor, the hitting was of the most uncompromising character and neither was timid in going to the net. Jones had every reason to be proud of his showing for Neer was on the crest of his game and playing with the dash and withering speed that marked his game in 1921 when he was intercollegiate champion.

TILDEN BEATS LOTT IN PRACTICE MATCH

ALLISON-VAN RYN IN DRILL

Opposes Plaa and Kozeluh in Strenuous Test—Davis Cup Rivals Plan Light Work Today.

PARIS, July 22 (AP).—Strenuous tennis was indulged in today by both the American and French Davis Cup teams in the last hard practice matches before the challenge round test starts on Friday.

Big Bill Tilden, despite his injured ankle, played young George Lott, his singles mate, and beat him two out of three sets, 6–3, 6–8, 6–4, Henri Cochet, ace of the cup defending squad, came back to form and overwhelmed Christian Boussus, youthful Frenchman.

Both No. 1 players, Tilden and Cochet, took chances in stroking which, while producing a maximum of errors, provided some of the most amazing placements the world of tennis has ever seen.

Fans Pay to Watch.

"What a pity there is so much at stake in the Davis Cup matches that the players cannot afford to take such chances," was the regret expressed by about a thousand spectators who had paid to watch the practice. Amateur tennis now is taking a leaf out of the professional book, charging 10 francs (40 cents) for the privilege of witnessing the training.

The committee and selection work was completed today for the challenge round as the teams were formed definitely and for the first time since the United States defeated Italy in the interzone final the players had their innings. Beautiful weather greeted them for the first time in ten days and they reveled in it.

Brugnon Takes Rest.

Besides the Tilden-Lott and Cochet-Boussus matches, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, the American doubles combination, played five hard sets against the professionals, Martin Plaa and Karel Kozeluh. Johnny Doeg and Gregory Mangin staged a battle royal on one of the side courts and the only nominated Davis Cup player on either team who was idle today was Jacques Brugnon who thought he had "had enough tennis since April."

On the showing today, Tilden and Cochet, as in other years, again stood out and the real battle for the cup appears once more to be a fight between them. "Whichever way the Tilden-Cochet match goes, probably will go the Davis Cup," was the comment of the experts assembled. Tomorrow an easy day of light training is scheduled.

First Touch-and-Out Competition Won by Sinbad as Stamford Horse Show Opens

SINBAD TRIUMPHS IN TOUCH-AND-OUT

Wins First Day's Competition in Stake as Stamford Horse Show Starts.

TWO BLUES TO LIKELY LADY

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 22.—Coming back to his best jumping form, the gray gelding Sinbad, owned by Mrs. Harry Frank Jr. of Warrenville, N. J., and ridden by Mike Devaney, won the first competition of the Touch-and-Out Stake, the most spectacular event of the first day's program of the thirteenth annual Stamford Horse Show, which opened this morning.

Competition was exceedingly close and the array of stars of the show ring in some of the classes was worthy of a national championship competition. No more successful start has been made by any stable in some time than that made on the opening day by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer of Grosse Point, Mich., and Manchester, Mass.

Palmer Entries Score Often.

Their entries accounted for five blue ribbons, one red and one white, two of the first being taken by the great little saddle pony, Treasure Box, and two by Likely Lady.

Bernard F. Gimbel's clever chestnut gelding, Trolly, scored a marked triumph in the class for hunters 4 years old and under, which was contested in the morning. Trolly won from Joseph A. Hale's chestnut gelding, Loftus, third going to the Sunridge Stable's chestnut gelding, Fair Chance.

A total of forty-seven jumpers was named for the Touch-and-Out Stake and most of them made a try for the first day's money. During each of the first four days the winner is awarded 15 per cent of the stake, and on Saturday the winner will take 25 per cent and the second horse 15 per cent, the four ribbon winners being eligible.

There were many fine performances, although only four negotiated the eight jumps faultlessly. In the jump-off Sinbad went first, but he clicked at the fourth fence.

Shamrock Misses in Jump-Off.

However, Miss Jane Peter's bay gelding, Shamrock, failed at the third, while Danny Shea, who was up on H. Hollon Crowell's chestnut gelding, Fourth Estate, failed to get his mount over the second fence cleanly. The Crowell entry, Blue Fern, went out at the first obstacle.

Another continuous competition is the special separated walk, trot and canter class, one division being run each of the first three days, with a special trophy for the horse winning the most points in the three divisions.

The first day's winner was the gray gelding, Silver Dare, shown by the Green Hill Farm of Charleston, R. I., which had been placed at the top of the class for novice saddle horses over 14.2 and not over 15.2 hands during the morning.

Second in the special event was the Boxwood Farm's chestnut mare, Mountain Myrtle, third going to Miss Katharine Van Sinderen's chestnut mare, Miss Virginia.

Conewago and Thisbe Divide In Canada's Cup Trial Races

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22.—Conewago, the eight-meter sloop designed by Olin J. Stephens, divided two races with W. P. Barrow's Thisbe in today's Rochester Yacht Club's Canada's Cup eliminations.

Thisbe won the first event in a fresh northwest breeze by 1 minute 33 seconds. Conewago, handled by W. V. Castle, came back to annex the second by 1 minute 44 seconds and had taken a big lead over Thisbe when an attempted third race was called off because the wind died out.

Both races were two miles to windward and return and were contested in smooth waters and a dying breeze.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Sailing instructions have been issued by the race committee of the New York Yacht Club for the races on the squadron runs of the club's annual cruise, which will start with a rendezvous of the fleet in New London Harbor on Aug. 1.

One of the decisions made was to start the new America's Cup boats in a class by themselves, sending them away from port to port ahead of the rest of the fleet, so as to give them sea room by themselves, unhampered by any other craft. Resolute and Vanitie, the old cup boats, will follow them, starting five minutes later. The new defense candidates will compete boat for boat, but time allowance for size will apply to the old ones, and Vanitie will have to give a handicap to Resolute.

There will be no time limit to the finish of the port-to-port runs. If the wind fails and the fleet is out all night the times will be taken on the arrival of the contestants.

The first run will be on Aug. 2 from New London to Newport, thirty-seven and one-half miles. The start will be off Sarah's Ledge and the finish off Brenton's Reef Lightship. Race Rock and the Point Judith gas, whistling and submarine bell buoy all must be left to port.

No Run on Aug. 3.

On Sunday, Aug. 3, there will be a layover in Newport Harbor. The following day there will be a run of thirty-one miles to Mattapoisett, on Buzzards Bay, with a start at Brenton's Reef, and the finish off Nye Ledge bell buoy, off Mattapoisett Neck. On this run Seal Ledge gas and bell buoy, Cormorant Reef bell buoy, Schuyler Ledge bell buoy, Elisha Ledge can buoy, Hen and Chickens Lightship, Mishaum Ledge gas and bell buoy, Wilkes Ledge and Negro Ledge can buoys all must be left to port.

In Buzzards Bay there will be races on Aug. 5. The new cup boats will cover a course from Buzzards Bay gas and bell buoy to Negro gas and bell buoy, twice around, making 31.6 miles in all. The rest of the fleet will go to a marked placed off Quamquisset Harbor, to Negro gas and bell buoy, and back to the starting line, a distance of 21 miles.

The next day there will be a run to Vineyard Haven, on Martha's Vineyard. The new cup boats will travel 37½ miles, going out past Hen and Chickens Lightship and turning into Vineyard Sound, with Vineyard Sound Lightship on the port hand. The other boats will go through Quicks Hole to the Vineyard, a distance of 23½ miles.

Then the last run will take the fleet back to Newport from Vineyard Haven, 37 miles. After that will come the Astor Cups and King's Cup contests off Newport.

Special Prizes for Cup Boats.

On the squadron runs special prizes will be awarded to the winners among the America's Cup yachts, and the others in the fleet will compete for the regular squadron cups. The Navy Challenge Cups will be the prizes on the New London to Newport run, the Rear Commodore's Cups on the run from Newport to Mattapoisett, the Vice Commodore's Cups on the race from Mattapoisett to Vineyard Haven and the Commodore's Cup for the contest from Vineyard back to Newport.

There will be a cup for schooners and ketches on each squadron run, and another cup for sloops and yawls. But a yacht must take part in at least three runs to be eligible. In each class on the runs and in the contests in Buzzards Bay there will be a first prize if two or more yachts start, a second prize if four start and a third if seven start.

Starts of the various classes each day will be at five-minute intervals, with the groupings as follows:

1. New America's Cup boats.
2. Old America's Cup boats.
3. Class K.
4. N. Y. Y. C. "thirties," Fishers Island 32-footers and Class Q.
5. Eight-meter open and eight-meter one-design.
6. A, B, C, D and E.
7. F, G and H and Seawanhaka schooners.
8. L and M.
9. Twelve-meter.
10. N. Y. Y. C. "forties."
11. Class N and Larchmont O boats.
12. Ten-meter.

WIDEGREN BREAKS RECORD.

Outboard Driver Sets Second New Mark Within Week.

LAKE COBBOSSEECONTEE, Me., July 22 (AP).—Twice within a week Walter Widegren, Glen Cove, L. I., has set new outboard motor boat racing records.

Today he sped around the regatta course here at a speed of 42.45 miles an hour for a new mark for Class D, Division 1. Last Friday at Portland he smashed the Class F, Division 1 mark with a speed of 43.16 miles an hour.

BOATS DRIFT FOR A WHILE

Northeast Wind Finally Springs Up—Many of 190 Yachts Finish in Darkness and Rain.

Special to The New York Times.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., July 22.—The third regatta of the Larchmont Yacht Club's thirty-second annual race week held off here today presented a decided contrast to yesterday's, which was enlivened by a strong wind, ripping sails and snapping masts. Today there was very light wind blowing from the south.

This wind, however, lasted only a few minutes, and before many of the classes had gotten away a dead calm came over the water to leave the boats drifting around the committee boat.

So flat was the air, in fact, that several skippers resorted to floorboards, spinnaker poles and anything else with which they could paddle their craft out of the restricted area to allow those starting a clear passage.

Out of the fleet of more than 190 boats which started today, not more than twenty-five yachts had crossed the starting line when the light wind failed entirely.

Northeast Wind Comes Up.

However, before all the classes started to drift away a new wind from the northeast came up, increasing till at the end of the race it brought darkened skies and rain.

Boats which took very short courses were home before the rain came. George M. Pynchon sailed his Istalena to first place among the Class M sloops, crossing the finish line with all members of the crew in oilskins and sou'westers. Floyd Carlisle's Avatar followed in this class, more than twelve minutes astern of the winner. C. D. Wiman's Simba, the third M boat, was almost thirteen minutes behind Avatar.

As the Class M boats got under way at the start they bore off to the southeast to reach across the Sound for their first mark, off Matinicock Point. Other large classes, from the 12-meter boats to the 10s and 8s, took a more southerly course for their first leg to Motts Point. This provided a broader reach while the wind lasted, but soon they found themselves becalmed less than half way around the course.

Final Run Before Wind.

Some of these boats got the fresh northerly wind before they got to the second mark off Parsonage Point and were able to make fairly good time around the second buoy. The final run down to the finish line was before the wind. Spinnakers were broken out on all the boats as they ran down the wind, the yachts making a picturesque sight as they were bunched together. In the darkness it was difficult for the regatta committee to see the sail numbers.

John K. Roosevelt sailed his six-meter boat Mist home first in this class, finishing a half minute before Bill Luders in Totem. Briggs Cunningham's Lucie was next.

William J. McHugh of the Pequot Yacht Club, Southport, Conn., sailed his Atlantic Coast one-design sloop Mistral to victory by thirty-six seconds over Flash, in which Miss Lorna Whittlesey has been doing some consistently good sailing for its owner, R. M. Schmeltzer. Bill Crow sailed his Rumour into third place. This class was again the largest, with twenty-seven starters.

Alberta Home First.

Albert Marx's Alberta finished first in the Sound Interclub Class. Egbert Moxham's Jester and Harvey Conover's Revonoc were second and third.

Only one of the boats dismasted yesterday did not have her new stick ready by starting time today.

The Junior Yacht Racing Association regatta will be held today. The special junior regatta committee will conduct the races from the Larchmont Y. C. committee boat Satanstoe. Boats from the six-meter class down to the smallest divisions will be lent to skippers under the age of 18 for this regatta, and nobody over that age will be permitted to sail in any craft entered in the regatta.

BIKE TEAM RACE TONIGHT.

44 Riders in 100-Kilometer Event at Coney Island.

A 100-kilometer team bicycle race is scheduled for the new Coney Island Velodrome tonight. Among the forty-four professional riders entered is Freddie Spencer, who last year won the American sprint crown. Spencer will be paired with Tony Beckman.

The contest will be decided in much the same manner as are six-day bicycle races and will have several six-day stars competing. Entrants include Gerard Debaets, Charley Winter, Jimmy Walthour, Harris and Horace Horder, Paul Croley, Tom Bello, George Dempsey, Bob Spears, Ed Raffo, Otto Petri, Willie Grim, Leroy Garrison and others.

The cyclists will begin the race at 8:15 P. M. and are expected to require a little more than two hours to complete the distance.

Rain Postpones Bicycle Races.

The program of cycling races, scheduled for last night at the New York Velodrome, was called off because of rain. The next races will be held Friday.

SIREN WINNING BOAT IN 331-MILE CONTEST

VAGABOND IN SECOND PLACE

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 22 (AP).—The Siren, owned by Al and Olie Karas, flying the burgee of the Chicago Yacht Club, tonight was adjudged winner of the racing division of the twenty-third annual Chicago-to-Mackinac yacht race, capturing the event for the fourth time. She arrived at 7 A. M.

Ten boats were becalmed far out in Lake Michigan, but none had a chance of placing, their handicaps having been used up. Vagabond of the Milwaukee Yacht Club was second.

Vagabond, skippered by Eddie Purtell, was first to cross the line at 5:30 A. M., at the end of the 331-mile contest, but had to yield to the Siren because of an allowance of 3 hours 21 minutes.

Colonel A. E. Pierce's Quicksilver, a New York representative, won the cruising division trophy, but no other places were awarded, pending arrival of others in the class. Raymond Mercola, a member of the Byrd South Pole expedition party, sailed on the Quicksilver.

For three hours and more sails on the leading yachts drooped forty miles from the finish line early this morning, but a breeze freshening out of the northwest made the crews prepare their light sails.

The yawl Trident of the Bayview Yacht Club crossed the finish line here last night winner in the sixth annual Port Huron-to-Mackinac race.

The Trident led a field of thirteen boats, finishing 8 hours 18 seconds ahead of the Suez II of the Detroit Yacht Club, the second boat. Trident's time for the race failed by more than fourteen hours to equal the record of 40 hours 3 minutes set by the Barbette last year.

The boats weathered a stiff squall Sunday.

Matsuyama Victor in Billiards.

Kinrey Matsuyama ran 167 and 33 unfinished to defeat Arthur Waldman, 200 to 5, in two innings, in their 18.2 balkline game at Lawler Brothers' Brooklyn Billiard Academy last night.

Wins 2 More Blocks in Billiard Match With St. Jean.

Willie Hoppe won two more blocks from Andrew St. Jean in their fourteen-block handicap three-cushion match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday. Hoppe plays for 50 points in each block and St. Jean for 40, or a total of 700 to 560. Hoppe leads, 200 to 108.

Hoppe triumphed in the third block yesterday afternoon, 50 to 29, in thirty-four innings. Each had a high run of 5. The former champion captured the fourth session last night, 50 to 14, in forty-two innings. Hoppe's best cluster was 4 and St. Jean's 2.

AMATEURS BOX TONIGHT.

Will Compete in Benefit Show at New York Velodrome.

Mike Belloise, Our Lady of Refuge A. C., flyweight, will meet Jimmy Hughes, St. Mary's A. C., and Harry Pallett, North Pelham, welterweight, will oppose Jimmy Coyne, Our Lady of Refuge A. C., in the special bouts at the amateur boxing show to be conducted by Our Lady of Refuge A. C. at the New York Velodrome tonight for the benefit of the Our Lady of Refuge Church building fund.

One hundred shell-shocked veterans of the World War and other invalided soldiers stationed at Base Hospital 81, will be guests of the Our Lady of Refuge A. C.

By BRYAN FIELD.

The victory which Gifford A. Cochran's Hand to Hand scored over J. H. Loucheim's On Tap at Jamaica last April was repeated at Empire City yesterday in the Tarrytown Claiming Stakes, the feature, which had a value to the winner of $2,825.

Hand to Hand beat On Tap by a head in the Jamaica race, and shortly after retired until the present meeting. Apparently in tiptop condition, the daughter of Coventry and Loving Cup had the best of things yesterday by three-quarters of a length.

Mr. Cochran has been a patron of Empire City racing for years, and the Tarrytown first was run in 1907, but the victory of Hand to Hand was the first for the green silks with gold hoops.

Hand to Hand had to come from far back of a fast pace to race down the contenders in the stretch and win going away. As though the former race were unconvincing, Hand to Hand was as high as 4 to 1, while On Tap was the 7 to 5 favorite, albeit a receding one.

Six in all came out for the Tarrytown and at the break On Tap and Hand to Hand ran as a team to the clubhouse turn and around it into the backstretch. It seemed that these two speedsters were to settle their differences at once, but young Chirch, the apprentice up on Hand to Hand, took back and allowed his horse to drop out of things. Then Betty Beau went up to engage On Tap for the lead, with Zeal challenging on the outside.

Paradise Lost Challenges.

On Tap revealed considerable gameness in fighting off these two, and she still was in the lead on the bend going to the top of the stretch. Paradise Lost made a weak challenge there, but it did not amount to much. Frumper, a Harry Payne Whitney colorbearer, that had been nowhere in the early stages, closed strongly along the rail and the little considered Hand to Hand gained stride by stride on the outside.

Mr. Loucheim's filly went a little wide swinging into the straightaway and this carried Hand to Hand out, while Frumper had the best of things on the fence. Yet Frumper could not gain, and C. Watters on On Tap quickly recognized the threat from Hand to Hand, which Chirch had carefully reserved.

The Cochran racer, however, had much more in reserve than On Tap, wearied as she was with repeated challenges, and the result was an easy although a narrow victory for Hand to Hand. Frumper landed third place, two lengths back of On Tap. The time was 1:45 3-5 for the mile and seventy yards.

Fator's Fingers Bandaged.

Laverne Fator rode two horses and both were winners. The mounts were the first accepted by Fator since he suffered a burned hand recently and he still had bandages about his fingers.

With the Rancocas Stable's Ladana in the curtain raiser Fator was up on a 3-to-5 shot. He broke fast and never was headed, to win easily by a length from Mr. Cochran's Helianthus. Sydka was a surprise to get third and paid as high as 5 to 1 for that spot.

In the fifth Fator had the leg up on W. C. Clancy's Squeaky, the hottest kind of a paddock tip. Under the pressure of the information bruited about Squeaky was made the 2-to-1 favorite. Fator evidently must have heard the news and did not want to disappoint Squeaky's backers, for he put up one of his best rides and led from start to finish.

Two lengths was the margin of victory and John Cavanagh got the place. He just got up to edge Don Pedro into third position. Don Pedro ran with Squeaky in the early stages.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 22.—The City Commission voted today to buy the high school stadium, including nine acres of land, a baseball diamond, a football gridiron and steel stands, from the High School Stadium Association, a private group which financed the erection of the stadium three years ago.

The purchase price is $38,600, and the field will be managed by the Board of Education.

BOBASHELA IS FIRST, WITH LATIVICH NEXT

Audley Farm's 5-Year-Old Racer Easily Wins Oregon Purse at Arlington Park.

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP).—The Audley Farm's 5-year-old bay horse Bobashela by Ormadale-Trappoid was an easy winner of the Oregon Purse, today's feature at Arlington Park. Lativich was second and Dr. Freeland third.

The race was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upward over the seven-furlong route out of the chute and was worth $1,150 to the winner. Bobashela covered the seven panels in 1:25 and paid $3.86 for $2.

Bobashela, well away, quickly disposed of Schlaf Wohl and, setting his own pace, easily drew out into a long lead to win by a length and a half. Lativich, after racing under restraint, closed strongly to take the place by two and a half lengths. Dr. Freeland was six lengths in front of Devon, with Schlaf Wohl last.

E. R. Bradley's 2-year-old bay colt B'ar Hunter proved best of the field in the Buoyant Purse, a five and a half furlong dash for 2-year-olds. Out Bound was second and Pittsburgher third. It was B'ar Hunter's second straight victory in his two starts at this track.

OWEGO, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—The opening of the Orange County racing circuit was postponed from today until tomorrow because of rain.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

THERE'S one endurance record that nobody is rushing to tackle. It was set by the esteemed Cornelius McGillicuddy. He stayed in the American League cellar for seven straight years.

But with Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx, "that's all shoved behind 'em, long ago and far away." Quite so. The Mackmen are out in front and the odds are that the pursuers will have to take the dust from Connie's chariot wheels until the end of the race.

There are six reasons why the Mackmen are favored to stay up there. Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx are three of them. Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw are the other three. Connie is a smart manager but just now that isn't important. He doesn't need to be. Where his smartness counted was in getting those fellows together and having uniforms built to fit them, all of one design.

Leaving out the great Babe Ruth and his home-run pounding, this Al Simmons is just about the best ball player in the game today. He is big and fast. He can hit, field, run and throw. He has color. He has a swaggering way with him that attracts some fans and annoys others, but it makes him stand out above the ruck. If his ankles don't buckle under him, the Athletics should do well in the next world's series.

A Sad Story.

Hughey Critz says this was one of the saddest things he ever saw on a baseball field:

"Yes, suh!" said Hughey with his famous Mississippi accent, "Ah sweah ah nevah saw the beat of it. This stranger shows up heah an' it's enough to make a man cry. Saved his money fo foah yeahs out in California to get cahfeah to New Yawk. Gets on the train an' sets in a day coach fo foah days. He had a dolluh ten cents fo food when he stahted. Hadn't et fo a full day when he got heah. Gets into the Penn Station about daybreak an' walks all the way out heah. Sets outside till we come along and then tells his story and says he's a pitcher come all the way heah f'um Califo'nia to make good with the Giants."

Did they let him pitch?

"Yeah, we let him try but, ah sweah, he couldn't toss a ball as fah as that what line. Threw like a girl, he did. No, sir, couldn't get a ball up as fah as that what line."

"What line?" asked Bill Terry, tipping a wink to the bystanders.

"That what line ovah theah," said Hughey, pointing to the baseline about two dozen feet away.

What became of the stranger?

"We gave him some change and tol' him to get some ham an' eggs and staht back fo Califo'nia. That's the last we saw of him."

They should have sent him over to Philadelphia. Burt Shotten needs pitchers.

The Boo Is a Boost.

Polo Ground fans have a great time booing Hack Wilson and Gabby Hartnett. It's all in fun and Gabby and Hack understand it perfectly. A boo is a boost. Home fans never bother to boo an enemy player who kicks the ball in the field and lines out to the catcher with great frequency on his trips to the plate.

Until a player is a target for booing, he hasn't really arrived. He may be around but it doesn't greatly matter. It's when he annoys the home fans by making great catches or by hitting triples with the bases loaded that the foundation for the boo is laid. Toss in a little fighting spirit, acts and gestures that show a man is red-hot to win, and the razzberry chorus tunes up.

Thus the boisterous boo is a testimonial to husky Hack and garrulous Gabby. It puts them in the class with Babe Ruth, Al Simmons, Ty Cobb and other such diamond heroes.

Splitting a Pair.

Kent Greenfield was released by a minor league team recently, and thereby hangs a tale. Greenfield and Hack Wilson came up to join the Giants together, arriving on the same train. Naturally, that made them buddies. They stuck together until John McGraw parted them. Hack made a hit and soon became a regular in centre field for the Giants. Greenfield dropped to the Eastern League.

Kent read about Hack's hitting feats in the majors and felt lonesome and sad in the Eastern League. He hadn't made good. Hack had gone away ahead of him. Then Hack slipped a bit. Greenfield came back to the Giants and was for a short while the star of the staff. Hack went to the minors, to Toledo. The rôles were reversed. It was Greenfield who was the major league star and Wilson who had failed.

Then Kent skidded and the Cubs picked up Wilson. Now Hack is a fixed star and Greenfield has practically disappeared from the baseball horizon. Just a bit odd, isn't it? They came up together but whenever they met afterward they were going in opposite directions.

Taking Off the Mask.

Hack Wilson's real name is Lewis Robert Wilson. Malone's first name is not Pat but Perce. That young fellow Blair, who has been subbing for Hornsby, was saddled by his parents with the name Clarence. Toss in Guy Bush, Elwood English, Riggs Stephenson, Hazen Cuyler and Clifton Heathcote and it can be seen that the Cubs present a very fancy array of first names.

But see what they do with those fancy first names! Lewis Robert is Hack. Perce is Pat. Elwood is Woody. Guy Bush is called Joe. Riggs Stephenson is Old Hoss or Stevie. And Hazen became Kiki in the Cuyler case.

The Giants of a few years ago gave each other handy nicknames. George Kelly tagged Frank Frisch with Herman and Frank retaliated by calling Kelly Moe. Heinie Groh was often referred to as Umlaut.

Then there's Mickey Cochrane, who rooms with George Earnshaw. George is a college man, comes from a well-to-do family and moves in society circles when away from the ball club, but Mickey's affectionate name for his aristocratic roommate is Meathead.

Guilder, a rapid beginner, was sent to the front early, saved ground around the turn and drew away in the stretch to win easily. Dun Ro was kept close to the early pace and outgamed Flyacross for the place. Flyacross handled his weight well and stood a long drive gamely. Irish Marine was on the extreme outside all the way and closed fast. Maybe broke slowly, went up very fast in the run down the backstretch and weakened in the final furlong. Chief's Mountaineer closed a big gap. Pigeon Wing II had no mishap.

Reproof broke a bit slowly, went up very fast, but was almost knocked down by the winner at the far turn. She never recovered. Long Gone had no mishap. Broken Stone was outrun.

FOSTER DILLON WINS IN TROT AT TOLEDO

Beats Loree Prince and Volo York in Extra Heat to Capture 2:20 Class Event.

ATHLONE GUY ALSO VICTOR

Favorite, Driven by Stokes, Shows Way in 2:16 Trot—Ovelmo Lad and Joe Lewis Score.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 22 (AP).—An extra heat was required to settle the event for 2:20 class trotters, the Tecumseh, feature on the Grand Circuit program at the Fort Miami track tonight, with the favorite Foster Dillon, winning the race-off against Loree Prince and Volo York.

Foster Dillon broke in the first and second heats, but he came through to win the third heat handily, and the extra heat under restraint.

Ovelmo Lad accounted for the 2:10 class pace by making excellent finishes under the urging of Byroade in the second and third heats.

Hugh Parshall, the Urbana (Ohio) reinsman, won the opening event with Joe Lewis, which was second choice in the auctions to Hollyrood Hunter, driven by Henry Thomas. The favorite finished second.

AMERICA'S "PLACE."

Prime Minister MACDONALD, himself in the midst of the process of ratification of the naval treaty by the House of Commons, is naturally enthusiastic about the action of our Senate. He speaks of it as giving to the United States the place which it ought to have in the whole movement for limiting naval armaments. If this opinion of his had reached Senators at Washington before their final vote it would probably have been bitterly commented upon, as further proof that we are pulling British chestnuts out of the fire. Senator JOHNSON would not have been too exhausted by the heat and his own oratory to have failed to produce some further "thunders of melodious wrath." However, the overwhelming vote for ratification and its pleased acceptance by the whole country have made an end, for the time being, of that particular form of international prejudice.

Any American who pauses to reflect will be convinced that Mr. MACDONALD is quite right. For years our Congress has been passing resolutions, and placing "riders" upon naval appropriation bills looking to agreements between the nations to cut down the strength of navies. At Washington, eight years ago, our Government took the lead in diminishing the cost of battleships, through scrapping and the declaration of what was in effect a naval holiday in building them, with the result of making wholly improbable a war between the leading naval powers. Then at Geneva in 1927, under the strong urging of President COOLIDGE, we sought an agreement to limit the numbers of cruisers. That effort failed, for reasons which need not now be dwelt upon, but came to a large measure of success at the London conference. It is the simple truth today, therefore, that the naval treaty now accepted by the United States is the culmination of a long and consistent endeavor on its part to improve the outlook for peace by reducing the instruments of war.

Doubtless the fact that this country has been the first to ratify the naval treaty will make its approval easier both in Great Britain and Japan. That was not the main motive of President HOOVER in so vigorously pressing for ratification. He had chiefly at heart, as is shown by his statement yesterday, the effect at home, along with the moral influence abroad. It was a great thing to have shown that, despite all that has been said, the Senate is not to be thought of as a "graveyard of treaties." Mr. HOOVER through skillful management in securing the aid of Democratic Senators, whose aid he acknowledges, under the lead of Senator ROBINSON of Arkansas, has done much to revive American prestige in such matters. The world now sees that it is possible for the Executive to negotiate treaties of large importance without having them torn to pieces or rejected by the Senate. In this sense, too, ratification of the naval treaty has tended to put the United States in its true "place" in international affairs.

MAYOR WALKER SPEAKS OUT.

The heads of the city departments and those who listened on the radio heard Mayor WALKER say some salutary things about the City Government. Ever since the revelations of misconduct by officials began, word from Mr. WALKER has been awaited. In action he has been correct, but such is the nature of his leadership, and so disturbing are indictments of judges and commissioners, that his silence bred uneasiness. Not a routine worker, often inaccessible to his subordinates, strongly political-minded, the Mayor, by keeping still, left room for incorrect inferences.

Did his silence mean that matters are worse than was known? Did it imply that he had become discouraged by the misdeeds of those whom he had trusted? Did it signify cynical disregard, based on the belief that the 500,000 majority of 1929 made public office in New York a sinecure? Such doubts, we continue to believe, lowered in the public mind "the morale of the Walker Administration." Perhaps the Mayor confused morale, which is the mental attitude of a group of men dependent upon such factors as zeal, hope and confidence, with morals. At any rate, the Mayor's plain words cleared the matter up. Vigilance, plus this statement of Mr. WALKER'S position, if adhered to, means better city government:

> That man or woman who is guilty of misdeeds, of irregularity, of corruption, of dishonesty, cannot stay in this administration. * * * It makes no difference whatsoever what my friendship * * * may have been. You must not only protect this administration, I repeat, but the fair name of this city. * * * I will never be guilty of conspiring to frame any man, in or out of politics, but will not tolerate for one minute any man * * * that is not an honest, from head to foot, soul. * * * The Mayor never will lose his interest in this city and he will never lose sight of the obligation that he owes to the people of this city.

Those who criticize the speech because Mr. WALKER extolled what has been done since he took office, and because he did not make specific pledges of better procedure in certain particulars, are asking more of him than they would ask of themselves in similar case. Actions speak louder than words, and if the recently manifested tendency toward greater care in the selection of officials is maintained, that alone will be worth more than three-quarters of an hour on the radio. By all the signs the Mayor knows that his administration is on trial for defects. Calling them "finger-prints" does not make them any less structural cracks. Last night he used the wall-eraser himself. But one had a feeling that the reconstruction force also got a signal to get busy.

POLITICAL FARM RELIEF.

Mr. ALEXANDER LEGGE, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, has been talking again with his characteristic frankness. He bangs away at Chambers of Commerce, the Democratic National Committee and the whole tribe of politicians. It is true that "the farmer's problem is an "economic one that will never be "solved by any political remedies." Yet the creation of the Farm Board was itself a political remedy, the least objectionable of the three chief ones proposed. The political parties fell over one another in their zeal to "do something for the farmer." By a false analogy his industry was to be put on an equality with protected industries.

A certain Czechoslovak manufacturer of women's shoes makes them too cheaply for his competitors in Massachusetts. So shoes are taken off the free list. This may comfort distressed makers of women's shoes in Massachusetts; but suppose that in a dozen States the making of women's shoes were the chief industry. What would happen to prices then? Our American wheat farmers are not only producing too much wheat, but so are their brethren in Canada, Europe and Argentina. Surpluses and carry-overs pile up. In a universal depression foreign buying power is slight. What kind of protection, what kind of equality, can the American farmer get by legislation and its administrative agencies?

Mr. LEGGE is confident that a voluntary reduction of acreage will ultimately end the piling-up of surpluses. Hitherto Nature has been the unfeeling and resistless regulator of prices. The prosperity of the American farmer has depended in large part upon the adversity of other followers of the occupation at home or abroad. Mr. LEGGE hopes to add an artificial regulation to enable the farmers, by cooperative organization under the agricultural marketing act, to control production and marketing. This is an experiment to which at least the farmers of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana—of Oklahoma, also, according to Mr. LEGGE—are willing to give the time for a trial, without prejudice. If Kansas howls to the reverberate heavens, that is only the necessity of her temperament.

Mr. LEGGE properly refuses to buy any more wheat or cotton. These essays in valorization are merely local applications, impotent in the case of a world-disease. He has a hard job. Irrespective of questions of tact and taste and expediency, he may be forgiven for using hard language. Since the Farm Board, while properly "not in politics," is the creation of politics; since farmers as voters are inexpressibly dear to all parties, he ought to be less sensitive to political attacks and "bunk." If he is no politician, he is Mr. HOOVER'S appointee. Inevitably, it is part of the business of the Democratic National Committee and of the pleasure of many anti-Hoover Republicans to damn everything that Mr. HOOVER'S Farm Board does or declines to do.

Like Mr. HOOVER, the Farm Board has "played in hard luck." There may be a reduction of that and of the wheat crop. Surely a non-politician like Mr. LEGGE can afford to be as cheerful as a politician like Senator COPELAND.

CONSTRUCTIVE CONSERVATION.

One of the most encouraging things about the conference of the New York State Economic Council, which met on Monday at Lake Placid, is the recognition by all concerned that there is such an object to work for as constructive conservation. Heretofore the tendency has been for the conservationists to be extreme in their restricting any interference with nature, whereas the lumber and other interests have resented objections to their own conduct of their own affairs. At the Lake Placid conference it was agreed upon in principle that conservation may be too rigid, and that the use of timber according to principles of scientific forestry should be substituted for the former reckless destruction of our forests without a thought for the future.

Under the present Constitution and laws, lands within the State forests and parks are to be kept for all time in their wild state. When this measure was passed it was regarded as the only method of checking the ruthless depredations of the old-fashioned lumbering interests. But, as Professor SELIGMAN pointed out, if applied too sweepingly this policy is not of greatest benefit to the people of the State. It makes it difficult or impossible to clear fallen timber and otherwise to use precautions against fire. It also means that the forests are to be locked up for all time rather than held for ultimate development on a scientific basis, as has been done in Europe.

From the conservationists at the conference came the plea to relax prohibitions of commercial cutting on certain portions of the lands to be preserved. There is no thought of throwing open the State's forests to the lumber interests. But it is proposed that within the new lands to be acquired in the so-called forest preserve counties, but outside of the present boundaries of the actual forests themselves, cutting under strict State regulation may be permitted. This is the general sense of the proposed amendment to the Constitution which is to go before the voters next Autumn. By this it is planned to add one million acres of land for purposes of reforestation.

A proposal was put forward by Mr. GEORGE A. LAWYER to the effect that a survey of the forest preserve be made to determine what portions of the area should be kept inviolate and what might be developed. This is a step further than has before been approved by conservationists. Incidentally, so long as the existing constitutional amendment is in force such a survey would be purely theoretical. But the important thing is that the principle is admitted that mere preservation does not suffice. A wise State forestry program would include setting apart certain areas as untouchable, the use of others for restricted lumbering and the addition of new areas for reforestation. All lumbering operations would be so regulated as to provide for natural reproduction. But in the meantime, movements toward a saner recognition of the need of looking far ahead must be welcomed.

VITALITY OF COLLEGE MEN.

Dr. LOUIS I. DUBLIN'S article in THE TIMES of Sunday upon the longevity of college men, based upon statistics gathered by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will provoke discussion and no doubt bring out clearly what occupations and habits are conducive to good health and long life. He would probably agree with Dr. LORAND of Carlsbad, who has said that if you desire to live to a great age the thing to do is to become an inmate of an English almshouse. But Dr. DUBLIN would only have complicated his subject by treating of diet, the outdoor life and exercise. There are, indeed, no hard and fast rules for growing old, because the inheritance of a good constitution may often be set off against careful living in the computation of years up to 80 and beyond. "The experi-"ence of life insurance companies "often shows," says Dr. DUBLIN, "that those who arrive at a ripe old "age are small and physically un-"developed people." He had to assume that the graduates of Amherst, Brown, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Wesleyan, Williams and Yale who furnished most of his statistics were intelligent enough to give more than the usual study to sensible living. In this respect, as in others, college graduates are "a picked body of men." It will be highly pleasing to the college authorities to learn from Dr. DUBLIN that the honor men, as a rule, live longest. There is this statement:

> These honor men show an extraordinary longevity, which is three and a half years better than carefully selected insured lives, and a year better than for the longest-lived population group in the world—namely, the New Zealanders.

Honor men, says Dr. DUBLIN, exhibited superior stamina "almost from the beginning." Theirs was the moderate life, fairly free from strain, mental or physical. The mortality of the athletes was conspicuously greater, although up to 50 they seem to have stood comparison well with other college men. Two things about the athletes will occur to most of us who have observed them. After graduation they either drop out of competition in their specialties or go in for some sport with the energy that characterized them in college days. In either case the effect may not be good. Overstrain is common among athletic men, and they sometimes carry it into their business pursuits.

Dr. DUBLIN notes "exceptionally "favorable mortality of the men "graduating from the smaller col-"leges," Wesleyan, Amherst, Brown, Williams. Yale men showed the highest mortality. The environment of the smaller colleges is almost rural. Dr. DUBLIN thinks their graduates may have an unusual span of life because many of them enter the ministry or become teachers. One fancies, however, that there is more of the habit-forming simple life at the smaller colleges. Dartmouth is a hill college, and yet the mortality of her graduates, "and especially among her athletes, is an enigma." There will be much comment upon Dr. DUBLIN'S thoughtful paper and perhaps challenge of its implications.

FOREIGN THEATRES HERE.

Toward the end of last May the final production of the "All-Nations Theatre" in Cleveland was presented. It was the last of twenty-two programs by twenty-nine different nationalities during successive weeks. This rather unusual theatrical experiment could be carried on by any large city with a mixed population, with the expectation of results similar to those obtained in Cleveland. In the monthly bulletin of the Foreign Language Information Service, The Interpreter, is a résumé of the first season's activity, which has not been much noted outside of Cleveland. The Cleveland Plain Dealer provided the Little Theatre and the stage settings, and the national groups did the rest, choosing plays which they considered fairly representative, bringing forward actors who spoke the language of the group and drawing audiences numbering many thousands. The first season has shown gratifying results in widening the horizons of the foreign-born players and the American audiences. Thirteen hundred people took active part in the various productions and several thousand came together to back them up.

All together thirty-six national groups were found to be interested in the project when the All-Nations Theatre was proposed. Most of them could muster a sufficient number to put on an entire program, and some ambitious productions were shown. Entertainment was not confined to straight drama. The Czechs gave SMETANA'S "The Bartered Bride" with music, and the Slovenes offered the oldest existing opera of their people, "Urh, Grof Celjski." The Italians did "Tosca," the Germans SUDERMANN'S "Die Ehre," and the Spanish-speaking players gave BENAVENTE'S "La Malquerida." Half a dozen nations turned to a kind of vaudeville, with native playlets, songs and dancing. One of the most interesting productions was by Negroes. They were already well equipped to enter the All-Nations Theatre, for they have a repertory theatre of their own. Their play was NAN BAGBY STEPHENS'S "Roseanne," and some of the Cleveland dramatic critics compared it not unfavorably with the best professional all-Negro plays of the last few seasons. The only other play in English was given by the Irish players.

Eight nationalities were too sparsely represented to justify an entire program for each, so some of them combined for an evening's entertainment.—Among these were the Dutch, who appeared for the first time in Cleveland as a national group. They were apparently so delighted to come together that they formed a society, "Nederlandia," and next year plan to be prepared for the second season.

There will be one, for The Plain Dealer will again make the same provisions. The programs are certain to be of great value to many more than those participating. They offer to the foreign born an opportunity for remembering and expressing a valuable part of their inheritance, and they help to interpret other nations to American audiences.

POPULATION MARGINS.

In 1920, according to the Health Department's statement on the shrinking margin between birth-rates and death-rates, New York City's natural increase was 10½ per 1,000 of the population. Last year the gain was only 7 per 1,000. This would mean that ten years ago the natural addition to the city's population was about 58,000; last year it was about 50,000, and in the intervening years it was an average between these two numbers. Altogether the city's gain in the decade would have been roughly about 550,000 by excess of births over deaths, leaving immigration from foreign countries and from the United States to account for the additional 765,000 increase implied in the two Federal censuses.

Health Commissioner WYNNE suggests that we are approaching the state of things now prevalent in the big German cities, where the excess of births over deaths has virtually disappeared, or, as in the case of Berlin, the death-rate has actually outstripped the birth-rate in the last three years. We have still some distance to go to acquire a natural deficit, but it may be a matter of not much more than a decade. In twenty years the margin has thinned from 11 per 1,000 of the population to 7. The shrinkage has been held down by the remarkable results obtained in cutting down the death-rate while the birth-rate has been falling. Such impressive triumphs over death cannot continue at anything like the same rate, since the victories have been almost entirely in reducing infant mortality. Most of the diseases that took heavy toll of young life are now under control, while the death-rate in middle age and beyond is showing, if anything, a tendency to rise.

The extraordinary results obtained in the reduction of the death-rate have drawn attention away from serious implications in the tobogganing birth-rate. Easily and unarithmetically, we have assumed, in face of a universally recognized decline in births, that we could indefinitely go on making up deficits by combating mortality. But it has got to the point where students of population are asserting that the Western nations, having in mind the next half-century as affected by the decline of present fertility, are even now not reproducing themselves.

The falling birth-rate is a world-wide and steadily advancing phenomenon. It is nevertheless subject to local and periodic fluctuation. Economic conditions usually count. The Health Department's figures for twenty-one Japanese towns, for instance, show a rise from 27.6 in 1926 to 32.1 in 1928, which would probably reflect the country's recovery from the terrible earthquake of 1923. So the situation in the German towns, with a birth-rate nearly 20 per cent lower than in the French cities, would measure the comparative state of prosperity in the two countries. Within each country there is a striking rate of variation between Paris with a birth-rate of 15 and Rouen with 22.6, or between Berlin with 9.6 and Leipzig with 12.6. Where the birth-rate is obviously so subject to fluctuation it is not impossible that its decline may be checked or even reversed over a period of years by sufficiently powerful economic or moral forces.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Low Temperatures and Other Lows.

It is not probable that many New Yorkers, suffering from this week's weather, stopped mopping brows to wonder whether the floor members of the New York Stock Exchange were comfortable. Heat, as GROVER CLEVELAND said of guilt, is personal. But if truck drivers or traffic policemen paused to think of conditions on the floor of the Exchange, their concern was unnecessary. The Stock Exchange has a cooling system which makes its floor temperatures considerably lower than those of any refrigerated movie theatre in town.

Yet, such is life's irony, the members don't need the cooling system particularly at this time. Business is slack, and even if refrigeration were not installed, the amount of activity would not bring many prostrations. The ranks are thin because orders are not coming in very rapidly. There is little swarming about any of the posts. A hot wave which came to town simultaneously with a great bull or bear movement would give the cooling system an opportunity to attain its full beneficial capacity.

Golf Takes to Cover.

The craze for miniature golf courses continues to spread, with new links sprouting on vacant city lots all over the country. The latest development threatens to tame the game still further and make it an indoor sport.

The owners of a movie house, now dark, in Kew Gardens, are planning to tear down the screen, turn a deaf ear to the talkies, and install a fairway down the enchanted aisles. The balcony would become a sort of country-club veranda, where ice cream and soft drinks would be served to tired players. Here, too, would be discussed the wagers with which players are said to add zest to the miniature game.

If the house is one of those refrigerated palaces that gave rise to this Summer's simile, "as cool as the movies," it may be expected to draw golfers from its outdoor neighbors. An opportunity to enjoy the cool temperatures of the Scotch moors on a sizzling July day and to escape the rigors of wintry blasts in January should make the theatre course a year-round delight for the golfer who takes his game in small doses.

Incidentally, musicians thrown out of work by the mechanical talkies, and even some of the more desperate of unemployed actors, might find work on the links or as caddies, in a pleasantly familiar atmosphere.

Care in Going Back to Nature.

Two deviations from the 100 per cent gospel of air and sunshine are contained in the hot-weather suggestions issued by Surgeon General CUMMINGS of the United States Public Health Service. The recommendation to keep the windows closed does not come as a novelty. Shutting the windows in the morning against the sun-baked air and opening them to the cool of evening has been practiced by many. Yet there are those who regard it as disloyalty to the doctrine of fresh air at any price.

The Surgeon General's advice to wear hats out of doors comes a bit too late to do the hatters much good. It will render him exceedingly unpopular with the bareheaded males who in increasing numbers have been stalking over Manhattan Island with the virtuous glow of so many Robinson Crusoes; except that Crusoe always has his fur hat on in the pictures.

Yet the danger of heat-stroke is worth thinking about, and one recalls that the most conspicuous badge of the white man in the tropics is his pith helmet. The Surgeon General would seem therefore to be speaking straight common sense, even if it deprives the anti-Danburyites of their midsummer as well as their midwinter campaign.

St. Kilda's Human Remnant.

A recent count showed that only eight able-bodied men, with a few old men, women and children, are left on bleak and remote St. Kilda, the largest island of the Outer Hebrides off the coast of Scotland. They are getting tired of isolation. A peculiar people, they have been proud of their "native heath," which, however, is nearly all rock. Inland is a tract of forty acres, which will grow potatoes, oats and barley. Some sheep and cattle are raised. The inhabitants speak Gaelic.

One might expect that the seas would provide fish, but there is no harbor for smacks on St. Kilda—only a landing-place too often surf-beaten. In the past the puffins, petrels, guillemots, Manx shearwaters and solan-geese have yielded oil and food. Eight months of the year St. Kilda is inaccessible.

A London newspaper states that "St. Kilda will soon be left to the desolation of the wind and the waves, and only a sentimentalist will shed a tear." For hundreds of years the title was in the Macleods. In 1779 a chief of the clan sold it, but a hundred years later a Macleod bought it back for £3,000. If the inhabitants abandon the island, it may be again in the market.

CRITICIZING DR. COPELAND.

Senator's Remarks on Chain Stores Are Called Uninformed.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice in THE TIMES that Senator Copeland took occasion to voice his disapproval of chain store companies in a speech before the garment trade.

I have no objection to Senator Copeland's personal feelings in regard to chain stores. Neither have I any objection to his public utterance on the subject, so long as he sticks to the truth. However, I do think that any business paying taxes has a right to demand that public men in discussing the merits of that business inform themselves fully on the subject before they express themselves publicly.

Among other things, Senator Copeland stated: "I am opposed to chain stores. When a chain store enters a city block, ten other stores close up." To take that statement literally would mean that chain stores are a serious menace to the commercial fabric of our country; that they should be outlawed at once, and Senator Copeland has been very derelict in his duty in not bringing such facts before the Federal Trade Commission.

Statistics on chain stores and independently owned stores are available to any one seeking enlightenment on the subject. Several agencies, including the Federal Reserve Bank and the Department of Commerce, as well as about twenty-five other competent bureaus, are continuously gathering comparative data on this subject.

For example, take the grocery industry. Reliable statistics on the subject show there are approximately 400,000 grocery retailers operating in the United States, of which 57,000 are chain stores. If Senator Copeland's statement were true, there would be no independents at all.

The Senator gave as an additional reason for opposition that "in the smaller cities and towns the chain stores contribute nothing to the community. Chain stores are parasites, and I think they undermine the foundation of the country."

Are the chain stores exempt from taxes of any form? Do they pay lower wages? Do they employ less labor? Do they sell inferior merchandise? Do they sell merchandise at a higher price level than the independent? Is the chain store less attractive and less sanitary?

Does Senator Copeland think that by saving the consuming public millions of dollars annually the chains are undermining the foundation of the country? May I suggest that Senator Copeland inform himself on the subject, or else in future confine his remarks to modern medical science? D. W. WEBB.

TIME.

And what is Time? It is, say I,
  Our world's unending serial,
The span wherein we live and die,
  Achievement's raw material.

A man with all the Time there is,
  Or what the Fates allot of it,
Employs that spaciousness of his
  In killing every jot of it.

While graver men with Time enough
  (Which means an ample store of it)
Are wont to waste the precious stuff
  In wishing they had more of it;

Or, laying out each day in squares
  And paring it and shaving it,
They lose whatever Time is theirs
  Devising means of saving it.

Since Time, while men, and women too,
  Are handling it in every way,
Will flit no matter what we do,
  Why fret about it, anyway?

So I, with all the Time I need
  To have a pleasant time of it,
Refuse to give its passage heed,
  But spin a little rhyme of it.

GERMAN POLITICS.

An American Representative of the Social Democrats Gives the Viewpoint of That Party Toward the Elections.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Dissolution of the Reichstag and what is styled in the American press the dictatorship of Chancellor Bruening are the logical outgrowth of a situation for which the Bruening Cabinet and its parliamentary forces are entirely responsible. After the defeat of the Coalition Government under the Socialist Chancellor Mueller, after twenty-one months of highly satisfactory work—it is enough to mention the ratification of the Young plan and the successful negotiations for the liberation of the Rhineland—it became clear that the People's party, made up mostly of industrialists and leading financiers, and the Centrists believed the time had come to govern in Germany without the Socialists and to draw the necessary parliamentary help from reactionary and Nationalist quarters.

As a result of this strange reasoning and statesmanship, a group of independent Nationalists under Deputy Treviranus joined the Bruening coalition. Treviranus became Minister of Occupied Territories, and the Agrarian leader Dr. Schiele Minister of Agriculture. There can be no doubt that the majority of the Bruening coalition hoped to gain in this way the active help and collaboration of the Nationalist party under Dr. Hugenberg and Count Westarp. But not only was the expected collaboration of the Nationalists quite unsatisfactory, but their attitude toward the government was so doubtful and skeptical that last April only a last minute break within the Nationalist party's ranks and the open defiance of Dr. Hugenberg's orders by a number of Nationalist Deputies saved the Bruening Cabinet.

This time the situation was similar and the fate of the government, and incidentally of the Reichstag, depended once again upon the dissenting votes of the Nationalist Deputies. A group of Deputies under Count Westarp voted for the government, but their number was not sufficient to save the Bruening Cabinet and the Reichstag. This kind of collaboration between the Bruening coalition and the Nationalist party under Hugenberg shows better than anything else what must be expected from political deals with the avowed enemies of German democracy. It shows, furthermore, that the Bruening Cabinet only reaped what it had sown by its short-sighted policy.

Ever since last Spring things have gone from bad to worse. Already, in the Mueller Cabinet, the Socialists were asked to accede to the unreasonable tax demands of the People's party, demands which were refused in the interest of the German working masses. As soon as the new Cabinet under Dr. Bruening was formed, the new Minister of Finance and highly acclaimed financial "wizard" of the People's party, Dr. Moldenhauer, assured a speedy reorganization of German finances and a prompt wiping-out of the ever growing deficit in the Federal budget. An atmosphere of optimism reigned which, despite Socialist warnings, was kept up until it was plainly seen that the financial program of Dr. Moldenhauer did not meet with the approval of the Reichstag. Moldenhauer resigned and the Democratic Deputy, Dr. Dietrich, took his place.

The Social Democratic party understands fully that the financial situation of the Federal Government makes drastic steps necessary. But what we strongly object to are taxes and sacrifices entirely aimed at the poor and suffering working masses, sacrifices totally out of proportion to the taxes imposed upon the rich and the industrialists, who have greatly benefited by the starvation wages of the German worker and the so-called industrial rationalization ruthlessly enforced under one pretext or another. We, nevertheless, tried to smooth out the differences and to collaborate with the Bruening Government so long as its tax proposals seemed reasonable and did not discriminate against the German working class. But a financial policy which places the burden of the government upkeep mostly on the shoulders of the workingman and leaves the industrialists almost untouched is bound to encounter the most energetic resistance of the German Social Democratic party. The development of the last months fully proves that any attempt to govern in Germany without the Socialists, or even against them, must meet with ultimate failure.

The application of Article 48 of the German Federal Constitution, basis of the virtual dictatorship of Chancellor Bruening, is in no way justified. The Socialists insist that Article 48, which says that "if public safety and order in the German Commonwealth is materially disturbed or endangered, the President may take the necessary measures to restore the public safety and order, and if necessary intervene by force of arms," is under no circumstances whatsoever applicable to the present crisis. The National Assembly of Weimar certainly did not desire to give to the Federal Government such a sweeping "plain pouvoir" in order to meet an unfavorable parliamentary situation. Article 48 was clearly aimed at disturbances of public peace and order and was used for that end by the late President Ebert.

The political demands of the Nationalist leader Hugenberg, as submitted to the Chancellor before the fateful roll-call in the Reichstag, show plainly that Hugenberg's intentions go much further than the salvation of the Federal budget. Conditions like the cancellation of the Young plan, the tearing up of the German-Polish commercial treaty and the German-Polish liquidation agreement, the dissolution of the smoothly functioning government coalition in Prussia, prove beyond a doubt that the fight of the intransigents is directed against the very life of the German Republic. It was only natural, however, that the Chancellor of the republic should flatly refuse such outrageous demands.

German political life will for the next three months centre around the coming elections. I do not believe that they will bring a satisfactory solution to the present crisis or help toward the establishment of a safe homogeneous majority. In the present state of political confusion, especially among the younger elements, it looks as if the extreme parties, the Fascisti and the Communists, will benefit by the elections, mainly gaining from the expected losses of the strife-ridden bourgeois and Nationalist parties.

So far as the Social Democratic party, Germany's leading political unit, is concerned, we can afford to go before the German electorate and let the voters decide if our fight against the attitude of the government parties and their allies is justified. The Social Democratic party is the only German political party of today which is not affected by party strife and internal dissensions. The party had, at the beginning of May, 1,021,777 dues-paying members, organized in thirty-three district organizations and 9,544 local groups. In 1929 the membership increase amounted to 84,416 members. In the same year 628 new local groups were founded. The total membership gain within the last four years amounted to 215,509 members. The party had 153 seats in the late Reichstag, the result of the elections of 1928, which showed over nine million votes for the Socialists. The different State Legislatures have a total of 532 Social Democratic Deputies. There are 947 Socialist Mayors, 9,057 Socialist municipal Deputies in 1,372 cities and towns and many thousands of representatives in other State, municipal and rural administrations.

The Socialist party, forming part of German national life in all its political, economic and social aspects, is the only secure factor in German politics. Only with it and resting on its strength is a German Government possible. Dr. S. LIPSCHITZ, American Correspondent of the Social Democratic Press Service of Berlin.

HIGH COST OF THE CURE.

State Should Reduce Prices in Saratoga Springs Development.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE TIMES editorial on the development by New York State of Saratoga Springs is highly commendable in its praise of the individuals who are to control such development. Nor does it exaggerate when it speaks of the quality and vast quantities of the healing waters, and of their capacity for being of "incalculable value to suffering human beings." Governor Roosevelt, in his address June 23 before the convention of the Independent Order B'rith Abraham at Saratoga Springs, intimated that it was his intention to have the springs developed until Saratoga rivaled and surpassed all of the world's existing watering places.

In this regard I think it is advisable, even at this early date, for one or two angles of the problem to come to the attention of the public and the Peabody commission. At the present time the cost of using the baths, including the necessary tips, is close upon $3 for each occasion. This, it is apparent, puts the benefits of the baths beyond the reach of the average salaried person, who, of course, cannot afford to journey to Michigan or Germany for similar treatment. I am reliably informed that there are constant complaints made by sufferers to the effect that they are unable to avail themselves of this gift of nature because of the excessive fees. It would seem that it is of the utmost importance to arrange matters so that fees be reduced to a sum more nearly approaching the financial ability of the person who is most likely to use Saratoga Springs. Merely to better the facilities and to increase the accommodations, without reducing the rates, would be once again to curtail the use of the baths to persons who earn slightly above average salaries. We must remember, too, that there are hotel bills to be considered.

Certainly, in no event should the work be approached with a view toward obtaining revenue for the State. If the operation of the springs can be placed upon a self-supporting basis, all well and good. And it is not improbable that it might be for the best interests of the State and its citizens to provide for the expenses of developing and maintaining the baths by nominal fees supplemented by funds from the State's treasury. This would indeed be a humane provision.

Bridge Mathematics.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I cannot help but wonder who the "bridge mathematicians" may be who are guilty of such a grievous error in their calculations as to the odds against a hand containing thirteen cards of the same suit being dealt.

I see on the editorial page of THE TIMES this morning certain figures. Space prohibits repeating this long row, but were I to state that 1-1,000 part of the diameter of a human hair was equal to the distance between the earth and the sun, my error would be no greater than the error in the figures. As a matter of fact, the chances against a complete suit being dealt to one player are approximately seventy-seven and one-half billion to one, but this is an infinitely better chance than that represented by the much larger sum given in your paper.

To the great majority of people this is most unimportant, but if any of your readers are sufficiently interested, I will be glad to supply the exact figure and the method of calculation. LEWIS L. BAXTER.

CHARLES L. GUY DIES; RETIRED JUSTICE

FOUND LIFE TOO SEDENTARY

Sought "New Career" in Law Practice—Ardent Foe of Prohibition and Alimony.

[illegible] New York Times.

[illegible] Conn., July 22.—[illegible] formerly justice of the Supreme Court of New York, died here last night of heart disease. He was 75 years old. Since last November ex-Justice Guy had been in ill health. Funeral services, which will be private, will be held on Thursday at his home in New York City.

The former Supreme Court justice is survived by his widow, Eliza Bowen Guy, and two daughters, Mrs. Francis R. Dieuaide, living in Peiping, China, and Mrs. Harold De Yoe Dyke of Syracuse.

Laughing at old age, Justice Guy insisted on keeping active to the very last. Five years ago, at the age of 70, after having spent more than twenty years as a justice of the Supreme Court, he decided to abandon the "sedentary" life of the bench and to take a "more active" part in life. Accordingly he opened new law offices and began his "new career," explaining:

Justice Guy was noted for his strong opposition to prohibition and to the payment of alimony. The former he characterized as "monstrous," while alimony, he said, placed an "unfair" burden on the man. Justice Guy was equally vigorous in the denunciation of capital punishment, recommending life imprisonment as the much better way of punishing a criminal.

"Prohibition is the most monstrous thing that has happened in history," he once said in a public address. "The government might as well have published a notice that it was going to bomb Times Square and sacrifice those who did not happen to read the notice."

In his long career Justice Guy had many occasions to observe thousands of matrimonial wrecks. Commenting on the "alimony evil," he remarked:

"I would make marriage harder, rather than have greater ease in securing divorces. Lax divorce laws are the greatest bane of civilization. Marriage is a divine partnership. It is a partnership mentally and morally. It is a case of give and take. The man and woman must each surrender to the other. Marriage is the most serious business in the world.

"As a matter of equity, the principle involved in matrimony is practically one of joint venture, aside from the sacramental features of marriage, and the general principle applicable to joint venture is that when parties to a joint venture abandon, or are compelled to discontinue the enterprise, they should, after assuming jointly whatever loss has been sustained through the venture, be placed as nearly as possible in the position they occupied when the venture or enterprise started."

Justice Guy was a native of New York City, having been born on Jan. 6, 1856, the son of Pierre and Sarah Beaumont Swift Guy. On his mother's side he was a descendant of General Herman Swift, who before the Revolution was county judge of Litchfield County, Connecticut.

He was educated in the New York public schools. After being graduated from the College of the City of New York he went to the Columbia University Law School. He served, after graduation, in the law offices of Elihu Root, acquiring much valuable experience. He was admitted to the bar in 1881 and was appointed assistant to the Surrogate of New York County, from which position he resigned in 1893. He was then elected to the Senate from the Thirteenth District. He remained an active and enthusiastic Democrat from the day when he first joined the Democratic party in 1877 to his death.

Justice Guy was elected to the Supreme Court in November, 1906, and was re-elected in 1920 for a fourteen-year term. Less than seven years later he resigned to take up his "new career."

Walking was Justice Guy's chief form of recreation. He was a member of the Arbitration Society of America and the Federation of Music Clubs. He also belonged to the Manhattan and Economics Clubs and was a member of the American Geographical Society.

EX-JUSTICE CHARLES L. GUY.

CARL BERGER IS DEAD; LEADER IN POLITICS

Prominent Figure in Queens Democratic Party Dies of Heart Disease at 58.

Carl Berger, president of the Ridgewood Democratic Club and Democratic leader of the Sixth Assembly District, Queens, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at his home, 300 St. Nicholas Avenue, Ridgewood, Queens. He was discovered by Michael Sutter, who made his home with him. Death was due to heart disease aggravated by the extreme heat. Mr. Berger is survived by his widow, Violette Orleman Berger, a physician, who is in Germany.

Mr. Berger was born in Germany fifty-eight years ago. He came to Ridgewood in 1892, where he went into the building business, erected many homes and is believed to have thus made a fortune. He then joined in the organization of banks, also the Ridgewood Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations. Mr. Berger had long been active in Democratic politics. He was made an inspector of the Tenement House Department in 1902 and held that position until 1906, when he was made superintendent of the Queens Building Bureau by Borough President Lawrence Gresser. Later he served two terms as a State Senator.

When Maurice E. Connolly lost his political power, Mr. Berger became one of the most influential members of his party in Queens. Immediately following the primary election in 1928 when Bernard M. Patten and the old Connolly guard elected their members of the county committee, Berger, Albert C. Benninger and August Fahrenkopf appeared at the organization meeting of the county committee and demanded that the rules be changed so as to permit the election of the county executive committee. Their plan was overruled by the Connolly old guard. Then Berger and Benninger joined the Good Government party led by Transit Commissioner Frank X. Sullivan and gave to that movement nearly all of its real strength.

In the National campaign, Berger and his friends conferred with State Chairman Bray and brought about the arrangement that resulted in Governor Alfred E. Smith carrying Queens by a substantial majority. Since that time Berger has supported his friend, Benninger, and was largely responsible for the latter's recent appointment as Park Commissioner of Queens. He and Benninger were planning to bring about further harmony among the Queens Democrats at the coming Fall primary and election.

FUNERAL MASS SUNG FOR MGR. M'ENTYRE

Cardinal Hayes, 2 Bishops and More Than 200 Priests Attend Service at St. Patrick's.

EULOGY BY MGR. CHIDWICK

President of Dunwoodie Seminary Is Praised as Great Influence and Help to Young Priests.

Cardinal Hayes, two Bishops, more than a score of Monsignori and more than 200 priests participated in the funeral of Mgr. James T. McEntyre, president of St. Joseph's Theological Seminary, Dunwoodie, N. Y., which was held yesterday morning in St. Patrick's Cathedral. Mgr. McEntyre died Friday at Rosary Hill Home, a private hospital at Hawthorne, N. Y. He had been head of the seminary eight years.

Cardinal Hayes was the celebrant of a high mass of requiem, and he pronounced the final absolution. The other prelates present were the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, and the Right Rev. Thomas W. Drumm, Bishop of Des Moines, Iowa. Eighty students of the seminary in vestments walked before the priests in the long procession. In a front pew was Miss Ann McEntyre, an aged sister of the president of the seminary.

The sermon was delivered by Mgr. John P. Chidwick, pastor of St. Agnes's Church, who preceded Mgr. McEntyre as president of Dunwoodie.

The assistant priest at the service was Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of the cathedral. Deacons of honor to the Cardinal were Mgr. John F. Brady, pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, and Mgr. Patrick N. Breslin, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, the Bronx. The deacon of the mass was the Rev. Joseph McCarthy, pastor of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Dunwoodie, and for some years a professor at the seminary. The subdeacon of the mass was the Rev. James O'Mahoney, who succeeded Mgr. McEntyre as pastor of St. Teresa's Church, where the Monsignor served twenty-two years.

The masters of ceremony were the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Scanlan, vice president and acting president of the seminary; Mgr. Stephen J. Donahue, secretary to the Cardinal, and the Rev. Henry F. Hammer of the cathedral staff.

The music of the mass was sung by the Priests' Choir of the Archdiocese of New York under the direction of the Rev. Michael J. Shea. There was a delegation of twenty priests from the Diocese of Albany and many nuns.

In his sermon, Mgr. Chidwick said: "Those of us who knew Mgr. McEntyre know that his whole life was one unswerving preparation for this moment, which came at last in answer to prayer."

Mgr. Chidwick said that in his early priesthood Mgr. McEntyre was "a daily visitor at the pest house on North Brother's Island, bringing consolation and benediction." The preacher stated that Mgr. McEntyre had been the helper, the friend, the adviser, while pastor of St. Theresa's, to the late Mother Alphonsa Lathrop, daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, in her work in founding and carrying on St. Rose's Free Home for Incurable Cancer, now at 71 Jackson Street.

"No wonder that when the presidency of our seminary was vacated his Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, turned to Mgr. McEntyre," continued Mgr. Chidwick. "The seminary is the great reservoir of power. Blessed are those students who had the benediction of his presidency. God grant that the lessons they learned from him may sink deeply into their souls."

The burial was in Calvary Cemetery, with the Rev. Dr. Scanlan officiating.

CULLMAN CRITICIZES INSURANCE CLINICS

Denies Beha's Assertion of Better Care of Accident Cases Than in Hospitals.

HITS TRANSFER OF PATIENTS

Injured Workers Are Taken From Skilled Surgeons When Able to Walk, He Declares.

Howard S. Cullman of the Hospital Committee on Workmen's Compensation Insurance charged yesterday that insurance companies, in order to save all possible hospital expenses, frequently ordered the transfer from hospitals to their own clinics, of all injured workmen, as soon as they were able to walk.

This charge was contained in a letter written by Mr. Cullman to James H. Beha, counsel and general manager of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Mr. Beha had previously defended the activities of insurance companies in workmen's compensation cases.

Mr. Cullman denied the assertion by Mr. Beha that better care can be given in insurance clinics than in private hospitals.

"The patient in the average private hospital," he wrote, "has available the best medical and professional brains that can be encouraged. The average physician considers affiliation with a private hospital an honor, and most physicians and surgeons contribute their services, not for financial gain, but for the actual experience and clinical knowledge that they may gather."

Hits at Companies' Attitude.

Mr. Cullman's committee believed that it is not possible to attract the "best of surgical and medical brains" to insurance and commercial clinics on a weekly stipend. Such physicians or surgeons, who do accept the salaries offered to them, are employes of the insurance companies, and are interested from a commercial and financial aspect in the recovery of the patient, the letter goes on.

"But what is the attitude of the insurance company?" he writes. "They are more than willing to have the professional men in the hospitals handle the cases of injured workers, for bed care on which the hospitals are taking a substantial loss, and then, when these particular patients become ambulant patients, irrespective of the treatment that is being given by outstanding physicians and surgeons, in most cases the patients are automatically transferred, by the insurance companies, to commercial or insurance company clinics, where often there is a very different type of treatment offered to them than they have been receiving."

Makes Plea for Cooperation.

In reply to Mr. Beha's assertion that conditions were satisfactory, Mr. Cullman stated that the appointment of his committee was the result of the unanimous agreement of all institutions that there was a distinct need for such a body, and that the experience of private hospitals operating in New York with many of the insurance companies was such that it was deemed necessary to have conditions investigated immediately.

He concludes with a hope that the insurance companies will cooperate with the primary purpose of the committee and see that the best professional service is always available to the injured workman, and secure for the patient a neutral, disinterested treatment "that has only his welfare at heart and that is not directly or indirectly interested from a commercial aspect in his recovery."

MRS. GREENHUT LEFT ESTATE OF $2,030,189

Mrs. Clara Greenhut, who died at the Hotel Chatham on April 19, 1927, and was the widow of Captain Joseph B. Greenhut, department store head, left an estate appraised yesterday at $2,181,446 gross and $2,030,189 net. The bulk of the estate consisted of $1,406,302 due her from the Monmouth Securities Corporation, a family holding corporation, on certificates of indebtedness. She had personal effects worth $11,672 and cash amounting to $10,737. A trust fund made by Mrs. Greenhut in 1919 valued at $620,261, which went to her daughter, Fanny, upon her death, was also included in the appraisal.

The appraisal shows that the Monmouth company had total assets of $1,737,207, which included $1,361,106 in securities, but owed $3,758,974, including the indebtedness to Mrs. Greenhut. Among the securities were $441,045 of stock in the Big Store Realty Corporation, 500 shares of National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago, worth $171,500, and 1,241 shares National Cooperage and Woodenware Company, valued at $93,075. The appraisal shows that the cooperage stock became reduced in value after the advent of prohibition when the lack of demand for barrels caused the company to close eight of its nine barrel and stave factories.

Mrs. Greenhut gave $766,831 to her son, Benedict J. Greenhut, and $596,424 to her son, Nelson. Three sisters and two brothers received $5,000 each.

Samuel D. Mott Estate.

PATERSON, N. J., July 22 (AP).—Samuel D. Mott, inventor, scientific writer and associate of Thomas A. Edison in the early days of the development of electric lighting, left one-tenth interest in all his patents to former Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and disinherited five of his eight children. The will was admitted to probate here today in the office of Surrogate Frederic Biggs. Mr. Mott bequeathed his personal estate to his daughter, Delinda Mott.

"MERCY KILLER" IN ASYLUM.

Walton Man Who Murdered Daughter Confined in Binghamton.

WALTON, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—Declared insane by a commission of alienists who examined him yesterday, Andrew Beers, 79-year-old "mercy killer," was committed to the Binghamton State Hospital today for an indefinite period by Delaware County Judge Andrew J. McNaught.

District Attorney Robert B. Craft said if Beers at any time is declared to have recovered his sanity at the hospital, he can be returned to Delhi for indictment. Beers had been held at the county jail in Delhi on a first-degree murder charge.

Beers killed his mentally-blighted daughter, Frances, aged 27, because, as he told police, he feared she might fall into unkind hands after his death.

FROM THE FOUNDER'S WRITINGS

"What Was He Worth?" Is a Question Often Asked Between Men

when some individual life has come to an ending. Personal appearance, place of residence, special traits are seldom mentioned, but the talk is all of his estates, his bank and other stocks, bonds and mortgages.

Far better would it be if after we have finished the earthly course, we should be valued for what we did for our city, its schools, its hospitals, its poor, blind and afflicted people. We ought to be worth something to our nation and the city where we reside.

John Wanamaker

FINGERPRINTING BAN SET IN TRAFFIC CASES

Magistrate Dodge in Bronx Frees Five Offenders as He Learns of Records Taken.

CALLS METHOD "INDIGNITY"

First Hears of "Outrageous" Plan From Peddler, Assessed $2, Who Was Locked Up.

FINE PAYERS ARE EXEMPT

Department of Correction Cites Law Making It Mandatory to Take Such Impressions.

Fingerprinting of traffic violators and other petty offenders who go to prison because they cannot pay fines was denounced as "outrageous" in Bronx traffic court yesterday by Magistrate William C. Dodge. He suspended the sentences of five persons who could not pay their fines rather than send them to jail and submit them to the "indignity" of being fingerprinted.

Magistrate Dodge had just learned of such fingerprinting by keepers of the Department of Correction in the prison connected with the court house. The keepers said the order to do this was received several weeks ago by telephone from the office of Richard C. Patterson Jr., Commissioner of Correction.

Robert L. Tudor, acting commissioner in charge of the department in the absence on vacation of Commissioner Patterson, said that he knew of no such recent order. No such order would have been necessary, he said, as it has been the practice since 1928 to take the fingerprints of similar minor offenders as soon as they reach the jurisdiction of the Department of Correction. The fingerprints would thus be taken when the offenders were sent to prison, but not when they paid the fines, he explained. Under the law of 1928, he said, the department has no discretion in the matter and must record the fingerprints.

Magistrate Saves Youth from Jail.

Magistrate Dodge was showing the court procedure to Magistrate Leonard A. McGee, newly appointed, when John Curtin, 19 years old, of 859 Hunts Point Avenue, appeared before him and was fined $25 for speeding and $1 for not having a license. He paid the larger amount, but did not have another dollar for the second fine. As he was being led away to prison Magistrate Dodge called him back, remitted the fine and denounced the fingerprinting procedure.

The magistrate declared that he would sign no commitments against petty offenders who could not pay their fines.

The order requiring fingerprinting in such cases, he asserted, put respectable citizens in the same category with hardened criminals, and made matters worse by forcing them to associate with criminals because they were too poor to pay the small fines.

Four other offenders who faced two days in prison had their sentences suspended to avoid the fingerprinting. Harry Migdol of 788 Fox Street, Louis Rothstein of 2 Amsterdam Place, Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Joseph Bellafere of 6,630 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, were unable to pay fines of $25. Paul Zoellner of 220 East Eighty-fourth Street could not pay the $5 fine for passing a traffic light.

Magistrate Dodge learned of the fingerprinting when a peddler who was fingerprinted in prison after he could not pay a $2 fine told the magistrate of his experience.

Law That Orders Fingerprinting.

The fingerprinting is done under Section 940 of Chapter 875 of the laws of 1928, according to Commissioner Tudor. This provides:

"In order that the courts and public officials dealing with criminals may have accurate information as to the identity of persons charged with crime, there is hereby conferred and imposed upon the chief of police or peace officer performing such functions, in each city, town and village, and upon sheriffs, members of the State constabulary, the railway police, the aqueduct police, the State park police and all other peace officers making arrests, the power and duty of causing to be taken, upon arrest, finger and thumb prints, and if necessary the photograph, of every person arrested and charged with a felony or with any of the misdemeanors and offenses specified in Section 552 of this code."

These misdemeanors, Mr. Tudor said, include traffic violations and violation of the regulations for peddlers. Mr. Tudor cited also a provision of the laws of 1929 providing for return to the offender of the fingerprints in case he wins an acquittal upon appeal. He said he thought the trouble arose because those who pay fines do not come under the department's jurisdiction and are not fingerprinted.

BRIDESMAIDS AT FUNERAL.

Friends of Dead Young Woman Wear Costumes Meant for Wedding.

Attired in the costumes they were to have worn at her wedding, the friends of Lena Lo Cascio, 20 years old, of 752 Boulevard, Bayonne, marched yesterday down the aisles of St. Henry's Roman Catholic Church, Bayonne, the young women carrying bouquets in their hands, the young men with flowers in their buttonholes, as participants in their friend's funeral.

Miss Lo Cascio was to be married to Thomas Pirozzi, 21 years old, next September. Before she died on Sunday she asked that she be dressed in her bridal costume, and that all the ushers and bridesmaids act as her pallbearers. She was dressed in white and her wishes were carried out. Following the casket down the aisle were ushers. Preceding the casket were the bridesmaids, all dressed in white.

The body of Miss Lo Cascio was interred in the New York Bay Cemetery, Bayonne.

Seven Foxes Take Up City Life; Live in Riverdale Quarry

Quiet Riverdale, with its shaded homes on the ridge between Van Cortlandt Park and the Hudson River, has been shaken out of its repose, not by the march of urban progress, but by an unexpected relapse into the primitive. Two wandering red foxes have located there and started raising five furry cubs.

Between Palisade Avenue, overlooking the river, and Riverdale Avenue, at West 260th Street, are twenty-two acres owned by Jacobus Keur of 5,625 Mosholu Parkway, the Bronx. On the property is a deserted stone quarry, and somewhere just about there the foxes have their lair. Near-by residents have seen the cubs, "cutting up" in the Summer sun.

Stranger than wild foxes within the city limits, insofar as the police at the Kingsbridge station are concerned, is the fact that they have not received a stream of complaints from upset citizens.

CITY AT LOW RATE GETS $130,000,000

Short-Term Loans Made in Wall Street Transactions at From 2¾ to 2⅞ Per Cent.

LITTLE LIKELY FOR PUBLIC

The city of New York has made one of its periodic visits to Wall Street for a short-term loan, borrowing a total of $130,000,000 from the Chase National Bank, J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City Bank and Barr Brothers & Co., Inc. Controller Berry took advantage of the low interest rates now prevailing to anticipate the city's need for funds for its various construction programs, including subways, schools, docks and water supply and for sundry purposes.

The city marketed $78,000,000 of corporate stock, $40,000,000 of revenue bills, $7,000,000 of tax notes and $5,000,000 of special revenue obligations. The maturities on these issues range from Nov. 28, 1930, to March 16, 1931. The interest cost to the city is from 2¾ to 2⅞ per cent. As only a relatively small part will be spent by the city immediately, the balance will be placed on deposit until required.

This borrowing is strictly in the nature of a banking transaction so that it is not expected that any considerable part of the loan will be reoffered to the public. The Controller solicited bids privately from a number of Wall Street banks and investment banking houses and awarded the issues to the highest bidders. The Chase National Bank was allocated $57,000,000, J. P. Morgan & Co., $35,000,000, the National City Bank, $30,000,000, and Barr Brothers & Co., Inc., who are specialists in New York City securities, $8,000,000. In each case the purchaser received part of his share in the various types of paper and varying maturities.

The usual procedure of the city is to borrow to finance current construction programs by means of short-term loans which will later be refunded at maturity by other such loans or by long-term bond issues. When the city marketed its last issue of long-term bonds and corporate stock on Dec. 11, 1929, in the amount of $65,000,000, Controller Berry stated that no further long-term financing would be done for at least a year.

At present the market for tax exempt securities are almost bare of short-term issues so that the city was able to obtain a loan of this magnitude at a comparatively low cost.

LAUDS AMERICAN DOCTORS.

Dr. Fruhwald, Vienna Specialist, Impressed by Medical Methods Here

Commendation of American hospitals and medical methods was expressed yesterday by Dr. Victor Frühwald, nose, ear and throat specialist of the University of Vienna and reputed an authority on sinus and plastic surgery, who is sailing tonight on the liner Europe after a lecture tour in this country which began on April 9.

"The outstanding equipments of the American hospitals and the splendid operative work and results left the greatest impression with me," he said.

"I was enthusiastic in America over the high standard of the operative technique of my colleagues in my specialty and have admired the inexhaustible ambition and constant endeavor to advance in spite of the present economic depression," Dr. Frühwald said. "It was a great satisfaction for me to see that the viewpoints of Europe and America do not differ as regards diagnosis and operative treatment of sinus diseases.

"Perhaps we of Austria are more conservative in our methods of treatment and operation, but this is most likely due to the difference of climate. Sinus diseases seem to be more prevalent and more virulent here than in Europe. Then, too, the American cannot spare the time necessary for prolonged and sometimes useless non-operative treatment."

"It is very astonishing to me," said Dr. Frühwald, "and I am indeed very happy to see that in spite of the great amount of work the American physician is called upon to do, he still finds time for research."

HEADS STATE PYTHIANS.

Louis V. Cooper of Nyack Named Grand Chancellor.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 22.—Louis V. Cooper of Nyack was unanimously elected grand chancellor of the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, Domain of New York, today, succeeding Maxwell Lustig of New York. Percy S. Lansdowne of Buffalo was advanced to grand vice chancellor without opposition.

An important feature of today's session was the adoption of a resolution offering the name of William Grossman, New York attorney, for supreme chief tribune.

The grand lodge convention opened this morning with more than 2,000 delegates present.

REPAVING CLOSES 10 FIFTH AV. BLOCKS

Section From 34th to 42d St. Barred From Traffic Today as Project Starts.

75 MEN ON $125,000 JOB

Parking and Rerouting Rules Made for Work Embracing 14th to 42d Street.

After four months of preliminary work, the repaving of Fifth Avenue from Fourteenth to Forty-second Street, plans for which were announced several days ago by Borough President Miller of Manhattan, will begin today. The Borough President said yesterday that about eight or ten blocks would be repaved at a time, starting with those between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets.

The first part of the work, Mr. Miller said, will be mostly curb-setting, machines being used for digging out the old pavement. For the most part the old asphalt pavement will be broken up at night and the pieces removed in the day time. When laying of the new asphalt is started, the work is expected to proceed at the rate of about a block a day.

About $125,000 is expected to be spent on the paving alone, it was said at the Borough President's office. During the heaviest part of the work, from seventy-five to 100 men will be employed.

Rules Issued by Mulrooney.

Meanwhile, with so large a section of one of the city's most important thoroughfares being barred to traffic, Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced plans for re-routing traffic for the ten days or two weeks the blocks from Thirty-fourth to Forty-second Street will be closed.

Most of the regular Fifth Avenue traffic will be carried on Madison Avenue over the area of repaving. Three east-west streets across Fifth Avenue, however, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-seventh and Fortieth, will be left open at first so that the cross traffic may not be wholly suspended. And at the same time the Police Commissioner announced new parking restrictions in the area affected.

Effective from 8 o'clock A. M. until 7 o'clock P. M., except Sunday, parking will not be permitted in the following streets:

Sixth Avenue, Twenty-ninth Street to Forty-seventh Street, inclusive.

Madison Avenue, Forty-seventh Street to Twenty-ninth Street, inclusive.

Parking will be allowed on the south side of the following streets from 8 A. M. to 1 P. M. daily, except Sunday, and on the north side from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M. daily except Sunday, with parking forbidden at all other hours:

Thirty-fifth Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Thirty-sixth Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Thirty-seventh Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Thirty-eighth Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Thirty-ninth Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Fortieth Street, Sixth to Madison Avenues.

Forty-first Street, Fifth to Madison Avenues.

One-Way Regulation Suspended.

"Inasmuch as the vehicles entering the cross-streets in the section where the work is being carried on will have to turn around to get out of the streets," Police Commissioner Mulrooney said, "the one-way regulations from Thirty-fifth to Forty-first Street, between Madison and Sixth Avenues, have been temporarily suspended."

New traffic lights are to be installed by the Police Department throughout the most heavily used part of Fifth Avenue. These lights, according to present plans, will be placed at every cross-section street along the avenue and will be visible to both north-south and east-west vehicles.

BOY, 11, MAKES RESCUE IN CENTRAL PARK LAKE

Dives to Bring Up Another Lad as Hundreds Look On—Child Saved From East River.

A crowd of several hundred in Central Park watched a brave rescue yesterday and cheered a modest hero, 11 years old.

Calvin Storms, an 11-year-old Negro schoolboy, had been swimming in the lake near 110th Street. About twenty yards from the bank he was seized with a cramp. He sank and in some manner was caught and held below the surface.

Sam Sturcy, 11, a pupil of Public School 184, was standing on the bank. He saw what had happened and without waiting to see what the grown-ups about him were going to do he tore off all his clothing but his trousers and leaped into the water. In a moment he was over the spot where the other boy had gone down.

After diving twice young Sturcy came up with the limp body of the Negro boy and struggled ashore. It took a pulmotor crew thirty minutes to revive Calvin. Meanwhile the rescuer had dressed and quietly disappeared. Before he left he told a policeman that he lived at 1,592 Madison Avenue. The other boy lives at 168 East 100th Street.

Joseph Timmons, 24, of 105 North First Street, Brooklyn, rescued George Downey, 8, of 283 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, after the boy had fallen into the East River off the recreation pier at the foot of Metropolitan Avenue, Brooklyn.

Asked what kind of reward he would like, Timmons replied, according to the police, that he would be satisfied if some one would give him a job.

15,000 Mysteriously Ill in Turkey.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 22 (AP).—Fifteen thousand persons have been stricken with a mysterious malignant fever which is sweeping through Menemen and Fochteyn, near Smyrna. Three-fourths of the entire population are down with the disease and the epidemic is spreading daily, while bewildered doctors strive to identify the malady.

Denman Declares Beef Prices Too High Here; Advises Consumers to Demand Reductions

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Retail prices of beef in New York City are not as low as present wholesale prices and the low price of live cattle would warrant, according to C. B. Denman, member of the Federal Farm Board. Commenting today on figures recently completed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in cooperation with the board, Mr. Denman said that while some reduction had been made since he called attention to the low price of cattle on June 26, the average price to date on the cheaper grades of beef in New York City had been reduced between 3 and 6 cents a pound.

"Consumers are entitled to a further reduction," Mr. Denman declared, "based on present wholesale beef and live cattle prices.

"At Philadelphia the decline on cheaper grades of beef on July 15 averaged 12 cents a pound, while at Chicago on the same grade, retail prices were nearly 11 cents a pound cheaper than on July 15, 1929."

"The reductions at Chicago and Philadelphia," Mr. Denman said, "showed plainly that retail meat dealers were cooperating to help make possible a wider distribution of beef, and the retail price cuts in these two cities were even greater than the wholesale price reduction."

New York dealers, he said, had not reduced their prices at all or not enough. The consumer on the other hand had not demanded a retail price in promotion to the wholesale price.

Mr. Denman said that when the dealer fails to lower his prices in proportion to the cost, the consumer should inquire if he is taking into consideration the lower market price.

"This is no time," Mr. Denman stated, "to pile up profits when we are in the midst of one of the greatest of price recessions. The consumer should be allowed the advantage of low prices on beef, and dealers should lower their prices in proportion to the present wholesale cost."

VIOLINIST LAYS WOE TO 'CANNED' MUSIC

Fine of $1 for Smoking in Subway Is Suspended When He Reveals He Has Only 37c.

HUNTING JOB NINE MONTHS

One of the many variations of the same tragic theme, the misfortune of the musician who has been outmoded by "canned" music, reached the stage of the West Side court yesterday, with Guido Nacciarone, 32-year-old Brooklyn violinist, in the star rôle. Nacciarone, who said 37 cents was all he had, appeared before Magistrate McKiniry to answer a charge of having lighted a cigarette in the Grand Central subway station.

The plight of the young musician, arraigned with twenty-four other men following one of the health squad's periodic drives, became known when he told the judge that he could not pay the dollar fine levied on the offenders.

In one hand he clutched a frayed and grimy morning newspaper, opened at the help wanted page. He braced himself against the rail with the other and told a story of tramping the streets for nine months in search of any kind of job he could get. He had just lighted a cigarette, preparatory to mounting the subway steps for a fresh quest in search of employment, when he was arrested, he said.

Nacciarone did not have the entire 37 cents with him, he explained. Twenty cents of the precious sum he had left with his young wife and their little girl, waiting anxiously for him in their flat at 64 Van Sicklen Street.

Frightened by the crowded court and the stern attendants, he could not go on. Instead he pulled from his pocket a bankbook and handed it to the magistrate. It showed deposits of $200 nine months ago, with weekly withdrawals of a few dollars each until the account had been closed last week.

Before the market crash and the influx of mechanical music, the young musician lived comfortably with his family on his earnings as a music teacher. He still has a few pupils, but they are not enough to keep his home together. His ambition now is to become a probation officer and he will take the civil service tests when they come up.

Magistrate McKiniry suspended sentence and Max Weider, Assistant District Attorney, promised to help find a job for the musician. Others referred him to the American Federation of Musicians and told him how to get in touch with the Brooklyn bureau for a possible musical post. Nacciarone said that many of his friends are suffering similarly.

ERDMANN TO QUIT HOSPITAL

Surgeon Will Leave for His Summer Home Today.

Dr. John F. Erdmann, noted as a surgeon and specialist on cancer and intestinal diseases, is to leave the Presbyterian Hospital today and will depart immediately for his country home at East Hampton, L. I., a representative in his office at 60 West Fifty-second Street said yesterday. Dr. Erdmann, who is in his sixty-seventh year, was ordered to the Presbyterian Hospital last week to undergo observation for a suspected kidney ailment.

The tests were negative, the informant said, and no operation will be necessary. Dr. Erdmann himself has operated on many famous patients, including the late President Grover Cleveland and Governor Benjamin B. Odell of New York State.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN CONEY CLEAN-UP

Two Others Get Summonses as Police Adopt New Tactics in Litter Drive.

3 UNITS JOIN CAMPAIGN

Property Owners, Taxpayers and Board of Trade Pledge Aid in Move to End Rubbish and Glass.

One woman was arrested and two others received summonses at Coney Island yesterday for tossing milk bottles on the beach. This action on the part of the police was part of the campaign to clear the shorefront of litter and broken glass. Meanwhile three other Coney organizations joined the drive and police announced their intention of discouraging offenders.

Hitherto the magistrates have frowned on patrolmen for arresting violators of the litter ordinances, and the leaders in the new movement for civic pride on the island will watch the proceedings with much interest today when the three women come up for arraignment. In the past such cases have nearly always been thrown out of court.

The first encounter between campaigners and picnickers occurred at the foot of West Fifteenth Street on the shore front. Ciro Losredo and several other municipal life guards were doing their bit for improving beach etiquette at the time. After an hour's work in the hot sun they had collected a little mountain of tin cans, bottles and greasy papers, and had piled the rubbish neatly in a large grocery box.

At this point, Losredo charges, a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Jennie Freidman, 42 years old, of 1,942 Seventy-second Street, Brooklyn, arrived on the scene. The guard said she kicked the box over, spilling the rubbish on the ground, and then sat on the box and resisted all efforts of the guards to remove her. Finally they called Policeman Woody, and it took the combined efforts of the five men to get her into a cell at the station house, where she was held pending the arrival of relatives with the required bail.

An hour later a beach patrolman served summonses on two women at the foot of West Thirtieth Street after they had thrown broken milk bottles on the ground and then refused to heed the patrolman's polite lecture on disposing of litter and broken glass.

The women were Mrs. Bertha Wigeler, 39, of 2,986 West Thirtieth Street, Brooklyn, and Mrs. Sadie Cramer, 44, of the same address. They will appear in court this morning with Mrs. Friedman.

Full support and cooperation in the Coney Chamber of Commerce campaign was promised by leaders of the Property Owners' Association, the Taxpayers' Association and the local Board of Trade.

Meanwhile Commissioner Charles S. Hand's picked fore of fifty-six spent the day trying to spread their message to "educate the masses" on the care of the beach. A diminished crowd of about 400,000 pleasure-seekers was on hand for the lectures, but reporters and policemen again failed to find any trace of the band, which was apparently once more swallowed up in the sea of picnickers.

VIE FOR POLICE PROMOTION.

885 Sergeants Take Tests for Appointments as Lieutenants.

An examination to make up a new civil service eligible list for promotion to the rank of lieutenant was taken by 885 police sergeants yesterday in the Central Opera House, Third Avenue and East Sixty-seventh Street. The new list will replace one which expired about a month ago.

It is expected that 400 or more of those who tried the examination yesterday will win promotion during the four years for which the new list will be valid. Among those who took yesterday's examination was Detective Sergeant John Cordes, the only member of the department who has twice won its Medal of Honor.

"Example for Every Newspaper"

I EARNESTLY commend the policy of The New York Times in refusing to publish in its columns any advertising which may tend to defraud or deceive its readers. Careful scrutiny of financial advertising, in particular, provides protection in a field in which the public is especially susceptible to misrepresentation. WATSON WASHBURN
Assistant Attorney General in Charge of the New York State Bureau of Securities.

MAJ. KELLY KILLED BY HIS OWN PISTOL

WIFE FINDS HIM DYING

Winner of Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre Succumbs in Hospital.

Major Michael A. Kelly, known as "Dynamite Mike," who commanded the Third or "Shamrock" Battalion of the 165th Infantry (the old Sixty-ninth) during the World War, was shot and mortally wounded yesterday afternoon in his apartment on the third floor of 365 East 209th Street. He died a short time later in Fordham Hospital.

Major Kelly was cleaning his service pistol—the one that had helped him through so many tight places in the war—when the weapon was discharged accidentally and sent a bullet into his abdomen. His wife, Mrs. Eleanor Kelly, to whom he had been married twenty-one years, entered the apartment a few minutes after the shooting.

Seeing her husband slumped over his desk, she touched him on the shoulder. "What's the matter, Mike?" she asked. He lifted his head weakly and said: "I'm shot."

Major Describes Accident.

Mrs. Kelly rushed to a telephone and called Dr. Joseph Muccelli of 364 East 209th Street. He reached the apartment almost at the same time as Major Kelly's only son, John, who had been out playing golf near-by. Dr. Muccelli examined the wound and ordered John to telephone for an ambulance. While the doctor dressed the wound, Kelly described the accident:

"I was cleaning my pistol," he said. "I always tried to keep it as spotless and well oiled as if I were still in the service, because it served me many a good turn during the war. I thought I had emptied all the chambers, but I must have overlooked one. Suddenly it went off—that's all."

Major Kelly was rushed to the hospital and while preparations were being made there to operate on him he died.

Came Here 30 Years Ago.

Major Kelly, who was born in Ireland, came to this country more than thirty years ago. Soon after his arrival he enlisted in Company F of the old Sixty-ninth Infantry, New York National Guard. By the time that regiment was called to the border in 1916 he had risen to the rank of captain and was commanding the same company in which he had enlisted.

When the United States entered the World War and the National Guard was mobilized, the designation of the Sixty-ninth Infantry was changed to the 165th Infantry and the regiment was assigned to the Rainbow Division. Kelly was promoted to the rank of major about this time and placed in command of the Third Battalion.

His recklessness under fire while in France soon won for him the name of "Dynamite Mike." It also won for him the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre. Kelly remained with his regiment until after it returned to the United States. Then he resigned his commission. Later he entered the real estate business. He had an office at 2,709 Webster Avenue.

In 1919 Major Kelly became a candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen on the ticket of the Liberty party, which had been formed to "smash the League of Nations." His candidacy was supported by Jeremiah A. O'Leary and a small group of Irish-Americans who favored recognition of the Irish Republic.

Tammany looked with alarm upon Major Kelly's entrance into the campaign and tried to persuade him to withdraw and support their candidate, Robert L. Moran. When Major Kelly refused an appeal was made to Supreme Court Justice Giegerich to bar Kelly's name from the ballot. It was pointed out that of the 3,491 signatories to his nomination petition, 574 had failed to register, sixty-seven others had failed to comply with election regulations and fifteen had not sworn to their residences when signing the certificate.

Justice Giegerich ordered Kelly's name stricken from the ballots and the ruling was upheld by the Appellate Division. Nevertheless, on election day 3,661 Kelly supporters wrote his name on the ballot. This number was sufficient to defeat Moran, who lost to Fiorello H. La Guardia, the Republican candidate.

Headed Irish Group.

When Eamon de Valera, self-styled "President" of the Irish Republic, broke with the Friends of Irish Freedom in 1920, Kelly, always an ardent de Valera supporter, was made director in New York of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, which de Valera had formed. That year Kelly appealed to the State Department to sever diplomatic relations with Great Britain because of "the burning of the city of Cork by brutal British troops."

In June of the same year Kelly organized a demonstration to protest over a speech of Admiral William S. Sims on the occasion of the Admiral's return from abroad. But a heavy police guard at the pier blocked the demonstration. Kelly headed many other demonstrations in the de Valera cause.

In 1922 Kelly helped raise large sums of money to aid de Valera in his fight against the Provisional Government in the Irish Free State. Only last month Kelly announced that $300,000 had been raised here toward the launching of Eamon de Valera's Irish Press, Ltd., an official Fianna Fail newspaper, which will be published in Dublin beginning next St. Patrick's Day.

ACCUSES FATHER OF THEFT.

Woman Has Bronx Man Arrested for Taking $200 in Furs.

On his daughter's complaint of grand larceny, Joseph Berg, 60 years old, a fur dyer, of 911 Walton Avenue, the Bronx, was held in $1,000 bail yesterday by Magistrate George De Luca in Jefferson Market court, pending a hearing July 30.

Berg's daughter, Mrs. Dora Axelrod of the Walton Avenue address, who is in the fur business at 137 West Twenty-seventh Street, alleges that he obtained the keys of the shop from a protective agency last Sunday and removed two frames with furs, boxes of chemicals, a money order for $16 and some books and receipts, all valued at $200.

According to Detective James Stapleton of the West Thirtieth Street station, who arrested him yesterday, Berg admitted taking the articles.

JAMES E. HOW DIES, FRIEND OF HOBOES

Giver of Fortune to the Homeless Succumbs to Pneumonia in Virginia at Age of 56.

LIVED WITH HIS 'BRETHREN'

Scion of a St. Louis Family, Graduate of Harvard and Oxford, He Founded "Hobo College."

Special to The New York Times.

STAUNTON, Va., July 22.—James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," died in a local hospital this afternoon of pneumonia, "evidently superinduced by starvation," according to a physician.

How was 56 years old, a member of a distinguished St. Louis family. His grandfather was the engineer, James Eads, who built the bridge over the Mississippi River at St. Louis.

The body was sent tonight to Washington where it will be met by a brother, Louis How. In accordance with How's wishes it will be cremated.

How arrived in Staunton last Friday, evidently in an enfeebled condition, and registered at a hotel. He appeared in the lobby and dining room only a few times and, according to hotel employes, he ate very little. This, How said, was due to the fact that he was a vegetarian as the result of stomach trouble.

When he did not leave his room Monday, hotel employes investigated and found the man ill. He was moved to the hospital this morning.

Born in society, How elected to spend most of his years in the companionship of hoboes, and at nearly all hobo "conventions" it was he who filled the rôle of chairman.

Devoted Life to Brotherhood Ideal.

Dr. James Eads How, plutocrat of hoboes, graduate of Harvard, Oxford and the College of Physicians and Surgeons and founder of the Hobo College at 350 Bowery, had one of the most interesting careers in connection with the developments in the labor movement. He devoted his life to advocating the doctrine of the brotherhood of man.

He was a son of the late James F. How, vice president and general manager of the Wabash Railroad and a grandson of James Buchanan Eads, the noted civil engineer who threw the first network of steel across the Mississippi and who later achieved more fame by constructing the jetties in the river below New Orleans.

Dr. How showed marked eccentricities when he was a student at the Meadville Theological School, at Meadville, Pa., which he entered in 1891. He had been there but a short time when he sold his dress suit and gave the proceeds to the poor. Soon afterwards, he gave his banjo away to one who he thought would be benefited by it.

Deprived Himself to Help Others.

In his room he kept only such furniture as was absolutely necessary. His floor was uncarpeted and the walls were white and bare. He allowed his clothes to become threadbare. Whatever he did not absolutely need he gave away, and despite a generous allowance every month from his father he was always short of money.

Going to Oxford, after his graduation from Harvard, where he had played on the football and baseball teams, he joined the Fabian Society and became imbued with the organization's social inquiries. He determined to carry his theories into practice.

Soon after his return to this country, his father died at his home in St. Louis. How received $20,000 outright and offered it to the Mayor of St. Louis, asking him to return it to the people who had earned it. The Mayor received him with considerable disbelief. Soon large posters were distributed throughout the city calling a meeting of tenants. After much wrangling, it was decided to deposit the $20,000 and use its income for beneficial purposes, such as schools.

Turned Legacy "Back to People."

When his mother died, he received between $125,000 and $250,000. This too went "back to the people." Thereafter, it was said, his income was derived from the tolls paid at the Eads Bridge in St. Louis and with these funds, Dr. How went about the country doing good.

In his early years How attempted to organize a monastic order, not essentially Christian, but drawing its tenets from whatever philosophic principles appealed to the body corporate as the truth. It was known as the Brotherhood of the Daily Life. How went out as a laborer and preached at noon time.

As he became more experienced, his policy changed considerably and the result was the establishment of more than sixty hobo colleges throughout the country. He also organized the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, a widespread charity organization.

Dr. How was divorced by his wife, Ingelberg How, in the Los Angeles Superior Court on Dec. 21, 1928, after she testified that her husband deserted her to be nearer to the migratory group of men staying at a hotel in the cheap quarter of the city. She also testified that he preferred the society of hoboes to her company and that his income was at least $10,000 a year.

COST OF EACH PUPIL TO CITY PUT AT $141

TEACHERS GOT $109,333,925

$1,571,053 FOR TEXTBOOKS

Sum Spent on Education of Youth for Year Was Largest in the History of New York.

During 1929 the city spent $141.65 for the instruction of each of the more than 1,200,000 pupils enrolled in its public schools. The total expenditure of the school system last year, according to the report of Frederick D. Chambers, Board of Education auditor, just issued, was $171,036,363.24, a record figure.

Provision for the predictable as well as emergency needs of the school system were so generous that, by Dec. 31, unexpended balance in the coffers of the system was $39,849,645.48. However, such balances are explained by the fact that appropriations are made in advance of disbursements, and, therefore, at any moment, a large percentage of the available moneys are on the credit side awaiting disposal.

The largest educational outlay of the city is for "annual and recurring expenditure" and it is this classification which gives the best view of the cost of maintaining the schools for the immense army of children. The "annual and recurring disbursements" amounted in 1929 to $131,504,930.98, of which the lion's share, $120,076,826.39, was spent in salaries and the rest went for other expenditures, including equipments and materials.

To the recurring expense is added a total of $39,531,432.26, outlay for additions to the plants of the school system in new buildings, sites, furniture and supplies. Available money during the year, including corporate stock funds for plant additions, amounted to $210,886,008.72, of which more than $39,500,000 was earmarked "balance" at the end of 1929.

Teaching Force Gets Biggest Part.

The largest single item among the annual expenditures is the salary of the teaching and supervising staff, which amounted last year to $109,333,925.43. The outlay for other expenses for direct teaching brought the cost of instruction proper in the system to a total of $113,048,429.81.

The city spent more than $5,000,000 to maintain and preserve the school buildings. Most of that sum, $3,745,182.64, was disbursed for general repairs to the buildings and to their structural equipment. More than $7,000,000 was paid for "operation" of the plant, that is for custodial service, supplies, coal, &c. The item for water alone amounted to $12,764.72.

Mr. Chambers included in the cost of "instruction proper" the sum of $1,571,053.04 paid for text-books, supplied free of charge to the pupils. Books purchased for the libraries of schools throughout the city drew an expenditure of more than $95,000, while general school supplies, other than books, formed an item of nearly $2,000,000 in the year's outlays.

$500,000 Spent on Transportation.

For the transportation of pupils and teachers to schools in outlying and sparsely-populated districts of the city sums aggregating nearly $500,000 were disbursed and fees to teachers instructing pupils in outside institutions, hospitals, homes, &c., amounted to about $150,000.

The total school expenditure last year was the highest in the history of the city. There have been greater outlays in the past for constructions and sites purchases, but never has the total outlay come even near the 1929 figure of more than $171,000,000. The figures for the calendar years since 1922 follow:

	Recurring Disbursements.	Capital Outlays.
1924	97,644,264.54	59,542,889.42
1925	100,620,124.27	43,136,552.81
1926	104,370,342.90	18,259,663.55
1927	107,199,148.73	18,059,254.49

'PADDY' HARMON DIES AS AUTO TURNS OVER

Chicago Stadium Builder Was Driving—Wife and Friend Injured.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Patrick (Paddy) Harmon, promoter and first president of the Chicago Stadium, the world's largest sports arena, died today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Harmon was fatally injured today when he lost control of his automobile, traveling at high speed, on the Northwest Highway, between Des Plaines and Mount Prospect, Ill. Mrs. May Harmon, his wife, and Dr. E. J. Brand, one of his closest friends, were injured in the crash.

All three of the Harmon party were taken in an ambulance to the Des Plaines Hospital. There Harmon died while efforts were being made to rush a coagulant from Chicago to stop a hemorrhage of the lungs.

Dr. Robert Parks said that the promoter's last request was that his body be placed in the Chicago Stadium.

Both Mrs. Harmon and Dr. Brand are expected to recover.

Harmon for several years was Chicago's most colorful sports promoter. He was born fifty-two years ago on Vedder Street, near the gas house, where his father worked.

His father and mother were from Kerry, Ireland. There were nine children in the family and Harmon's father had a struggle to keep the family in necessaries.

On March 28, 1929, Harmon climaxed the climb that started on Vedder Street, when he stood in the ring of the stadium he had built at a cost of $6,000,000 and acknowledged the applause of 20,000 spectators of the Loughran-Walker fight.

Within less than a year Harmon lost control of the stadium. His efforts had failed to pack the building as he expected. Finally, charged with mismanagement, he was forced out of the presidency of the building.

SEIZE FOUR TRUCKS AND $100,000 LIQUOR

Jersey Coast Guards, Troopers and Dry Agents Also Arrest Four Alleged Runners.

HEAVY BLOW TO SMUGGLERS

Raid on Garage Rendezvous and Capture of Truck Follow Reports of New Activity.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—A renewal of rum-running activities along the New Jersey coast received a heavy blow today when Coast Guards, Federal prohibition agents and State troopers descended upon four trucks loaded with liquor estimated to be worth more than $100,000. State troopers from the Absecon barracks seized one truck in Absecon Boulevard. Coast Guards and customs and prohibition agents located three other trucks just as they were preparing to leave a garage at 346 North Ohio Avenue. Four men were arrested. Two others escaped.

The liquor, comprising a varied assortment of whisky, cordials, champagne and gin, is believed by customs agents to be part of the cargo of the schooner Thorndyke, an alleged rum-runner from Nova Scotia, which they say has been hovering off the coast for the past two weeks. Some time between last Friday and dawn today the cargo was landed, the agents said.

Coast Guards traced part of the shipment to the Ohio Avenue garage and surrounded the place just as two trucks were pulling out. Another truck, loaded like the first two, was preparing to depart when the agents appeared. Two drivers who were arrested gave their names as Marty Zimmerman and George Karp, both of 231 South Victoria Avenue, Atlantic City. Altogether the agents seized approximately 1,500 cases of choice liquors.

The fourth truckload was seized early today by Troopers Freeman and Molmar of the Absecon barracks as it was speeding across Absecon Boulevard. It contained liquor valued at $18,000. Two men were arrested. They said they were from Scranton, Pa., and gave their names and addresses as: George Rogers, 27 years old, of 1,096 Diamond Street, and Pologra Piazza, 31, of 32 Halistead Place. Troopers said Piazza was the owner of the truck, which bore the name "American Trucking Company." The two men and the truckload of liquor were turned over to the prohibition authorities here.

Troopers Freeman and Molmar were stopping all trucks along the boulevard at 5 A. M. when Rogers and Piazza drove by. It was necessary for the troopers to chase the truck a short distance and force it to the side of the road before Rogers, who was driving, would stop. With the aid of men from the local office of Prohibition Agent Marshall and half a dozen members of the Coast Guard, Customs Agents Clyde Beach and Fred Boeger of Philadelphia made an inventory of the liquor.

The brands seized included liquor labeled Old Crow, Golden Wedding, William Penn, Four Aces, Log Cabin, Gilley's Dry Gin, Burnett's White Satin Gin and several brands of champagne and cordials.

OETJEN AIDES IN COURT.

Six Seized in Dry Raid on Brooklyn Cafe Held in $2,000 Bail Each.

Six defendants appeared in Brooklyn Federal Court yesterday to answer to charges of selling and possessing liquor and maintaining a nuisance at Oetjen's Restaurant, 2,210 Church Avenue, Brooklyn. Two were held in $2,000 bail each by United States Commissioner Martin C. Epstein, and four others in $1,000 bail on the possession and maintenance charges.

Four prohibition agents raided the place Monday afternoon, bought food and drinks, they assert, at the fashionable restaurant, gave the waiter a 25-cent tip, and then arrested the six men.

According to Meyer Goldberg, the prohibition agent in charge, they purchased a gin rickey and three beers. After they started to make arrests, Goldberg said, persons on the second floor of the restaurant evidently began to throw bottles of whisky from the windows.

Oetjen's Restaurant has been raided twice before and in both cases the charges were dismissed because of illegal seizure.

DERAILMENT TIES UP SUBWAY 3 HOURS

BLOCKS BOTH RAIL LINES

Workmen Cut Steel Coach Apart and Remove It in Pieces—One Passenger Slightly Hurt.

Interborough subway traffic linking Manhattan with Brooklyn and the Bronx was disrupted for nearly three hours yesterday morning after a southbound local train on the Seventh Avenue line left the rails in the Clark Street tunnel near the Wall Street station. From 4:11 A. M. until 6:57 A. M. not a train passed through the tube, while an emergency squad, armed with acetylene blow-torches, cut apart and removed the heavy steel car, which was thrown across both southbound and northbound tracks by the derailment.

The accident was caused by the splitting of a switch and resulted in minor injuries to Mrs. Elizabeth Herring, a Negro, of Stapleton, S. I., one of a dozen passengers on the six-car train. The circumstances of the wreck recalled the Times Square disaster of Aug. 24, 1928, in which twenty-nine lives were lost when a crowded rush-hour train jumped a switch and crashed into a concrete retaining wall.

Second Car Splits Switch.

The second car of the local train split a switch yesterday south of the Wall Street station, struck a steel upright and crashed to the roadbed, blocking both sets of rails. It also damaged signal connections in the tunnel.

The emergency crew repaired signal connections and removed the derailed car in time to send the train, reduced to a five-car unit, on its way before the rush hour traffic began to flow into Manhattan. The accident, resulted, however, in serious delays on practically all Interborough lines, including the Sixth and Ninth Avenue elevated roads, whose trains were held up at the Woodlawn yards for some time because of the congestion caused by the schedule delays on the subway routes where there was joint operation with the Seventh Avenue line.

The entire Lexington Avenue line had to be rerouted to handle the sudden increase of traffic. While the rerouting was in progress thousands of passengers gathered on Bronx station platforms between Woodlawn and 167th Streets and Jerome Avenue. Delays on this line were from fifteen to forty-five minutes.

Wandering Express Train.

The Transit Commission's report on the accident disclosed that a series of delays on various routes was caused by the wanderings of a southbound express for Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn. The train left West 180th Street in the Bronx at 5:54 A. M. and came downtown to Chambers Street. Thence it was sent to South Ferry and switched to the east side tracks. It went to the Brooklyn Bridge station and then was switched to the southbound track to Brooklyn. Before it departed, however, there was a delay due to a closed circuit, caused by the presence of a northbound train from Utica Avenue, Brooklyn, which interfered with the switching process. The net result was a twenty-eight-minute tie-up at Brooklyn Bridge and the dropping from the schedule of seven trains scheduled to run between Woodlawn and Utica Avenue between 7:18 and 8:43 A. M.

The Transit Commission's report indicated that the accident at the Wall Street station was due to a confusion of signals while repairs were being made on third-rail installations. The derailment occurred when Motorman J. McConnell backed his train across the switch after he had been "keyed by" by a towerman who misinterpreted the signal lights. The commission's report showed that between 8 and 9 A. M., the maximum rush hour, only nineteen trains were operated through Grand Central station as compared with the schedule requirement of thirty trains.

At 11 o'clock Monday night there was a fifteen-minute delay in traffic on the Seventh Avenue line, due to the death of a trackwalker who came in contact with a third rail near 116th Street and Broadway.

DAWSON, NEW MINISTER TO ECUADOR, HONORED

Envoy Outlines Policy of Good-Will at Luncheon Given by Pan-American Society Here.

William Dawson, newly appointed United States Minister to Ecuador, was honored yesterday at a luncheon of the Pan-American Society at India House. Mr. Dawson sails for his post today.

He said he hoped that his mission might in some measure strengthen the ties that unite Ecuador and the United States. He described Ecuador as "a country of great resources, high culture, fine traditions and lofty aspirations."

Consul General P. P. Eguez Baquerizo of Ecuador requested the new Minister to do everything in his power to make the United States better known in his country. That, he said, is the best way to make the two nations friends. Phanor J. Eder of the law firm of Hardin, Hess, Eder & Freschi presided and told of the distinguished record in this country's consular service that preceded Mr. Dawson's appointment as head of its diplomatic mission to Ecuador. He also read telegrams of greeting to Mr. Dawson from L. S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan American Union at Washington, and Dr. Homero Viteri, Minister of Ecuador to the United States.

Mr. Dawson entered the Consular Service in 1908 as deputy consul at Petrograd. He served as vice consul at Barcelona and at Frankfort, and then as consul at Rosario, Argentina, and Montevideo, Uruguay. In 1922 he was appointed consul general at large and in this position he inspected all of the United States consular offices in South and Central America. He was later made chief instructor at the Foreign Service School at Washington, D. C., in which post he served until 1928. That year he was appointed the United States Consul at Mexico City, where he served until his recent appointment.

DRYS FAVOR PATTESON.

Tarrytown Banker Likely to Seek Republican Nomination for House.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Robert A. Patteson, president of the Tarrytown National Bank, is said to be leading among residents of Greenburgh in line for the backing of the Anti-Saloon League to run as a dry in the Republican primary fight in the Twenty-fifth Congressional District, now confined to two wets, John M. Holzworth, insurgent, and Charles D. Millard, organization designee.

No verification of Mr. Patteson's reported willingness to run was obtained and Fred A. Victor, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, was reluctant to speak for publication. Mr. Victor has repeatedly declared in the past week that he would have a bone dry candidate for the House from the Twenty-fifth District, and preferably from Greenburgh, the home of Mr. Millard.

It was reported that Alan B. Campbell, New York attorney residing in Pleasantville, would run as a wet against Assemblyman Milan E. Goodrich, organization dry now running for re-election. Mr. Victor said the drys would back Goodrich.

WILL SIFT DRY SHOOTING.

McCampbell Promises Inquiry—Mamaroneck Citizen Plans Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., July 22.—Chief of Police Stowell announced today that Prohibition Administrator McCampbell had promised to make an investigation of the shooting by Federal agents at citizens during a raid here.

Paul Will, restaurant keeper, at whom agents are alleged to have fired when he rushed to the street on hearing a shot, said that he has retained counsel and plans to take legal action. Mr. Will and his attorney will confer with Mr. McCampbell on Monday.

Chief Stowell complained to the Federal authorities at New York yesterday. He said he has always cooperated in Federal raids here and had a working agreement with the prohibition authorities. They did not ask him for help on the last series of raids, when the shooting took place, he said.

NATION TO HEAR EDISON.

Scholarship Award Exercises at His Laboratory Will Be Broadcast.

When Thomas A. Edison gives his greetings to forty-nine boys of the schools of the country next Wednesday morning at his West Orange laboratory, just before they undertake examination for the second annual scholarship award, the ceremony will be heard from coast-to-coast over WJZ's network. Broadcasting is to begin at 10 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time. The boys represent the best in the schools of the United States in science studies. They are gathered, one from each State in the country, and one from the District of Columbia.

Others to be heard over the radio in short addresses include Dr. Lewis Perry, chairman of the award advisory committee, who is head-master of the Phillips Exeter Academy, at Exeter, N. H.; Henry Ford, Dr. William L. Bryan, president of Indiana University; Harvey Firestone and Hubert S. Howe, New York psychologist, members of the committee. George Eastman, another member, is not expected to be present because of illness.

The forty-nine contestants represent those who have "achieved during the school year the highest marks in scientific studies." They will be brought to the laboratory at Mr. Edison's expense, and be examined by the advisory committee. The boy submitting the best paper will be rewarded with a four-year scholarship in any technical school in the United States he may select. Announcement of the winner will be made on Friday.

NEW PARTY RULES PLANNED.

Queens Democratic Committee Is Called to Meet on Tuesday.

A call for a meeting of the Queens County Democratic Committee at Flushing High School next Tuesday to act on proposed changes in the committee rules has been sent to all members of the committee, James C. Butler, chairman, announced yesterday.

A copy of the proposed new rules accompanied the notice, Mr. Butler said. The meeting will be the first since the one held a year ago in Jamaica, which broke up in disorder, it was said.

The proposed changes in the rules would permit members of the county committee to elect their executive chairman as Democratic county leader, their Assembly district leaders, executive committee and county chairman, Mr. Butler said.

BAIREUTH FESTIVAL MARKED BY CHANGES

Opening Performance of 'Tannhaeuser' Reveals Work of Toscanini.

COSIMA'S INFLUENCE GONE

Freshness of Villa Wahnfried Is Noted—New Building Near Wagnerian Hall.

IRON SWORD IS REMOVED

Post-War Political Undercurrent, Once Noted at Festival, Also Seems to Be Absent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BAIREUTH, Germany, July 22.—The names of Baireuth and Arturo Toscanini are henceforth inseparably linked. Despite the handicap of a tenor so indisposed that Lauritz Melchior was in the wings ready to assume the rôle, and in the face of a week of anxiety over the condition of his wife, who is confined to the hospital with a broken leg, the Italian conductor inaugurated this evening a new era in the history of the Wagnerian mecca.

Conducting the first "Tannhaeuser" mounted at the Festspielhaus in more than a quarter of a century before a throng that taxed the theatre to the utmost limits of its capacity, he received tumultuous ovations at the conclusion of each act. When the auditors found the applause, stampings and shouts were unavailing, they subsided and repaired to the open.

Incontestably, Toscanini has effected such a regeneration of the spirit of Baireuth as would have rejoiced and uplifted the soul of Richard Wagner. And that this renewal is brought about by the first Latin ever to have held the baton over the "mystic abyss" gives a singularly paradoxical twist to the words of Wagner's one-time friend and eventual defamer, Friedrich Nietzsche, "We must 'Mediterraneanize' music."

Siegfried Wagner Better.

This evening there was much rejoicing over the report that Siegfried Wagner's condition was improved. Physicians denied that he was suffering from lung trouble. Thus the apprehension over his condition which has been felt by every one here is greatly relieved.

Outwardly and inwardly there is that about Baireuth this year which seems to symbolize change.

Cosima Wagner, erstwhile inexorable regent, is gone. Though she has not had a part in the festivals for years, yet the pilgrim at Baireuth has been hitherto aware that in that upper room in the Villa Wahnfried the once puissant being lived on, powerless yet subtly pervasive. Today fresh flowers bloom on that window-ledge and the spacious semicircular balcony and iron bars which guarded the helpless invalid from harm have been removed. A dewy freshness and rejuvenation seems suddenly to have embraced the house and garden.

Wagner's resting-place retains an immemorial loveliness which is strangely free from all taint of sadness. Cosima's expressed wish that her ashes be scattered over her husband's grave has not been strictly observed, for the urn which holds her ashes has been buried beneath the ivy-covered mount which rises to the height of the great marble slab. Nowhere does a casual inspection reveal any slightest disturbance of the ivy. In contrast to Robert and Clara Schumann, who are buried side by side at Bonn, Cosima has become an undistinguishable part of her exalted husband's resting-place.

Town Shows Startling Changes.

The town itself shows a few but somewhat startling changes. Opposite the old postoffice, since the festival of 1928, a new building has been erected of such modern design that it fairly shrieks at all the adjacent architecture. Even the "Sacred Hill" has not escaped.

A shining new one-story brick edifice to the immediate left of the Festspielhaus houses a tiny postoffice and police station. The lawns that slope below are trimmed as they have not been in years. New and extensive flower beds have been added and there is an ornate marble pond with a family of ducks.

On the opposite side of the roadway the visitor notes the removal at last of that irritating and unsightly iron sword, "Nothing," with its fatuous misinterpretation of a text from "Siegfried," its suggestive 1914-1918 superscription and its implication of politics and nationalistic challenge.

There is sort of symbolism in this removal that goes beyond the elimination of an eyesore. For the political undercurrent which has more than once disturbed the Baireuth pilgrim in postwar days has faded from the picture and the savor of propaganda has been removed from the ritual of music drama.

"TANNHAEUSER" IMPRESSIVE.

Siegfried Wagner's Stage Ensembles a Source of Delight.

By H. C. COLLES.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BAIREUTH, Germany, July 22.—The Wagner Festival at Baireuth was opened auspiciously today with "Tannhaeuser," newly mounted with elaborate scenery and presented under the stage direction of Siegfried Wagner and the musical direction of Arturo Toscanini.

In persuading the great Italian conductor to take charge of the opening performance the authorities of the Festspielhaus have contributed toward the fulfillment of Wagner's dream of the fellowship of all the artists. Toscanini's work with the orchestra and chorus of German players and singers and with the principals drawn from many leading opera houses of the German-speaking world has produced a wonderful unity of ensemble and has given a conception of "Tannhaeuser" which finds new significance in what is familiar, and, by replacing what is generally omitted, carries conviction of the rightness of Wagner's own proportions.

Discussion of details must be deferred, but the singer who made the strongest impression was Maria Müller, who has a beautiful voice, as Elizabeth. Her singing was alike commanding when it was exerted to its full power and in many intimate quiet intervals. Herr Janssen's singing as Wolfram was equal to hers. Ruth Jost-Arden, making her first appearance on the Baireuth stage, created an excellent impression but Herr Pilinsky, whose youth and good looks made him a very picturesque figure as Tannhaeuser had not the vocal quality necessary to enable him to stand out in such a cast as this.

Effective scenes and finely managed grouping of figures, particularly in the scene of the hall of song, made the opera a delight to the eye. But care for realism seemed carried unnecessarily far in the introduction of real cowbells mingling with the shepherd's pipe in Act I and a real pack of hounds to accompany the landgraf's hunting party.

'HEALTHIEST' GIRL BANS TOBACCO AND ALCOHOL

Contest Winner Advises Diet With Little Meat, Plenty of Sleep and Exercise.

Miss Florence Smock, 18 years old, of Eustis, Fla., who won the title of the nation's healthiest girl last December in Chicago at the climax of a national contest in which 400,000 had competed under the auspices of State Agricultural Departments, stopped in the city for a short time yesterday on her way to attend the American Fair at Atlantic City.

Interviewed at the McAlpin Hotel, Miss Smock gave her recipes for good health, which tallied surprisingly with those put forth by Zaro Agha, the Turk who says he is 156 years old, for longevity. They were, in brief, outdoor exercise, plenty of vegetables and citrus foods, meat only once a week, nine hours' sleep each night and no tobacco or alcohol.

But to a large extent Miss Smock's presence itself supplied the answer to her health, which was proclaimed as 98.7 per cent perfect by physicians, nerve specialists and experts in mental and social poise. A more self-possessed young person seldom posed—or just didn't pose—before poised pencils and grinding cameras. In an engaging Southern drawl, she declared her preference for swimming over dancing and sun-tan over lip-rouge.

Asked if it was not a strain, now that she was a champion, to keep healthy, her response supplied one of the obvious keys to her selection, for her composure was evidently such as to eliminate worries of that sort.

She is 5 feet 4½ inches tall, weighs 128 pounds, is brunette, attractive and has gray eyes. She is a senior at the Eustis High School and plans to be a physical culture teacher. She was accompanied by Miss Mary H. Stennis, extension nutritionist of Florida State College. Florida's Agricultural Department is sponsor of her trip.

CORRECTS STATEMENTS AS TO BELLPORT BANK

Did Not Lose One Cent, Its Counsel Points Out as Result of Acts Now in Litigation.

Francis D. McGarey, counsel for the Bellport National Bank, writes to THE NEW YORK TIMES that the report of the indictment of certain Long Island bank officials printed in THE TIMES yesterday was incorrect in some particulars.

"In the first place," Mr. McGarey writes, "the Bellport National Bank was not looted, nor did it lose one cent, directly or indirectly. Not only that, but it has not had to make any claim against any surety company on any bond, nor has it had to make any claim against any individual, nor has any of its directors or other officers or employes, past or present, had to make any restitution of any kind, nature or description, and the Bellport Securities Corporation is not affiliated with the Bellport National Bank.

"I would further call your attention to the fact that all the records will show that the Bellport National Bank has never had its capital or surplus impaired; that it has always operated at a profit; that it has continually added to its surplus; and it has undivided profits and other resources of a substantial amount in proportion to its capital and surplus; and it has paid dividends regularly and without interruption—the present rate being $6 per annum. Its officers and directors were complimented by the Federal Bank examiners and the representatives of the Federal Reserve Bank upon its extraordinarily strong condition."

BANK CASE PLEAS DEFERRED

Two Indicted on Long Island Will Appear With 15 Others Monday.

Albert H. Hanson, former president of the Elmhurst National Bank, and William Douglas Miller, note broker of Tenafly, N. J., who were indicted Monday with other bank officials, bank employes and financiers for conspiracy to misapply the funds of three Long Island banks, appeared with their attorneys yesterday before Judge William B. Sheppard of Florida in Brooklyn Federal court.

The two men, both of whom had been indicted before, were to plead guilty to the new indictments, but after a conference with Assistant United States Attorney James E. Wilkinson and Judge Sheppard it was arranged that they would plead Monday morning, when the fifteen other defendants will appear.

The new indictments link the two with alleged mishandling of the funds of the Bellport National Bank and the Long Island National Bank of Astoria by officials and employes of those banks.

R. K. O. Drops Word "Vaudeville."

The use of the term "vaudeville" will be discarded by the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, whose stage shows will hereafter be known nationally as "R.-K.-O. Varieties," according to announcement yesterday. The new term will, it is said, be used to emphasize the distinction between the performances in which actors appear behind the footlights and the screen programs, which are also part of the bill in most variety theatres. Vaudeville first achieved wide use as a designation during the late B. F. Keith's dominance in the field.

"Artists and Models" to Close.

"Artists and Models," the revue which the Shuberts produced at the Majestic Theatre on June 10, will close there on Saturday night after an engagement of only seven weeks on Broadway. Phil Baker and Shaw and Lee are among the principal entertainers in the show, which will reopen in Chicago on Aug. 11.

NON-LEAGUE AGENTS MAP THEATRE FIGHT

Counsel Expects to Reveal Plan of Action Today in Move to Regain Seat Allotments.

DOZEN SEEK MEMBERSHIP

Applications Refused, Says Lawyer —Record Ticket Sales by Two Shows Reported by Savage.

Bernard H. Sandler, attorney for a group of ticket agents not recognized by the League of New York Theatres, declined to state yesterday what legal steps he would take in his fight to restrain the league from cutting off these agencies' allotments of seats.

Mr. Sandler said that "certain situations" had arisen which would hold him up for twenty-four hours, but that he expected to have a definite course of action outlined by today.

Meanwhile, upon his advice, a dozen or more of the brokers he represents visited the offices of the league yesterday to apply for membership in the new ticket distribution organization. A number of them were closeted during the afternoon with Clarence Jacobsen, former box office treasurer and now the league's ticket expert. Mr. Sandler said yesterday that requests to join the league by all the agents he represents had thus far been refused.

Harlow D. Savage, the league's executive secretary, said that nothing official concerning Mr. Sandler's projected suit had come to his attention. He declared that the sixteen brokers now accredited by the league were the ones generally recognized by the legitimate theatres and receiving regular allotments by them before the league came into existence.

Mr. Savage denied indignantly a report that McBride's Ticket Office was the chief financial backer of the league and was paying the rent of its headquarters, saying that the member theatres and ticket brokers contributed a percentage of their gross receipts to the upkeep of the organization.

Mr. Savage asserted that the first day's reports of league operations showed that the "Vanities" and "Lysistrata," both in member houses, were having the largest box office sales of their careers. Meanwhile, brokers outlawed by the league continued to offer tickets to league attractions. One of them, near the New Amsterdam Theatre in Forty-second Street, has put up a special sign declaring that "Vanities" tickets are for sale.

Herman Shumlin, a producer, who has been in opposition to the league since its formation, issued a statement yesterday in which he said that any ticket broker, member or non-member of the league, who wished to purchase tickets for his production of "The Last Mile," could get them from him directly if the request were refused at the box office. This play is occupying a league house, the Sam H. Harris, which is controlled by the Shuberts.

When Mr. Shumlin's statement was shown him, Mr. Savage said that the matter was not for the league, but was entirely between Mr. Shumlin and the Shuberts.

Several of the league governors met yesterday afternoon in the organization's offices. The meeting was hurriedly called by Mr. Savage, who said he could not disclose its purpose.

ARREST H. H. VAN LOAN FOR DESERTING FAMILY

Los Angeles Police Hold Writer on Wife's Charge Here—Detective Now on Way for Him.

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (AP).—H. H. Van Loan, magazine writer, was arrested today on a fugitive warrant issued in New York City on a charge of wife abandonment. Characterizing the action of his estranged wife as "spite work," he said in jail that he had a divorce suit pending. It is due for trial here Aug. 19. The complaint charges his wife with causing him great mental anguish.

The writer, who has been doing scenarios in Hollywood, married Gertrude Cameron, former stage actress, in New York in 1916. They have a daughter, 13 years old.

He declared he had contributed to the support of his wife and daughter since the estrangement nine years ago. She filed a divorce suit in 1923, he said, but he balked at settling for $5,000, and the case was dismissed as a result, he contended, of his wife's failure to press suit.

Several weeks ago Mark Cohen, attorney for the author, confirmed reports that Van Loan and Marjorie Rambeau, the actress, were engaged. Miss Rambeau has been divorced from Willard Mack, playwright, and Hugh Dillman, actor.

Mrs. Gertrude Van Loan, wife of the writer, whose most recent address is given as the Hotel Lincoln, complained to District Attorney Crain in April that her husband had deserted her and their 13-year-old daughter, Gertrude, when they were stopping at the Hotel Astor in July, 1929.

Two letters were sent to Van Loan at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood informing him of his wife's charge and calling his attention that it was a felony under the laws of this State, on which he could be extradited. No reply was received from Van Loan, Acting District Attorney James E. McDonald said yesterday, nor were the letters returned by the postal authorities.

On June 28, Mrs. Van Loan and others were called as witnesses before the grand jury and an indictment charging abandonment of his family was returned against Van Loan. A bench warrant was issued.

It was learned that Van Loan was employed as a writer by the Universal Film Corporation, and Detective August Inella of District Attorney Crain's office started for Los Angeles Sunday night with the warrant.

Word was received yesterday from the Los Angeles police that Van Loan had expressed a willingness to return to this city in Inella's custody without extradition proceedings.

MUSIC NOTES.

John Erskine, American novelist, pianist and director of the Juilliard Musical Foundation, will appear as soloist in Cesar Franck's "Symphonic Vibrations" with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Albert Stoessel this evening at the Chautauqua Institute, Chautauqua Lake, N. Y. This is one of a series of featured programs in connection with the July music week at Chautauqua.

Charles Henry Doersam will give an organ recital on "J. S. Bach and his Contemporaries" in St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The public is invited.

CARROLL MOTION ARGUED.

Judge Rosalsky Reserves Decision on Transfer of Case.

General Sessions Judge Rosalsky heard argument yesterday on the motion of Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, and three members of the cast of "Vanities" at the New Amsterdam Theatre for the transfer of their trial from the Court of Special Sessions to the Court of General Sessions on charges that they gave an objectionable performance of the "Vanities." Jimmy Savo, Faith Bacon and Kay Carroll were the others held in $500 bail each for trial last week by Magistrate Gotlieb.

Louis Vorhaus argued the motion, which, if granted, would mean that indictments would have to be sought from the grand jury in the case. Mr. Vorhaus told Judge Rosalsky that a new theatre and production contemplated by Carroll would cost approximately $4,000,000, and added that a conviction in the case might lead to the revocation of the license for the theatre and a heavy financial loss. Carroll and his codefendants, Mr. Vorhaus asserted, desired a trial before a jury of men made up from all walks of life.

Assistant District Attorney William R. Maloney opposed the motion. Judge Rosalsky reserved decision.

TO WED MISS V. R. RODGERS.

John Keating Jr. Not Engaged to Ginger Rogers, Dancer.

Miss Virginia Rose Rodgers, daughter of Mrs. Charles David Rodgers of Mexico, Mo., and a niece of Mrs. Theodore Dreiser, wife of the novelist, will become the bride of John Keating Jr., on Aug. 2. In a dispatch from Baltimore, published in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday it was reported incorrectly that Mr. Keating would marry Miss Ginger Rogers, stage and screen dancer.

Mr. Keating, who is connected with the Bank of Manhattan Trust Company here and lives at 320 East Fifty-third Street, explained yesterday that Miss Rodgers had lived in New York for the past five years at 160 Waverly Place. She is a graduate of the University of Missouri and a member of Kappa Kappa Alpha sorority. She has never appeared on the stage or screen.

The wedding will take place at Shokan, N. Y., and after their return from a European trip in October, Mr. Keating and his bride will live in Baltimore where he will be connected with the Union Trust Company.

ALTERNATE PROGRAM GIVEN

Rain Obliges Philharmonic to Postpone Beethoven's Ninth.

Owing to rain, Beethoven's third "Leonore" overture and Ninth Symphony, which were to have been performed last night at the Lewisohn Stadium under Willem Van Hoogstraten with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra and soloists, were postponed for tonight.

Hans Lange, concertmaster of the Stadium Orchestra and assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, conducted a substitute orchestral program in the Great Hall of the City College which included the overture to Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, Wagner's prelude to "Die Meistersinger" and "The Ride of the Walküre," Johann Struass's waltz "The Beautiful Blue Danube" and Sibelius's "Finlandia."

New Underwater Ballet in Field.

While two producing firms, the Shuberts and Earl Carroll, are engaged in a legal controversy over the rights to the underwater effects currently used in "Artists and Models" and the "Vanities," a third similar stage effect will be presented on Friday at the Capitol under the title of "The Under-Water Ballet." Under the supervision of Louis K. Sidney, the act will be devised and staged by Arthur Knorr and will employ a ballet corps of Chester Hale girls. The number will remain at the Capitol for a week after the closing of "Artists and Models" on Saturday night.

Warners Plan Hackensack Theatre.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 22.—Plans for the new theatre in Hackensack to be erected by Warner Brothers were filed with Nicholas V. White, building inspector, today. The building will be 90 feet wide by 196 deep, and with loges and balcony will seat 2,269. Construction cost alone is about $400,000. Several Main Street stores and residences on Moore Street will be torn down to accommodate the new structure. The Fox interests also plan a million-dollar theatre in Hackensack almost directly opopsite the Oritani Theatre.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"After Tomorrow," a new play by Hugh Stange and John Golden, has gone into rehearsal under the direction of Mr. Stange. Donald Meek is featured in the cast, which also includes Ross Alexander, Edythe Elliott, Penelope Hubbard, Kate McComb, Beatrice Noyes and Robert Burton. The play will open in Atlantic City on Aug. 4, and may come to New York soon thereafter.

Owen Davis Jr. has been added to the cast of "The Ninth Guest," the new play by his father which A. H. Woods is producing.

"Defense," a play by Anthony Veiller, son of Bayard Veiller, will be presented on Aug. 1 in Cape May under the auspices of the New York Theatre Assembly. Margaret Wycherley will have the leading rôle. It is planned to offer the piece in New York in October.

A play entitled "Seventy-second Street," to be presented by a firm called Seventy-second Street Productions, is now being cast under the supervision of Malcolm Lee Beggs, director. The New York opening is scheduled for late in August.

Maud Durand, who recently completed a tour of more than a year in "Strange Interlude," has been signed for a third season with the Theatre Guild.

PROF. BARNES WARNS OF BUSINESS GREED

Tells Job Meeting of People's Lobby Trade Must Exist for Service—Scores Speculation.

WALDMAN URGES REFORMS

Socialist Advocates Work Insurance and Wide Public Building as Unemployment Remedies.

An all-day round-table conference on unemployment and poverty, held at the Civic Club, 18 East Tenth Street, yesterday under the direction of the People's Lobby, ranged from the severest criticism of President Hoover's public works program to revolutionary demands for experiments, "including the Muscovite if all else fails," to remedy conditions which make for the present unemployment of "at least 6,600,000 wage earners."

The conference, divided into morning, afternoon and evening sessions, developed programs for unemployment relief in which speakers of varying political outlook such as Professor Harry Elmer Barnes; Louis Waldman, Socialist aspirant for Governor, and Robert W. Dunn, secretary, Labor Research Association, vied with one another in offering drastic measures for eradicating what was generally termed "the twin communal crimes—unemployment and poverty."

Specific Relief Proposed.

Specifically, the relief measures proposed by the eight principal speakers varied from expropriation of private capital to birth-control to cope with population's effect upon employment. The proposals included schemes for Federal and State unemployment insurance, the expenditure of billions of dollars for national, State and county public works, the shortening of the work week in industry and increases in wages.

Severe condemnation of President Hoover's position in the economic depression was implicit in the address of Darwin J. Meserole, president, National Unemployment League, who dismissed as "a drop in the bucket" the $50,000,000 appropriation for each of the next three years, in addition to the usual $75,000,000 national highway appropriation.

Mr. Waldman, making his maiden campaign speech at last night's session, explained the Socialist position on unemployment.

"While the causes of unemployment are attributed by Socialists to the methods by which production must be carried on where the primary object is to make profits for the owners of industry," he said, "much of the economic loss resulting from unemployment can be salvaged and the distress it creates alleviated by the adoption of a series of measures that are possible and practicable now."

Maps Socialists' Solution.

These measures, the Socialist candidate declared, include unemployment insurance, reduction of the work day to six hours and the work week to five days, public works that would be extended to include slum clearance and the building of homes to be sold to the people at cost, and raising of the age limit for employment of children to a 16-year minimum.

He insisted that unemployment is not an accident of industry, but "must be regarded as a permanent problem, always more or less serious to millions of people who are actually out of work and facing starvation or constantly being haunted by the fear of poverty.

"If this were recognized in the United States," Mr. Waldman continued, "as it has been in most industrial countries, our country would not be twenty years behind Great Britain, thirty years behind Germany and one or more decades behind the industrial nations in providing unemployment insurance."

Barnes Lays Evil to Profits.

Professor Barnes, opening the morning session, insisted that poverty cannot be cured "by such doctoring of symptoms as stock dividends to employes, unemployment insurance, old-age pensions, charity, company bonuses and the like. Some of them may help, but they are not fundamental," he declared.

Professor Barnes held a main cause of poverty and unemployment to be "the single-tracked devotion to economic profits, irrespective of the good of society or the soundness of our economic life."

"With the increase of stock gambling we try to get rich with no contribution to society whatever," he declared. "It is a complete surrender to the 'getting something for nothing game.'"

This view of economic procedure, he declared, plus the failure to limit population to "that number which can be supported with decency in any given country" makes for disaster. Professor Barnes asserted that "unless capitalism can meet the test of producing for service, instead of for profits, then I am ready to see any experiment, including the Muscovite, attempted in this country."

Says 6,600,000 Are Idle.

Mr. Meserole, declaring that there are at least 6,600,000 wage earners unemployed at the present time, demanded a comprehensive program calling for a Federal bond issue of at least $5,000,000,000 for public building to alleviate unemployment.

Mr. Dunn, contending that "a planned economy is impossible without a revolutionary change in the social order," demanded that the government guarantee every worker a job at his full rate of pay, or compensation for the whole period he has no job. He suggested taxation on all incomes and profits for the establishment of government unemployment insurance.

Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary, American Association for Labor Legislation, declared that bills for unemployment compensation, not copied from European laws, but following American experience with accident compensation "which puts emphasis on prevention," will be introduced into twenty State Legislatures and in Congress next Winter.

Other speakers at yesterday's sessions included J. B. S. Hardman, labor editor, who spoke against company unemployment insurance, attacking the General Electric Company plan; Robert W. Bagnall, director of branches, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary, People's Lobby, who presided.

Representing Miss Frances Perkins, head of the State Department of Labor, was Eugene B. Patton, director of the State Bureau of Statistics and Information. Groups represented included the Conference for Progressive Labor Action, the Rand School of Social Science, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the American Association for Labor Legislation and the League for Industrial Democracy.

CHICAGO GRAND JURY HEARS ST. LOUIS WRITER

H. T. Brundidge, Who Has Accused Chicago Reporters of Gang Profiteering, Testifies.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Harry T. Brundige, reporter for The St. Louis Star, who, following the assassination of Alfred J. P. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, has been writing articles in which he charged that other Chicago newspaper men participated in racketeering profits, was examined by the Cook County grand jury today.

What he told was not permitted to become public. Brundige himself refused to discuss his testimony. State's Attorney John A. Swanson said that for him to reveal what transpired would be discourteous to the grand jury. Bernard De Vey, foreman of the grand jury, refused to be interviewed. Reports about the Criminal Courts Building were that Brundige's testimony revealed little that has not already been published.

It was stated that Brundige told of visits paid to Scarface Al Capone in Florida by Harry Reed, city editor of The Chicago Evening American, but these visits The American has admitted. Brundige also is said to have told of the double connection of another crime reporter with The Herald-Examiner and with a dog track operated by the Moran-Zuta-Aiello gang, of the murder of Julius Rosenheim, paid informant for The Chicago Daily News.

Brundige arrived at the Criminal Courts Building at 9:30 this morning. Accompanying him were Frank W. Taylor Jr., managing editor of The St. Louis Star, and John F. Green, attorney for that newspaper. Brundige remained in the grand jury room two and a half hours. When he emerged he was besieged by questioners.

"I have nothing to say," he said. "I told the grand jury all I knew, and they listened to me. The grand jury excused me, but I will come back if I am wanted."

More questions were asked without result until Hilding Johnson, reporter for The Herald-Examiner, asked:

"Were you arrested in Kansas City for stealing a suitcase?"

"I've heard that story for twenty years," Brundige replied, "and the next man who asks me that question will get a punch in the nose."

"Well, I'm asking it now," retorted Johnson. Brundige did not reply.

Friction between Chicago newspapers, which since the Lingle murder has been assuming an aspect of bitterness, today reached the libel suit stage. Robert M. Lee, city editor of The Chicago Tribune, today began legal proceedings against The Chicago Herald-Examiner, asking $250,000 damages for libel. The suit is based upon an article published, alleged to carry the implication that Mr. Lee knew of and countenanced criminal activties of Lingle.

PRESSES FIGHT ON LYNCH.

Rendt Insists He Will Continue as Richmond Democratic Leader.

David S. Rendt, Public Works Commissioner of Richmond, who was ousted as the County Democratic Chairman on Monday night when Borough President John A. Lynch was elected in his place by vote of a majority of the members of the committee, made it plain yesterday that he intended to continue to direct the affairs of the county organization and said he was quite sure Tammany Hall would continue to recognize him as the county chairman.

Borough President Lynch also expressed confidence that he would be recognized as county chairman by John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall.

A clash is expected when the county committee holds its annual meeting Monday night in Stapleton to discuss plans for the primary elections in September. A call for this meeting was issued two weeks ago by Commissioner Rendt. Borough President Lynch issued a call today for the meeting to be held at the same time and place. Meanwhile, the rumors continue that Commissioner Rendt will contest Borough President Lynch's election in the Supreme Court.

BOY INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Grand Jury Deliberates Only an Hour in Slaying of Nurse.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., July 22.—Harry Woolsey Jr., 14-year-old confessed slayer of Miss Anna Miller at Green Pond, was indicted on a general charge of murder by the May term grand jury here today. He was arrested on July 14, after he had applied for a night's lodging at Police Headquarters at Dover, N. J.

The jury deliberated only an hour before returning the indictment. Although a dozen witnesses had been called, the jury heard only Coroner Charles V. Stidworthy of Rockaway and Dr. Thomas B. Christian, a member of the staff of the State Hospital at Greystone Park. It was indicated that Dr. Christian was questioned regarding the boy's sanity.

Counsel for the defense will confer within a few days with Prosecutor Orville Meslar to determine whether the boy shall stand trial or be committed to a State institution.

Two anonymous letters were received at the prosecutor's office today. One, postmarked Jersey City, threatened to "blow up" the prosecutor if he permitted the boy to escape the death penalty. The other, from Newark, urged the prosecutor to make an example of the boy.

LOOT HOME OF $5,000 GEMS.

Two Men Who Questioned Servant Sought by Jersey Police.

Special to The New York Times.

BRADLEY BEACH, N. J., July 22.—The theft of $5,000 worth of jewelry from the Summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Glass of Passaic, at 404 Madison Avenue, Bradley Beach, was discovered today. The police believe the house was robbed some time between Sunday night and this morning.

Two men are being sought in North Jersey in connection with the robbery. The police said the two struck up an acquaintance with a maid employed by the Glass family and thereby learned how to gain easy access to the house. The maid gave the prosecutor's investigator, Harry Crook, and Lieutenant Charles Poland descriptions of the men.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE MERGER BAN DENIED

Court, in Refusing to Enjoin Meeting Tonight, Points to Law on Consolidation.

MURDOCK PRESSES ATTACK

Attorneys Compare Incomes of Groups, Asserting Institute Would Lose Control of Funds.

Supreme Court Justice Collins heard argument yesterday on the application by Edwin F. Murdoch, former president of the American Institute of the City of New York, to restrain the association from holding a meeting tonight in the Fisk Building to consider a merger with the New York Electrical Society, Inc.

The court handed down a decision late in the afternoon denying the application on the ground that the institute could not be enjoined from holding a meeting to consider voting on consolidation with another corporation, and dismissing the complaint, holding that the plaintiff had no right to the injunction at this time.

Justice Collins, however, pointed out that the law required the approval of a Supreme Court Justice for any consolidation of a membership corporation and said: "The rights asserted by the plaintiff, if they exist at all, are adequately protected by the provisions of Section 50. In the event of an application for consolidation, notice of presentation of the petition shall be given to the plaintiff."

Decision Held Satisfactory.

Leopold Spitz, attorney for Mr. Murdoch, said that the decision was satisfactory because his client wished only to be assured of an opportunity to present his arguments against the consolidation if the members voted for it.

In the course of the argument Edgar Bromberger, also representing Mr. Murdoch, dwelt on the fact that the charter of the New York Electrical Society, Inc., granted on June 11, stated that it was formed to encourage and promote domestic industry in this State, in the United States and in Canada, whereas the activities of the American Institute were restricted to the United States to foster, develop and encourage American agriculture and husbandry. The society receives an annual grant of $4,000 from the State to be devoted to prizes at its annual fairs, which, he said, were the only county fairs held in New York City, and that much of the present capital of the society, amounting to $135,000 in excess of its liabilities, has been given to be used solely for the purposes of the society in this country, and not in any foreign land.

Mr. Bromberger said that his client was actuated in bringing suit partly by the fact that Dr. H. H. Sheldon, head of the physics department of New York University, who was not only a member of the American Institute but is president and controlling factor in the New York Electrical Society, Inc., is a native of Canada and retains his nationality. An affidavit by Mr. Murdoch stated that Dr. Sheldon told him he had not attempted to become a citizen of this country, and when asked why he had not done so, he replied, "What is the use?" Mr. Murdoch added that he knows that "Dr. Sheldon, at every opportunity, returns to his native soil in Canada, spends his Summers and vacations in his homeland, and naturally regards it with the greatest degree of affection."

Compares Incomes of Groups.

In urging that the proposed consolidation under the name of the American Institute of Science and Engineering would be unfair to the institute, Mr. Bromberger said that it has an income of from $14,000 to $15,000, whereas the New York Electrical Society, Inc., has nearly $10,000 less, but with a membership of 1,150 as against 450 in the institute the members of the electrical society could control the disposition of the funds of the institute in the event of a merger.

H. T. Newcomb, general counsel for the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, appearing for the American Institute, argued briefly in opposition to the motion, basing his plea on the ground that the court should permit the meeting to be held and in case there are objections against the consolidation they can be made at the time the application for approval is made to the Supreme Court. He contended that the aims of the two societies are similar, and that the merger will increase the membership by more than 900.

MACKEY ENDORSES PINCHOT AT BANQUET

Mayor and Wharf Commissioner Give Him Emphatic Backing, Before Many State Leaders.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP).—Tacit but emphatic endorsement of Gifford Pinchot as the Republican nominee for Governor was given by Mayor Harry A. Mackey and members of his Cabinet tonight at the "Port of Pennsylvania-Pan-American dinner."

In introducing Mr. Pinchot, who was the guest of honor, Mayor Mackey said:

"We have as our distinguished guest the man who recently was nominated as Governor of Pennsylvania by the Republicans."

A moment later Richard Weglein, Director of Wharves, Docks and Ferries, who acted as toastmaster, declared:

"We will go to the next Governor and Legislature of Pennsylvania with an appeal for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for further development of the port." Turning to Pinchot, he added: "And we feel confident, Governor, we will not appeal in vain."

The statements drew prolonged applause from the crowded ball room and had the effect of a political coup. No intimation had been given that Pinchot was to be a guest at the dinner, which was attended by consular representatives in Philadelphia of all the Latin-American countries, members of the State Legislature, candidates for the House and Senate, members of City Council, Mayors of seven Pennsylvania cities, college presidents, officials of utility companies and business men specializing in export trade.

The Mayor's action was considered important in view of the efforts of friends of Francis Shunk Brown, who, on the face of returns from the May primary, was defeated by Pinchot by approximately 20,000 votes, to have the paper ballots cast in Luzerne County declared illegal because of perforations.

E. J. KENNY NAMED AS AIDE TO DORMAN

Contractor and Leading Catholic Layman Succeeds to Post Vacated by Jannicky.

Edward J. Kenny, an honorary deputy chief in the Fire Department and a brother of William F. Kenny, close friend of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, was appointed yesterday as Deputy Fire Commissioner by Fire Commissioner John J. Dorman. Mr. Kenny succeeds Charles W. Jannicky, who resigned recently as Deputy Fire Commissioner in charge of Brooklyn following his indictment for conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the issuance of a gasoline station permit. The appointment is to take effect immediately.

Mr. Kenny, a contractor, lives at 27 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn. At one time he was a fire chief. As honorary deputy chief he has made many gifts to the Fire Department, the latest being two fire beacons which he presented last October in memory of his father, the late Battalion Chief Thomas Kenny. His new position carries with it a salary of $7,000.

The new Deputy Fire Commissioner is one of the outstanding Catholic laymen of the city.

In May, 1927, just before his fifty-fifth birthday, he was made a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory by Pope Pius XI, after which a testimonial dinner was given in his honor. It was attended by 1,500 persons, including Archbishop Hayes, Bishop Molloy and many other dignitaries of the Catholic Church.

Mr. Kenny is a director in many corporations, vice president of the Hicky Contracting Company and of the William F. Kenny Company. He is president of the Nealon Auto Service Corporation and has interests in various real estate companies and banks. He is the father of five children.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Pressure remains low from Hudson Straits southward to Newfoundland and thence southwestward to North Carolina, and another disturbance is centred over Western Hudson Bay. The Northwestern area of high pressure is spreading eastward and southeastward over the plains States, the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper lake region, and pressure remains relatively high off the North Pacific Coast.

The weather has continued fair in practically all other sections. A maximum of 100 degrees was registered this afternoon at Washington, D. C.; Baltimore, Md.; Lynchburg, Va., and 102 degrees at Richmond and Cape Henry, Va., but the heat wave has now been broken as far east as the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic Coasts and as far south as Oklahoma, Missouri and Kentucky.

The temperature is again rising in Minnesota and the northern plains States.

Indications are for local thunder showers in North Carolina and the northern portions of Georgia and South Carolina Wednesday and for scattered thunder showers in Florida and the southern portion of Georgia and South Carolina Thursday and for generally fair weather elsewhere in the Washington forecast district during the next two days.

The temperature will be somewhat lower Wednesday in Tennessee and in the Atlantic States from Maryland southward to the northern portions of South Carolina and Georgia, but it will rise again during Thursday in the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region, the North Atlantic States and the northern portion of the Middle Atlantic States.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

With transactions again so light as to indicate the purely professional character of the business, prices on the stock market advanced for the most part yesterday, though only to the extent of recovering most of the ground lost on the preceding day. Apparently the market has reached the condition which at times like this is apt to continue for some time after each rapid and violent readjustment, and in which the movement of prices amounts only to oscillations backward and forward, with no definite general trend. That is perhaps the normal character of a midsummer market except when, as in 1927 and 1924, important changes in the general situation come into sight at this time of year.

At the moment, there are certainly no such indications on the financial horizon, and the matter of larger interest is to discover whether and to what extent the market's severe decline of a month ago foreshadowed developments in the field of general trade. To a large extent that fall in stocks reflected, as did the equally violent decline of April, the disappointment that hopes of early recovery in business had encountered. It may at least be said of the present situation that the idea of sudden and rapid trade revival, which prevailed so largely early in the year, hardly exists today. If there is any exaggeration of the probabilities, it is on the side of pessimism. There was little or no news which could influence the market. One not uninteresting statement was the weekly report for member banks in the Federal Reserve. It showed that loans on Stock Exchange collateral, which a year ago were $1,600,000,000 less than "other loans," are now practically equal to them.

Wheat, which for many reasons is being closely watched as a market whose variations have this year been typical, went to a slightly better price yesterday. But it gained only 2 or 3 cents over the 85⅞-cent figure of a week and a half ago, which would have been considered, even in pre-war days, an unsatisfactory price. The plight of the wheat market has appeared in some respects to differ from that of most other markets whose prices have been falling. Its persistent downward movement has been naturally ascribed, first to the tangible evidence that the world as a whole had for two or three years been increasing its production much more rapidly than consumption was expanding; second, to the resultant piling up of unwieldy surplus "carry-overs," and, finally, to the meddling of government with the market and the consequent aggravation of the "unsold surplus" problem.

Yesterday's Washington report on last week's wheat exports showed at least that the drastic lowering of the price was a step toward solution of the difficulty. Unless the new harvest were to be sweepingly cut down by what used to be called a "crop disaster," the regaining of the export trade in old-time quantity is the only path for immediate relief, and the increased shipments since the recent rapid cut in price have gone some distance toward achieving that result. There can be no doubt that the market and the farm community, consciously or unconsciously, have cherished hope of a foreign harvest failure such as ended the similar dilemma of 1924, or at least of another such destruction of acreage as occurred last year in Canada. Neither result appears now to be among the possibilities, though it is still too early to reckon on the forecast of our government's estimate of two weeks ago, for an American wheat yield actually somewhat larger than that of 1929. The most that can seemingly as yet be looked for is that this year's experiences will emphasize the effort at scientific agriculture, while eliminating the acreage cultivated by unskilled methods and that, while production is consequently regulated hereafter, consumption will be enlarged through the lower cost.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

After some irregularity in the early dealings the stock market developed pronounced strength yesterday afternoon and closed with sizable gains in leading issues. To Wall Street it seemed that the reaction had proceeded far enough to correct an impaired technical position, which left the way open for the resumption of the advance. Transactions on the Stock Exchange totaled 2,080,740 shares. The market was heavy in the morning, but not to the same degree as it was late on Monday. Bearish professionals exerted themselves repeatedly in an effort to extend the reaction, but when it became apparent around midday that pressure was lifting the general list moved forward spiritedly. Among the leaders of the advance were American Can, United States Steel, J. I. Case, Consolidated Gas, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Radio, Standard of New Jersey and Worthington Pump.

Helping Out the Market.

Whether or not the stock market has a promising future, no one can deny, it was remarked yesterday, that its friends are doing their best to improve its appearance. Rarely has such a stream of favorable comment emanated from brokerage houses.

Relief for the Money Market.

The reaction in the money market yesterday to the Federal Reserve Bank's move in extending from forty-five to seventy-five days its 1⅞ per cent bill-buying rate illustrates the sensitiveness of the market at the present time. Bill dealers had reported that unless the demand for ninety-day bills picked up an advance in the rate would be necessary; banks were showing extreme reluctance to tie up their funds in any but the shortest commitments; it appeared as though the money market was about to discount the Fall tightening of credit far in advance of its real occurrence. However, the minor adjustment made by the bank of issue in bill rates covering a narrow range of maturities was sufficient to change the whole picture yesterday. Banks, assured that they would be able to dispose of their bills to the Reserve Bank, should need arise, at the same price that they had paid for them, began to buy longer maturities, and bill dealers reported the best demand for ninety-day paper witnessed in some time. The influence of this reassurance spread to other parts of the money market and brought about some shading in time money rates. How easy credit really is was demonstrated again by the quotation for Federal Reserve funds, which were offered at the unprecedentedly low rate of one-quarter of 1 per cent.

Holiday For Pennroad.

Those who noted the character of the commitments disclosed by the Pennroad Corporation in its latest statement thought they saw indications that the organization was marking time in respect to picking off the key roads. The new holdings revealed were all investment stocks, and it is thought Pennroad may wait until it regains the $37,500,000 that it spent in acquiring Pittsburgh & West Virginia control before it goes cruising again. It has been testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission that a verbal agreement for the return of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia to the Taplins was in effect.

Public Utility Financing.

Most of the bond financing that is being talked for immediate offering is in the public utility field, and thus far this week the new utility financing leads the market by a considerable margin. Utility improvement and expansion must necessarily keep pace with the growth in population, and population in the United States is ever on the increase. The corollary of this would be that public utility financing will continue quite as active as it has in the past. The segregation and unification of utility properties are taking place everywhere, and if most of the ambitious programs of expansion outlined earlier in the year are carried out it would appear fairly certain that 1930 will set a new record for utility financing.

Thumbing the Yield Books.

It is a sign of the times that the little black books with their tables of yields on bonds and incomes on stocks are becoming dog-eared these days through constant use. The average investor is asking more and more for information on the returns afforded by listed stocks and bonds before purchasing than at any time within the memory of the younger generation of customers' men. More attention is being paid to the quarterly earnings statements, as it would be taking a little too much for granted to assume the 1929 dividend list will be automatically put down for 1930. In this regard it is notable that investment houses in bringing out new bond issues usually take the trouble to work out the number of times that interest requirements have been earned over a given period.

Prospects of Further Gold Exports.

Unless the franc moves up in the early dealings this morning it appears unlikely that there will be any gold exports to France today. The fast Europa will go out at midnight, but at yesterday's price of 3.93 9-16 cents the franc was a shade below the gold shipping point. Canadian exchange, on the other hand, moved up to its old high of 5-32 premium, making another early transfer of gold to Canada probable. Several banks were prepared to ship on Monday, but were deterred when the Canadian dollar eased off slightly. They doubtless will take advantage of the renewed strength. In other sections of the foreign exchange market there is quiet but persistent strength against the dollar. Sterling climbed yesterday to $4.86¾, which is the best price reached by London exchange since early in the year. The Belgian belga also came to life and advanced ¾ point to 13.98½ cents. This was the best move experienced by Belgian exchange in several weeks. Apart from France and Canada, however, no country at present threatens to take any gold from New York.

MONEY.

Tuesday, July 22, 1930.

Money market continued stagnant, with rates for all classes the same as on Monday. On the Stock Exchange, 2 per cent, was the prevailing charge, with 1½, for street funds. There was plenty of money on offer but no demand. Time money was dull from 2¾ to 3½ per cent, the range of charges for various maturities. Commercial paper and acceptances developed no change in discount.

The letter of Mr. John J. O'Brien, President of the Company, has been summarized as follows:

Company Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company, incorporated in 1902, is the largest electric utility in Oklahoma and its properties furnish power and light to 232 communities having a combined population of over 725,000. Of the communities served 201 are located in the richest and most populous sections of Oklahoma, including Oklahoma City, and 31 are located in Arkansas, including Fort Smith and Van Buren. In addition, the properties furnish the electric power requirements of numerous oil fields, including the prominent Seminole and Oklahoma City fields. Indicative of the growth of the territory served is the 100% increase during the last ten years in the population of Oklahoma City, as reflected by the 1930 census.

Properties of the Company include steam power plants having an aggregate installed capacity of 158,943 kilowatts, with an additional 30,000 kilowatt installation now under construction. Plants of the system are interconnected by 2,533 miles of high tension transmission lines. For the 12 months ended May 31, 1930, output of electric energy amounted to 702,348,451 kilowatt-hours.

The properties are under the management of Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation, which is owned by Standard Gas and Electric Company.

Earnings For the twelve months ended May 31, 1930, gross income of all properties now owned by the Company, after operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, but before provision for retirement (depreciation) reserve, amounted to $7,233,068, equivalent to 4.17 times the annual interest requirement of $1,732,986 on the total mortgage debt of the Company, including the present issue. During the last ten years, gross earnings of all properties now owned by the Company increased over 273% and net earnings increased over 468%.

FARM TOOL MAKERS IN $20,000,000 UNION

STOCK TRADE PROPOSED

No Public Security Offering to Be Made—Headquarters of New Concern to Be in Cleveland.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, July 22.—A $20,000,000 merger of small farm implement manufacturers, with plants scattered over a wide territory in this country and Canada, is being put together with the American Fork and Hoe Company as a nucleus. Companies figuring in the deal are the Kelley Axe and Tool Company of Charleston, W. Va., with three plants in the South, and the Skelton Shovel Company of Dunkirk, N. Y., which has a plant also in Canada. The new company, to be known as the American Fork and Hoe Company, will have headquarters here. It will be the largest concern of its kind in the country.

The terms for the merger provide that American Fork and Hoe stockholders shall receive six shares of new no-par common stock for each share of present $100 par common, while holders of the non-callable 7 per cent stock shall receive one and one-fifth shares of new 6 per cent first preferred $100 par stock in exchange for each present share.

American Fork and Hoe common sold up to 137 on the Cleveland Exchange today in anticipation of this consolidation, which has been approved by the directors of the three companies. The plan will go to the company's stockholders for approval on July 29.

George B. Durell, president and general manager of American Fork and Hoe, today said:

"While no two of the companies manufacture the same products, nearly all the tools made by them are composed of steel heads and wood handles, and the processes of manufacture are similar. It is believed great economies in manufacture can be effected by the merger and that additional savings can be effected in the distribution by a single company.

"The merger will be effected solely by exchanges of stock. There will be no public offering of securities. All leading officials of the companies will retain their stock interests and remain active in the new company, capital of which will be 40,000 shares of $100 par 6 per cent first preferred and 500,000 shares of no par common stock."

The American Fork and Hoe Company was organized as a New Jersey corporation to merge several companies in 1902 and reincorporated in Ohio in 1910. It has supplied about 90 per cent of the country's output of farmers' hand implements. Some time ago it acquired the Iowa Farming Company of Fort Madison, Iowa.

The companies involved in the merger have plants at Ashtabula and Geneva, Ohio; North Girard and Philadelphia, Pa.; Wallingford and St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Memphis and Harriman, Tenn.; Jackson, Mich.; Fort Madison and Montrose, Iowa; Fort Wayne, Ind., and Plymouth, N. C.

New Plant for Borden Unit.

Borden's Farm Products Company of Illinois, controlled by the Borden Company, has awarded a contract for the erection of a $600,000 bottling and pasteurizing plant at Hamilton Park, Ill., it was announced yesterday.

URGES OIL MERGER TO CURB SALES LOSS

P. M. Speer, General Counsel for Standard, Traces Decline of Business in 14 Years.

Increasing competition for direct outlets to the consumers in the United States and a desire to meet foreign competition are the reasons for the proposed merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Company, according to testimony yesterday at the hearing before Special Master Fred L. Williams in the Woolworth Building in the government's suit to restrain the contemplated merger.

Peter M. Speer, general counsel, vice president and a director of the Standard Oil Company of New York, called by the defendants as an important witness, said the purpose of the proposed consolidation was "to extend our marketing facilities to make a nation-wide company engaged in the distribution of all petroleum products. We wish to reach that ideal condition already reached by two of our chief rivals."

The witness traced the marketing operations of the Standard Oil Company of New York. He testified that in 1916 the company had 512 bulk-distributing gasoline stations in the New York and New England territory. Its competitors had 160 stations at that time, he said. In 1928 he testified that together with those of the Vacuum Company the Standard Oil Company would have had 547 stations, as against 1,541 of its competitors.

Mr. Speer also said that in 1918 the Standard Oil Company had about 60 per cent of the petroleum business in New York and New England. In 1926 it had dropped to 46 per cent, and last year it dropped to about 34 per cent. In the first four months of this year it had dropped to 32.7 per cent, he added.

PITTSBURGH, July 22 (AP).—Benjamin F. Harris, president of the Oil Well Supply Company, announced today that his company had given the United States Steel Corporation an option to purchase the business of Oil Well Supply. The latter at the close of 1929 had assets of $27,287,426.

Mr. Harris said the option would expire on Aug. 25. A meeting of stockholders of Oil Well Supply, he added, would be called to ratify the deal, but the date had not been set.

FINDS NO OIL IN NICARAGUA.

Pan-American Petroleum Official Reports on Hurtado Concession.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 22 (AP).—Howland Bancroft, representative of the Pan-American Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, who obtained an option on the Hurtado oil concession last October, possessing the right to drill on the western side of Nicaragua, has written a letter to President Moncada, stating that oil does not exist there.

Much interest was shown in the search for oil last March when Mr. Bancroft said his company was making extensive investigations in Nicaragua to determine if oil existed in marketable quantities.

Geological investigation was conducted by groups of experts under the supervision of a widely known geologist.

We believe . . .

In the future of the United States.

In the ability and financial courage of its industrial leaders.

That securities of many of our great corporations are selling at levels which do not truly reflect the assets of these corporations, their earning power and their future possibilities.

For these reasons . . .

we believe that the present market offers many excellent opportunities for the prudent investor to secure stocks of these corporations at attractive levels—and we recommend the purchase of such stocks now.

We are preparing a circular setting forth our reasons for these beliefs and will be glad to send this on request.

DOMESTIC BONDS UP ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Trading Relatively Small, With Strength Centred in High-Grade Rails and Utilities.

FOREIGN LOANS WEAKER

But French Government Issues Are Strong and Active—New York Transit Group Firm.

Domestic bond prices were higher yesterday on the average on the Stock Exchange, although the volume of trading was relatively small. Most of the strength in the domestic list centred in the high-grade railroad and public utility issues. Foreign loans averaged slightly lower, while United States Government obligations closed moderately higher for the day.

In the latter group all of the active issues advanced with the exception of the Fourth Liberty 4¼s, which moved off 1-32 point. The gains for the day ranged from 2-32 to 10-32, with the Treasury 4¼s showing the major gain.

French Government bonds were active and strong, with the 7s reaching a new high at 119 at the close, up ¼ point. The 7½s came within a fraction of the previously recorded high, closing at 124⅛, up ¾ point. City of Bordeaux 6s touched a new high at 105⅝, as did City of Marseilles 6s, and City of Soissons 6s made a new high at 105½. South American loans and Continental industrial and utility issues finished lower on the average.

Domestic industrial issues showed considerable irregularity. Fisk Rubber 8s advanced 6 points, recovering some of the ground lost in the previous few days. Pathé Exchange 7s moved up 2 points. Walworth first 6s dropped 3 points on a single transaction, and Willys-Overland 6½s sold off 1⅛ points to 99¼. Warner Brothers Pictures convertible 6s moved above par during the early trading but finished at 99⅞, up ⅛. Oil bonds were a trifle firmer.

New York transit issues were generally firm. Interborough refunding 5s of 1966 were up 1¼ points and the stamped bonds up a point. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s closed fractionally higher, as did Broadway Seventh Avenue 5s of 1963.

Ships Full Cargo of Sulphur.

The government dredging of channels at Freeport, Texas, is so nearly completed that it was possible to dispatch yesterday the first full cargo of sulphur from the Freeport Texas Company's plant there. Hitherto only partly loaded boats have been able to leave the harbor, the remainder of their cargoes being sent by rail and being picked up at Texas City, forty miles away. The improvement in shipping facilities is expected to save the company $195,000 a year.

The financing will take the form of an issue of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due in 1960.

Utilities Power Plans Confirmed by Word Received From Berlin.

Reports that the $400,000,000 Utilities Power and Light Corporation was planning to enter the public utility business in Germany were confirmed in word received yesterday in the financial district from Berlin. Utilities Power is to form a holding company for European utilities, together with the Thueringer Gas Company, the second largest gas company in Germany under private management, and which has also electric power properties, the report said.

The Chase Securities Corporation and the Deutsche Bank are reported to be the bankers for the new holding company, which is expected to make its headquarters in Leipzig. Early financing of the development, here and abroad, is expected. Consummation of the transaction, it is said, will involve acquisition of public utility operating companies and rendering of financial and supervisory service by the parent company.

Ohio Purchase Seen as Step in Increase in River Transportation.

The acquisition is regarded as a step in a plan of the Koppers-Mellon interests to increase their use of inland waterways for transportation of their products, as a river-rail terminal is to be built at Georgetown, Ohio, where the forty-two-mile road ends, the reports said.

DU PONT INCOME OFF IN SECOND QUARTER

EARNINGS $1.33 A SHARE

The statement of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. for the second quarter of this year shows a net income of $15,603,688 after charges, including Federal taxes, equivalent after dividends on the debenture stock to $1.33 a share on the average number of 10,629,447 common shares outstanding during the period. This compares with $16,296,567, or $1.44 a share on the average number of 10,298,553 shares outstanding, for the similar quarter of last year. Previously the company had announced that earnings for the second quarter, with the month of June estimated, would be $1.31 a share. At the end of June the company had outstanding 10,709,823 common shares of $20 par value.

The net income of the company for the first six months of this year was $32,951,314, equal after dividends on the debenture stock to $2.84 a share on the average number of 10,546,570 shares outstanding, compared with $41,536,412, or $3.84 a share, after similar deductions, on the average number of 10,068,281 shares outstanding during the first six months of 1929. The main reason responsible for the reduction in the net income during these periods was the decline in revenue from its investment in General Motors stock from $24,950,131 during the 1929 period to $17,965,065 during the first six months of this year.

Income from Operations.

Income from operations for the first half of this year was $14,705,317, against $16,784,899 in the first six months of 1929. The total income from investments in the current half $26,950,460 during the corresponding period of last year. Net available for the common stock, after making provisions for Federal taxes, interyear was $19,990,438, compared with est on bonds of subsidiary companies and dividends on its debenture stocks, was $29,965,357 in the first six months of this year, against $38,674,969 in the similar period of 1929. During the second quarter the amount earned on the common stock was $14,110,710, compared with $14,827,292 in the second quarter of 1929.

Since Dec. 31 the company has made a revaluation of its investment in the equivalent of 9,981,220 shares of General Motors Corporation common stock from $16.50 a share to $18.75, which closely corresponds to the net asset value as shown by the balance sheet of the General Motors Corporation on Dec. 31. As a result, the 9,843,750 shares which the du Pont company owns in the General Motors Securities Company, representing a 70 per cent interest, were carried in the balance sheet of the du Pont company on June 30 at $187,147,875, an increase of $22,457,745 over Dec. 31, 1929.

Surplus Account of $187,284,075.

The surplus account of the du Pont company on June 30 amounted to $187,284,075, compared with $144,920,319 on Dec. 31, 1929. In addition to the gain in surplus resulting from the revaluation of its investment in the stock of the General Motors Corporation, $5,798,496 came from undivided profits during the first six months of this year, $7,767,060 from an issue of common stock sold under the Executives' Trust and Bonus Plans and $6,340,559 from the acquisition of the Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Company.

At the end of June the total gross assets of the company amounted to $595,228,980. Current assets totaled $107,309,758, including cash of $20,045,709, marketable securities and call loans of $13,700,433, accounts receivable $25,729,992, notes receivable $2,496,733 and inventories at cost $45,336,889. Current liabilities aggregated $16,623,213, making a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of 6.45.

On May 19, 1930, rights were issued to common stockholders of record June 5, entitling them to subscribe to an additional issue of 357,071 shares of common stock at $80 a share. These rights expired on July 15, and consequently the balance sheet of June 30 does not reflect the sale of this stock.

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

FRENCH STOCKS INACTIVE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 22.—Industrial and mining shares remained depressed on the Stock Exchange today, but gilt-edge securities revived. The funding loan rose ¼ to £90¼, while the war loan was steady at £103½.

Among the transatlantic shares International Nickel rose ⅝ to $25⅛ and Brazilian Traction ⅝ to $40¼, but Associated Electric fell 6d to 24s and Hydroelectric dropped 1¼ to $39¼. The record shares were weak, notably Columbia Graphophone, which fell 5-32 to £3 11-16, and His Master's Voice Gramophone, which was ⅛ down to £3 3-16.

United Molasses again was on offer and closed 3-32 off at £2. The air disaster in Kent yesterday affected aviation shares, such as Handley-Page, Imperial Airways and Rolls-Royce. Ford fell 6d to 69s 6d, while Austin, Leyland and other British motor shares were depressed.

Among the textiles Courtaulds weakened to £2⅛ and British Celanese to 11s 6d. Oils were quiet, prices falling generally. De Beers weakened to £7 among the diamonds.

A good supply of money in Lombard Street pushed the overnight loan rate down to 1½ per cent. The discount market was almost stagnant and brokers reported it was impossible to find buyers, despite the rate of 2 7-16 per cent for three-month bills. Sterling exchange lost ground, closing at $4.86⅝. French buyers again bought nearly all the weekly arrival of African gold in the open market, this time taking £701,000 of the £764,000 available.

Paris Bourse Stagnant.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 22.—The Bourse today was almost inactive. Price variations, however, were slight, and news of poor sessions in London, Berlin and New York had apparently no particular effect on trading here. The attendance was small, and there was a dearth of both offers and demands.

Rentes were quiet but remained steady throughout the meeting to close as follows: The 3 per cents, 88.55; 1918 4s, 100.86; 1920 amortizable 5s, 134.77; 1928 5s, 103.35; 1920 6s, 102.10; 1927 amortizable 6s, 105.75.

Market in Berlin Weakens.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 22.—International weakness on the stock exchanges, primarily in Wall Street, influenced the tendency in today's session of the Boerse unfavorably and caused offerings by foreign and domestic investors, in consequence of which the market weakened all along the line.

The main depressing factor was the sudden drop in artificial silks, which during recent weeks had upheld the market. Reichsbank shares, which dropped 7 points; electrical stocks, primarily Siemens & Halske; A. E. G. and Gesfuerel; potashes, celanese, beer and spirits and dyes, trust shares, Karstadt and the mining group were considerably lower.

Call money was slightly easier at 2¾ to 4¾ per cent.

MORE GOLD FROM URUGUAY.

Second of Three $1,000,000 Shipments Comes to Guaranty Trust.

A shipment of $1,000,000 gold arrived here yesterday from Uruguay. It was the second of three scheduled consignments aggregating $3,000,000 coming to the Guaranty Trust Company from Uruguay this month. One of $1,000,000 came in last week.

Apart from this arrival there were no gold movements here yesterday, but the Canadian dollar equalled its recent high of five thirty-seconds premium, making probable additional shipments of gold to Canada soon.

The Europa and the Mauretania are to leave port today, but a decline of one-sixteenth point in the price of the franc yesterday will prevent any gold being sent to France on these boats, it is thought.

To Spend $250,000 on Plant.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 22.—The Federal Welding and Machine Company of Warren announced today a $250,000 expansion program.

DENIES PETITIONS TO ALTER RAIL PLAN

I. C. C. Announces That Consolidation Allocation Project Will Not Be Reopened.

PHILADELPHIA FOR CHANGE

Trade Bodies Objected to Inclusion of Reading and Jersey Central in Baltimore & Ohio Group.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A sweeping denial of petitions filed by various railroads, chambers of commerce, civic leagues and trade associations seeking modifications of the consolidation plan to combine the railroads into twenty-one competitive systems was made today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The petitioners seeking modification of the plan so as to conform to local desires were the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity & Sabine Railway, a Texas short line; the Chamber of Commerce of Trenton, N. J., the Moffat Tunnel League, the Uintah Basin Railroad League and Philadelphia trade bodies.

Refusal to modify or to reopen for hearing the plan promulgated Dec. 9, 1929, was made on the ground that "the petitioners may be fully heard, when and if formal application is made to give effect to the plan of consolidation or any part thereof."

The commission had previously stated that the plan was purely a basis on which the roads should proceed in making applications for unification of their properties. In its order today the commission gave notice that the consolidation plan would not be reopened for hearing and that any desired modifications would have to be made when the formal applications are made to carry out the plan of consolidation.

Asks Change for Texas Line.

Contending that the acquisition of the Waco line by the Southern Pacific, as planned by the commission, "does not preserve competition in the territory as fully as possible," the Waco petitioners requested allocation of the line to the Missouri Pacific System, No. 18, instead of the Southern Pacific, No. 16.

"If allocated to the Missouri Pacific," the petitioners stated, "it should extend the service of that system to Livingston, Groveton, Corrigan and Colmesneil, while only one point, Trinity, would be left without competitive service. Allocation of the Waco to the Southern Pacific would destroy competition at the Texas cities named."

The Moffat Tunnel League and the Uintah Basin Railroad League, in filing a joint petition with the commission, asked for the allocation of the Denver & Salt Lake Railway with some other system than the Missouri Pacific. It was suggested that allocation to the Missouri Pacific System would not be in the public interest, since the Denver & Rio Grande Western, a segment of the Missouri Pacific, had always opposed extension of the Denver & Salt Lake, a Moffat road, west from Craig, Colo., to Provo or Salt Lake City, Utah, to eliminate competition.

Object to Jersey Central Allocation.

The petition of the Philadelphia trade bodies objected to the allocation of the Reading and Central of New Jersey and other short lines tributary to those roads to system No. 5, or the Baltimore & Ohio.

The trade bodies said that competition would be better served if the plan were reopened and modified so as to make the Reading and the Central of New Jersey the basis of an independent system, that "competition will be more fully preserved, the existing routes and channels of trade will be better maintained and the cost of transportation as between the competitive systems and as related to the values of properties through which the service is rendered will be more nearly the same than if they were included in the Baltimore & Ohio System."

The Baltimore & Ohio said in reply to the petition that no evidence had been produced by the trade bodies in support of their claims, and the commission, acting on the reply of the Baltimore & Ohio, denied all the petitions.

Only two minor changes have been made in the consolidation plan of the commission since its decision in December, the first assigning the Gulf, Texas & Western to the Rock Island-Frisco, System No. 19, instead of to the Santa Fe, System No. 17.

The Arkansas Short Line, which had been allocated to the Missouri Pacific, was later found to be an entirely "intrastate carrier" and so not subject to the interstate commerce act.

PRICE TREND UPWARD ON CURB EXCHANGE

Bond and Share Leads the Utility Group—Volume of Trading Recedes.

Prices strengthened in trading on the Curb Exchange yesterday, after an opening that was steady at the levels established during Monday's reaction. Utilities showed a generally rising trend under the leadership of Electric Bond and Share, which moved up more than 3 points.

Cities Service advanced, as did United Gas new, Goldman Sachs and Pennroad Corporation. Middle West Utilities was somewhat easier. The turnover was on a reduced scale, but the trend of prices was toward higher levels throughout most of the day.

Among the more active industrial issues were American Cyanamid B, Deere & Co. new and Canadian Marconi, all of which showed improvement.

DIVIDENDS PLANNED FOR OLD FORD ROAD

Pennroad Corporation Likely to Act on Preferred Stock of Detroit, Toledo & Ironton.

BOND INTEREST ALL PAID

The Pennroad Corporation, investment affiliate of the Pennsylvania Railroad, plans to initiate dividends on preferred stock of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, it was learned yesterday. The way has been cleared by the payment of accumulated interest on adjustment bonds that were bought from the Ford interests at the time of acquisition of the D., T. & I.

These bonds were called some time ago but payment was not made. The amount due in interest on them was represented approximately by an item of $1,609,000 for interest matured and unpaid and another item of $1,809,000 for unmatured interest accrued, which appeared in the balance sheet of Dec. 31. In paying these bills, interest was paid also on the interest itself for the time it was due. In all, $3,566,000 was paid and was carried in the profit and loss account on the statement of the Pennroad Corporation issued Monday as "bond interest for prior years, less Federal income tax."

This item and one of $42,817 for profit on securities sold when added to the net income of $4,071,000 for the period from April 24, 1928, to June 30, gave a figure of $7,680,000. A. J. County, a director of Pennroad and a vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said yesterday that the $7,680,000 was equal to 84 cents a share on the 9,090,000 shares of Pennroad stock. The net income of $4,071,000 was equal to 44 cents a share.

The Pennroad Corporation owns 64,588 shares of common stock and 59,491 shares of preferred stock in the D., T. & I., or virtually 99 per cent of the voting stock. Since Pennroad owns the bonds on which the back payments of interest were made, payments on the stock or the bonds go into the same treasury.

The dividend on D., T. & I. stock will not be made until the results for the current year's operations are more nearly completed. Despite the decline in motor vehicle shipments, earnings of the road have been holding up fairly well.

With the exception of the holdings in the Seaboard Air Line and the D., T. & I., the commitments of the Pennroad Corporation pay either dividends or interest. Payment of dividends by the former Ford road will make this picture almost complete.

BANK TO ENLARGE CAPITAL.

Long Island National's Board Votes Increase to $400,000.

Directors of the Long Island National Bank have recommended an increase in the capital of that institution from $250,000 to $400,000 and a reduction in the par value of the shares from $100 to $10, it was announced yesterday by William J. Large, president.

According to the plan for the capital readjustment approved by the board of directors, the present 2,500 shares of $100 par value will be increased to 25,000 shares of $10 par value and an exchange of ten shares of the new stock for one of the old will be made. An additional 15,000 shares will be issued, bringing the total amount of capital stock up to 40,000 shares.

The increase in capitalization has been proposed, according to Mr. Large, to permit a wider distribution of ownership of the bank and to facilitate a policy of expansion in accordance with the growing needs of the community.

BUYS INSURANCE CONCERNS.

St. Louis Corporation Acquires Control of Two Newark Companies.

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP).—The Marquette Easton Finance Corporation of St. Louis announced today that it had acquired control of the National Guaranty Fire Insurance Company and the Independent Bonding and Casualty Insurance Company of Newark, N. J. Headquarters will be moved to St. Louis.

The finance corporation will operate the insurance companies as distinct concerns. C. Leonard Emell, president of the finance corporation; William M. Baldwin, secretary-treasurer, and John L. McNatt, counsel, have been elected officers and directors of the Newark companies, which have a combined capital and surplus of almost $2,000,000.

Qualified as Insurance Brokers.

Sixty-nine men and four women have qualified for insurance brokers' certificates by an examination given by the New York State Department of Insurance on July 15, it was announced yesterday. The certificates, however, will not be issued until the department has had an opportunity to hear from persons who may contend that they know reasons why licenses should not be issued to any of the list, as is customary.

TRADING IN COTTON NARROW AND LIGHT

Uncertainty Restricts Dealings—July Falls Under 12¾c, Lowest of Season.

SPOT MONTH AT A RECORD

Though showers were reported from only a few stations in Texas, prices on the Cotton Exchange yesterday remained under the influence of predictions for showers in both Mississippi Valley and Western States. With rains falling west and northwest of cotton-growing territory and a decided drop in temperatures in the Wheat and Corn Belts, chances of relief appeared better than at any other time in the last month.

Uncertainty over the outlook reduced trade and professional operations, while pressure on July carried quotations below 12¾c, the lowest record of the year. Under a light volume of business fluctuations held within limits of $1 a bale and the list closed 1 point lower to 4 points higher than on Monday.

For the first time in several years the spot month sold at a discount of fully 10 points more than a necessary carrying charge. With a cost of about 13 points to carry the stock a month, the decline in July to 40 points under October represented a possible profit on the operation of taking up actual cotton for delivery in October.

Weakness in July was attributed to the diversity of grades in the 794,000 bales in the certified stock and to uncertainties involved in financing many thousand bales of premium cotton at the various markets.

According to the Cotton Exchange Service, the stock of cotton in the country on July 1 was 5,067,000 bales, against 3,008,000 a year ago and 4,576,000 in the 18,000,000-bale production in the season of 1926-27. Though the supply for this season was approximately the same as last year, the surplus at the end of the eleven months is due to a falling off of 2,100,000 bales in exports and domestic consumption, compared with the corresponding eleven months last season.

Dividend Action Deferred.

The Ohio Oil Company has decided to take no action on its common dividend until after the meeting of stockholders on Aug. 14 to vote on a proposal to change the stock from $25 par to no par and to issue two shares of the new for each one of the old.

Dates of Dividends Changed.

McKesson & Robbins, Inc., announced yesterday that the dates of payment of common dividends had been changed to coincide with those of dividends on the preference shares, which are Sept. 15, Dec. 15, March 15 and June 15. It was explained that the branches of the company were so widely scattered that it was impossible to assemble consolidated figures soon enough after June 30 to meet the present common dividend payment dates.

MONOPOLY PLAN LAID TO CIGAR BAND FIRMS

Plaintiffs in Suit for $858,000 Accuse Machine and Lithograph Concerns of Conspiracy.

Contending that the defendants entered into an unlawful agreement which had seriously hampered the plaintiffs, who are manufacturers of material for making cigar bands, a suit for $858,000 damages was started yesterday against the Consolidated Lithographing Company and the International Machine Company. Papers were placed on file in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. The plaintiffs are Harry Prochaska, Inc., of 13 East Twenty-second Street, and George Schlegel, Inc., of Second Avenue and East Twenty-second Street.

Both plaintiffs and the Consolidated Lithographing Company are manufacturers of cigar bands and other material used in labeling and boxing cigars. According to the complaint, the two defendants agreed that only manufacturers using material supplied by the Consolidated company could lease banding machines from the International Machine Company. The latter has the exclusive patents on such machinery, the plaintiffs contend.

The plaintiffs also allege that the Consolidated company has made several attempts to cancel leases on banding machines where the lessees of the machines did not purchase its material. The agreement between the defendants is a violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts, Henry Ward Beer, attorney for the plaintiffs, charges.

No answer to the complaint has been filed.

The Pacific Western Oil Corporation and subsidiary report for the six months ended on June 30 net profit of $1,222,681 after all charges, including reserves for depreciation, depletion and abandonments, equivalent to earnings of $1.22 a share. This compares with net profit of $1,065,156, or $1.06 a share, in the first half year of 1929.

SIGNS OF REVIVAL IN BUSINESS SEEN

FEARS HARM IN THE TARIFF

Promise of Cheaper Food Is Viewed as Complicating Farm-Aid Problem.

Current business and financial developments indicate that the "ultimate pit of the depression" may now be at hand, according to the midmonth review of business published by the Irving Trust Company.

"At such times," the review states, "it is to be expected that the list of current favorable developments should be a short one and the list of adverse factors a long one. As to the former, it may be mentioned that, aided by warm weather, some lines of women's clothing and of sports goods and vacation requirements for men and women have been moving fairly well. The wool market displays a somewhat better tone. Manufacturers of gas and oil line pipe continue to book good orders, and, what is more, to run as near full or overtime as possible.

"The tariff bill, for more than a year a source of uncertainty and some irritation to the business world, has been passed by Congress and signed by the President. The uncertainty, however, has now given place to unpleasant certainties, for world-wide reprisals are already raising barriers against our exports. While a few American industries will benefit, it will be at the expense of our general consuming public, and these gains probably will be largely offset by curtailment of foreign demand for a wide list of American products.

"Lastly, our crops, with the exception of a few areas where supplies of moisture were insufficient, appear to be in good to excellent condition. But even the promise of cheaper food is not an unmixed blessing, for, although low prices of food always in the past have been an aid to cheaper production, there comes now the threat of a further lowering of prices of the great staples that may still further complicate the difficult and unsolved problem of farm relief.

"Nearly all lines of trade and industry showed declines for June and the half year from the like periods of 1929, and in many instances the levels reached were the lowest in six or seven years. Sharp declines were shown by the heavy industries, including iron and steel, automobiles, building materials, coal and the non-ferrous metals.

"The textile industries were generally very dull, with the exception of the slight improvement in the wool market and alternate stiffening and easing in cotton goods in sympathy with raw cotton prices. Electricity production probably fell below a year ago, in June, for the second time this year. Wholesale prices of commodities sagged further, reaching the lowest point in almost fifteen years.

"Stock prices declined in the earlier weeks of the month in spite of a decline in call and time money rates to the lowest levels in many years and the reduction of the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate to the lowest point in its history. Bonds failed to show much resiliency despite easy money. Bank clearings and bank debits continued to decrease, while failures and liabilities for June and the last six months were the largest on record for those periods.

"The slow movement of goods was reflected in a reduction in car loadings on the railroads and sharply lower gross and net railway earnings. Wholesale and retail trade was below a year ago in May and dropped further in June, although some of the chain-store and mail-order organizations managed to show gains in total sales.

"It is hoped that soon seasonal and other influences will combine to bring about some expansion in business activity, and that expanding production, after a period of inventory-taking and temporary shutdowns, may mark the beginning of better times."

CORN PRICES JUMP; NEW FEAR FOR CROP

Drought, Only Partly Relieved by Rains, Reduces July 1 Estimate by 200,000,000 Bushels.

GAINS OF 1¾ TO 3¾C

Wheat Is Quiet and Higher—Fair Buying Advances Oats—Rye Also Goes Forward.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Corn forged to the front today as the grain market leader, with heavy and general buying based on the belief that the rains came too late over part of the main belt to repair the damage done by several weeks of scorching temperatures. Some operators expressed the belief that the prospective yield had been reduced more than 200,000,000 bushels compared with the July 1 outlook.

Little was for sale on the way up, with December at the top showing 4 cents over the finish of yesterday and 8¾ cents over the low on July 14, equal to 12½ per cent. The finish was within a fraction of the best figures, with net gains of 1¾ to 3¾ cents, the new crop months leading in strength.

July acted a little heavy, affected by increasing reports of wheat being used for feed in the Southwest, but the country sold only 23,000 bushels to arrive, while shipping sales were 132,000 bushels.

Good rains were shown by official reports in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, but in many instances the precipitation was too light to have a lasting effect. The forecast was for fair and warmer, resulting in fears that another heat wave was about to sweep over the belt.

Primary receipts of corn were 520,000 bushels; a week ago 522,000, and a year ago 579,000. Shipments, respectively, were 301,000, 329,000 and 780,000 bushels.

The wheat market, which was rather quiet, came to life toward the last with corn, and closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent higher, with locals on the buying side. Hedging was not so heavy as of late, and the trade has an impression that there has been much more export business done than reported. A seaboard authority estimated that sales of hard Winter from July 1 to date aggregated 20,000,000 bushels, with further sales made during the day.

The movement in the Southwest has fallen off materially, and in some quarters the belief prevails that local arrivals of 1,280 cars yesterday were the largest of the season and that the movement generally is about due to decrease rapidly, especially if the price does not advance.

Taken as a whole, sentiment tonight was more favorable to the buying side, and it was the gossip of the trade that readjustment between American and foreign markets had been completed.

Primary receipts of wheat were 4,345,000 bushels; a week ago, 3,004,000, and a year ago, 3,723,000. Shipments, respectively, were 1,741,000, 1,583,000 and 1,860,000 bushels.

Export inquiries for oats were received today for the first time on the crop. Cash and commission houses were fair buyers, and with the strength in corn the finish was ¼ to ⅝ cent higher.

While there was selling of December rye against purchases of December wheat at 34½ to 35 cents difference, commission houses generally were fair buyers and the market developed independent strength, closing 1⅜ to 1¾ cents higher. Hamburg was credited with having bought small amounts of rye at the seaboard.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

GRAIN EXPORT INCREASES.

Much Larger Shipment of Wheat at the Lower Prices.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Grain exports from the United States last week jumped to record figures for the season, coincident with the fall of prices on principal American grain exchanges to points lower than have been experienced in fifteen years.

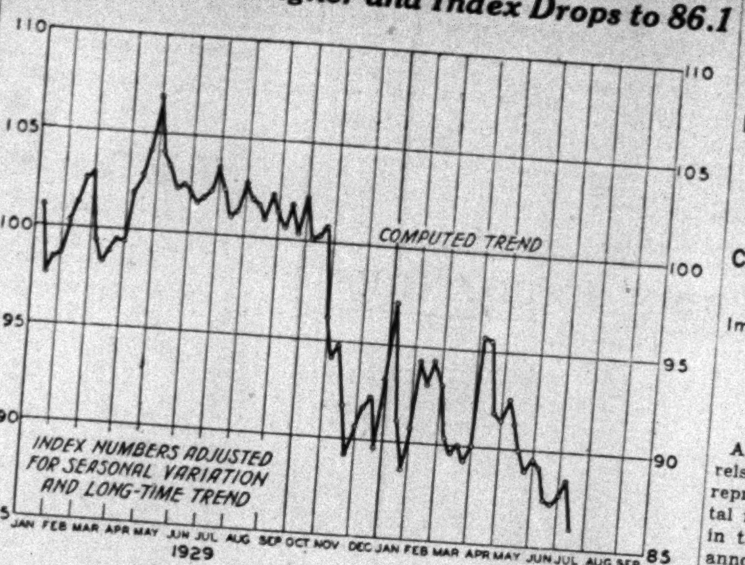
Commerce Department figures today placed the total exports of United States grains last week as 4,083,000 bushels, against 1,022,000 the previous week and 2,134,000 bushels the same week last year.

Wheat exports last week were 3,962,000 bushels, against 825,000 bushels the week before; corn, 26,000, against 117,000; barley, 95,000, against 70,000; oats, none, against 10,000.

3 Killed in Utah Mine Explosion.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 22 (AP).—Three men were killed late last night in an explosion in the Blue Blaze Coal Company's mine at Price, Utah, it became known here today. The victims, all married, were Nick Moros, 41 years of age; Nick Devizan, 34 years of age, and Ed Wycherly, 29 years of age. J. B. Gibson, 22 years of age, suffered an injured arm. The four men were alone in the shaft at the time of the blast which was caused by a drill touching an unexploded charge of powder.

Car Loadings Reported at 915,985 for Week; Estimate Was Higher and Index Drops to 86.1



Total freight loadings for the week ended July 12, as reported by the American Railway Association at 915,985 cars, carry the adjusted index of carloadings down to 86.1, which displaces the preliminary index of 87.1 based on an estimate of 928,000 for the week. This change represents a decline in the index of 2.7 per cent, against a normal seasonal decline of 0.9 per cent, the decline being, therefore, three times the normal seasonal one. The actual total, however, represents a rise of 123,844 cars above the total in the Fourth of July week.

In consequence of the revision downward to 86.1 of the index of freight loadings, the combined business index declines to 88.9 in place of the preliminary index of 89.3, which was based on the preliminary carloadings index which has now been reduced to 86.1.

JAPAN'S TRADE DECLINES.

Drop in June Exports and Imports Reported in Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The foreign trade of Japan reached the lowest point to which it has dropped in ten years during June, with exports and imports both sharply off as compared with the same month last year, according to a cabled report from the Department of Commerce's attaché at Tokyo, made public here today.

The June exports were given as 99,000,000 yen (about $49,500,000), compared with 159,500,000 yen (about $79,750,000) a year ago. Imports dropped from 176,400,000 yen in June, 1929, to 126,000,000 yen in June this year.

"The import excess for June of 27,000,000 yen," the report said, "brought the total unfavorable trade balance for the first half year up to about 223,000,000 yen."

The report says a slight increase in the amount of raw exports offered some encouragement, indicating that New York buyers, who had been holding off making purchases during the end of the old silk season were coming into the market to a certain extent. There were slight increases in the exports of iron and steel manufactures and machinery.

Observing that June marks the end of the heavy import session in Japan, the report adds that raw cotton imports dropped 11,100,000 yen, while smaller declines occurred in purchases of iron and steel products, wheat and oil cake.

TAKE UP ASSESSMENT PLAN

Walker's Appointees Begin Study of Improvement Financing.

The first step was taken yesterday by a committee appointed in May by Mayor Walker, of which Corporation Counsel Hilly is chairman, to study the financing of local improvements. One of the first tasks of the committee will be an analysis and consideration of an extended report issued in May by Controller Berry entitled "The Financing of Local Improvements by Local, Borough or City-wide Assessments." Each member of the committee was asked yesterday to submit a brief setting forth his views not later than Aug. 25, the probable date of the next meeting. If the other members of the committee concur substantially with the Controller's recommendations, the committee's work will probably result in a sweeping change in the assessment policy of the Board of Estimate.

CRUDE OIL OUTPUT FALLS

Imports of Petroleum and Its Products Are Also Reported as Lower.

A decline of almost 2,000,000 barrels in gasoline stocks at refineries representing 95.7 per cent of the total refining capacity of the country, in the week ended on July 19, was announced yesterday by the American Petroleum Institute. Total stocks were 45,937,000 barrels, compared with 47,792,000 on July 12. Refinery operations on July 12 were at 69.3 per cent of capacity, against 71.2 per cent in the preceding week.

Gas and fuel oil stocks totaled 139,113,000 barrels, against 139,085,000 the previous week. Operations in the Rocky Mountain district continued the lowest in the country, with refineries producing only 42.7 per cent of capacity. This contrasted with 81.2 per cent for the Indiana, Illinois and Missouri districts and with 80.6 per cent on the West Coast.

The daily average gross crude oil production for the entire country for the week ended July 19 was estimated at 2,500,100 barrels, compared with 2,530,800 the previous week, a decrease of 30,700 barrels. In the corresponding week a year ago the average was 2,893,950 barrels daily. The daily average production east of California was 1,885,200 barrels, compared with 1,917,700, a decrease of 32,500 barrels.

Oil Output in Oklahoma Cut.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 22 (AP).—At a hearing today before the State Corporation Commission, operators of flush oil pools said production in Oklahoma, already curtailed to 650,000 barrels daily, exceeded the market demand by 100,000 barrels. The commission thereupon ordered the daily output cut to 550,000 barrels until Aug. 31.

WOOL GOODS INDUSTRY SEEN ON FIRM BASIS

Statistics for June Are Issued and So Commented Upon by Institution Head.

The woolen and worsted industry is now established on a firm basis, after having passed its most difficult period, and can look forward to a market in which wool products have been thoroughly liquidated, A. D. Whiteside, president of the Wool Institute, said yesterday in a statement accompanying the preliminary figures of the comparative activity of the industry for June and May. These figures, Mr. Whiteside declared, are extremely significant and indicate conclusively that the turn which has been looked for since April has definitely developed.

"An important percentage of Fall goods has still to be bought," Mr. Whiteside stated, "and a sharp demand for fabrics that have been selling slowly will be felt in the near future. This fact gives a note of conservative optimism to the situation that has not been felt for several seasons."

The figures, which are made on an adjusted basis of four-week months and cover 82 per cent of the reporting looms, reveal that June production of both men's and women's wear fabrics has increased substantially over May. In the men's wear division, billings gained 30 per cent over May, sufficient to absorb the June output and to further decrease the surplus stocks on hand. Production in women's wear woolens for June increased 41 per cent over that for May, with billings gaining 19 per cent, with the result that stocks are 9 per cent larger.

The following figures show the percentage gains and losses in output, billings and stocks of the various materials:

Fabrics.	Production.	Billings.	Surplus Stocks.

Woolens	+14.0	+26.0	−8.0

RAYON PRICES CUT BY VISCOSE COMPANY

Reduction of 20 to 25 Cents a Pound Announced, 13 to 22 Per Cent.

TEXTILE PRICES ARE FACTOR

Sharp Decline in Silk Also Caused Slash—Seen as Parity Move.

The Viscose Company, leading factor in the rayon industry, yesterday announced reductions of 20 to 25 cents a pound and ranging between 13 and 22 per cent. In a statement accompanying the new list of prices, which became effective yesterday, S. A. Salvage, president of the company, referred to the decline in raw silk and said that the action on rayon should set at rest the rumors of a further decline in the artificial product.

In the market the reductions were described as "very sharp," and, while other companies making competing yarns may follow the action of Viscose, they were not prepared yesterday to make announcements.

In explaining the reasons for the price cut Mr. Salvage said:

"Due to the lower price trend for the past few months in textiles, and particularly the recent sharp decline in silk, we have thought it advisable to bring the price of rayon down to the figures quoted below, effective today, July 22, and thereby maintain the price parity which has in the past existed between the two fibres.

"While silk today is selling at a lower level than ever before, and which is very uncertain to continue for any length of time, we have, in making this cut, taken this fact into consideration and brought our prices to such a point as would be effective in answering any rumors regarding a further decline."

The last reduction in the market took place on May 1. The following table gives the volume sellers of the Viscose line with the new prices on "brights" and the former prices in parentheses:

Denier.	Filament.	First.	Second.
75	18	$1.60 ($1.85)	$1.50 ($1.65)
75	30	1.70 (1.95)	1.60 (1.75)
100	40	1.30 (1.50)	1.20 (1.40)
150	24	.95 (1.15)	.90 (1.10)
150	60	1.15 (1.35)	1.10 (1.30)
300	44	.78 (1.00)	.75 (.95)

The usual variations in the filaments apply in the new list, but the premiums for the dull lustre yarns have been reduced from 5 cents to 3 cents a pound. Coning has also been reduced, those from 50 to 125 denier in the first and second grades to 5 cents from 10 cents a pound and for 150 denier and coarser in the same grades to 3 cents a pound from the former 4 cents.

Camel's Hair Group to Be Named.

A committee will be named to confer informally with the Federal Trade Commission on the matter of labeling, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of thirteen representatives of manufacturers and distributers of fabrics containing camel's hair or allied fibers, held in the office of the Wool Institute at 2 Park Avenue. The committee will present a report of their conference with the Commission at a meeting of the industry to be held early in September. A. D. Whiteside, president of the Wool Institute, presided.

American Woolen Lowers Prices.

Price reductions of from 7 per cent to 10 per cent on staples and from 7 per cent to 16 per cent on tropicals have been made by the American Woolen Company in opening its lines for men's wear trade for the Spring season of 1931, it was announced yesterday. The company has also added six lines of fancy tropical worsteds priced from $1.29 to $1.60 a yard.

Although the bulk of Canadi money abroad is now in the Unit States, the report said money fro the Dominion was going into oth countries at a more rapid rate th into this country. Great Britai was noted as an exception, wi Canadian investments there dimin ishing.

Banking in Latin American coun tries and public utilities in many foreign quarters were said to be tw of the chief attractions for Canadian capital. It is observed that the in terest in utilities is credited to Fred S. Pearson, American engineer who lost his life when the Lusitania was torpedoed.

More Buyers, but Under Year Ago.

Registration of buyers in the market during the past week showed a slight gain over the previous week, but fell well behind the total for the corresponding week a year ago, according to the lists published in The Times. The total for the week was 869, as against 845 listed in the preceding week and 1,003 for the same period last year. Buyers in town yesterday were slightly more than a week ago, 366 being registered, as compared with 344 reported last Tuesday.

Promotion Men to Make Studies.

Two new studies on "Customer Contact" and "Customer Analysis" will be conducted by the Sales Promotion Division of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, it was announced yesterday by Kenneth Collins, executive vice president of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., and chairman of the sales promotion division. The results of the surveys will be presented at the organization's convention in February. Members of the committee for the first study are: I. A. Hirschmann, L. Bamberger & Co., chairman; Alan A. Wells, Kresge Department Store, Newark, and Mrs. Dorothy Swenson, Abraham Strauss, Inc. The second study will be conducted by the following committee: H. F. Twomey, Jordan Marsh Company, Boston, chairman; Ernest DeKalb, Conrad & Co., Boston, and Harry Buffum, Buffum's, Long Beach, Cal.

Imported Rug Prices Advancing.

Enactment of the tariff last month checked the downward price trend in Persian and Chinese rugs and they are now advancing steadily in price, according to reports in the trade yesterday. Since the passage of the tariff the average prices for Orientals has risen approximately 20 cents per square foot. Additional increases will add 15 cents more to the price by the middle of September, it is claimed. Most of the importers have heavy stocks of merchandise which they have held for a year or more. These are now beginning to move because of the activity of store buyers who are ordering for August sales.

Neckwear Buyers Show Interest.

Buyers are just beginning to show an interest in men's neckwear for the Fall, although at the present time most of their demand is for special merchandise sales, it was reported yesterday. Some few orders have been placed for the Autumn, but these are not very sizable. There seems to be a tendency to return to stripes, mogadors and regimental reps. It is not expected that plain colors will be as popular in the Fall as they have been during the current season. Neat patterns will continue to enjoy their present vogue, it was said. Buying has been so delayed that manufacturers visualize an exceedingly busy season when the demand does materialize.

Wallpaper Buying "Spotty."

The first day of actual buying at the annual exhibition of wallpaper lines at the Hotel Commodore yesterday was reported as "spotty." Many of the wholesalers who visited the showrooms said that they were carrying heavy stocks from the Spring season and would curtail their purchases for the present. Others in a more fortunate position were reported to be placing orders for normal quantities. Most of the buyers asked that sample assortments of the patterns they liked best be shipped to them for selection later.

Infants' Wear Group Planned.

Manufacturers of knitted infants' wear have under consideration a plan to form a group within the National Knitted Outerwear Association, it was learned yesterday. There are about fifty producers in this line throughout the country and their first organized step will be to cooperate with the Federal Tariff Commission in its investigation of costs here and abroad to determine if additional protection is warranted. Other problems will then be taken up. A meeting to discuss the project is scheduled for the near future.

Furniture Orders Improve.

Furniture buyers who delayed their regular purchasing at the time of the Fall show last month are re-visiting the local market at this time to make their purchases, it was reported here yesterday. Toward the close of last week local sales representatives for manufacturers wrote a considerable volume of future business. Sales dropped off Monday, but picked up again yesterday and are expected to continue brisk through the balance of the week. The purchases are mainly for case goods. Upholstered furniture sales still lag.

Growth in Paper Box Sales.

Expansion of the use of paper boxes for the packaging of food products during the first six months of this year accounted for most of the 3 per cent increase in business which members of the Paper Board Industries Association reported at the opening of a three-day session in the Hotel Commodore yesterday. Officials of the organization predicted that sales during the balance of the year would show an even greater gain. The session yesterday was devoted to meetings of subcommittees on statistics, sales promotion, standards and cost accounting.

Lustberg Heads Shirt Group.

Morris Lustberg of Lustberg, Nast & Co., was elected president of the National Association of Shirt Manufacturers at a meeting held yesterday in the New York Athletic Club. M. B. Hamft of G. P. Ide & Co., was named vice president, and A. F. Allison, secretary and treasurer. John T. Turrell of Cluett, Peabody & Co., was elected chairman of the board of directors. A committee was reappointed to continue its research activities in respect to shrinking, size of garments and fast colors. This committee includes Mr. Turrell, Richard Mack of Rauh & Mack Shirt Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, and B. Herbert of Lustberg, Nast & Co. A resolution was passed offering to cooperate with the United States Bureau of Census.

Gray Goods Market Quieter.

The gray goods market failed to maintain the activity of last week yesterday and relapsed into quietness. Declines in raw cotton are causing some uncertainty among buyers. Inquiry was somewhat less and purchasing was restricted. Prices held up to Monday's levels. In standard printcloths, some business was done in 38½-inch 60-48s at 4¾ cents. Orders for 38½-inch 64-60s were reported filled at 5½ cents. In 39-inch 68-72s, a firm tone was maintained at 6¼ cents. In 39-inch 80 squares, 7¾ cents continued to be quoted. Sheetings showed little activity.

BOYS' WEAR BUYERS MEET.

Cooperation of Advertising Managers Urged—Style Show Today.

Closer cooperation between buyers of boys' wear and advertising managers was urged yesterday by Robert Winternitz of Winternitz & Bissel in an address before the 300 buyers who are attending the National Boys' Buyers Convention at the New Yorker Hotel. Mr. Winternitz declared it was the duty of the boys' wear buyer to acquaint the advertising manager, who must keep in touch with a number of departments, with his particular field, thus enabling him to prepare more authoritative advertisements. The advertising manager should even assist the buyer in making purchases and will then have more confidence in his copy, Mr. Winternitz said.

After Mr. Winternitz's address an open forum was held, with particular emphasis on the formation of promotional clubs for boys. The convention was formally opened yesterday morning, with fifty-seven firms exhibiting their goods on the seventh floor of the hotel. Today there will be a style show at 2:30 P. M. in the grand ballroom, with models from the ages of 3 to 17 displaying outfits for all purposes.

HARDWARE TRADE STEADY.

Volume of Business About Equal to That of Year Ago.

From practically every major wholesale hardware market comes the encouraging news that vacation equipment, particularly sporting goods, is selling very actively, according to the weekly review of Hardware Age. The publication states that, while strictly staple goods are enjoying only a moderate demand, there seems to be relatively more activity in rural districts than in cities, and continues:

"Never a particularly active period for hardware and housefurnishings wholesalers, the early Summer season appears to be on a par with 1929 for current volume. Wholesale buyers interested in their Fall requirements report that prices show no important changes. They also express confidence in the outlook for trade improvement during the Fall season. With both wholesale and retail stocks at their lowest ebb in many years, it is felt that the opening up of business in September should witness a movement for bringing up stocks toward normal. This alone would likely represent a substantial volume of business."

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN THE REALTY FIELD

Leasing by Brill Brothers of Their Cortlandt Street Site Features Market.

BROADWAY LEASE IS SOLD

Owners of Forty-first Street Corner Gain Complete Control There—Other Manhattan Transactions.

Numerous leaseholds in Manhattan were announced yesterday through brokers' reports and the recording of papers in the Register's Office. Except for the taking of properties under lease, there was little activity in the borough. Brokers reported some new mortgage loans and several mortgages were filed in the Register's Office.

Most property sales in the metropolitan area involved holdings in New Jersey, Queens and Brooklyn. The feature of the Bronx market was the announcement that a firm of clothiers had taken a $1,000,000 lease on a Fordham Road site.

Brill Brothers leased to Stewart Sandwiches, Inc., the property at 47-49 Cortlandt Street and 165 Greenwich Street, consisting of three buildings, two five-story structures being on Cortlandt Street and a six-story building on Greenwich Street. The buildings form an "L" around the southeast corner, fronting forty-two feet on Cortlandt Street and thirty-two feet on Greenwich Street.

Site of Brill's First Store.

Brill Brothers opened their first store at 47 Cortlandt Street about fifty years ago, and the property has now been leased by them through Henry Shapiro & Co., brokers. The lease is for forty-two years at an aggregate rental of $2,000,000.

The lessees plan to alter the property or erect a new building upon taking possession in the Spring. Brill Brothers plan to return to the site after the changes have been made.

On the upper west side, Maurice Wertheim leased for the estate of E. J. Wood the four-story dwelling at 10 West Seventieth Street to Stanley Janeski.

The Townsite Holding Corporation, Hyman S. Lipschutz, president, has sold its lease of the southeast corner of Broadway and Forty-first Street, 31 by 93 feet, to the Broadway-Continental Corporation, this being subject to two mortgages aggregating $1,000,000, in addition to a purchase money mortgage for $250,000. This lease was given originally by the executors of the will of Ellen Cushing to the Forty-first Street Realty Company on July 26, 1912. The Broadway-Continental Corporation is the owner of the fee of these premises, and it is the intention of the parties to this assignment to merge the lease in the fee.

For seven years from Aug. 1 next Louis Lublin and Ernest Weidhaas have leased to Harry Marmer and Sol Cooper the corner store in 618 Eighth Avenue, for the sale of cigars, &c., the annual rental to be $5,500 for the first three years, $6,000 for the next two years and $6,500 for the last two years of the term. This lease has been assigned to the M. & C. Luncheonette, Inc., of which Mr. Marmer is president.

Property Conveyed in Trust.

The property at 21 East Ninth Street, 30 by 92 feet, was conveyed in trust to the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company by Selden I. Rainforth and his wife, Edith, of Coral Gables, Fla., this property being held under lease by the 21 East Ninth Street Corporation at an annual rent of $7,000, for a term ending on July 19, 2027. The trustee will hold and manage the property during the lives of the donors, the income going to Mr. Rainforth, and on his death to his wife. Upon the death of the survivor the premises are to be conveyed in fee simple to the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The Standard Concrete-Steel Company, William C. Tobey, president, has leased to the Beech-Nut Packing Company, 217 to 221 West Nineteenth Street, on a plot 75 feet in width, about 200 feet west of Seventh Avenue, for ten years, from Sept. 1, 1930, the annual rental to be $21,500. The landlord will erect upon this land, now vacant, a building for the use of the tenant as a garage and a depot for the distribution of its food products. The owner bought this property from Edward J. Sullivan in April of this year.

URGE CARE IN BLASTING.

First Avenue Property Owners Fear Damage From Hell Gate Work.

Pointing out that ceilings of several new apartment and business buildings on the east side were cracked and other damage done by previous War Department blasting operations in the Hell Gate channel of the East River, the First Avenue Association has appealed to Senator Robert Wagner to take up the matter of future work of this kind with the proper authorities in Washington.

Nearly $1,000,000 was appropriated recently for additional work, the association says, and there is danger of further damage unless lighter charges of dynamite are used.

"Both Rhinelander Reef and Horn's Hook, where dynamiting is to be done, are close to the Manhattan shore between Eighty-seventh and Ninety-third Streets," J. J. Hackett Jr., secretary of the organization, has written to Mr. Wagner. "The use of heavy charges of dynamite in the river bed in that district is liable to cause damage to the new buildings.

"The same holds true of the proposal to remove rock from the west channel of Welfare Island, as the waterfront in that vicinity is occupied by the Sutton Place apartment colony, the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, with other hospitals, and the new Doctors' Hospital opposite Carl Schurz Park likewise is likely to be affected by any severe vibrations."

$400,000 West Side Loan Placed.

The Charles F. Noyes Company arranged a loan of $400,000 for Max N. Natanson to finance the erection of a six-story building, 100 by 200, extending through the block from West Fifty-fourth to West Fifty-fifth Streets between Eleventh and Twelfth Avenues. The building has been leased for a long term to G. B. Seely's Son, Inc., a subsidiary of the Canada Dry Company. The plans were drawn by Frank S. Parker, and G. Richard Davis & Co. are the builders.

SHIPPERS PROPOSE NEW DELIVERY PLAN

Organizations Ask Railroads to Truck Goods Directly From Car to Consignee.

WOULD COPY B. & O. SERVICE

Letter to Presidents Calls Idea Next Best to Store-Door Project, Previously Urged.

Four organizations of New York shippers, in a letter to the presidents of eight railroads, asked yesterday that a service be established by which carload non-perishable freight may be transferred from cars to trucks at railroad terminals and delivered directly, without unloading, to the doors of the consignees, or vice versa on outgoing shipments, for a reasonable trucking charge in addition to the rate applied for pier delivery.

Following a conference at the rooms of the Merchants' Association, the letter was drafted and signed by W. J. Mathey of the Publishers' Association of New York City; W. H. Chandler, manager of the traffic bureau of the Merchants' Association; George T. Stufflebaum, secretary of the Shippers' Conference of Greater New York, and P. W. Moore, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens.

The shippers recommended the service established last week by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at its Staten Island terminal and the terminal at Pier 21, East River, as the model which the other railroads should follow. They pointed out that such a service would be a forward step in reducing the terminal costs at the Port of New York and "the next best thing" to the store-door delivery plan which was recommended several months ago by a group of shippers' organizations.

The letter said:

"You are, of course, informed of the step taken by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the effect of which is to re-establish the benefits which were discontinued by the cancellation of the constructive delivery stations. We believe this plan will be a step in meeting the requirements of the New York district provided such supervisory measures are employed as will prevent the development of the practices which were responsible for the cancellation of the former tariffs, and that not only the shippers and receivers but also the other carriers themselves will be greatly benefited by following the lead taken by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

"While we had hoped that a store-door delivery plan would be adopted by the railroads, we understand that obstacles have arisen that have prevented the carriers from taking the step we had hoped for. The method of handling adopted by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is the next best thing, and if all carriers serving New York will adopt a similar plan organizations which we represent will actively cooperate with you in making it successful."

A copy of the letter was sent to the president of each of the railroads serving New York City with the exception of the Baltimore & Ohio.

SUICIDE ON S. S. MAJESTIC.

Bronxville Man Said First to Have Attacked Wife—Is Buried at Sea.

CHERBOURG, France, July 22 (AP).—On arrival of the steamship Majestic today it was announced that Peter Dimitroff, said to be from Bronxville, N. Y., had committed suicide and was buried at sea.

Mr. Dimitroff was stated to have attacked his wife, aged 20, in a fit of jealousy and then to have stabbed himself. Mrs. Dimitroff was badly cut. She was taken to a hospital upon arrival.

Railway Worker Killed by Handcar.

HORNELL, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—Daniel Makeley, Erie Railroad section foreman, died in St. James's Mercy Hospital today of injuries sustained under the wheels of a handcar near Almond, five miles west of here. Makeley was pitched from the car when it stopped suddenly and was crushed as it started up unexpectedly. The section gang was cutting weeds along the right of way.

Last of Packet Steamer Lines At Memphis to End Operations

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 22 (AP).—The management of the Valley Line Steamers, Inc., last Mississippi river packet line here, announced today that it will suspend operations next week.

The three boats operated by the line will be offered for sale. With their passing Memphis will be without a packet service for the first time in more than a century.

Kenneth H. Hill, general superintendent, said the Federal Government's decision to use gasoline-propelled barges to transport freight and materials used on levee work destroyed the last source of substantial revenue and caused the suspension.

WILL TAKE LICENSE FROM DRUNKEN DRIVER

Connecticut Police Will Act on Spot in Making Arrests for Recklessness.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 22.—The license of every automobilist arrested in Connecticut for reckless driving where there is evidence of intoxication will hereafter be taken away on the spot by the police and sent to the State Department of Motor Vehicles, according to a regulation just issued by Commissioner R. B. Stockel.

Increase in drunken driving, Mr. Stockel said, made radical action necessary to end the danger to innocent travelers upon the turnpikes of the State, crowded at this time with traffic between New York and Boston. Heretofore licenses have not been ordered surrendered until after trial in the town or city where the arrest occurred and a subsequent hearing before agents of the Motor Vehicle Commission.

"It is admitted that operation of motor vehicles by persons who are intoxicated and the problem of the hit-and-run driver are serious questions," Mr. Stockel said. "Public sentiment is strong against such practices. I want to make a definite and determined effort to take the drunken operator from the highways.

"Because of the complex traffic situation today, the attitude of this department has necessarily been increasingly more severe. It is definite that drink and driving do not mix. I must take a man's license away, on the ground of unfitness, and not as a punishment, just as quickly, if I find him operating in a reckless manner after one drink as after twenty."

DENY AIRPORT NUISANCE.

Armonk Field Officials Plead Not Guilty to Indictment Over Dust.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Sydney A. Syme, appearing for the Westchester Airport, Inc., entered pleas of not guilty this afternoon before County Judge Frederick P. Close on an indictment charging the operators of the airport at Armonk with maintaining a public nuisance.

The indictment of the airport officials followed a series of complaints by Armonk residents against its dustiness and noisiness. They charged that clouds of dust from the airport filled their homes with yellow dirt. Other complaints made last Fall came before a North Castle justice of the peace, but no action was taken on them owing to the agreement of the airport officials to sprinkle oil on the ground of the landing field. The present case will be tried early in the Fall.

Heacox announced. The transfer affects men considered too old for Elmira. They will be used in road repair work, Mr. Heacox said.

OCEAN TRAVEL OFF; 18% LESS THAN 1929

First and Second Class Bookings Drop Sharply, but Tourist and Third Rise.

DECREASED RATES SOUGHT

Keller to Confer With the Cunard Officials on Price Cut for Students and Teachers.

Steamship agents said yesterday that first and second class Atlantic travel had shown a big decrease under 1929 since the beginning of the year and only the tourist third cabin and the third class travel had increased.

Until the end of June the first class travel eastbound was 10,000, or 18 per cent less than last year, and the westbound about 8,000, or 20 per cent less. The eastbound rush is over practically at the end of July and there is no prospect that the steamship lines will make up any part of the numbers they have lost through the business depression.

Dr. Ernest G. Keller, who is an expert of many years' experience in moderate priced Atlantic travel, is leaving tonight on the Mauretania to confer with the Cunard officials in Liverpool concerning decreased rates in ocean transportation for students and teachers.

Dr. Keller said that his aim was to get clean, comfortable accommodations at the rate of $150 for the round trip which was the fare when the tourist third cabin class was started six years ago. Since then the accommodations have become more luxurious, which has gradually brought the price up to $200 and $250 for the round trip. This, he says, is too high.

CANADIAN RAILROADS ENTER AIR TRANSPORT

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 22 (AP).—Entrance of Canadian railways into the field of air transportation was announced today by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, a government-operated road.

Sir Henry said that the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railway, privately owned, had acquired an interest in Western Canada Airways and Canadian Airways, the two largest systems of the Western and Eastern districts of Canada. How large the interest was he did not say, but he intimated that the purchase was merely a beginning for them.

The Canadian railways are following the lead of American railways in adopting this method of transportation.

The Pennsylvania, the Santa Fe, the New York Central and other roads hold large interests in American airlines and cooperate with them in joint rail-air systems.

Whether such transcontinental systems are planned by the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National, Sir Henry did not say.

SAVED AS TIDE COVERS HIM.

Jersey Merchant, Burned in Boat Blast, Found Sinking in Mud.

Special to The New York Times.

PORT NORRIS, N. J., July 22.—Caught in a bed of mud with the tide slowly rising over his face, Gilbert High, 40 years old, of this place, was rescued from death by two fishermen yesterday after his boat had exploded at the mouth of the Maurice River Cove. High was unconscious and suffering from severe burns when Toleman Tunter of Mauricetown and Harry Anderson of Heiflerville pulled him out of the mud as the water was within a few inches of covering his face.

High, a partner in a general store at Bivalve, left in his 35-foot cabin cruiser Martha with James Frazier to repair oyster-bed markers. When the engine "went dead" Frazier swam ashore for aid. High was tinkering with the engine when it exploded, enveloping him in flames. He dived overboard.

Weakened by his burns, he barely managed to reach the mud bank, which is covered at high tide. There he lapsed into unconsciousness and slowly sank in the mud until the fishermen found him.

FIVE GENERATIONS LIVING.

Hillburn (N. Y.) Family's Ages Range From Infant to 87 Years.

Special to The New York Times.

SUFFERN, N. Y., July 22.—Rockland County authorities reported today that the recent birth of Marilyn Brown in Hillburn makes five generations of the same family living in that suburb of Suffern.

Besides the baby, Marilyn, there are Mrs. Irving Brown, 22, mother; Mrs. Howard Gannon, grandmother, who is 46; Mrs. Adolph Boungard, the great-grandmother, aged 65, and Mrs. Benjamin Ackers, the great-great-grandmother, 87 years old. The five generations are, considering their respective ages, in good health.

DIPHTHERIA IS WANING.

But Manitoba Health Board Recommends General Inoculation.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 22 (Canadian Press).—An unusually malignant form of diphtheria which prevails in many parts of Manitoba gives indication of being on the wane, but the Department of Health recommends Province-wide inoculation.

The thirty-three new cases registered for the first half of July was a decrease from the preceding month but still above the ten-year average. Many municipalities are providing administration of diphtheria toxoid for all children before schools reopen in the Fall.

STAGE CHIMPANZEE DIES.

Ohio Animal Was Said to Be Insured for $100,000.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 22 (AP).—Joe Mendi, the chimpanzee that wore clothing, and was said to be the highest paid animal of his kind on the American stage, died last night at the home of his owner, Lou Backenstoe, here.

Backenstoe said he recently had rejected an offer of $35,000 for Joe. It was reported that the chimpanzee was insured for $100,000.

CANADIAN VACATION •

THE First Voyageurs...

GONE are the long war canoes and the proud French and British merchantmen lying-to in the bays. But the wide St. Lawrence River and its mountain barriers remain in silent splendour.

So near your home and yet so foreign, this old Quebec. New sights, new air, the French tongue. Come and see it all, from the decks of long white passenger steamers that glide on even keels all the way from Niagara to the Saguenay. Let old-fashioned hospitality welcome you. Our agent will tell you more about your northern neighbour.

Please write at once for illustrated folder, map and guide, which describe in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

VERY IMPORTANT

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES operate from the head of Lake Superior, via the St. Lawrence River, to the Saguenay. Their cruises include the seven day trip from Detroit to Duluth and return; Niagara to the Saguenay, including the Thousand Islands, and shooting the rapids; excursions from Toronto, the Queen City, to Niagara, the Thousand Islands and Rochester. They operate a fleet of 106 steamers, freight and passenger, and are the largest fresh water transportation company in the world. The famous Saguenay trip includes visits to Montreal, metropolis of Canada; Quebec, the historic walled city; Murray Bay, "Newport of the North" and Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The Saguenay Canyon is one of nature's masterpieces.

Our steamers may be boarded at Lewiston, Rochester, Duluth or Detroit in the U.S.A., or Sarnia, Queenston, Toronto, Montreal or Quebec in Canada.

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES

Going Swimming?

How about a Boat Ride Too?

BOARD a Day Line steamer at 10 A.M., any day in the week, and sail up the Hudson, with the breezes, to Indian point. There, nestled among forest greenery, is one of the finest swimming pools in the land—100 ft. wide and 150 ft. long. Dive, duck, plunge and splash to your heart's content ... the water is crystal-clear ... the pool's the place for a day of real sport.

Indian Point has every facility for fun after swimming, too—then comes the homeward sail, with a fine supper on the boat, if you want it, dancing all the way ... and moonlight to make a great finish for a great day!

Boats leave W. 42 St. at 10:00 A. M. daily, also at 2:00 P. M. every day, except Monday and Friday. Twenty minutes later from W. 129 St. Additional steamers at 11 A. M. (Wednesday and Thursday) and at 9:30 A. M. (Sunday only) from W. 42 St. Pier.

BEER SEIZED IN RAID ON TURN HALL CAFE

Federal Men Make Two Arrests at Restaurant in Yorkville Without Disturbing Diners.

HERRICK FACES DRY CHARGE

Suesskind's Turn Hall Restaurant at Lexington Avenue and Eighty-fifth Street has won a city-wide reputation for the excellence of its beer. So much so that in recent years it has drawn almost as much patronage from fashionable Park Avenue as from the Central European colonies of the upper east side. That is what aroused the suspicions of Federal Agent Newman, when he and another Federal agent passed it the other night.

Patrons of the restaurant were sipping their beer with such obvious relish that Newman and his companion decided to try it themselves. They liked it so much that they went before United States Commissioner Cotter yesterday and obtained a search warrant for the place.

Last night they raided it. The restaurant was crowded at the time. But the agents did not disturb the diners. They arrested Mortimer Suesskind, the proprietor, and Hyman Linsing, who described himself as counterman, although there is no counter in the place. The agents dragged out seventeen half barrels of beer and put a policeman on guard over it.

Suesskind, who is a son of the late Adolph Suesskind, a well-known prewar restaurateur in New York, was taken to the East Sixty-seventh Street police station charged with the possession of intoxicants. Linsing was taken there charged with the sale of intoxicants. Both were released later in bail.

Herrick Faces Dry Charge.

A bill of information charging possession of eighteen quarts of liquor was filed yesterday by Robert B. Watts, Assistant United States Attorney, against George Herrick, who was arrested recently by the police on a charge of conducting a gambling resort in his large suite of rooms at 270 Park Avenue.

Mr. Watts explained that the raiders had obtained no evidence of sale on Herrick's part, and that the prisoner, if found guilty of possession, would be punished as a first offender by a fine of only $500.

While the information was being filed in a day of activity on the part of enforcement officials, Federal Judge Knox granted seven padlock decrees against alleged speakeasies, and agents of Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator, seized small quantities of alleged liquor and arrested eight men in raids in Manhattan, the Bronx, Yonkers and Port Chester.

Padlock Decrees Granted.

Judge Knox signed one-year decrees and issued personal injunctions against Harry H. Butler at 1,811 Amsterdam Avenue; David Beschordy, 73 Washington Street; John Maginiani, 744 Third Avenue; Helga Luama, 370 Lenox Avenue, and Patrick Keleher, 102 West Ninety-eighth Street. Nine-month decrees were ordered against John Philips, 451 East 163d Street and James O'Boyle, 110 La Salle Street. Judge Knox set Friday as the date for trial of the government's suit, pending for nearly a year, against the Paramount Grill, 235 West Forty-sixth Street.

Mr. McCampbell's agents seized alleged liquor and arrested Jack Parker at 322 East Seventy-second Street; Frank Milo and C. J. Thompson at 57 West Sixteenth Street, and Matthew Sheridan at 144 East Sixty-first Street. At 1,662 Castlehill Avenue, the Bronx, agents arrested Frank Piscorino, barber, and seized three fifty-gallon barrels and eleven five-gallon jugs of alleged wine. Agents arrested John Doyle at 703 East 138th Street, the Bronx, Joes Williams at 141 Irving Avenue, Port Chester, and William Miller, at 142 Elm Street, Yonkers.

New Yorkers Stake Cuban Oil Claims.

HAVANA, July 22 (AP).—The Jabosi Mines Corporation of New York today staked claims for approximately 22,000 acres of petroleum lands near Jatibonico, Province of Camaguey, on which they will prospect for oil. The Jabosi Mines Corporation owns the Santa Rosa copper mine and other mining properties in Cuba.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES ARCAYA'S CREDENTIALS

Venezuela's New Minister Hails America's Aid in Nation's Conflicts With Europe.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Señor Dr. Don Pedro M. Arcaya presented his credentials today to President Hoover as Minister of Venezuela.

"Venezuela does not forget, and never will forget," he told President Hoover, "that in the two most serious conflicts in which she found herself involved in the not distant past, with powerful European nations, your country extended to her its disinterested and effective cooperation.

"We witness, therefore," he added, "your power without any feeling of misgiving. We know that you respect right.

"Various American enterprises are now contributing to the development of our natural wealth. We Venezuelans who come to the United States meet with a cordial reception. A part of our youth is receiving here the solid education that can be found in your colleges and universities. Americans who go to Venezuela for honorable purposes find there an atmosphere of sympathy and such frank and open-hearted treatment that some of them stay there for the rest of their lives.

"The relations of friendship of long standing between the respective governments, and those which are being developed between considerable groups of Venezuelans and Americans are growing greater and stronger, more and more, every day."

In reply President Hoover said, in part:

"I have noted with gratification the references which you have been pleased to make to certain occasions upon which the government of the United States, following its traditional policy of friendship toward all of the nations of this continent, has fortunately been able to cooperate with your government.

"We share your earnest desire for the continuance of the mutual cooperation of our peoples, for only by the furtherance of that high ideal can the basis of true friendship be firmly established."

TO ABOLISH HEALTH BOARD.

White Plains to Give Up Body Which Won National Prize for County Aid.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 22.—Officials of this city have decided to abolish its Board of Health which recently won a nation-wide contest in health conservation held by the United States Chamber of Commerce and to place the public health work of the city under the jurisdiction of the newly formed Westchester County Health Board of which Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr., former State Health Commissioner, is head. It was learned today the city is expected to save about $7,000 a year by this plan.

The recent creation of the County Health Department automatically placed the public health work of the eighteen towns in Westchester under its jurisdiction and provision was made for the extension of the department's work to the four cities of the county should they desire to take advantage of its facilities.

For the Chrysler "70" has the great 93-horsepower engine of the "77", giving it speed, smoothness and flexibility never before known in any other six. It has the famous Chrysler 4-speed transmission and Multi-Range gear shift which give it, in effect, two high speeds. No other six approximates its alertness in traffic or its ability to climb hills.

It is also equipped with Chrysler weatherproof internal hydraulic brakes, the quickest and safest ever designed, giving the driver complete mastery of this tremendously powerful and speedy car. Hydraulic shock absorbers and rubber shock insulators in place of metal shackles, contribute to riding ease and roadability unexcelled even in much heavier cars.

The new low prices of the Chrysler "70"—with "77" engine—make it today's outstanding buy among fine sixes. Your present car will be accepted in trade. Chrysler's liberal financing facilities are available.
